

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

INTRODUCTORY NOTICE.

IN the proposed series of the Early Historians of Scotland, the Metrical Chronicle by the Prior of St. Serf's Inch in Lochleven could not be overlooked. It belongs to the reign of King James the First, having been completed about the year 1426 ; but how long the author had been employed in compiling it can only be conjectured. We do not find the Prior's Chronicle mentioned by Walter Bowar, Abbot of Inchcolm, the continuator of Fordun in his Scotichronicon, yet it must, for at least a century, have been esteemed a work of historical importance, as may be inferred from the numerous transcripts of which we find traces, or which are still extant.

In modern times Wyntoun's Chronicle was first introduced to notice by Dr. William Nicolson, Bishop of Carlisle, in his Scottish Historical Library, 1702. It was also described by Dr. George Mackenzie in Volume First of his Lives and Characters, 1708. But Father Thomas Innes, in his Critical Essay in 1729, having carefully examined a number of MSS., was the first to point out some of the chief variations, and to express the opinion that the Royal MS. was "the most entire and most valuable of them all;" he further adds, "that it appears to be the last review and edition (if I may speak so) that Winton made of his Chronicle, containing several corrections, additions, and alterations made in it upon better information." A zealous antiquary of that time, Captain Robert Seton, in the meanwhile, had set himself most diligently to prepare the entire work for the press.

Public attention had already been awakened to our older historians and poets by such publications as the Chronica de Mailros, by Bishop Fell, in his collection Rerum Anglicarum Scriptorum Veterum, tom. i., 1684; of Johannis de Fordun Scotorum Historia, by Dr. Thomas Gale, 1691; and again in a separate and more perfect form by Thomas Hearne, 1722; Douglas's Virgil's Æneis by Thomas Ruddiman, 1710; and, I may add, of Knox's Historie of the Reformatioun, in a genuine form, by Matthew Crawford, 1732. The preface to Captain Seton's transcript of Wyntoun's Chronicle is dated at Edinburgh, December 21, 1724. Having copied the text of the Edinburgh (Denmylne) MS., he afterwards, by a careful and minute collation of one or two other MSS., added on the margins numerous various readings. But want of encouragement or some other cause prevented his scheme from being realized; and on his death, in 1731, his transcript was sold, when his library was dispersed by auction.¹ At a later period this volume was acquired by Pinkerton the historian,¹ who announced in 1786 his intention of publishing the chief portion of the Chronicle: but some time was still to elapse before the work became accessible in a printed form.

At length, in the year 1795, THE ORYGYNALE CRONYKIL OF SCOTLAND, by Wyntoun, appeared in two large and handsome volumes, edited by Mr. DAVID MACPHERSON. It was fortunate that the work was undertaken by a person so thoroughly competent as an Editor. In preparing his edition for the press, Macpherson had chiefly recourse to Manuscripts preserved in the British Museum. The text of the Royal MS., which by general consent was reckoned as the earliest and most perfect copy of the work, he accordingly adopted, and adhered to it, on the whole, most faithfully, using only some small liberties by changing the ff's and ll's to a single f and l. It might perhaps have been well had he extended such emendations to other peculiarities of that MS., more especially by rejecting the use of the letters w and ü, also of v, for the usual forms of u, v, and w; as, according to his orthography, such words as sun (a son), swynnys (sons), lywyng (living), wertu (virtue), wywe (wife), waknyd (wakened), and vod (wood), in their ordinary meaning, are not at once apparent. His volumes were welcomed at the time as a valuable accession to Scottish literature, and the Editor was justly commended for the diligence and learning he had displayed in such a satisfactory manner.

The copies of these volumes in late years had become scarce and high priced, and although the earlier portions of the Chronicle (beginning with the Creation of the World), omitted by Macpherson, have no claims to historical importance, an edition of the entire work had long been an object of desire. There were also early manuscripts unknown to him which required examination and collation. To what extent the Author actually revised and enlarged his Chronicle will afterwards have to be considered. At present it may be noticed that the chief alterations, made by the Author, are contained in Book iv., Chap. viii. p. 212—

In this Chapter yhe sall here,
Qwhen the Scottis beset be Peychtis were ;

and Chap. xix. p. 237—

Now quhen the Peychtis in Scotlande
Come, and in it wes regnande.

Instead, however, of pointing out these alterations, as Macpherson has done, among the Various Readings in his last volume, I have given both texts on the same page, as the most distinct mode of exhibiting some important variations in regard to the history and succession of the Pictish rule in Scotland.

In undertaking this task, as I had long been satisfied by occasional examination and comparison with other early mss., that the Royal ms. still retained its pre-eminence, it appeared to be the easiest and safest mode to follow Macpherson's text. Neither could I discover any good reason for attempting to supersede his Introduction, Notes, and Glossary, by altering the form for the sake of apparent novelty. I therefore prefer to let these volumes appear as a republication of Macpherson's edition, revised and enlarged, wherever it seemed to be required. To have done otherwise would have, I think, been an act of injustice to his memory.

Although thus professing to be a New Edition, it is by no means to be regarded as a mere verbal reprint. All the suppressed or omitted portions, forming nearly one-third of the entire work, are now published for the first time, from the Royal ms. ; and the text throughout has been carefully revised, without adhering too slavishly, like Macpherson, to the peculiarities of the original transcriber in retaining unnecessary contractions, for instance "Ðe" "þe," or "þat" for The, thé (thee), or that. Such a mode of editing can serve no useful purpose, but is rather calculated to render the pages unreadable. I ought perhaps to express regret in not having also changed the letters w, v, u, to the usual form of v, u, and w. Obvious errors have been corrected, but no liberties taken in altering the text ; and words supplied from other copies are enclosed with brackets. Had I been forming a new text, I might have preferred the orthography of some other mss. ; but there prevails at present a kind of pedantic conceit in a literal adherence to the peculiar orthography or ignorance of unknown transcribers.

In order that no unnecessary delay should occur in completing the successive volumes for Subscribers to this series of the Early Scottish Historians, some matters have for the present been reserved. The Third and concluding Volume of Wyntoun's Chronicle will therefore contain, along with the Ninth and last Book of the Chronicle, such additional notices of the Author as may be discovered, along with a detailed description of all the known MSS. of his work. The Various Readings furnished by a diligent collation, and Macpherson's Notes, and Glossary, will likewise be considerably enlarged.

As all this was a task of no ordinary labour, I could not personally have undertaken it within any limited period. It was fortunate therefore that the publishers were able to secure the services of Mr. ANDREW GILLMAN, of London, for the more tedious work of transcription and collation; and I think I cannot pay him a greater compliment than to say that his application and accuracy are not unworthy of David Macpherson himself.

PREFACE

BY

DAVID MACPHERSON. 1795.

THE earliest historians of a country are undoubtedly the most valuable, if, upon a fair critical trial of their agreement with the writers of the neighbouring countries, but more especially with the sure testimony of public records and charters still remaining, they appear to have made a faithful use of the works of preceding writers and of other vouchers extant in their times, most of which being now lost, they, as the earliest faithful copiers of them, are entitled to our respect and gratitude for furnishing us with the only means of obtaining the knowledge of many of the transactions of past ages. Hence it evidently follows, that the truest and most essential service that can be done to the history of any nation, is to lay before the public genuine editions of its most antient and authentic historical monuments, and of the works of those who first attempted its general history.

Of the few general historians of Scotland, JOHN OF FORDUN has generally been esteemed the best, as well as the original one. He certainly deserves much praise for his industry;¹ and we must ever regret that he did not live to finish his work. ✓

ANDROW OF WYNTOWN, not inferior to Fordun in historic merit, has also an equal claim to the title of an original historian of Scotland; for, though he survived Fordun, it is certain that he never saw his work; and his Chronicle has the advantage not only of being completed to the period which he proposed, but even of being revised and greatly improved by himself in a second copy. It has also the further advantage, for such it surely ought to be esteemed, of being written in the language of the country

whereas the information contained in all the other histories of Scotland preceding the middle of the seventeenth century, if we except the brief chronicle subjoined to some manuscripts of Wyntown, and the translations of Ballenden and Read, was effectually concealed from the unlearned part of mankind under the veil of a dead or a foreign language.¹

In Wyntown's Chronicle the historian may find what for want of more antient records, which have long ago perished, we must now consider as the original accounts of many transactions, and also many events related from his own knowledge or the reports of eye-witnesses. His faithful adherence to his

¹ Boyse and Buchanan are the only historians of Scotland, if they may be so called, whose works have been translated; and they are the very two who ought to have been consigned to the deepest obscurity. Hence in a great measure proceed the corrupt ideas of Scottish history, which are so deeply rooted in the minds of many people. The evil is greatly increased by some teachers of Latin putting Buchanan's history into the hands of their pupils, because, forsooth, his Latin style is very fine, which is but a wretched excuse for perverting the youthful mind, though they could prove his latinity superior to Cicero's.

So firmly established was the custom of writing in Latin, that Sir David Lindsay, about a century after Wyntown, thought it necessary to apologise in the beginning of his Monarchy for writing in his native language by producing the examples of Moses, Aristotle, Plato, Virgil, Cicero, &c., who all wrote in their own languages.

authorities appears from comparing his accounts with unquestionable vouchers, such as the Fœdera Angliæ, and the existing remains of the Register of the Priory of St. Andrews, that venerable monument of antient Scottish history and antiquities, generally coeval with the facts recorded in it, whence he has given large extracts, almost literally translated. All these we have hitherto been obliged to take at second or third hand in copies by Bower and others, with such additions and embellishments as they were pleased to make to Wyntown's simple and genuine narrative.¹

An ecclesiastical historian of Scotland can nowhere find so good an account of the Bishops of St. Andrews, with occasional notices concerning the other sees, as from Wyntown, who in describing the churches, their buildings, and paraphernalia, shows himself quite at home.

The compiler of a Scottish Peerage may obtain from Wyntown more true information concerning the antient noble families of Scotland than is to be found in any work extant, except the accurate and elaborate research made by the late Lord Hailes in the celebrated Sutherland case, wherein he has repeatedly had recourse to our author for proofs of the laws and customs of succession.

In this view the lawyer will also find the Chronicle of Wyntown an useful addition to his library, and may consult it with advantage when called upon to adjust a disputed inheritance in an antient family.

As a specimen of the language of Scotland, a faithful and correct edition of Wyntown must be an acquisition to the philologists of every country whose language is of Gothic origin, seeing that no manuscript of any Scottish work known to exist comes into any degree of comparison in point of antiquity and purity with the royal manuscript of Wyntown, nor even with the Cotton one. In Wyntown's work we have near three hundred lines of Barber, the only Scottish writer prior to himself now extant, in a more genuine state than in any manuscript or edition of Barber's own work [see Index, vo. Barber]; and, what is infinitely more valuable, he has fortunately preserved to us a little elegiac song on the death of King Alexander III., which must be near ninety years older than Barber's work. This is alone sufficient with every reader of taste to stamp a very high value on Wyntown.

Valuable and curious as Wyntown's work thus appears in so many points of view, how can it be accounted for that he has been allowed to remain in manuscript for so many centuries, eclipsed and superseded by writers of far inferior merit, almost forgotten and even unknown to many, whose business it was to have consulted him?

For above two centuries after the art of printing was introduced in Scotland,¹ the Scottish press produced scarcely any historic works, indeed not one deserving the name of history. The fury of religious controversy and the rage of civil wars deprived the generality of the people of inclination as well as opportunity to cultivate letters or the sciences, so that during the long continuance of this intellectual darkness, while England was making great additions to the public stock of historic knowledge, the interests of Scottish literature, history, and science were abandoned to perish, or consigned to the care of strangers.² After the accession of King James VI. to the Crown

² While scarcely any books but those of religious controversy were produced in Scotland, and the few Scottish historic or scientific works were of England, the language in which Wyntown wrote was almost completely proscribed by Scottish writers, and carefully avoided by every person who wished to be thought above the vulgar. In such circumstances a work, of which the language was even then partly obsolete in Scotland, which cherished no religious prejudices, nor sacrificed truth on the altars of national vanity, was sure to be neglected; and during this time it is very probable that many valuable manuscripts of it have perished.

But in the present age, when the study of history is in general estimation, and when the history of Scotland in particular begins by the abilities and exertions of some of her literary sons to be cleared of the thick mist of fable under which Hector Boyse had buried it, to be studied in a rational manner, and to engage the attention of the learned in general; when even the language of Scotland attracts the attention of philologists in various countries as illustrative of their own, it is truly surprising that one of the earliest and most authentic histories, and the very earliest and purest specimen of the language of that country, has not ere now been drawn forth published at Paris, Amsterdam, &c., where the uncorrected errors of printers and engravers were superadded to the errors of the authors; while most of the learned natives of Scotland chose to reside abroad, as if their own country were the only one which ought not to be enlightened by their genius and learning, several learned men in England were with the most laudable industry and patriotism employing their time and their talents in publishing those historic treasures which had for ages lain dormant in churches and libraries. Nor was their attention entirely confined to English history: to these friends of the republic of letters Scotland stands indebted for the only editions of the Chronicles of Melros and of Holyroodhouse, for the first edition of the Chronicle of Mann, and for the first and second editions of Fordun. These, being all historical works and written in Latin, may be considered as the common concern of the literary world; but even Douglas's Virgil and King James's Christ-Kirk on the green, though written in the dialect of Scotland and not historical, were published in England long before a Scottish edition of either of them was thought of.

from the obscurity or invisibility which has so long concealed it even from the researches of men of literature.

Seeing the labour of publishing this most valuable antient Scottish historian declined by all others, I thought I could not employ my leisure more usefully to my country, or more agreeably to myself, than by laying before the public a genuine edition of Wyntown. As however unequal I may be to the task in respect of talents and learning, an edition by me, with the care and attention which I intended to bestow upon it, must surely be much better than no edition at all.

With this intention I applied to the Trustees of the British Museum for permission to transcribe the royal manuscript of Wyntown, which was immediately granted with a politeness and attention to the interests of literature worthy of the guardians of the greatest literary treasure in Britain.

Wyntown, like most other historians of his own and the preceding ages, begins his work at the creation ; and he gives a general history of the world in the first five books, with very little of Scottish or British history till the commencement of the sixth ; after which he gradually drops foreign affairs, and comes home to the proper business of his undertaking. Exactly the same was the plan of Fordun, whose numerous pages, as further stuffed with superfluous matter by his continuator, I have often turned over with great labour and disgust in search of some minute particle of early Scottish history, which was lost in the mass of trifling and extraneous matter. On these occasions I could not help wishing that the editor had taken the trouble of selecting the few sentences, which are useful, and suppressing the vast quantity of lumber, which loads the work and distresses the reader.

In order to save the readers of Wyntown the labour of wandering through a wilderness of Asiatic, Greek and Roman history, in search of minute notices concerning Scotland or

Britain, I have carefully selected all that in any respect concerns the British islands, whether true or fabulous, and have suppressed all the foreign matter in the first five books,¹ only preserving the metrical contents of the chapters, whereby the reader will know the nature of what is withheld, and will, I trust, be pleased to find that the book is not swelled by printing what would never be read. This separation of the useful from the useless has had the approbation of some of the best judges of Scottish history.

From the beginning of the sixth book the work is published entire verbatim et literatim to the conclusion.

Of the several manuscripts of Wyntown, it is sufficiently known from Innes, who had examined many, [see his excellent Critical Essay, pp. 624, 683, 823,] that the one, which belongs to the Royal library now in the Museum, is greatly superior to all others. It not only has the author's improvements, but is also much purer in the language than any other copy that I have been able to get any knowledge of: it is moreover the only one which is not mutilated by accident or curtailed by design; and the few omissions in it are fully supplied from another manuscript belonging to the Cotton library.

From this most valuable manuscript I have made my transcript, which, from careful and repeated collation, I may venture to say, is exact, notwithstanding the inconveniencies inseparable from writing it at a considerable distance from my own house, and at limited hours. But when I say that my transcript is exactly copied from the Royal manuscript, I do not wish to be understood, as if I had rigidly adhered to errors, which are evidently slips of the pen. While transcribing, as well as while collating, I had constantly the Cotton and Harleian manuscripts before me, and carefully compared the whole ; and, as it is my earnest desire that the edition may be more perfect than any one manuscript taken singly, I have corrected all obvious errors from these two, but chiefly from the Cotton, and, where neither of them were satisfactory, by extracts from the manuscripts in the Advocates' Library at Edinburgh. There are moreover a few instances of obvious defects, which I have been obliged to supply, and such insertions, however minute, are constantly distinguished by being inclosed in crochets. This liberty, however, I have very seldom taken, as I have, during the progress of this work, as well as on other occasions, frequently felt the bad consequences of the very common liberty taken by transcribers and editors in new-modelling the works of their authors. I have accordingly let many a line go to the press with defective or redundant measure, which a very slight alteration might have rectified, had I not determined to abstain from all corrections not absolutely necessary for restoring the sense of my author where evidently vitiated by transcribers, and to let him appear with his own imperfections on his head, rather than to give the reader the smallest reason to doubt, that what he sees before him is the genuine work of Wyntown.¹

Wyntown has divided his work into nine books of very

unequal length, the eighth alone containing more pages of the manuscript than the first four; and these books are divided into chapters, which being also very unequal, the long ones are subdivided into sections or portions, which the rubricators and transcribers, because they begin with illuminated letters, have generally converted to chapters. It seemed to me the best rule to call only those chapters, which I found ushered in by metrical titles,¹ which often run in such words as these—

Now we cannot pretend to make four or five chapters out of what the author expressly calls only one. I have, however, as nearly as possible, preserved the distinction by beginning every section with an open capital answering to the illuminated letter in the Royal manuscript, and setting a space between it and the preceding one, as was usually done in the antient magnificent manuscripts.

The faults, which may be found in the punctuation, are wholly my own, as the manuscript is entirely destitute of any such distinctions. The irregular grammar (as it appears to us) and frequent inverted order, common in antient composition, have in some instances left me uncertain, if I have divided the sentences according to the author's meaning; but I hope that there are not many instances of gross blunders.

The author's text is followed by the Various Readings, to which is prefixed a short notice explaining the method used in quoting them.

The Notes are placed together at the end of the work in order to avoid breaking the uniformity of the page.¹ They are chiefly employed in endeavouring to illustrate such portions of Scottish history as seem to be casually involved in obscurity, or intentionally perverted by fiction: not that I pretend to discover the truth on all occasions: we can often perceive the existence of error without being able absolutely to disprove it; and even when we think our proofs are undeniable, we are sometimes far from the truth. So fully convinced am I of this, that, instead of presuming dictatorially to assert facts, I only lay before the reader for his consideration such evidence as has occurred to me in the course of my reading;² and I may justly say with a late learned and worthy labourer in the thorny field of Scottish antiquities, "Utinam tam facile vera invenire possem, quam falsa convincere."³

Some may perhaps think me too rigorous in giving no quarter to certain stories, which from their early youth they have taken pleasure in believing. If these stories are true, their truth will be the more firmly established by investigation; but if they are false, history ought by all means to be cleared of them, more particularly of those which appear to have originated in malicious or interested calumny, such as the wickedness and tyranny of King Macbeth, the treachery of Menteth and Cumin, with others of the like stamp, my abhorrence of which may perhaps be in some degree heightened by the recollection of my own sufferings from malicious and interested falsehoods. But surely even scepticism, if such a name is to be given to a withholding of our assent where we see no grounds of belief, or to the detection of error, is preferable to a supine, lazy, and unmanly acquiescence in the belief of unfounded fiction, as a total privation of history is unquestionably preferable to the masses of fable and gross absurdity formerly called histories of Britain, Scotland, and Ireland, preceding the Christian æra. The deposition of the usurper Falsehood, who has for near three centuries reigned triumphant in Scottish history, at least makes room for the restoration of the lawful sovereign Truth; and even the starting of doubts may stimulate some who have better opportunities to researches, which may at length bring about that desirable event. If my labours shall have such an effect I shall think them well bestowed, and shall alwise esteem myself happy if I may in some small degree be instrumental in reforming Scotland from Hector Boyse:¹ “Quid enim fortius desiderat anima quam veritatem?”²

The short Table of holidays, which follows the notes, will

² Several of the notes are abridgments of essays written long ago, which have been occasionally revised and corrected during the course of many years.

In the Index will be found catalogues of the Kings, Bishops, noble families, &c., every succeeding King, Bishop, or Chief of a family being distinguished by Italics; and where the succession of Kings, Earls, &c., is continuous or nearly so, the connection of each one with his predecessor, whose name is marked by the initial letter, is also ascertained, either from my author, or from the best authorities attainable. The actions of each person are arranged in order of time, and under one head, whatever variety of titles he may have had, so as to give a connected biographical sketch of his life. Thus the reader may find at one glance the whole information given by Wyntown concerning families or individuals, with the addition of their genealogical connection. Kings, Earls, &c., are also found under their own proper names in the alphabetical order; but not Bishops, they being never mentioned as concerned in any transactions foreign to their episcopal character. I have been as careful as possible not to omit any Scottish or English names.

The Glossary, which is usually subjoined to the author's work, is here prefixed to it, chiefly for the uniformity of the volumes, as the second would otherways be so much larger than the first, owing to the great quantity of the eighth book and the necessary appendages already mentioned.

In a Glossary it is not satisfactory to a reader who desires to judge for himself and scorns to be put in leading-strings (and to such only do I wish to devote my labours) to see one word set after another as its explanation, for the justness of which he is obliged to rely on the infallibility of the glossarist, who, perhaps without any investigation of the nature and structure of the word or of its connection with the context in a sufficient number of examples, boldly puts down whatever will make grammatical sense in the passage before him, though it may be very far from the meaning of his author. But when the reader sees before him the same word with little or no variation bearing the same meaning in the cognate languages, no doubt can remain of the justness of the interpretation.

In order to afford this satisfaction to the reader, I have selected such of the synonyma in the cognate or sororian languages, as are most clearly illustrative of the words to be explained. This, to be sure, is a very laborious task which I have imposed upon myself; but had I preferred sloth to exertion, and faith in others to my own endeavours to get as near to the fountain-head of knowledge as possible, I ought to have let alone the work altogether.

In selecting the kindred words I have rejected all far-fetched affinities, though many of them are ingeniously supported, and some of them may be true. I do not in any instance pretend to determine which are primitive words, and which derivative, or that any of them are primitives. Neither do I take any concern in the deduction of their genealogy from Noah's ark or the plains of Shinar.¹ All that I pretend to know is, that the words which I have brought together appear evidently, from their strong family likeness, to be of the same origin, or rather in most cases the very same words, when each is divested of its peculiar servile termination, which is therefore generally separated from the body of the word by a hyphen. Thus my Glossary, though containing the materials of a huge Etymologicon, is entirely free of etymology.

¹ I have sometimes adduced Greek, and more frequently Latin words, as cognates; but it does not follow that the Scottish words are derived from them any more than they from the Scottish. There is reason to hope that a more rational system of philology will soon explode the schoolboy idea, which has for ages perverted the judgment of even learned men, and set them upon deriving all the languages of Europe from the Greek and Latin, but chiefly from the Greek. They surely imagined either that the Greeks peopled all Europe, or that all the nations of Europe were destitute of names for the most common things till they went to school in Greece. There is no reason to believe that a single word of the languages spoken by any of the antient nations in Britain could possibly be derived to them from the Greeks, who do not appear to have ever had any intercourse with this island. When the Christian religion was introduced, some Greek words peculiar to it and to the sciences came along with it, and these, to the best of my recollection, are the only Greek words to be found in Wyntown. Of later date are most of the terms of art, which have in like manner been received with the arts, or, from a partiality for the Greek language, been fabricated at home, the more expressive native words being discarded to make way for them: hence most

As a partial Dictionary of the language of Scotland, this Glossary, however inferior in other respects to the excellent one compiled by Mr. Ruddiman for Douglas's Virgil, has this material advantage of it, that most of the words in it belong to the genuine language of the country; whereas a very great proportion of the other consists of foreign words fabricated by Douglas himself.¹ Such words as occur in both Glossaries of the books describing the fruits of the earth or the diseases of mankind, subjects which ought to be level to every comprehension, though they bear English titles, cannot be read by any, who have not studied these sciences, without the help of a Greek Lexicon.

The naturalizing of Latin words, perhaps through the medium of the French, was common in England, and most probably also in Scotland, long before Wyntown's time. The judicious reader will find no difficulty in distinguishing those which are descended of the Latin by the manner of their formation, from those with which it is only cognate; and here it is proper to observe, that many modern words, which we have received from the Latin, are in reality Gothic, an example of which is shewn in the Glossary, vo. Thole.

I beg leave to close this note with a childish story of myself. Soon after I began to learn Latin, another boy and I having been told that the most of the English language was derived from it, set ourselves to find out the words so derived; and we discovered that the English adjective secure was from the Latin noun securis, an axe! How many hundreds of pompous etymologies have no better foundation?

(and these are not near so many as might be expected) frequently have very different explanations, it being the business of a glossarist to give only those meanings of a word in which his author uses it. The little identity to be found in the two Glossaries is a circumstance which adds to the utility of both.

The General Rules, which precede the Glossary, also differ considerably from Mr. Ruddiman's, owing to the superior purity of the language in Wyntown's time, which will be obvious on a comparison of the vocables and construction with those of the Mæso-Gothic, Anglo-Saxon, and Islandic, some instances of which I have observed in the notes, and many more may be found in every page of the Glossary.

I have no doubt that the candid reader, considering this Glossary as an attempt, in which, I may say, I have had no predecessor, and moreover as being only an appendage, will think it entitled to some indulgence for its errors and deficiencies. The critic, who finds these very numerous, will do consists in presenting a genuine specimen of the language, as will be obvious to any one who compares the language of Barber and Wyntown with his, and all of them with the most antient and genuine specimen of the Gothic preserved in the precious Gospels of Ulfilæ. Douglas was sensible that the use of exotic words was not a merit, but an inevitable defect in his work [see his preface, pp. 5, 9]; yet some of his admirers affect to praise him for this defect, which they call enriching the language. So the wine-makers of this country enrich the genuine juice of the grape with aloe-juice and other heterogeneous poisons.

It may be agreeable to those, who love to trace the history of literature, to see the following notice of a translation at least a full century before Douglas (but whether from a classic or not is unknown), which is in our author's Chronicle, B. I. ch. viii.

"In Ynd ar othir ferlyis sere,
That I lewe for to rekyn here;
For tha ar tyl yhowre knowlage
Translatyde welle in oure langage."

Q. If the original of this now lost translation was Solinus, in whose description of India there are many wonders; or the pretended letter of Alexander to Aristotle, De situ et mirabilibus India, said to be translated by Cornelius Nepos from the Greek, which was a very common manuscript?

a good service to the republic of letters if he will furnish a complete one; in doing which he may perhaps find even my poor attempt of some assistance to him. Those, whom their own studies have qualified to judge of such an undertaking, well know, that to do complete justice to it requires the assiduous labour of many years devoted to the study of philology, together with the abilities of an IHRE.

I wish it were in my power to give any thing which might deserve to be called the Life of Wyntown; but from want of materials I can do little more than draw into one point of view what may be gathered from his own work.

ANDROW OF WYNTOWN appears to have been born about the middle of the long reign of David II., as he complains of the infirmities of old age when engaged in the first copy of his Chronicle.¹ It is quite unknown of what family he was, though conjecture might venture to suppose him a relation of Alane of Wyntown, whose marriage with the heiress of Setown, mistaken by the historiographer of the family, and misrepresented or omitted by the compilers of peerages, is related by him [see B. VIII. ch. xli. and note], and from him by Bower.²

² Besides this Alane and his posterity, mentioned by the transcriber of the Cupar manuscript of the Scotichronicon [v. Sc. Chr. vol. ii. p. 337, note], I find the following men of the name, who were all cotemporary with our author.

Ingrame of Winton, appointed by David II. keeper of the castle of Kildrummy in 1362 [see B. VIII. ch. xlvi. 7165].

Willielmus de Wintonia, who died on his pilgrimage to Mount Sinai. [Rot. Scotie, 37mo. Edw. III. apud Ayliffe, p. 226.] If this be not the son of Alane and the Lady of Setown, and his death is too early for him to be called "veteranus" [v. Sc. Chr. ut supra], the pilgrimage to the holy land may be said to have been a family disease among the Wyntowns.

He was a Canon regular of the priory of St. Andrews, which was so great and flourishing, that it had under its jurisdiction the priories of St. Serf's insh in Loch Levin, Portmoak on the north bank of the same Loch, both in Kinross-shire, Pittenween in the east part of Fife, the isle of May in the Firth of Forth, and Monymusk in Aberdeenshire. The Prior of St. Andrews was moreover entitled to take precedence in parliament, not only of all Priors, but even of all Abbats, in honour of the supremacy of the episcopal see, with which he was connected. [Sc. Chr. vol. i. p. 367; and note on B. IX. ch. vi. 555.] In or before the year 1395,¹ our author was by the favour of his fellow Canons elected Prior of the monastery of St. Serf's insh in Loch Levin, one of the most ancient religious establishments in Scotland, which was founded by Brud, son of Dargard, King of the Pichts, probably about the year 700, and enriched

Johannes Wenton, Armiger de Scotia, who has a safe conduct from Henry v. to come to the presence of him and his dear cousin James, King of the Scots, in London, 4th October 1421 [Fæd. vol. x. p. 154].

Out of these a genealogist would easily find relations and frame a pedigree for our Wyntown, which might with some degree of probability be grafted on the Earls of Winton or Winchester, in England, who, by the marriage of Alan of Galloway's daughter, got vast possessions, and the important office of Great Constable in Scotland. It is certain that the cadets of a great family often assumed the title of their Chief as a designation or surname, and the fiery dragon born by the Earls of Winchester in England and the Earls of Winton in Scotland is, according to the rules of heraldry, a presumption of affinity. Whether a partiality for the family of Winchester induced our author superfluously to detail their genealogy, along with that of Alan's daughters, who were of the royal blood, I know not.

The only family of the name mentioned in Nisbet's Heraldry [vol. i. pp. 142, 363] is stiled of Strathmartin.

Schyr Jhone of the Wemyss, ancestor of the Earls of Wemys, was one of his particular friends, to whom he appears to have considered himself as under great obligations. It was at his request that he undertook his Chronicle [B. I. Prol. 54], which was finished between the 3d of September 1420 and the return of King James from England in April 1424, as appears by Robert Duke of Albany being mentioned as dead, and the prayer for the prosperity of his children in B. IX. ch. xxvi. 2782, et seqq. Indeed, from the tenor of this chapter, it is pretty evident that it was written very soon after the death of Duke Robert, and that it once stood as the conclusion of the work; for the chapter following it, which is quite foreign to the history of Scotland, may be presumed to have been added afterwards, especially if the marriage of John of Bavaria was not earlier than 1424. [See Notes, B. IX. ch. xxvi. 2849, and ch. xxvii. 3321.]

While our author was engaged in his work, some unknown person of a genius similar to his own, sent him the history

at Ballingry before the revolution, who died at Cupar in Fife about the year 1730, by George Chalmers, Esq., whose communication of both of them, and of the notice concerning Eymund de Wynton in the preceding note is a part of his many kind attentions to this publication and to me.

Innes [p. 622] mentions "several authentick acts or publick instruments" of Wyntown as Prior from 1395 till 1413 in Extracts from the Register of the Priory of St. Andrews in the possession of the Earl of Panmure. These concurring testimonies make it certain that he was Prior in 1395; and yet in Extracts from the same Register in the Harleian library, No. 4628, f. 2 b, there is noted a charter "per Jacobum priorem S. Andree de Loch Leven, anno 1396," which must be a mistake; and indeed this manuscript is very carelessly written, so by no means to be set in competition with the copy examined by Innes.

from the birth of David II. to the death of Robert II., apparently written, or rather finished, in the beginning of the reign of Robert III. [See B. IX. ch. x. 1118], which having examined and approved, he gladly incorporated into his own work. [See B. VIII. ch. xix.; B. IX. ch. x. 1153.] This ample contribution is composed in the same style and same kind of verse with his own work; so that without the least breach of uniformity, it gives us the singular advantage of having the last eighty-three years of the history composed by two writers, who lived during the greatest part of the time which they wrote of.

Before Wyntown's time the history of the Scots had been plunged into confusion almost inextricable by an insatiable and ignorant rage for antiquity, which placed the reign of Fergus 1200 years before that of Kenneth Mac-Alpin, whom they made only the tenth in descent from him, thus involving themselves in the monstrous absurdity of allowing 120 years to each generation. Wyntown saw and felt the dilemma, but not having sufficiently informed himself from antient records, he could see no way of getting rid of it, and fairly gave it up to "othir of mare sufficians." [See B. IV. ch. viii. xix. in V. R.]

Having afterwards obtained better information, he found it expedient to give a second improved copy of the Chronicle with the important correction, which by enumerating the years of Fergus and his successors reduces his æra pretty near to the truth, being even a little below it;¹ though at the same time he could not drop the notion that the Scots were in Scotland 245 years before the Picts. But he knew nothing of the

The transcripts from this corrected copy of Wyntown are much scarcer than those from the first one. Innes, who had examined many, never saw any but the one in the Royal library. The Harleian manuscript is another.

forty-four or (thirty-nine) Kings preceding Fergus, nor of his interpolated successors, and in short has the happiness to be ignorant of many of the stories, which have long been deemed essential points of faith in Scottish history, but are now vanishing like mist before the increasing sunshine of reason.

Fordun, our author's cotemporary and fellow labourer (though they were unknown to each other) fell upon a method of settling the chronology of Fergus very easily by fairly splitting him into two Kings, one of whom he places 100 years before his due time, and the other 330 years before the Christian æra, leaving however the names, actions, and characters of the Kings between his two Fergusses to be supplied from the "fine fancy" of Hector Boyse, though he is particular enough in the history of the imaginary Kings, interpolated among the successors of Fergus, which he in vain attempts to authenticate from Bede and other authors of credit. These fictitious Kings constitute the grossest fault in Fordun's work, which, except in this instance, where the ambition of false antiquity for the honour of Scotland has carried him off his feet, is in general faithfully compiled from the best materials he could obtain.¹ From a comparison of Fordun and Wyntown, who may be considered as two witnesses ignorant of the evidence given by each other, we may obtain a pretty just view of the unsettled and inaccurate idea, which the Scots entertained about the conclusion of the fourteenth century of their early history.

It is probable that Wyntown did not very long survive the final conclusion of his work; for, as I have already observed, he reckoned himself an old man when engaged in it; and indeed he could be no less, for he had then presided over his priory about thirty years, perhaps longer; and we may take it for granted that he was not a young man when he was elected to that dignity.

¹ The reader will please to advert, that I speak of Fordun's own work, as published by Hearne, and partly by Gale, but not of the Scotichronicon published by Goodal, which the continuator has made almost his own by interpolations and additions. This distinction ought to be carefully attended to by all who study the history of Scotland.

The character of Wyntown as an historian is in a great measure common to the other historical writers of his age, who generally admitted into their works the absurdity of tradition along with authentic narrative, and often without any mark of discrimination, esteeming it a sufficient standard of historic fidelity to narrate nothing but what they found written by others before them. Indeed, as connection of parts, uniformity of subject, and strict investigation of authorities were little known or studied in those ages, it is very fortunate that they did compile their works in that crude manner, for thereby we have the advantage of often finding in these authors genuine transcripts from more antient authorities, of which their extracts are the only existing remains.¹ Had they, who after Wyntown assumed the office of historians of Scotland, followed his example in adhering strictly to authorities, and expatiated less in the enchanted wilderness of "beautiful genius and fine fancy," the history might have run in a much clearer stream than it does at present.

The early writers of various ages and countries seem to have agreed in a lazy custom of referring their readers to the works of others for great portions of the history which they themselves professed to give. Thus Ennius omits the relation of the first Punic war, because it had already been written by Nævius, who lived about forty years before him. So Robert of Gloucester (p. 487) and Robert of Brunne (p. 205), the two earliest writers of English history in English, refer their readers to the romance of Richard Coeur de Lion. So Barber (p. 340) passes over the particulars of a battle because then sung in songs by the young women. In like manner Wyntown passes lightly over the history of Alexander the Great, the wars of the Saxons with the Britons, the actions of William Walays and of Robert the Brus, and the origin of the Stewarts, because they are

This way of sending the reader to other books for some of the most important parts of the work proposed must have been particularly distressing, where books were so scarce and inaccessible, as they undoubtedly were in Scotland before the invention of printing.¹

A contrary fault may perhaps be objected to Wyntown, that he sometimes runs into descriptions more minute and diffuse than are consistent with the rules of writing history; in answer to which it is sufficient to say that these rules were unknown in his age. Such descriptions were the defect perhaps more properly speaking the beauty of several early historians: by them Snorro, the venerable Herodotus of the north, and Froissart, the history-painter of France, England and Scotland, who, like our Wyntown, had the courage to write history in their native languages, bring us home to the scenes they describe, and make us take an interest in the characters they draw. If the succession of Kings and the relation of their battles be the body of history, the progress of the human mind in arts and knowledge, and a true delineation of manners so different from our own, as appears, for example, in the justing at Berwick in 1388, unquestionably constitute the very soul of it.

If we except one severe sentence extorted from him by the cruelties of Edward I., and a reflection upon the English in consequence of the seizure of Prince James, Wyntown nowhere runs into that abuse and contempt of the enemies of his country, which disgrace the writings of many of his cotemporaries; but takes every occasion to bestow due praise on their gallantry and bravery in war. The same liberality of sentiment induces him to mention other writers, and particularly Barber, in the most respectful manner. If he shows himself a very zealous son of the Church, in taking all occasions to advance the power and dignity of the clergy, and to maintain that superiority over the civil power, which they claimed as a divine right (see B. VI. ch. ii. iv. ix., etc.); we must remember that in that age even the laity considered devotion to the Church as the quintessence of religion and virtue, and the surest passport to the joys of heaven.

Historians have frequently declined bringing their works quite down to the time of writing, and perhaps it was rather dangerous for truth to tread too close upon the heels of time.¹ Whatever was his motive, Wyntown has concluded his Chronicle of Scotland at least fourteen years before the time of writing the twenty-sixth chapter of the ninth book.²

Hitherto I have considered Wyntown only as an historian, in which character he certainly stands higher than as a poet; but as his work is in ryme, he is also classed among the poets of Scotland, and he is in point of time the second of the few early ones whose works we possess, Barber being his only extant predecessor.¹ Though his work in general partakes little or nothing of the nature of poetry, unless ryme can be said to constitute poetry, yet he now and then throws in some touches of true poetic description, and paints the scenery of his battles with so exact a pencil, that a person who is on the spot may point out the various scenes of each particular action; and sometimes like Homer, whose poems he never saw, he bestows a portion of his work in expatiating on the achievements of a particular hero, as in B. VIII. ch. xxxvi., where the actions of William Douglas are related.

Wyntown's verse consists of eight syllables, though, like his cotemporaries in England as well as in Scotland, he does not adhere strictly to his measure, lines even of ten, and others of only six syllables, frequently occurring. In only a very few instances he uses alliteration, that dreadful fetter upon the sense of antient poetry, which about his time was so common, especially in Scotland and the north of England, that short poems, and even some of considerable length, were entirely composed in it. Neglect of equality in the lines, alliteration, and violent transpositions of the natural order of the language, which are now considered as unpardonable blemishes in poetical compo-

Mair finishes with the marriage of James III., fifty years before the time when he wrote: and Boyse concludes his first edition almost a century before his own time. Several of the English historians have also declined writing the actions of their cotemporaries.

Wyntown's work is entirely composed in couplets without the intervention of a single stanza. It frequently happens that two couplets together end with similar rymes, which in those days was not accounted a defect.

The Royal manuscript, marked 17, D. xx., which, as already observed, is greatly superior to all other known manuscripts of Wyntown,² appears to have been transcribed for George Barclay of Achrody;³ and very soon after the autograph of the corrected copy, as several good judges of manuscripts have pronounced it to be of the beginning of the fifteenth century, and some have placed it even before the year 1400. As we know that it could not possibly be written earlier than in 1420 or 1421, the opinion of these gentlemen may warrant a belief that it is not latter than 1430; and no manuscript in the language of Scotland older than it is known to be extant. To enable the reader to compare the writing with coeval monuments, a specimen of the hand is herewith given.¹

The writing, of which a specimen is engraved, continues till the last chapter of the eighth book, after which two different transcribers have been employed, who wrote worse hands; and both, particularly the last one, have taken the common liberty of modernizing the language, whence the last part of it is sometimes inferior to the Cotton manuscript for purity. The Rubrics, which are in red and in a hand like black print, are also the work of a more modern writer, at least if we may judge from some innovations in the spelling. This kind of hand, wherever it appears, is distinguished in the edition by black letter, which, though disagreeable to the eye when long continued, is useful as a distinction. The illuminated letters of the manuscript are, as already observed, represented in the edition by open capitals. There is no punctuation in the whole manuscript.

The volume consists of sixteen quairs, each containing eighteen leaves in folio of thick paper, inclosed in a sheet of vellum, having at the bottom of the last page the first words of the following one for a direction to the binder, like the signatures in printed books; for no numbers of the folios were originally marked.¹ Thus, at the end and beginning of the quairs there are alwise two leaves of vellum, which in the edition are marked with V added to the number of the folio on the margin. Though now bound in one volume, it has formerly been in three, the first and third of which have been damaged by water on the edges of the leaves.

Wyntown's Chronicle is followed by a short Chronicle of Scotland in Scottish prose, written by an unknown author about 1530;² and after that there is a Scottish translation or paraphrase of the letter pretended to be written by Prester John to the Emperor Frederick which concludes the volume.³

Several other names besides that of George Barclay, are written in this book; but whether they have been owners of it

² The age of this Chronicle appears from an observation in f. 302, that the Conquest of the Pichts in "aucht hundyr xxx and od" was 700 years ago. This brings it after 1530: but 700 being a round number we cannot pretend to say that the computation is accurate. This author is most ample, where he has no foundation to go upon, in the fabulous settlement of the Scots, which, he contends, took place long before the birth of Brutus, or even the Trojan war: he more rationally explodes the conquests of Arthur, who, he observes, could not defend his own; and he takes notice of the hereditary right of the Scottish Kings as heirs of Edmund Ironside, to the crown of England. Having got through the anti-historical part, he gives brief notes of remarkable events with their dates down to the year 1482.

is unknown, and of little consequence. In the early part of the last century it has belonged to Sir William Le-Neve, when he was York Herald, whose signature and arms appear in several places of it.¹ After him, but whether immediately or not, I know not, the King became proprietor of it, from whose library it came with many others into the British Museum, where it now is.

The manuscript in the Cotton library, marked Nero, D, XI, is, after the Royal, superior for age and purity of language, not only to all other manuscripts of Wyntown, but even to all others extant in the language of Scotland.² Its being posterior to the Royal can only be inferred from the proper names and the language being in many instances more modern, examples of which may be found in the contents of the seventh book, in the prologue and contents of the eighth, and in the various readings; for the writing, of which a specimen is given in the plate, though very different from that of the Royal, is in and Magoth: these he sometimes turns out against his enemies, and then shuts them up again between the hills, where they are to remain till the coming of Antichrist. Another people in the sandy desert have "the clwis of ane hors." In the desert is also "the Vemen land" or land of the Amazons, who are 100,000 warlike ladies on horse besides foot. His whole land is surrounded by the river Gibon, which flows from Paradise; and beyond it is the land of the pigmies, "mennikynis lik barnes of fywe or sax yeris ald," who are Christians. Near them are monsters half men and half horse, and other monsters called Sagittaris, who eat raw flesh and sleep upon trees. In another desert there are Unicorns, which can be caught by none but a virgin.—The end is wanting. There is a copy of this letter in French in the King's library, 20, A, XI; and there is a quotation from it in the Chronicle of Melros, p. 237 of the edition.

the opinion of judges not distinguishable from it in point of antiquity ; and indeed the difference of a few years in writing cannot be ascertained by the inspection even of a Casely. In this copy the lines are divided by a short sloping mark, not for the grammatical division of the sense, but for a kind of musical rest in reading, examples of which may be seen in the various readings, B. IV. ch. viii. xix. The book is written in folio, on paper folded so as to make a long and narrow page. It has been in very bad keeping ; several leaves at the beginning and at the end are lost [see V. R.] and the writing at the bottoms of many leaves, which have been rotted with water, is supplied by a latter hand upon slips of paper pasted on. When it was rebound by Sir Robert Cotton, most of the inner margins have been strengthened with guards and some marginal notes, which however appear to have been of no value, have been partly cut off.¹

The next manuscript of Wyntown in order of time is that which is marked A, 7, 1 in the library of the Faculty of Advocates at Edinburgh. It is written in folio upon paper ; and the writing, of which a specimen is given in the plate, is supposed to be of the beginning of the sixteenth century. It varies greatly in the numeration of the chapters from the Royal, as it does also in many parts of the text, and in the orthography, which has been much mended by the transcriber. Unfortunately it has lost many of its leaves, particularly from the middle of the sixth² to near the end of the seventh³ chapter, and all after the middle of the tenth⁴ chapter of the ninth book.

¹ This is the Scottish manuscript, from which Selden and Hearne have published extracts ; [See Notes, B. VI. ch. vi. ; B. VII. ch. ix. 2641] and which Smith in the Catalogue of the Cotton Library, Nicolson [Scottish Hist. Lib. p. 129] and Mackenzie [Lives of Scottish Writers, vol. i. p. 475] describe as a history of the Kings in old Scottish verse. For want of the beginning none of them knew the name of the author.

³ Twenty-first.

⁴ Twenty-third in the Royal.

It came into the library, while it was under the care of the learned Mr. Thomas Ruddiman, and has probably been purchased by him :¹ but nothing is known of its former owners, further than that the name of John Ærskine is written on a vellum leaf at the beginning.

Next to this is another manuscript belonging to the same library, and marked A, 1, 13, which is in folio, neatly written on paper about the end of the sixteenth century. It is abridged in many places, and more modernized and corrupted throughout than A, 7, 1. The transcriber, though he wrote the author's division of his work into nine books, has neglected it, and carried on the series of chapters, 212 in number, to the end. Annexed to it is the short Chronicle in prose, which is subjoined to the Royal. This manuscript was the property of Sir James Balfour, and is marked, as all his books were, with Denmilne, the name of the place where he kept his library : it afterwards belonged to Sir Robert Sibbald, after whose death it was purchased by the Faculty of Advocates, and was for some time the only copy they had.²

These three manuscripts have been transcribed from the first unimproved copy of Wyntown's work.

Another manuscript, though not deserving notice for its age or correctness, yet must be noted as being perhaps the only

² This is the manuscript so erroneously described by Mackenzie in his life of our author, as being in nine books. The notes by Sir James Balfour which he mentions in a manner that must make us suppose them very interesting, are chiefly marginal contents, and of no value. See Note on B. VI. ch. vi.

The account of these two manuscripts is taken from the very obliging communications of Alexander Fraser Tytler, Esq., to whom this work is also indebted for many collations from them (accompanied with an attestation of their accuracy by Mr. Brown, the librarian), which have enabled me to correct some errors of the copies in the museum.

one, besides the Royal, which contains the author's improvements, and as having been of some little use in the present edition. It is No. 6909 of the Harleian library in the Museum, and has been written about the middle of the last century, upon sixty-seven sheets of coarse paper in quarto. The transcriber has taken great liberties in altering and abridging. Along with the foreign matter he has omitted the short notices of the Pictish Kings, the reign of Macbeth, and some other parts of the history of Scotland, his idea of which has led him frequently to correct Wyntown from Hector Boyse. This manuscript seems to have been copied from one written in the abbey of Kelso; for in the rubric of the chapter answering to B. VII. ch. vi., King David is called "St. David our founder," and the one answering to B. VIII. ch. xxvi. informs us, that William of Dalgernew, Abbat of Kelso, was tutor to David II. during his residence in France; a piece of intelligence which I find nowhere else.¹

These are the manuscripts, from the first of which as the standard text, and the others as occasional auxiliaries, THE ORYGYNALE CRONYKIL OF SCOTLAND is now for the first time presented to the public. I am persuaded, that, notwithstanding all my endeavours to execute the work with propriety, many mistakes and omissions must have escaped my attention, and I am confident that those who know what a labour it is to do justice to such a work, and consequently are most capable of discovering my errors, will be the most ready to look upon them with indulgence, and to consider them as the effect, not of carelessness, but of that imperfection to which all human undertakings are liable, and perhaps none more than the first publication of a work in an obsolete language with proper elucidations.

Sum story says that Noeys flude

Drownyd thaim that tym that lywãnd stude.

CHAP. VI.

Off Sethis generatiounne here

Next folowps in this Chapitre.

ADAM murnyd a hundyr yhere
Abel hys swynnys slauchter dere,
And quhen that slawchtyr wes foryhettyn
On Eve Adam Seth has gettyn :
Seth gat Enos that oysyde to call
On Gode, in till hys dedys all,
In prayer and in orysowne

And specyalle devotyown. 270
Enos gat, the buke can tell,
Caynan, that gat Malalyell;
Malaliel he Jeryt gat,
The quhilk gat Enoch efter that.
This Enoch fand, as I herd tell,
Fyrst wyth lettyrys for tyll spell,
And syne he tuk in tyll delyte
To sett togyddyr faste and wryte.
In tyll hys tyme bukys he wrate
That drownyde ware in Noeys spate. 280
Tyll God he wes in all plesand
Tharfor he is yhit quyk lywand,
Bydand the Antecrystyes come
Befor the mykyll day of dome.
Off Enok come Matussale,
Off quham Lamek that gat Noe.
Nowe the fyrst Eeld endys here
In to the quhilk ar, yher be yhere,
Sexten hundyr sixty and sewyn,
Gyff that the Hebrewys rekknes ewyn 290
The ten and sixty Clerkes wys,
As thai fynd in thare storys
Twa thowsand and twa hundyre yhere,
And four and fourty passyd ar clere
Thai oysyd to cownt in thare reknyng
Than fra the warldys begynnyng
Gyff ony letterys than thai wrate
Thar oys wes than to set thaire date;
As we now fra the byrtht of God
Reknys yherys ewyn or od, 300
Swa reknyd thai in thaire cowntyng
Than fra the Warldys begynnyng.

CHAP. VII.

*This Chapter tellis off Geawndis
First grew and sprede in mony landys.*

IN TYLL this tyme at I off telle
 Was Geawndys walkand fers and fell
 That lyk tyll men ware in fygure,
 Bot thai war largear of stature.
 On quhat kyn wys and quhat manere
 Thir ilk geawndis gottyn were,
 Syn syndry haldys oppynyown,
 I wyll mak na conclusyown. 310
 Sethys swynnys, sum oysyde to say,
 Luwde Kayynys dowchtrys, stowt and gay,
 And gat on thaim bodely
 Thir geawndis that worthyde sa forssy;
 Or syndry spyrytys on thair wys
 Slepande women walde supprys
 Wyth maystry, qweyntys, or wyth slycht,
 That gat thir geawndis mykyll of mycht.
 Bot howe that ever thai gottyn be Geawndys name in propyrte, 320
 Off the erde is halely
 That Geos wyttnesys werraly.
 The Grekys in thar langage all
 Geos the Erde thai oysyd to call.
 All thare sort that lywande stude
 Drownyd war in Noeys flude.
 Sum men haldys oppynyown
 That in the wale of Hebrown

Fol. 5.

Eftyr that grewe geawndis ma'
In Egypte sum men sayd alsua, 330
Geawndis grewe, and [of] that kynd
Come Enathym, and off hys strynd
Come Golyath, that Davy yhyng
Slewe wyth the stane cast of a slyng.
Thai past and spred fra land to land,
And Brwyt in Bretayne of thaim fand
Coryne that of hys cumpany
West mast, and aucht the seynowry :
Off Cornwalle fyrst had grete lykyng
To cast thai carlys in werslyng. 340
Amang [thame] wes ane mykyll of mycht
Goemagog hys name wes rycht.
Ane ake wes na mare in hys hand
Than now in owrys ane hesylle wand ;
He wes twelf cubytys large of hycht,
Ane half elne is the cubyt rycht.
He come wyth geawyndys hale twenty,
On Brwtus and hys cumpany,
Bot yhit Coryne that tyme was Noucht wytth Brwtus in that plas, 350
Bot Brwtus wytth thame faucht swa fast,
Quhyll thai war wencust at the last ;
Thar Goemagog wes tane
And haldyn quhyk be hym allane,
To se how that this Coryne
Walde dele wyth hym in to werslyng ;
And as thai met fyrst in thare gamyn
Ilkane brassyd othir samyn
Sa fast, that frek that Coryne thrystyd
Till in hys syde thre rybbys brystyde. 360
Coryne than wyth all hys mycht

Heyly hēwyde that hwlk on hycht,
 And tyll a crag that wes neir by
 He bare hym fast and spedily
 That swayne he swakyde oure that hycht,
 That on hys crown he gert hym lycht .
 Sa doggidly hym downe he dwyhsyde,
 Till bak and bowalys all to brussyde.

Off Geawndis wyll I na mare telle,
 Thare endyng thws in Bretayne fell.

CHAP. VIII.

In this Chapitere rede and se
 The Arke, and the Spate of Noe.

NOE wes a man rycht wys,
 Perfyt and lele at all dēwys.
 He fand fyrst throucht hys sutylte
 How wyne sulde growe and wynnyn be.
 Quhen mannys thocht wes gywryn till ill
 And drawyn all fra Goddys wyll,

Fol. 5. b.

He wyst at thare walde fall a Flude
 All tyll wndo that lywānd stude.

To sawffe hym and hys swynnys thre,
 Thair wywys foure, but ma menyhe,

380

He gert, of Goddis byddyng, mak

Ane ark in maner of ane stak,

That in owre tyme oysyde we

The schype to call it of Noe,

Thowcht on hycht it narowe wes

Wndyr rowme of mare larges.

The Hebrewys sayis the sewynten day

Off that moneth at we call May,
Sex hundyr yhere quhen he was awld,
Noe, that we off befor taulde, 390
And the seŵyn rekkynde ware,
In to that schyppe all entryd are.

Off byrde and best, bathe wylde and tame,
Payr be payr, and name be name,
As he byddyng had clerly,
In tyll that schype he gart herbry.
Ane hundyr dayis and fyfty gude
The wattiris wox as thai war woude
Off wellys waveryde wawys wyde
Oure hyrne and hyrst, fra syd to syde, 400
Belyde boggys than out brystyd
And ranys rethe be-for that rystyd,
Fowrty dayis wytht forsyes fell
Schot out thare schowrys, scharp and snell,
Bath felde and fyrrh oure-flet that flude
And wndyde all that it oure-yhoude.
That schype wes dryŵyn oure hyllis hie
Tyll on the hycht of Armeney
Grownd it tuk instede off haŵyn.

Than Noe fyrst send furth the raŵyn, 410
Till get wyttyng and knowlage
Gyf that the flude begowth to swage.
Bot that sendyng wes in wayne,
To schype that foule came noucht agayne;
Bot fell on caryown all gredy,
Swa saw he no mare of corby.
The dow he send furth anys or twyis,
As wyttnessyde is in sere storys,
And that broucht in hyr beke belyŵe
A brawnche agayne of greyne olyŵe, 420

Be that thai kend and wndyrstude
 In part that swaygyd wes the flude.
 The schype has left and land has tane,
 That ilk day a yhere oure gayne
 That thai yhede that schype wytthtin,
 Man and best, bath mare and meyn.
 The rayne-bowe wyth hewys twa,
 Red and wattery baytth ar tha,
 And at the fyrst wes seyne wyth ey ;
 Owth thaim in the clowdys hey. 430

Than Noe made hys sacrifice,
 Plesand to God, as man rychtvys.
 Froyt and gyrs thai oysyd tyll ete
 As kers, or mawe, or wyolete,
 Nwt, or appyl, or akhorne ;
 Swylk wes the lyf thai led beforne.

Fol. 6. Than thai tuk wpe to thaire fwde
 For tyll ete fleyhs forowtyn blude ;
 Rostyt, sodyn, or in paste,
 As thaim thocht best and daynte mast, 440
 And lyve in lykyn and in es,
 Allanyrly bot Gode to ples,
 At swa thaire generatyown
 Mycht sprede in tyll successyown.

It hapnyde eftyr on a day
 This Noe drownkyn slepand lay,
 For off the wyne he wonyd hade,
 He drank swa fast that he wes glede,
 And nakyde wes hys harnays hare,
 Bak and buttoke bath wes bare. 450
 I suppos, quha than walde seke
 Amang thaim all wes noucht a breke.
 Than Cam, that wes the myddyll brothyr,

Saw fyrst hym before all othir;
 He lewch rycht fast and wald noucht byde
 Hys fadrys membrys for tyll hyde,
 Bot grynnyd and gapyde wytht hys gwmys,
 And skornyd fast his fadyr lumys.
 The tothir twa, quhen thai come by
 And sawe thare fadyr swa-gat ly,
 Wytht eys and honowre thai hym kepid,
 And cwveryde hym quhille he had slepid.

Quhen that Noe gat wyttyng
 That Came had drywyn hym tyll heythyng,
 He gaue hys maledictiowne
 Till Camys generatyowne;
 And Sem hys [eldast] swn sulde be Lorde of Canaan, and he Tyll Sem and Japhet in threllage
 Sulde serve, and mak thaim bath omage.
 In [this] prys begowth to payre
 Syn Kam wes eldest nest the ayre
 That he suld serve the yhowyngyr brothir,
 Howe evyr it happnyd off the othire.

CHAP. IX.

This Chapter now sall tell hale
 The fowr Bynrykis principale.

SEM, Cam, and Japhet, thre,
 Thir ware the swynnys of Noe.
 Off thir come men of mekyll mycht,
 Tyll statys growande and tyll hycht,
 And generaly of all kyn gre

All kynd of men come of thir thre. 480

Off Sem that wes the eldest brothir

Presthed come befor all othir.

Sum that oysyde of hym to spek

Sayde he wes that Melchysedek.

That offryde tyll Abraham wyne and brede

Quhen the kyngys foure war dede

The quhilkys Abraham swa perswyde

Hys brothir swn quhill reskwyde.

Quha lukys the Bybille inerey

Off this may fynd a fayr story. 490

Off Semys generatyown,

Be lyneale successyown,

Wes Jhesu Cryst of Mary borne

Tyll sawffe oure lyff that wes forlorne.

Off Came the nixt, for hys owtrage,

Fol. 6. b. Come serwytywde and foule threllage.

Off Japhet the yhongast of tha thre

Fyrst come knychtys dignite.

Thir awcht the landys halily

Off Affryk, Ewrope, and Asy, 500

And the foure Kynrykys pryncypalle

Be thare successyowne lynealle

Wes occupyid; and Belus kyng

Made in the Est hys fyrst steryng.

And that than was halily

The kynryk callyde off Assyry,

And in the west art syne anone,

The kynryk ras of Sycyone.

Bot eftyr that to name it hade,

In Grece the lordschype of Archade. 510

Thare Agelyus fyrst wes kyng

Had it hale in goŵernyng.

In the north art of Sythy
 Caspnyus had the senyhoury.
 Myneus kyng in the south art,
 Tuk all Egipte till hys part.
 In thir foure partis severale
 Thir Kynrykys pryncipale
 Wndyr thir four kyngys ras
 Qwhen Noeyis flud all swagide was ; 520
 And grew in gret mycht mony yhere,
 Part of thaim syne chawngide were
 In othir kynrykis severale,
 As thai begowth off cas to fale.

CHAP. X.

This Chapiter tellis how Paradise,
 Ende, and othir landis lyis.

TYLL Sem, as eldast, halily
 Fell all the landis of Asy,
 That fra the northt throucht est out-strekys
 In tyll the sowth quhyll that it rekys :
 The Erd swa delt in twa partys
 Asy the tane half occupyis ; 530
 The tothir part than delt in twa,
 Ewrope haldys and Affryca ;
 As men may be a roundale se
 Markyd to be delt in thre.
 In to the [est of] Asy lyis
 That propyr plas of Paradys,
 The quhilk is cerklyd wytth-out
 Wytth wallys of fyre beltyde abowt,

And kepyde swa wytth Cherubyn
 That lyvand man may nane get in. 540
 [Cherubin is to saye, ane ost
 Of Angellis that it kepis, but bost.]
 Be-twene Ynde and Paradys
 Desert landys mony lyis,
 Wytth holmys, holtys, and wyth hyllys,
 Till corne or crope that na man teyllys ;
 For bestys wylde, batht fers and felle,
 F. 7. Is nane of lywe that thar dar duelle.
 Out of ane hylle cald Caucasus
 The wattyr is rynnande of Indus, 550
 [And eftir that watter, as we fynd,
 The kynrik is callit of Ynd].
 Fra north on sowth the streme it strekys
 In tyll the Rede Se quhille it rekys.
 Yndys Ooceane, that Se
 The west marche of Ynde sulde be.
 Fyrst it was calde Eivlat,
 And syne the name of Ynde it gat,
 For the wattyre of Yndus
 Rynnys throucht it fra Cawcasus, 560
 [And enteris in the Ooceane.]
 The gret Ile lyis of Taperbane
 Wytth-in that Ile ar citeis ten
 Stuffyt wytth catelle, gud, and men.
 Thar twa summyrys in the yhere
 And twa wyntrys ar, but were,
 And all tyme that Ile is sene
 Wytth gyrs growand ewynlyk grene.
 Thar lyis als wythin that se,
 The ils of Kryn and Argwe ; 570
 Thai twa ils, as thai say,

Off silvyr ar habowndand ay,
And of gold in gret copy,
And flwryssys alway dayntely.
Hylls hé off golde ar thare,
Bot gryphys gret nerhande thaim ar,
And dragownys; quharfor na man may
Cum nere thaim thar be nycht or day.
In Ynde als thai sulde be
The ile of Caspis in the Se, 580
And the hylle that lyis it by
That ilke name has propyrly.
Thar Gog and Magog, at felown wes,
Closyt ar in gret straytnes.
Quhen Alysawndyr, the mychty kyng,
By that plas mad hys passyng
Wytth hys ost, as man off were,
Thai closyde than maid hym prayere,
That for hys wurschype thai mycht be,
Owt of that presown lowsyd fre. 590
Than he speryd and herd wele telle
That fra thare God of Israel
Thai chawngyd fawsly thare fay,
And closyd tharfor thar war thai;
He prewyde wytth werk-men than thraly
Thare in to steke thaim mare straitly.
And quhen he saw all that thai wroucht
Till hys intent yhit sufficyde it noucht,
He mad tyll God hys wrysowne,
One kneys wytth gud devotyounne, 600
That that werk he walde fulfyll
Till hys lykynyng and hys wylle.
At hys prayere than, but dowl,
All the hillys thar a-bowt,

The craggys, and the rockys all,
 F. 7. b. Crape to-gyddyre in ane walle
 Befor thaim, that be na way
 Wyne out of that place mycht thai,
 Bot mare stratly thai war thare
 Than cloyde na befor thai ware ; 610
 And be that myrakyll lyk it was
 That God walde noucht at thai sulde pas
 Out off that closure, bot yhit thai
 Sall get out befor Domysdaye,
 And mekyll way in warld sall wyrk
 Agayne the lawe of Haly kyrke.
 Syne God of mycht inclynyd was Thus tyll a pagane, of hys gras,
 Quhat walde he for ws all set,
 Gyff we tyll hym walde do oure det ; 620
 Bot fra hys wyll quhen that we wryth,
 Quhy sulde he hys gracys kyth,
 Till ws, in oure necessyte,
 Oure in til bale owre bute sulde be,
 Na ware hys mercy gret exced
 Owre gylt and all oure wrangwys dede ;
 And swa, for oure gret wrechydnes,
 We mon declyne hys rychtwysnes,
 And on his mekyll mercy call
 In oure defawt quhen that we fall. 630
 For mercy and rychtwys jugement
 Ar in hym bath, but argument.
 For-thi, we sulde have dowt and awe
 To leve hys byddyng and hys lawe,
 And yheld ws fekyll fals in fay,
 Wrythand in tyl werk alway,
 For dowt that or we ws repent

We mon appere in jugement,
 And to cry mercy, is toe late
 The wayne, than standand at the yhat. 640

In Ynde are landys fourty and fowre
 Quha that sekys it all at-oure;
 And thar ar folk that callyde was Garnyanys and Orastas,
 Cotras thar woddys fayr,
 Rekys on hycht wp tyll the ayre;
 In tyll the hyllis of that land
 The pigmaveis ar duelland
 That has bot cubytys twa of hycht.
 And oft wyll wyttht the crannys fycht. 650

Quhen thai ar thre yhere awlde, but let,
 Their barnys all thai bere and get;
 And aucht yhere thai ma noucht weylde,
 Their wapnys for febyll heylde;
 Thare pepyre growys that off hewe
 Is qwhyth quhill it is growand newe.
 Bot for eddrys that ar thare,
 Off wenyne and stangys sare,
 Thar is na man that may it wyne
 Wyth a fyre quhill thai it bryne, 660

Swa wyttht that rek thai oys to make Owt off qwhyth hew this pepyr blak.
 Thare ar folk sex elne of hycht,
 Makrobitys thai ar callyde rycht;

Fol. 8.

Thai oysis oft for tyll assayhle
 The gryphys in fycht and hard batyhle.
 To lyownys lyk ar thare body,
 And naylys scharpe haŵys certainly;
 And weyngys als thai haŵe, but were,
 As yhe se ernys haŵand here. 670

Agroit thare and Bragmanyis
 Leddys thare lyff on ferly wys ;
 For in a fyre thai wyll thaim bryn,
 Thynkand a bettyr lyff to wyn.
 Thar sum wyll thare eldrys sla,
 Quhen eelde thaim hapnys tyl our-ta,
 And sethys the fleyhs, and gerrys the kyn
 Gaddryde be, bath mare and myn,
 And ettys syne halily.

A the fleyhs of that body, 680
 And quha that forsakys till et Off that fleyhs, he sall, but let,
 Be forsakyn off kyne
 Newyr to [be] reknyde in.

Othyr folk thare oysis tyll et
 All rawe fysch that thai ma get,
 And drynkys bot wattyr off the se,
 Quhethyr it salt or byttyr be.
 Thare ar monstry's mony sere,
 Off the quhilk are nane sene here, 690

That nane can wyt in propyrte
 Quhethyr thai man or best sulde be.
 Sum owth thair fete thare solys hawys,
 And on ilke fut aucht tayis ;
 And sum wytht-in thai landys thare
 Lyk off hewyd tyll hwndys are,
 Wyth naylys scharpe, and thai ar cled
 In bestys skynnys, bak and bed,
 Thaire wocys, quhen thai ar spekand,
 Ar lyk tyll doggys ay berkand : 700
 Sum mudrys in that land alsua
 Berys bot anys, and all tha
 Borne thai ar qwhyte of canys,

Bathe of heȳd and berde at anys ;
 Ande in thare eelde agayne thare hare
 Worthys blak in all tyme thare ;
 And of eelde yhit mony yhere
 Excedys ws that lyȳys here :
 Thare sum berys of yherys fyȳe,
 And passys noucht aucht yhere of lyve. 710
 Thar ar folk callyde Armaspy,
 And havys bot ane ey certanly :
 Thar sum folk bot a fute has,
 And yhit for sped the dere our-tays ;
 And quhen thai ly on erde to slepe,
 Fra swne and weddyr thaim to kepe,
 Than that a fwt wpe thai streke
 That it fra thaim the weddyr brek.

Wytth-in Ynde in tyll sum stede
 Thare lyȳys a folk wytth-owtyn hede, 720
 And in the fawt of thare foret,
 Fol. 8. b. Twa eyne ar in thare schuldrys set ;
 And in thare brestys ar holys twa,
 In-stede of nes and mouth ar tha.

Besyde the wattyr of Gangis,
 A pupyll thai say lyȳand is
 But othir met than of ayre :
 Savorand off ane appyll fayre,
 And fele thai ony stynk wytth-out
 Thai dé tharof, wytth-owtyn dout ; 730
 And quhen thai traȳaill owcht in fere
 Thai wyll wyth thame that appyll bere
 To be thare mete in thare traȳaylle,
 In fawt of fude at thai noucht fayle.
 Thare serpentys ar sa gret, but were,
 At thai wyll suelly wpe a dere,

And wyll swym all oure that sé
 That Yndys Occeane callid we.
 In to that land thare is alsua
 A best thai call Cenocrata ;
 That best is lyk of body made
 Tyll ane as, bot he is brade
 Off brest before, and in fassown
 Off lym is lyk tyl a lyown,
 Tyll ane hors lyk ar his fet,
 And has ane horne in his foret,
 Hys mowyth of kynd is rywÿn wyde
 Fra ere tyll ere on ilk syde ;
 A gret bane, thai say, has he,
 In that stede quhar hys teth sulde be,
 And oysis mekyll in hys bere
 Syk woycys as a man dois here.

740

750

In to that land thare sulde be Ane othir best callyde Gale,
 That is lyk all tyll ane hors,
 In tyll the fassown of ane cors,
 And has a gret tusk as a bare,
 And taylyd as elephawntys are ;
 And in hys hewÿde has hornys twa,
 Ane half elne lang, ilkane of tha ;
 And fyrst he oysis wytth the tane
 Tyl hald wp fychtyng and bargane ;
 The tothir on hys bak he strekys
 Qwhille he that blwntys, or he brekys,
 And syne it castys on his bak,
 Than wyll he wyth the tothir mak
 Hys bargane furth, and wyth tha twa
 Hys fycht he oysis for till ma :
 He is a best of mekyll pytht,

760

And wgly blak he is thare wytht. 770

In that land thare is alsua
A best thai call Manticora,
Off wysage thai say lyk is he
Till a man in all degre,
Bot the teth that ar wytht-in
Hys hewyde ar set in chestyr thryn;
Off cors he lyk is a lyown,

F. 9. Hys taylle is lyk a scorpyown;
Hys eyne ar yholowe, and [of] hewe 780
Is blwde rede, and elyke ay newe;

Off woyce he lyk is and of bere
As yhe here eddrys quhysstyll here;
And off spede he is mare lycht
Than ony foule is apon flycht.
He oysys mekyll for tyll ete
All mannys fleys that he may get.

Thare owsyn ar wytht hornys thre
Wytht fete as here on hors yhe se.
Ane othir best thare is wytht all
That Monoceros [forsuythe] thai call, 790

He is in fassown of hys cors
Lyk in all thyng till ane hors;
Bot swylk ane hewyde thai say has he
As apon ane hert yhe se;
As elephawntys bath fete and tays,
And as a swyne a tayle he hawys;
Wytht a horne, and that is set
Ewyne in the myddys of his foret,
Armyt thare wytht [he is] als wele
As men are in to yrne or stele; 800
Off leynth foure fwte hale is that horne,
And it is wondyr scharpe beforne;

Thai bestys wondyr fellown ar,
 And oysis wyth gret rerde to rare,
 And wytth that horne he wyrkys payne
 Till all that standys hym agayne.
 He may be tane and slane wyth slycht,
 Bot nevyr dawntyde, he at rycht.

In to the wattyre of Gangys
 Thai say that mony elys is 810
 That ar thretty fwt of leynt;
 And wormys als of hwge streynth,
 Lyk to partanys her ar thai,
 And on thare cors has armys twai,
 And sex elne are hale of leynt.
 The elephawntys thai tak wytth streynth,
 And oft gerryys thame drownyd be
 In wattyris depe, or in the sé.

In to the Yndys Se, thai say,
 Snaylys gret ar fundyn ay, 820
 And men thare makys of thare schelle
 Luyngys gret for tyll in duelle.
 Thare adamant, thai say, is gude
 That nevyr ma brek but bukkys blwde.
 In Ynd ar othir ferlyis sere,
 That I lewe for to rekyn here,
 For tha ar, tyll yhowre knowlage,
 Translatyde welle in oure langage.

CHAP. XI.

In this Chaptere on what wys
 The sal se that sere Landis liis.

FRA Ynd to Tygyre, by wattyr's twa,
 Lyis a land calde Parthia : 830
 In it ar cuntreis thryis tene
 And thre attoure stuffyt wytht men,
 Off men that come of Sythya,
 F. 9. b. That lande was callyt Parthia.
 Nest that land wes calde Parthy
 The land lyis of Aracusy.
 Off Aracus, ane hyll of hycht,
 That land that name has gottyn rycht.
 Nest it lyis halily
 The lordschype gret off Assyry : 840
 Off Semys swyn that Assur was Callyde that land that name now has.
 Nest lyis the landys of Medy,
 Off Medus kyng cald rychtwysly.
 Syne lyis the lordschype hale of Pers ;
 Quhare Perseus kyng, I herde rehers,
 Gert fyrst a cyté byggyde be,
 And syne that lordschype Pers calde he.
 Off wertyu thar ar stany's twa,
 Pyr and Siles calde ar tha : 850
 Pir is of wertyu for to bryn
 The hand that it is cloyd in ;
 Syles waxis wytht the Mowne
 And wanys agayne as dois the Lune.

In Pers wes fyrst nygromancy,
 And wyche-craft, wytht sorcery ;
 Throuch Cam fwndyn that syn was
 Be name callid Zorastas,
 Kyng off Baktryany, that Nynus slwe,
 To state of lordschype quhen he drewe. 860

Wytht hyllys hey thir landys ar,
 And craggys strayt, her and thare,
 Bot profytabyll to man and best,

Thai cessyde than off thare byggyng,

For thai mycht bryng tyll nane endyng 1480
 Thare purpos, na thare fyrst intent,
 Thai had sa fers impedymment,
 Qwhare-off ilkane hade ferly
 Thai spak to-gyddyre sa wnkowthly,
 That nane ane othir wndyrstude,
 All wyll off wane fra thine thai yhwde,
 Dyvysyde in to landys sere;
 All thus the langagys chawngyt were.

*The fyrst matere off Poesy
 That is bot feyhne propirly.*

F. 15. b.

AWTORYS sere, in thare storys,
 Oppynnyownys haldys on syndry wys 1490
 Off this Nembrot, the swn off Cus;
 Frere Martyne cald hym Saturnus,
 Pullux swn, sum sayd, he wes,
 Sum feyhneyd he wes fadyrles,
 And nane soſwerane our hym hade,
 And all the warlde off golde he made.
 The poetys calde hym Creatowre
 Off all that thai dyde tyll honowre,
 As Pluto, Jupyter, and Bachus,
 Neptwne, Mars, and Eolus, 1500
 Off batylle, wyne, wynd, and se,
 Thai feyhne that thir sulde goddys be;
 Yhit thir poetys feyhnyys mare
 Off this Saturne we spake off are
 That fra he wyst be werde that he

Throwcht hys swyn sulde geldyt be
He bad hys wyffe rycht straytly
Quhat byrth scho bare off hyr body
Befor hym scho sulde it set,
For that, he sayde, sulde be hys met, 1510
Swa on hys barnys he sulde be wrokyn,
That that werde sulde all be brokyn.
Than Pluto fyrst hyr happnyt to bere,
And off hym, quhen scho wes lychtere,
Scho gert send hym hys fadyr to,
To se off hym quhat he walde do.
Than Satwne dawne hym in yerde,
Swa fayhlyd in tyll hym the werde;
Thar-for hym god off erde or helle
Poetys callys in thare spelle. 1520
Off Neptwne nest scho wes lychtare
And scho hym tyll hys fadyre bare,
And he hym swaykyde in the se,
Thar-off thai feyhne that god is he.
Fra scho herde this felny dwne.
Tyll Pluto fyrst, and syne Neptwne,
Scho let tyll hym be browcht no mare
The barnys that scho eftyre bare.
Syne to swyn he gat Pycus,
That fadyr wes to Fernyus, 1530
And hys swyne wes calde Latyne.
Off Ytaly he lord wes syne,
And this Latyne langage he
In tyll fowrme gert spokyn be.
The ferde swyn scho happynde to bere
Wes calde be name Jupyter;
This Jupyter all prevaly
Scho gert be fostryde tendirly,

- Quhill he passid all yhowthade,
 And storknyde in tyll stowt manhade. 1540
 Agayne hys fadyre irowsly
 F. 16. Than he ras in swylk felny,
 And made on hym swa fellown chas,
 Folowand hym fra place to place,
 Quhill Satwrne, for sawffte,
 Flede in that ile was callyde Crete;
 Thiddyr hys swn folowyde fast,
 And tuk hym thare in at the last,
 And presonyde hym lang tyme in pyne,
 And tyte fra hym hys lumys syne. 1550
 Thare thai kest thame in the se,
 Wenus thare off sulde cummyn be.
 Thir poetys sayis in thare fenyhyng
 (Bot it is noucht all suthfast thyng)
 Men may trowe full werraly,
 And mystrow this all wtraly,
 For in the articlys off the Crede
 Is noucht off this for-owtyn dred.
 Thai halde alsua this Venus wes
 Off luve lady and goddes, 1560
 Off all fayrhede; and for-thi
 All thai that luwyd perdrwry
 Made tyll hyr thare sacrifyis,
 And honowryd hyr in thare serwys.
 Propyrly, as scho sulde be
 Thare hope, thare hape, and thare awowa.
 Thare-eftyre fra that Saturnus,
 As yhe hawe herde was geldyt thus,
 He buskyd off that land to ga,
 That Jupyter suld noucht hym ala, 1570
 Na wyrk hym mare wa na dispyte,

He gat in tyll a gala tyte,
 And passyd the se sa happely
 That he gat in tyll Ytaly.
 Thare, as he closyd hys latyrday,
 Poetys off hym noucht mare walde say,
 Bot that he wes howth vs sete
 To be rygnand a planete,
 Hys cours haldande be hym-selwe.
 In ilkane off the taknys twelve, 1580
 Sex moneth and twa yhere.
 Fra he entyre in the syngnyfere,
 Quhill thretty wyntyr be oure-tane
 Or he be qwyttly all throwch gane.
 The Zodiake that we call;
 For that he berys the taknys all,
 In hys cours wytth wyolence
 Offt hapnys were or pestilence;
 Swa is mankynde in gret dowte
 Quhyll he hys cours hawe all made owte, 1590
 Wndir this Saturne, as Ovyde sayis,
 That made the world in tyll his dayis.
 Off Gold, all state was innocent,
 But plede, or ony jugement.
 He gert nothyr erde na tre,
 In hys tyme dolwyn na hewyn be,
 Thair byrth, but thret, thai oysid bere,
 Thaire wes na wylde that wyst off were,
 Then wes na schype to sayle the Se,
 Nowthir craere, farkost, na galé; 1600
 Thare wes na cuntre mare plesande
 Tyll man, that tyme, than hys awne lande;
 Best and byrd, and fysch in flwde,
 Had at thaire chos all lykand fwde,

F. 16. b.

The lady that tyme, Dame Nature,
Wyttht hyr rewle lede all creature.

Quhen this Saturne away wes dede,
Hys swn that ras in tyll hys stede,
Saw this golde off kynd sa brycht
All dysessfull tyll hys sycht; 1610
Wp that gold he tuke away;
And he the warlde made, in hys day,
Off qwhyte Sylwyre, that wes were Metalle than the golde beffere.

He gert bestys wndir yhoke
Thole brodys sare, and mony a knoke;
He gert fyrst men mak byggyng
And oys in hows thare dwellyng;
Hors he gert bath drwg and drawe,
And men he kend tyll ere and sawe; 1620
Goshawke he dawntyde and fawcownys
To tak bathe boytoure and herrownys.

Quhen Jupyter syne wes dede,
He that succedyt in hys stede,
The golde and sylvyr he gert be hyde,
As yhit is wndyr the kyst lyd,
And all the warlde he made off Bras,
That were than gold or sylver was,
That wes all state of mare downes,
Than ony tyme before it wes. 1630

The werst generatyowne
The ferde was in successyounne,
Quhen that prynce hys powere hade,
Off Yrne all the warlde he made.
Owyde sayis in to that quhyle
Wpe ras falshede, swyk and gyle,
Slycht, mycht, and ill qweyntys,

And brynnand lust off cōwatyis.
 The gest yharnyed wele to fare,
 Mycht nowcht be sykkyre off his hoslare ; 1640
 Na the maʷich couth noucht be
 In pes wytht hys alyé ;
 And oftsys the ta brodyre
 Walde off were be wytht the tothire ;
 The fadyre trowyt that the swn
 Walde, for hys land, hys dayis war dwne.

CHAP. XVIII.

The fyrst matere off Statmentry That Clerkis callis Idolatry.

F. 17. A MAN in awlde tyme wes calde Belus, Fadyr he wes to Schyr Nynus,
 That wes kyng off Assyry.
 Hys fadyr he luwyde sa tendirly, 1650
 That quhen he wes dede before,
 For tyll have off hym gud memore,
 All lyk hys fadyr in fygoure
 Ane ymage he mayd in fayr payntoure,
 That payntyd ymage wytht colowrys fyne
 In publyk place he set wp syne,
 Quhare comowne acces and repayre
 Men mycht have tyll that figoure fayre,
 And gert oure all [his] lordschype cry,
 Quha to that ymage devotly 1660
 Walde cum, for gyrth or sawifte,
 Na man suld swa hardy be
 Hym to pres to tak or slay,

Or ony mannans tyll hym may,
 For ony mys that he had dwne,
 Bot thare thai sulde have succoure swne,
 Qwhyll thai wytth-in the presence ware
 Byddande off that fygowre thare.
 Than, for caus off swylk succoure,
 The men off that land dyd honoure 1670
 To that fygoure, as that it ware
 A god off mycht and off poware,
 Othire be that ensawmpylle syne
 Off novyll matere or off fyne,
 Off thare frendys that ware dede.
 Set wp syk fygure in thaire stede,
 And gert do thame sik honowre,
 As thai had bene thaire creatoure :
 Sum Bell thai callyd, and sum Baall,
 Sum Beelzebub, sum Belyalle. 1680
 Thus fyrst begouth Ydolatry,
 That we oys to call Mawmentry.

CHAP. XIX.

Off a Genealogi till here Next folowis in this Chapter.

YHYT sulde I telle a Genealogy
 Fra Sem descendand lynealy,
 Gyve I sulde my mater bryng
 And my purpos tyll endyng.

In tyll the tyme I spak off thus,
 Semmys swn Pedagys
 Gat a swn, wes cald Gwalé,

- That syne wes fadyr tyll Adre ; 1690
 The quhylk gat Stermonyus,
 That fadyr wes off Ermodius ;
 Thare eftyre hys swanne Scealffy.
 That fadyre wes off Scealdy,
 Hys swne borne gat Tettius,
 That fadyr wes syne tyll Gettius ;
 F. 17. b. Godduffus eftyre gat Fynny,
 That was the fadyre off Freally ;
 Fredwalde eftyre, gat Woden ;
 He fadyr wes off mony men. 1700
 Bot Semmys fyrst swn Arphaxat
 Gat Caynan, that Ebere gat.
 This Caynan wes calde Sale,
 Jerusalem fyrst fwndyt he,
 And off hym come thai halyly
 That Ynde fyrst awcht, and Samary.
 Ebere eftyre gat Phalek,
 In hys tyme men begouth to speke
 In tyll mony twngys sere,
 As efftyre that thai chawngyd were, 1710
 Off Ebrewe the langage that tyme left
 Tyll Phalekys lynage lange thare-ef.
 In hys tyme begouth mawmentry
 That we oys to call ydolatry.
 Phalek the fadire wes off Rewe,
 Sum oysyde to call hym Ragewe,
 In the tyme that this Rewe was Off Sythy fyrst the kynryke ras.
 This Rewe to swn Sarwke gat,
 Off hym come Natore, eftyre that 1720
 In this Sarwkkys tyme on-one
 Off Assyry and Sycyone

The kynrykis ras in ryawte.
 Off this Nator come Tare.
 Babylon in tyll hys dayis
 Wes byggyd, as the story sayis.
 Off this Tare efftyre that Come Abraham that Isaac gat.

Here the Secownde Elde tayis ende,
 As the Hebrwyis mayis ws kende,
 Contenys in it yhere be yhere,
 A thowsand and twa hwndyr clere,
 And twa and twenty yhere, but mare.
 Bot to this discordand are
 The Seŵynty wys interpretowrys,
 For, as we fynde in thare Scriptowrys,
 A thowsand sevynty yhere and sevyn,
 The Secownd Elde contenys eŵyn.

Tyll this tyme nowe off Abraham,
And bathe the Eldys has tane ende,
As in all storys welle is kende,
Contenand hale the three thowsand yhere
Nyne scowre and foure oure passyt clere:
The quhilkys as Orosius
In tyll hys Cornyklys tellys ws,
Ner foryhet ware raklesly,
Or than myskende all wtraly
Wytht thayme, that set hale thair delyte
Before than storys for to wryte.
Fra Abraham ande Nynus Kynge
All storys tays thaire begynnyng;
As Pompeus, and Justyne, Orosius says, and Frere Martyne.

CHAP. I.

This Chaptere tellis how Nynus kyng Had Babilone in governynge.

- A.C. 2052. BEFOR that Jhesu Cryst wes borne,
To sawffe oure lyff that wes forlorne,
Twa thowsand hale and fyfty yhere,
And twa yhere owre, to rekyn clere,
F. 18. b. Nynus kyng off Assyry,
In lust off lordschype, and fellownly,
Tuk wpe armys to warray
Sere landys that abowt hym lay.*
All Asy, throwche hys cruelte,
Wytht were and batayle dawntyde he. 10
Fyfty yhere hys lyff he lede,
And mekyll off sakles blwde he schede;
All the landys off Sythy,
And othir natyownys thare syndry,
That oysyde to lyff, bot sympyll lyff,
Wytht-owtyn batall, were, or stryff,
And lathe wes bargane for to moŵe,
Or in tyll were thaire pythys proŵe.
Syk lyff he kend thame for to lede,
That blude off men in slawchtyre dede, 20
Thai oyside to drynk mar comownaly
Than mylk off scheype, or gayt, or ky.
Tyll wyncust he thaim kend sa fast,
That he wes wencust at the last.
Cam that calde wes Zorastes,

And kyng off Baktryanys qwhylum wes,
The fyndare off nycromancy,
Off wycheecraft and sorcery;
Fyrst he supprysyt wytth hys mycht,
And slewe hym syne wyth fors in fycht. 30
It happnyd eftyre on a day,
As he abowte a cyté lay,
In tyll assege as man off were,
Assayleyheande it wytth hys powere
Sik assawtys thare he made,
That nere the towne he wonnyne hade;
Ane archare in a kyrnale stude,
That wele behelde quhare Nynus yhude,
Hawand in hys hand a bowe,
Thare in he set a brade arowe, 40
That to the hwkis wpe he drwe,
And wytth that schot he Nynus slwe.

Than Semyramys, his wyff,
That led in lykyng al hyr lyff,
In tyll hyr chawmbyr than syttand,
Hyr hayre in wympyll arayand,
Quhen that scho herd off this cas,
Suppos in hart scho sary wes,
The tane half off hyr hare wnplet,
Scho gert plat on hyr hys basynet, 50
Wytth othire armys gud and fyne,
And lape apon a cursere syne,
And to the towne, but mare abade
Arayit wytth hyr ost scho rade,
And gert thame mak thare wpe assawte,
Wythowtyn falyhyng or defawte,
F. 19. Qwhyll that scho wonyn hade the towne,
And broucht it to confusyown.

Fra thine hyr lust stwde halyly
 In slawchtyr and in lychory. 60
 Fowrty yhere scho lyvyt and twa,
 And wandyt na mare for to sla
 Hym that scho gert ly hyr by
 Than hym that wes hyr inymy,
 Quhat tyme that hyr lykyng stude,
 And yharnyng had for to se blude.
 Off chawmbyr play scho was nevyre sade,
 For all the copy that scho hade ;
 Scho gert oure all hyr landys cry,
 Be statute ordanyt fermly, 70
 That all that walde in lykyng lyve,
 And tyll lust thare bodyis gyve,
 Thai sulde in all be als fre
 As it mycht lykand to thame be.
 Tyll sybredyn haffand na knowlage
 And, but all reverence off maryage,
 In all apport scho prowytyt man,
 Suppos in fourme scho wes woman.
 All Ethyope scho wane, but dowt,
 And made it tyll [hir] wyndyrlowt ; 80
 Scho passyd in Ynd in playne bataylle,
 Qwhare hyr before nane durst assaylle,
 Na eftyr hyr wyttht fors off fycht
 Bot Alexandyr, that wyth hys mycht
 Wane Mede and Pers, and Ynde allswa,
 And all the lave off Asya.
 Bot Ynde in tyll hyr tyme wes were
 To wyn, than eftyr hyre befere,
 For off nakyn wer wyth-owte
 Na wyttht-in thai had na dowte 90
 Off inwý, na cowatys,

Na falshede that thaim mycht supprya.
 Set scho lyvyt in terandry,
 In governance scho wes happy,
 And avysy wes off were,
 And kowth weylle sé for hyr mystyre.

Hyr landys lyand hyr abowte
 Scho stwffyt weylle wytth-owtyn dowt,
 And gert thame weyll replenysyt be Wytth hors, and noyt, and othir fe.

100

Off wyne and wax, oyle and qwheyt,
 And all tyme scho had copy greyt.
 Off froyte that grew on erd and tre
 Scho had in all tyme gret plente,
 Scho gert men thraly set thaire cure,
 Corne to wyne wytth thare culture.

F. 19. b.

Off Babylone, bathe towre and towne,
 Scho made gude reformatyounge,
 And kyrnalyt it perfytyl,
 And baytaylyd it rycht propyrlly,
 And drewe in tyll it marchandys,
 Bowcht and sawlde on syndry wys,
 And helde in tyll it craftys sere,
 At may nowcht all be raknyt here.

110

Amang all othir comownaly
 Scho lete hyr awne swne ly hyr by ;
 Swa anys as scho come hym tyll
 Hyr fleschly lust for to fulfyll,
 Prevally he gat a knyffe,
 Wytth that fra hyr he refft the lyff.

120

All thus qwhen scho endyt was,
 Hyr swne succedyt, Nynyas,
 The swne and ayre to Nynus Kyng,
 And had that lande in governyng.

And efftyre hym off lynyage
 Succedyt to that herytage
 Fourteyne ayrys syndrely,
 Be lyne descendand evynly,
 Beffor that lordschype was wndone,
 As yhe may here efftyre sone. 130

This Nynus had a sone alsua
 Sere Dardane, lord de Frygya,
 Fra quhom Barbere sutely
 Has made a propyr genealogy
 Tyll Robert oure Secownd kyng,
 That Scotland had in governyng.
 The paganys made in thaire storys,
 That is bot fabyll or fantys,
 That Jupyter gat on Electra,
 Sere Dardane lorde off Fregya : 140
 To tell yhowe thaire-off the story
 Walde do as nowe bot occupy
 Tyme, and walde forthir noucht
 Purpos that sulde tyll ende be browcht.

CHAP. II.

Off Abrahame now schall yhe here
 Parte wryttine in this Chapitere.

A.C. 2010.

TWA thowsand yhere and ten beforne
 That Cryst wes off the Madyn borne,
 Quhen that fourty yhere and ane
 Fra Nynus ras ware fully gane,
 That ane folowand the nest yhere,
 Abraham, off quhom yhe sall nowe here, 150

F. 20.

Wes borne, and than ane wes he
Off the sonnys gottyn off Tare.
He lewyt all tym wertusly,
And God hym blyssyd specyally,
In tyll hys tym he fand of newe
To wryt lettyrys off Hebrewe, (For the bokis that Enok wrate Drownyt all in Noeys spate).
He kend the Caldeys perfytyl,
The scyens off astronomy, 160
He gewē fyrst, in tyll hys dayis
Teyndis, as the Bybyll sayis,
To Melchesedek, that than hade
The soſwerayne ordyre off Presthade,
That offeryt tyll Abraham brede and wyne,
That blyssyt hym, and devoutly syne,
Quhen that he come hame agayne,
Fra that the kyngis foure ware slayne,
Quhare that Loth rescwyd he,
Wytht all hys gude, and hys menyhe, 170
He kende the Egyptis wysly,
The scyens off geometry,
The Circumcysiowne fyrst take he
And, as we fynde, the Jubilé
Fyrst in hys tym fundyn was,
And nowē we call the yherys off grace.
A sone he gat on Saray,
That Ysaak was calde werraly.
Ane hundreth yhere quhen he wes aulde,
And sevnty, to the gast he yhalde, 180
Quhen all hys tyme fulfillde wes,
In gud eyldē and in rychtwysnes.

CHAP. III.

This Chapteris tellis clerli
Off Issaakis progeni.

Y SAAK weddyt Rebecca,
And on hyr he gat sonnys twa,
Esaw callyde the eldest,
And luwyt wes wytht the fadyre best;
Jacob callyde wes the tothire,
Off byrth he wes the yhungest brothire;
At anys the modyr, nevyrtheles,
Off thame twa delyvere wes. 190
In huntynge Esawe had delyte,
Jacob set hym for profyte
Off corne, catelle, or off fe,
Quhare-wytht he mycht sustenyt be.
Fra huntynge Esawe all wery
Come on a day, and rycht hungry,
And off the potage walde haue hade
That Jacob tyll hys dynare made,
For hym thowcht it ane harde thrawe.
Hwngyr than in tyll hale mawe, 200
That Jacob warnyde hym wtraly,
Bot gyff he saulde hym halely,
All hys awantage and hys gre,
That for as eldest hys sulde be.
Than Esaw, for-owtyn lete,
For hungryr that he wes in sete,
For a dysfulle off potage,
Gaue wpe alle hale hys herytage.

F. 20. b.

Thus Jacob wane the eldest gre,
 Thowcht yhungar in the byrthe was he. 210
 Syne how this Jacob sleely
 Prewenyde hys brodyre qweyntlye,
 Quhen throwcht hys modyre suggestyowne,
 He wan his fadyr benysowne ;
 How syne off thir brethire twa,
 Jowys and Gentyle come alsua,
 Than Gentyle was all generaly,
 That come noucht discendand lynealy
 Fra Jacob be successiowne,
 Na off hys generatyown. 220
 Jowys fra thine wes in that gre
 That Cristynmen now in yhe se.
 This Jacob was callyd Israelle,
 Fra wytth hym wyrstlyllyde the Angelle,
 As in the Bybyll wryttyn is,
 In to that Buk callyde Genesis.
 This Jacob on hys wyffis twa,
 Rachell callyde and Lya,
 Gat sonnys twelf, and Judas
 Ane off thai twelf sonnys was. 230
 Thir twelff, that I yhowe off telle,
 The Tribus are off Israelle,
 Off quhome come oure suet Lady,
 Goddys modyr, myld Mary.
 Tribus may be the lyniage
 Propyrly calde in oure langage.
 Thai had in tyll possessyowne
 The land off repromysyowne.
 [Foremus] on Nyabe
 In to this tyme gat Phorone. 240
 He wes the fyrst [that] in hys dawys

Ordanyt in to Grece the lawys,
 And before jugys ordanyt he,
 Be plede causys mot to be.
 He ordanyt [als] the jugis sete
 To be for that oys the markete ;
 Forum he gert it calde be,
 Eftyre hys awne name, calde Forone.
 In Latyne, that is the name yhit
 Off that at we call the markyte. 250

Ysis that was hys systere syne,
 In Egypte passyde be nawyn,
 And thare scho kend thame letteratur,
 And corne to wyne wytht thare culture.
 For-thi thai sayde that scho thare wes
 Amang thare goddys as a goddes.
 Apis, thai say, that he sulde be
 A sone off this Forone.
 He pasd the se in Egypte than,
 Qwhare, thai sayde, he wes weddyt man 260
 Tyll this woman calde Ysys,
 And gode wes calde wyth thare fayre goddys,
 And Syrapis wes eftyre callyde,
 As I fynde in storys eftyre taulde.

The madyn that tym Mynerva,
 Besyde a louch in Affryca
 Wes fwndyn fyrst, that [craftis] sere
 Kend weylle be werk and be matere.
 The wemen that tym off the land
 Scho gert thraly be wyrkand, 270
 And mast in wolle to keme and spyn,
 And clathys wewe to be cled in.
 This Mynerva that than was Eftyre that was callyde Pallas ;

In Tracya is swylke ane yle,
 Thare in scho noryst wes sum quhyll; 280
 And as scho slayne hade a geande
 That to name was callyd Pallande,
 Tharefor Pallas was hyre name,
 That maydyn off so ryalle fame.

CHAP. IV.

*This Chapter now tellis
 How fyrst inhabit wes Rodis.*

A THOWSAND and sex hundyr yhere
 Foure scor, foure les to rekyne clere,
 Before the Incarnatyoun
 That made all oure salvatyoun,
 A folk that callyd wes Telchyses,
 And Caratays that wytth thame wes,
 Rase agayne Sere Foroné,
 Off Argos that tyme kyng wes he.
 He haid in tyll hys company 290
 A folk than callyd Parakasy;
 Thir landys all in Grece ar hale,
 Suppos thare lordschypys be severale.
 The Telchysis wencust in that fycht,
 Be-huwyd on neyde to ta the flycht,
 Fra pres off men to halde thame fre
 And in to pes to lywande be.
 F. 21. b. The Ile off Rodys than tuke thai
 And it inhabytyt fra that day,
 Be thame and thare successyown
 For trayst and fre possessyown. 300

CHAP. V.

*This Chapter schall tell photo ryght
Off Josephis wyt and hys forsyght.*

A THOUSAND and sewyn hundyre yhere,
And ane and saxty reknyt clere,
Befor the Natyvyte,
In Egypte that fertylyte
Begowth to rys in Josephys dayis,
As in hys cronykyl Orose sayis,
Sewyn yher owt contynnand,
Wytht othir sevyn nest folowand
Off gret derth and hungare sare ;
That had the pupylle noyt mare, 310
Ne ware that Joseph, wytht hys wyt,
Hade sene remede and helpe for it.
Jacobys sone this Joseph was,
Perfyt, and off sik connandnas
That he cowth wele bayth ken and se
Quhat land suld yhelde or fertyll be.
He wes the fyrst that dremys rede
That men seys slepand in thare bede ;
Off swylk mystyk wysyownys
He mad gud exposytyownys. 320
His bredyre ten salde hym for-thi
Tyll strang merchandys for inwy.
Than had hym in tyll Egypt than,
Thare he be-come the kyngys man,
That helde hym in tyll gret daynté,
And put hys gud in hys powsté.

His brodyre than that had hym saulde,
As I to yow be-fore has talde
Slew a kyde, and in the blude
Wet the gown that he in yhude, 330
And gherth hys fadyre be that ken
That wolwys had hym weryid then.
Nevertheles, for hys bownté,
Wytht the kyng welle lufyt wes he Off Egypt, als and wytht the Quene.
Fra scho off hym a sycht had sene,
[Scho] walde have gert hym ly hyr by :
Bot he refoysit that curtasly,

For the wyrchype off hys larde,
That all hys gude put in hys warde ; 340
Bot alanerly the Quene,

F. 22.

Scho raryde lowde wyth cryis kene,
Sayd Joseph wald haffe lyne hyr by,
Qwhare to [scho] wowyt hym besely.
Than was he put in hard presowne
Quhyll the Kyng gat [a] vesyown,
Slepand sawe in tyll hys bede,
That nane cowth than bot Joseph rede,
He tauld hym be that drem in all
How thai fourteyne yhere sulde falle. 350

Than made he Joseph, off hys land,
Stewarde hale and luftenand ;
He gherth that sevyn yhere gadryt be Alkyne korne in swylyk plente,
That in tyll tyme off hungar sare,
The folk that full relevyde ware,
And othir mony cowntré sere,
Tyll Egypt that tym drawyn were,
To by wyttaylle for thare fude.

Thus Joseph, throwch hys wërtu gude, 360
 Stuffyt hys lord weylle off moné,
 And gert the folk relewyde be,
 And throwcht hys slycht, and hys quentys,
 Off Egypte all the tennandrys
 He redemyt thare agayne,
 And mayde thame to the kyng demayne ;
 And in husbandry for ferme,
 Ilkè yhere at certane terme,
 He set thai landys and the male,
 The fyft part off thare wynnyng hale, 370
 Ilkè yhere, in tyll certane,
 At termes to the kyng was tane ;
 And in tyll Egypte yhit thai say
 That lawch is kepyt to this day.
 And for sik wërtu as he pruwyt,
 Soöerandly hys lard hym lufyt,
 And gaöe hym large and full powere
 To do that lykand tyll hym were.
 Hys brethir than come tyll hym als,
 (That for inwý and cownsale fals, 380
 For the dremys that he taulde,
 To strang marchandys hade hym saulde,)
 To by off hym wyttaile thare,
 For in tyll gret dystres thai ware :
 Bot knowlage off hym had thai nane,
 He kend thaim nevyrtheles ilkane,
 And on thame threpyt thai ware spyis,
 Or to the kyng kyd innymys.
 All thus he taryid thame so fast
 Tyll thame behuvid at the last, 390
 For tyll leöwe ane wyttht hym on nede,
 The laöwe tyll pás hame full gud spede,

F. 22. b.

And in hy tyll hym to bryng
Benjamin, thaire brodyre yhing,
Thai left than wytth hym Symeon
And hame thai passyd sone on-one.
Thai taulde thare fadyr how thai ware
Anoyid in tyll Egypt sare ;
And Benjamin yhet, at the last,
Wytth thame in tyll Egypt past, 400
Mekyll agayne hys fadyr wylle,
That had his presumptyoune off thaim ille.
Yhet ware thai set in hardare pres
Fra Benjamyn thare cummyn wes ;
Bot at the last Joseph thame taulde
He wes thare bruthire that thai saulde,
And for thare hele in to that land
God had hym sawyt than lefand :
Than for his fadyr he gert thame pas,
That taulde hym Joseph lewand was ; 410
With that worde he was so fayne
That his speryt quyknyt agayne,
And buskyt hym delyverly
In Egipt for to pas in hy,
To se hys sone that for hym sende,
And thare hys lyff for to take end.
All thus, as yhe have herd me telle,
In Egypt fyrst come Israelle.
In this tyme Primotheus yhing,
Off Caucasus baythe lorde and kyng, 420
Wytth in the landys off Asy,
Kend thame fyrst phylosophy ;
He wes the brodyre off Atland,
That kyng was than off Affrykland,
Thai fenyhe that tyme he mad men,

For caus he gert thame craftis ken ;
 Figuris off men he made alsua,
 The quhylkis he gart be craftis ga.
 Ryngys fyrst he gert men were,
 Thaim he gert the myd fyngyre bere, 430
 For fra that to the hart, he sayde,
 Ane [e]wyn strekande wayne wes layde ;
 And alsua for mast belysyng,
 Thare-on he gert thame were the ryng.

Tritolomus, that tyme alsua
 Be nawyne passyd in Grecia,
 Thare he kend thame wytht mare cure,
 Than thai ware wont to ma culture.
 That tyme alsua Dame Ceres,
 That off corne wes callyde goddes, 440
 Fyrst gert corne wytht mesure mete,
 As boll, or pek, or wytht fyrlete,
 Quhare befor bot in to stake,
 Or hepys on erde thai oysyde to make,
 F. 23. Tharefor scho was callyde Demetra
 In all the land off Greycya.

CHAP. VI.

Off Belucalponys flude
 This hillys heg sumtyme our-ghude.

A THOUSAND and fyve hundyr yhere,
 Thre score and twa, to rekyn clere,
 Befor the Incarnatyoun,
 In Athenys Amphytryone, 450
 The fadyr than off Ercules,

That the gret geand quhylum wes,
Fra Cycrope wes the thryde kyng
That hade Athenys in governyng.
Than all the folk off Tessaly
Had nere bene drownyt suddanly
Wytht a fers falland flude,
Thai ware a fewe tyll hyllys yhude.
Wpone ane hille was callyd Parnas
Thare thai ware that sawfyte was. 460
All the landys thare abowt
Dewcalyone than aucht, but dowl
That resawyt wytht gud wyll
All tha that that tyme fled hym tylle,
The men that tyme thai said wdone,
Wes throw hym reformyd sone.

For this Dewcalion in thai dayis
Wytht hys wyff Pyrre, Owyde sayis,
Ay wpe fra hyll tyll hylle past,
And on the hyst at the last 470
Thai oure-bade that felowne flude,
And to the planys than thai yhude;
Thare thaire frendys and thare kyn
Thai myssyd all, bathe mare and myn,
Na thai couth fynd na lyvand man
In all thai landys sterand than,
Thai ware wdone so halyly,
All drownyt in that dyluwy.
Than tyll a cove Dewcalyon,
And hys wyff Pyrre, passyd onone, 480
And devotly thai mad thare
Tyll a goddes thare prayare,
Tyll wyttyre thame, for hyr pyté,
How mankynd mycht reformyt be.

Thus quhyll thai ware prayand fast.
 Thai war ansuert, at the last,
 Owt off the cove that thai sulde ga,
 And thare modyre bany ta,
 And tha be-hynd thame thai sulde cast.

Than owt off the cove thai past, 490
 And esytyde on gret manere,

F. 23. b. Quhat sulde betakyn this ansuere.
 For sua the Spat had all oure-gane
 That thai gat nowthire flesch na bane
 Off thare modyr, and for-thi
 Thai ferlyid off this hugely.

Thus quhill thai studyit this Pyrra,
 The first spekyne begouth to ma ;
 For rydely wylis in wemen
 Sunnere apperys than in men ; 500

Scho sayde, " I can be na way trowe
 That othir modyre have we nowe
 Than the erde, and the stanys
 Ar thare-off, as I trowe, the bany.
 Tharefore I red that we ga fast,
 And lat behynd ws stanys kast."

Wytth this Deucalyon dyde all hale,
 As Pyrra gaŵe hym to consalle,
 And off tha castys eftyre grewe
 Men and wemen all off newe ; 510
 Swa off thare kyn thai stuffyt the land
 Qwhar before thai war duelland.

Eftyre gret mortalyteis
 Yhet men thus growys in sere cuntreis.
 In to the kynryc yhett off Frawnce
 Is nane so redy craft no chawnce
 Off [auld] kyn newe to fynde,

Than to cast stansys fast behynde.

For-thi, tyll conclusyoun

Off this reformatyoun,

520

This Ovide maide thir ilk wers,

In metyre, that I wyll rehers.

(Inde genus durum sumus experiens quoque malum :

Et documenta damus, qua simus origine nati.)

“Thareoff, he says, be kynd we ta

For tyll be dowre and harde alsua,

And we mak kend in propyrte

Quharoff ony kynd suld commyn be.”

All this that I rehersyt now

Standys yow noucht on nede to trowe,

For thare is nane that can this rede

Amange the Artikyllys off the Crede.

CHAP. VII.

This Chapitere now will phow telle

The wrakis that in Egipte fell.

A THOWSAND and fyve hundyre yhere,

And sevyn and fowrty hale, but were,

[Before the Incarnatioun,

That was oure salvatioun]

The wrakys ten in Egypt ras,

For that Israelle anoyit was

In serwytute and fowle thrylage,

Throwcht the Kyng and hys barnage,

F. 24.

That in tyll Egypt ras of newe

And off Joseph no thyng knewe ;

540

Bot thowcht ille in sic multitwde
 That alenyys amang thame stwde.
 Quhen Jacob, as yhe hard me telle,
 That callyde befor wes Israelle,
 Hys son Joseph for to se
 In Egypt pasd wytth his menyhe,
 And browcht in wyth hym, taulde and sene
 Thre scor off bodyis and fyftene,
 That wytth hym in tyll Egypt past
 And thare syne thai grewe so fast, 550
 Off industry and ingyne,
 In byrth, and off werty syne,
 And off welth in sufficyans,
 And ryches in tyll haboundans,
 That the Egyptys for inwy
 Anoyit thame dispituisly,
 And in thaire werk thayme pynowrys made
 That growyn wp was in manhade,
 The Kyng gert commawnd, but remede,
 The knawe barnys sulde be put to dede 560
 Off Israelytys [ewyr]-ilkane,
 Than to be borne that sauff ware nane;
 Bot all the madyne barnys he
 Than to be borne bad sawfyde be.

Thus that Kyng and hys barnage
 Helde this folk in gryt thrillage,
 Na wald delyver on na wys
 Thame to mak thare sacrifyce
 Tyll God off mycht, in wyldyrnes,
 As [he] was byddyn be Moyses, 570
 Quhille fyrst thare wattyre turnyt in blude,
 Paddokkis syne thare land our-yhude,
 Syne hyttyn thai ware wytth cynphes,

That a kynde off gleggys wes,
And alkyn kynd off gleggys als,
That gart thame yhuke baythe hede and hals.
Syne in thare bleddyris boldnyt bylys,
And alkyn bruke and scab that vyle is,
Syne comune qwalm off all thare fe,
That scheype, or nowyt, or gayte sulde be, 580
And at the last in generale
All thaire ayrys deyde hale,
Be so fers mortal[it]e,
That nane in to that lande wes fre,
Than hys eldest barne wes dede,
But ony manere off remede,
Quhyll off the land thai lete thame pas.

F. 24. b.

Moyse than thare chyftane was,
And gawe thame lawys to lyve by,
Wrytyn in the Mownt off Synay. 590
In Egypte als quha wald kene
Thare felle than wrakis ma than tene,
As sayis the Buke off Exodi,
Quha wyll it se perfytyl,
But for thai war noucht all so felle,
Swa apert, na swa cruelle,
Thai ar foryhet wytth autorys sere
That mentyown mays off this mater;
Bot eftyr thame, as sum men sayis,
War notyt the forbodyn dayis, 600
In ilk moneth off the yhere,
Begynand fyrst in Januere.
Bot thai of Egypt noucht for-thi,
Swa wys ware in astronomy,
That it is noucht to trowe thai walde
All thir dayis forbodyn halde,

Na thai walde in thame begyne
 And do that thai saw profyt in
 As to byggyn, and to wyage
 In marchandys or pilgrimage ; 610
 Bot off the elementis sere
 Thai that hafys thaire matere,
 Or felys thare complexiownys
 Movyd be constellatyownys
 Discordand, it ware nought to skylle
 That thir dayis ware kepyt tylle
 The Egyptis in perplexyte,
 For dowl thare land sulde peryst be,
 And wytth thai wengeance all wdone ;
 Sum off thame tuk purpos sone 620
 Out off [that] land all qwynt to pas ;
 Ane Dynys Bachus off thame was,
 That for that dowl all Egypt left,
 And Argos mad in Grece thareft.
 He kende the men off that cuntré
 Off wynys the subtylyte,
 Quhare[-in] he conand was in alle ;
 Tharfore hym god off wyne thai calle.
 That tyme als Cyclope kyng
 Off Egypte drede the wndoyng, 630
 In to Grece sone comyn was,
 Duelland fra thine in Athenas.

CHAP. VIII.

This Chapitere sall tell photo all hale
Of the Scottis Orgggnales.

OWTE off Sythy in that quhyll
In to Grece come Schyre Newyle,
That wes off deid a worthy man,
And in to Grece gryt lordschype wan:
He wes nere in the twenty degré
Be lyne discendande fra Noye,
Off his yhungast son, but lete,
F. 25. That to name was callyd Japhete. 640
Off Sem hys brodyre come Presthade;
And off this Japhet come Knychthade.
This Newyle was fra this Noye,
As I sayde ayre, the twenty degré,
And had a sone callyd Gedyelle-Glays;
And as the story off hym says,
To wiff weddyt Scota yhing
Pharois douchtyr off Egypt kyng.
This Gedeyl-Glays was off gret pyth,
And warnyst weyle off wyt thar-wyth; 650
He gat on Scota barnys fayre,
And ane of thai sulde have bene ayre
Tyll Pharao, that drownyt was
In to the Reide Se, at that chas,
That the Egyptis maid so felle
Wpon the folk off Israelle;
Quhare all that folk our-passyd dry,
The Egyptis drownyt halyly.

This Gedeyl-Glays, quhen he sawe
 The land off Egypt, hey and lawe, 660
 That in all thyng wes profytabelle,
 And tyll hys lyvyng delytabyll,
 Hys duellyng thare he thocht to ma,
 And hys awantage off it to ta,
 Sen hys barnys apperyt to be
 Lordis off that rywte.

Bot the barnage off the land,
 That remaynyde than lywand,
 Thocht thai ware agrevyt sare
 Throw the wrakis, thai tholyt are : 670
 Be that ensawmpyll, off consalle
 All alienys thai banyst hale.

Quharefor this ilke Gedeil-Glays
 Hys way owte off that [lande] he tays,
 And throwcht the Meyre Medytterayne
 He passyde, quhille he come in Spayne ;
 And on the watter off Hybery
 He byggyde the towne off Brygancy :
 Thare nowe the towne is off Galys,
 Quhare that, thai say, Sanct Jamys lyis : 680
 And thai that duelt than in that land
 He gert be tyll hym obeysand.

Syne, as he passyde on a day
 Throwcht that land in tyll his play,
 Oure fra hym be-yhonde a sé
 He kend lyand a gret cuntré.
 Than speryt he thraly off that land,
 Quha sulde be in tyll it duelland ;
 Bot ansuere tharof gat he nane,
 Na nakyn knowlage in certane. 690

F. 25. b. In hy than gert he schyppys thre

Wytht armyd men sone stuffyt be,
And gert thame pas be Se thare way
To se that land how that it lay,
And gyff that it wes eyth to wyn,
And quha was duelland it wythtin.
Wytht wynd at wyll that folk than past,
And in the land come at the last
At ane yle, wes in the se,
Off gret space and off quantyte :

700

Bot thai, that duelt in to that yle,
Wnhonest was and inutyle ;
Tharefore thai, that come to spy
That land, thai dressyt wnmoderly ;
For sum off thame thai slewe rycht thare
Wytht arys, sum thai dang rycht sare.
[And thay that happenit to get away
Held to their schippis, but delay.]

Syne alle that yle thai passyde abowt,
And sawe thai mycht, but drede or dowte,
Wyn it hally to thare wylle,
Swa that thai wertu had thare-tylle.

710

Thai tuk wpe sayle, and passyd in hy
Wytht wynd at wyll to Brygancy
Quhare Gedeyl-Glays wes our-tane
Off case wytht dede than subitane ;
Bot his body wytht honowre
Wes put in tyll honest sepultoure
Wytht swylk oys and solempnyte,
As that tyme wes in that cuntré

720

Thir spyis taulde hys barnys sone,
In to that Ile howe thai [had] done ;
And said that it wes eytht to wyn,
For thai, that duelt that Ile within,

War sottys wyle off na walu,
 Na governyde thame be na wertu ;
 And at that land wes profytabelle
 And tyll all levyng dylitabyll :
 Tharefor thai sayde, it wes thare wylle,
 And full consaylle thai gawe thar-tylle, 730
 For to pass that Ile wyttht-in,
 And it be conquest to thame wyn,
 And wyttht thare stuffe it occupy
 For thame and tharis herytabilly ;
 Repruwand thame as sottis wyle ;
 Sene thai mycht doutles, but peryle,
 Tyll thame and all thare lynyage
 That lordschipe wyn in herytage,
 For to leve it fayntly,
 And lyve as lowndreris cayttevely. 740

A sone off Gedeyl-Glays than,
Heber, that was a douchty man,
 Thought it wes tyll hym lywyng fayre,
 Syne he wes noucht hys fadyre ayre ;
 He sone inclynynd to thare consalle,
 And chesyt hym men, and gat wytalle,
 F. 26. And layde his schyppys to the Se,
 And entryde in wyttht hys menyhe.
 He tuke wpe sayle, and furth he past,
 And in the Ile come at the last : 750
 Alle the men thare he slewe down,
 That was noucht tyll hys byddyng bown ;
 Off the lave he tuk homage.
 Thus all that land in herytage
 He wane all hale, and maid it fre
 Tyll hym and hys posteryte.
 So occupyid he furth the land

Wytth all, that evyr thare-in he fand,
 And Scotland gert call that Ile,
 For honowre off hys modyr quhille,
 That Scota was wytth all men calde,
 As yhe [haf] herd before be-talde.
 Hybernica thai callyd it syne
 Off this Hiberus, in Latyne,
 That Yrland we ws to calle
 Now in to oure langage alle.
 Off Hiber thai come halyly,
 Tha we oys to call Yrschery;
 And this lady callyd Scota
 All thir Scottis ar cummyn fra,
 As yhe may in this proces here,
 Quhen we ar cummyn to that matere.

CHAP. IX.

On othir wiis this Chapitere Says the Brsche cummyn were.

BOT be the Brwte, yhit Barbare sayis,
 Off Yryschry all othir wayis,
 That Gurgwnt-Badruck quhille wes kyng,
 And Bretayne had in governyng;
 Worthy wycht and wyse wes he.
 As [he] passyd anys oure the sé
 Fra Denmark, that he wonnyn hade,
 Be Orkney hame he tuk the trade;
 And thare schyppys he fand thretty
 Wytth off Spaynalys a company,
 That flemyt ware off thaire cuntré,

780

And lang ware waverand on the sé.
 Partoloym, that the ledare was Off thame, besoucht the Kyng off gras
 Tyll tak thame tyll hym off duellyng,
 And gyff thame land for thare wonnyng.
 He send wytth thame sum off his men
 Tyll Yrland, that was nought yhit then 790
 Inhabityde, bot wes wast haly :
 Off this folk come the Yryschry,
 That duelt in Yrland to this day,
 And Yrysch off Yrland callyd ar thai.

Yhit is thare odyre awtorys sere,
 That tretis part of this matere ;
 Bot thai oys nought to tell hys name,
 F. 26. b. Hys state, his gre, na yhyt hys fame,
 Off quhame the Yrysch cumyn are ;
 Bot sayis, quhen that Egyptys ware 800
 Drownyde in the Reid Se,
 The lave, that levyt in that cuntré,
 Banyst fra thame a gentyll-man,
 That duelland amangys thame wes than ;

— A Sytyk he wes off natyowne,
 Conand in all discretyoune.
 Thai dowtyd at hys senyhoury
 Suld thame abawndown halyly,
 Be that ensawmpyll, that thai ware
 Befor throucht strangerys noyid sare. 810
 This gentyll-man and hys menyhe
 Gat schyppyng sone, and tuk the sé,
 And saylyd Affryk all abowt
 Drewyn wytth syndry stormys stoute,
 And by othire costis sere,
 That spedys nought to rekyn here ;

Syne in to [the] Spaynyhe sé ✓
He hapnyd to cum wytht his menyhe,
Quhare he tuke land; and mony yhere
He and hys thare-in duelland were: 820
Sa he and all hys progeny
Held that land ay herytabylly.

Owte off Spaynyhe than in Irland
Thai come, and wan all hale that land,
Quhen passyd wes twelf hundyr yhere
Fra the Egyptis drownyd were
Chasand the pupyll of Israelle,
As yhe have herd me before telle,
Quha that wyll cast date to date,
As autoris in thaire storyis wrate, 830
And yhere wyll rekyn eftyr yhere,
The sowme sall be thre hundyr clere
And twa and fyfty yhere befor
Or Jhesu wes off Mary born.

I wyll noucht hald thir oppynnyownys ale
Contrary, for thai mycht weyll fale;
Bot it is doweys be the date,
That Cronyklaris befor me wrate,
And othir incydens sere
Accordand part to this matere. 840

Bot quethir it be, or othir wayis,
Than all thir autoris before me sayis,
For certane yhe sall wnderstand,
That owt off Spaynyhe in tyll Yrland
The Scottis come, that to this day
Havys it and Scotland haldyn ay.
In [the] Thryde Eylde, wytht-owtyn les
In Spaynyhe the Scottis cummyn wes.
Wythtin the Ferd Eylde, Yrland

Was to the Scottis obeyschande. 850
 F. 27. Syn sum off thame can occupy
 Parte off the north off Brettany.
 Than wes in it thre Natyownys,
 Scottis, Peychtis, and Brettownys.
 Part off the Scottis yhit left in Spayn,
 Quhen thai war cumyn in tyll Brettane,
 And Scottis thai spekys halyly,
 And yhit are callyde Navarry.

CHAP. X.

Or I forthire nowe procede,
 Off the Genealogi will I rede.

IN the Fyrst Buk, gyffe that yhe
 Wele nere the last end rede and se, 860
 Thare may yhe fynd the Genealogeys,
 That in tyll al parte sygnifys,
 As oure Kyng suld cumyn be Discendand ewyn fra Noe.
 And quhy that thai disseveryde are,
 Yhe wyt or yhe ga forthirmare.

In the Thryd Eylde, storys sere
 Sayis, the Scottis cummyn were Wytht Gedeyl-Glays in Spaynyhe land,
 And in the Ferde Eylde in Yrland, 870
 And in the Fyft Eylde lang beforne,
 In Scotland, or that God wes born.
 Thir Genealogyis I maide for-thi
 Devysyde, as yhe se, dystynctly.
 And [als] suppos I fand be name

Thame wryttyn all, yhit off the fame
Off mony, and the dowchtynes,
That lang tyme swa fordelyd wes,
Mater nane I worthy fand,
That tyll yhoure heryng were plesand 880
In tyll this Tretys for to wryte :
Swa suld I dulle hale yhoure delyte,
And yhe sulde call it bot arane,
Or that I had thame half ourtane,
Gyff I sulde tell thaim halyly,
As thai are in the Genealogy
Wyttht-oute othir distynctyowne.

For-thi was myn intentyoune
Amange the Eyldys thame to drawe,
Dyviside swa, that yhe mycht knawe 890
Quha that war orygynale,
The begynnyng pryncipalle
Off ilke cuntré, quhar that thai
Occupyde thare-eftyre ay :
[And sa] I suld excusyde be,
Gyff I mak noucht thare entre,
Quhen thare entre fyrst began
In to thai landis that thai wan,
Tyll othir statis accordand

Befor the Incarnatyoun,
For I fynde na discriptyoun.
Than I fynd sic discrepance,
That I am noucht off sufficiance
For to gare thame all acorde ;
Bot sympylly for to recorde
Wyttht-in the Eyldis, that than felle ;
And nane othir termys telle.

And, quhare I left, now to begyn,
 I have in purpos, or I blyne, 910
 As in the Fyrst Buke, off Woden,
 That fadyr wes off mony men ;
 Hys swn wes callyde Bedagyus,
 That fadyr wes tyll Brondyus ;
 This Brondyus eftyre that
 Was Fredgarys fadyr, and hym gat ;
 He had ane swne was callyde Frewyne,
 That Wyggews gat eftyre syn ;
 Hys swn Gennus gat Elfeus,
 That fadyr wes off Elesyus ; 920
 Elesyus gat Kerdycy,
 That awcht West Saxone halyly ;
 The fyrst Kyng tharoff was he,
 That it fyrst awcht in reawte :
 He gat Kynrycyus eftyre syn,
 That fadyr wes off Cealfyne ;
 Hys swn Cwtwyne gat Kude ;
 - - Cedwaldys fadyr syne wes he,
 And hys sown Conrad eftyre that Inys brodyre Inglis gat. 930
 Now off thir or I tell ma,
 Tyll Geddyll-Glays wyll I ga.
 This Geddyll-Glays eftyre that
 To sown Eber-Stiwut gat ;
 Eber syne, as I herd telle,
 Fadyr was off Novaelle ;
 This Novael gat Node ;
 And eftyre Aldoyt gat he ;
 Off hym come eftyr Erkada,
 That gat Doat, and he Brata. 940
 Hys swne Brogyne gat Broge

That gat thare-ef tyre Veande ;
 Syne hys swne Myle gat
 Mylet off Spayn swne ef tyre that ;
 This Mylet ef tyre had, but drede,
 Tyll son Ermeon-Malanseyde ;

Off hys swn Jaer-Olphaca
 Come Etoyre ; and ef tyre tha
 This Etoyr gat Phaleke,
 That fadyr wes tyl Tygerneke ;

950

And hys swn ef tyr Enbaca
 Had a swn calde Synreca ;
 Fyakak-Labryn ef tyr that Eugws-Olmwrge to swn gat ;

F. 28.

His sown Temaelle gat Den ;
 And Syrne-Elkade gat Olten ;
 Hys swn wes Moyadade-Fael,
 That gat Glays, as I herd tel ;
 Off hys sone Edoym ef tyr that Come Coyem-Dwff, that to sone gat
 Symon-Breke, that off Spayné land
 That Stane browcht fyrst in tyll Yrland,
 That syne wes callyd mony yhere
 The Kyngys Stane in Scotland here,
 As yhe sall here ef tyr swne,
 Quhen this proces tyll it is dwne.

CHAP. XI.

Now sal þe here off Banaus,
And off his brodir Egistus.

A THOWSAND and fyve hundyr yhere,
And twa and fourty full, but were,
Before the Natywyte
That wes the caus off alle oure gle, 970
In tyll Egypt Schyr Danaws,
That brodyr wes tyll Egistus,
Off dowchtrys nowmbryde had fyfty.
Egyst had sownnys sa mony.
Thai swynnys slayne war everilkane
Wytht thai dowchtrys to sauffe ane,
That gat away all prewaly.
Egystus tharfore fellownly
Gert hym off Egypt banyst be ;
In Argos than aryvyd he, 980
Quhare Tenelaus than wes kyng,
That made hym curtais welcummyng,
And ressaŵyde [hym] in that nede
And dyde hym profyt and fordede.
Bot he dyde vylny thare agayne,
This Tenelaus he walde have slayne
And be [the] lest hym banyst he .
The men all hale off that cuntré,
He enbawndownyd all hym tylle,
And maid thame bowswm tyll his wylle ; 990
And swa he regnyde in hys stede,
That banyst was for dowl off dede.

Than Busyrus in Egypte als
 Fellown ostlare wes, and fals,
 And hys devotyounne wes welle were,
 And hys relygyowne cruelere
 Than ony wychcraft mycht be,
 Or tyrandry in ony gre.

Quhen tyll hys gestis he maid gud chere,
 And welcummyd thame on fayre manere, 1000
 And syne to thame wald ta gud kepe,
 Quhyll thai ware sadly fallyn on slepe;
 Than stillely walde he to thame ga,
 And scheyre thare thropyll boll in twa,
 And syne thare blud walde sacryfy

F. 28. b.

Tyll his goddys devoutly,
 Thynkand thai sulde be parcynere
 Off mede and payne that he sulde bere;
 For he sayd, that sacryfyce
 Plesyde hys goddys mony wys. 1010

Tereus in that tyme alsua
 Lyin had by [his] systyris twa,
 Prognas callyd, and Phylomene,
 Off that incest fell murthyr kene,
 And ane wgsum mangery
 Of wlatsum corsys and wgly;
 For quhen the tane full wyting had
 Hyr systyr had lessyde hyr maydynhade,
 Hyr systyr twyng fyrst schare scho owt;
 Hyr awyne sone syne scho slw, but dowl, 1020
 And sethyde hym in pecis smalle,
 And gert hys fadyr eyt hym alle.

Perseus in this tyme alsua
 Come owt off Grece in Asya,
 Quhare all that tyme the folk were

Rude off condityoune and off fere,
 Bot he thame wan, throwcht hys trawaylle,
 And fors off fycht in harde batayle,
 And gert thame tyll hym buxum be ;
 Syn Pers he gert call that contré. 1030

On this wys, as I maid rehers,
 The kynryk fyrst begouth off Pers.

Thai fenyheid fabyllis I wyll forbere
 That Ovyde tellys how Jupitere
 Gert the Egyle, as we rede,
 Rawys the barne Ganemede,
 And bere hym wp in to the ayre
 Quhare Jupitere maid his repayre,
 Thare, for hys soverane bewte,
 Lemman to that god wes he. 1040

And spensare alsua quhen Ebes
 Removyd to that offys wes.
 How Tantalus that wes as fere
 Tyll goddys and alye nere,
 This Ganymede on this wys reft,
 Tuk and held hym lang thare-efte,
 Tyll lust off this Jupitere,
 Or tyll hys awn lust famelyere.
 How Pelops, the sone off Tantalus,
 Ras agayne Schyr Dardanus, 1050
 That lord off Troy was in thai dayis.

How Perseus als, as fabyll sayis,
 Wytth Tebanys and Spertanyis
 Maid mony syndry jupertyis :
 And how Edippus, as sayis Stace,
 That slaare off hys fadyre wace,
 Gat on hys modyr sonnys twa,
 And was hys barnys brodyr swa :

And howe the barne Ethyocles
 Faucht wytth hys brodyr Polynces, 1060
 In that intent that bayth ware sene
 Fechtaris and manslaaris kene :
 And othir fenyheid fabyllis sere,
 I wyll forbere to wryt in here ;
 For gyff I dyde as othir wrate
 In this plas I sulde set thaire date.

CHAP. XII.

Off Josue now sall ghe here,
 In this next folowand Chapitre.

IN to this tyme that I off telle
 Was Josue duk in Israel,
 The wattyre off Jordane in his dayis
 Was dry, as the story sayis, 1070
 Quhill that the folk oure passyd fre
 Off Jeryco the gret cyté
 And all thai that he fand tharein,
 Man and best, bath mare and myn,
 He wndyde and slw all down
 And broucht it tyll confusioune,
 Bot golde, sylvyr, and wessale
 Glenly maide off gud metalle,
 He gert hallow wytth honoure
 Tyll Goddys oys, and hys tresoure. 1080
 That tyme als, in that cyté,
 He gert that woman sawffyt be
 That sauffyt hys spyis wysly
 Quhen thai come that towne to spy.

Thare Achor als the mantyll stall,
 The sylver and the rewell wyth alle,
 And ran in sentens off courssyng
 For that he stal and brak byddyng;
 Tharefore Josue, but remede,
 Hym gert be stanyde thare to dede. 1090

Syn he passyde for tyll assay
 Gyff he mycht wyn the town off Hay;
 He wan wytth juperty that towne
 And off it slwe twelf thousand downe.
 Fra thine, wytth hys ost onone,
 He past to wyn Gabaone,
 Bot, throucht dyssayte, the Gabaonytis
 Wes frendyt wytth the Israelytis;
 For quhen thai hard that Josue
 Wes to cum wytth hys ryawte, 1100

F. 29. b.

Thai dowtyt sare that he walde wyn
 Thare landys, and thare cyté bryne,
 As he to Jericho had done,
 And tyll Hay thare efftyr sone,
 Messengerys to Josue
 Thai gart off consalle ordanyt be,
 Wytth aulde hose and rywine schone,
 And mowlyde brede in kartis done;
 Be thai taknys to be kend
 That thai ware off fer landis sende. 1110
 On this wys the Gabaonytis
 Come chargyt to the Israelitis,
 And delyveryde in thare presence
 Tyll Josue playnly, be credence;
 And sayd, thai come off landys fere,
 Quhar that thai herd off his powere,
 And off thai landys that thai had

Tyll Jowys wes na promissyowne maide ;
Bot off thairé wyll to Josue
In serwys thai walde oblysyde be, 1120
And this, thai said, wes in thare intent
That thame in message thiddyre sent.
Tyll thir wordys Josue
Trowyd, and thame ressaŵyde he,
And off his ost the lardis thare
Be athe to thame all bundyn ware.
Wytht-in thre dayis eftyre that,
Quhen Josue full wyttyng gat
That he dissawyd wes, but were,
He arguyt thame on fel manere ; 1130
And thai excusyd thame symply
And said, thai dyd it qwhently ;
For it wes gert thame wndyrstand
That thai walde occupy thare land,
And hald it in possessioun,
And bryng thame tyll confusioun ;
Sen thai ware sa thame bundyn tyll
Thai mycht do wyth thame all thare wylle.
The multitwde than wes rycht lath
For to sauff thame, for thaire ath 1140
Thai sayde, wes be surreptyoun,
Gyle, and circumventyoun,
Sworne befor that, and for-thi
Tha ware excusyd lauchfully
All thai cuchowris for to ta
And, but mercy, pyne and sla.
Bot the lordys walde noucht wndo
The band that thai war oblysyd to,
Bot said, thame thought it wondyre lath
For to be argwyt off thare ath ; 1150

F. 80.

For bath to frend and fa sulde be
 Fayth evynlik keypd in leawte.
 On this thai yheid all tyll consale
 And sone thai delyveryt hale
 To ta thare gudys, and thare towne
 Hale in thare possessioun,
 And mak thai men thare travalourys,
 Masownys, wrychtys, and pynowrys,
 And sa thai mycht revengyde be,
 Excusand baytht fayth and leawte. 1160
 Thus maid thai schort delyverance
 And gert fullfill all ordynance.

Off this manere Kyngys fyve,
 That marchyd nere thame herde belyve,
 Wytth thare ost thai come onone
 For tyll assege Gabaone,
 And thai wytth-in, on set consalle,
 Askyt at Josue suppoualle.
 Wytth hys ost thane he come on
 And chasyd thai folk throucht Bethoron, 1170
 For off hym thai had sic drede
 That thame behuvyde [to] fle onnede;
 Haylstanys gryt in to that flycht
 Sa hewy thyk and hard can lycht,
 That [ma] peryst in that schoure
 Than swerdys stikkyt in that stowre,
 And quhyll thai ware in to the chas
 The swyn rycht fast avaland was,
 And the mwne agayne the nycht,
 As in mydwaxand tuk the hycht. 1180
 Than Josue wytth devotyoun
 Devotly maid his orysoun
 To God, and swa than gert he stand

Swn and mwne batht wnmovand,
 Fra thine the space hale off a day,
 That never yhit, as I harde say,
 Sa lang a day wes sene beforne
 Wytth al thai that that tyme wes borne :
 In that tyme hys fays qwyte Fullyly Josue discomfyte.

1190

All this tyme in to that chas,
 Quhyll Josue fast prekande was,
 He persawye that Kyngys fyve
 Crape in a cove to sawffe thare lyve ;
 Than off that cove the mouth gert he Wytth stannys gryt sone dyttyde be,
 Quhyll that all the chas was done,
 And syne he gert, wytth-owtyn hone,
 Owt off that cove thai Kyngys bryng
 And thame wpone a gallows hyng.

1200

Off Josue and hys wyctorys,
 And othir syndry juperdys
 That was in his dayis done,
 In to the Bybyll yhe may sone
 Fynd thaime wryttn in his Buk,
 Gyff yhe wyll all the story luk.

CHAP. XIII.

How how that the Ertens Fawcht wth the Attineens.

FOURTENE hundyr yher beforne
 And twelf full or God wes borne
 A fell were ras, as Orose sayis,

And a dispetews in thai dayis 1210
 Betwene thame duelland in Crete,
 That is an yle in to the se,
 And the folk off Athenys,
 That in to Grece a gryt towne is ;
 Thare slauchtyr hapnyd rycht cruelle
 And bathe the partys fers and felle ;
 Bot the Cretens faucht sa fast
 Quhylle the Grekys at the last
 Mast part in that batayle qwynt
 Was tane, or slayne, or discumfyt. 1220
 The gentyl-mennys sonnys thare
 That ayrys to thare faderys ware
 Thai tuk in to that were, but dowt,
 And all thare eyne fyrst thai put owt.
 A Mynotawre (quhethir that he
 A felowne man or best sulde be,
 I wyll noucht tel yow certanly),
 All thai barnys halyly
 Thai gert be delyveryd tyll,
 For to be swellyid at hys wyll, 1230
 And to be etyn. In that place thare
 The Grekys thus reboyttyt ware.
 The Laphytys and the Tessalyis
 In Grece bayth thai landys lyis,
 In that tyme oysyd gret trawaille
 Amang thame self in hard bataylle.
 In tyll a buk that Palafat
 Off hys wncertane ferlyis wrate :
 He sayde the Laphytys trowyd hale,
 And taulde als for a certane tayle, 1240
 That the Tessalyis sulde be Yppocentawrys in akyn gre ;

That is to say properly
 Bath hors and man in a body.
 Suppos that thai sik wenying had,
 Swylk a best wes nevyr made;
 Bot for ay thai saw so thyk
 Thare horsmen in to batayle pryk
 Othir wenying had thai nane,
 Bot hors and man batht wes ane.

CHAP. XIV.

Þhe sall be this Chapitere se
 What the gignowstare schuld be.

F. 81.

OVIDE tellys mystyly
 In tyll his Methamorphosi,
 That is the Buke off Changynge,
 In tyll our propyr wndoyng,
 For in it ar changys sere,
 That ferlyffull ar for to here.
 This Owýde sayis that Dedalus
 Wes in his dedys merwalus.
 Off Athenys he wes kyng
 And mekyll had in governyng
 First tyl lordschipe quhen he drewe
 Hys newo in tyll ire he slewe,
 And exylid for that caus wes he Owte off Athenys in to Creté,
 That is in to the Se ane yle,
 Thare Mynois regnyd in that quhyle,
 He Kyng that tyme wes off Creté,
 And had a wyff callyd Phasyfé,

1260

Batht off fassowne and off face
 Fourmyde fayre at full scho wace. 1270

As this Queyne apon a day
 Hyr laykand in a medow lay,
 A tawre, that is a bul, but wene,
 Scho saw ner by hir on the grene
 Gnyppand gyrs ryght gredyly;
 Quhen scho beheld hym increly,
 Hyr fleschly lust maid [hir] so ken
 That wndyr hym scho walde have bene;
 Scho pressyd to [pleysse] hym wyttht all slycht
 Hyr brandysand in tyll his sycht 1280

And maid hyr oft wyttht hym to bowrde;
 Bot that best off kynd sa lowrde
 Wyst ryght noucht quhat scho wald meyne
 Bot wend hyr bourd hade manans bene;
 Swa ay as scho wald drawe hym nere,
 Fra plas to place the bul walde stere.
 Scho lufyt this best so straytly
 That scho walde fayne have had copy
 Off hym, gyff ony wys scho moucht
 Bot kynd to that accordyt noucht. 1290

Quhyll that scho wes travalyde thus,
 Scho come off case to Dedalus,
 And schawyde tyll hym hyr malady,
 And syne requeryd hym specyally
 That he wald se for sum remede,
 Or than, but dowt, scho were bot dede.
 Off this request scho wes sa thra
 That scho walde na wys pas hym fra,
 Quhyll that he gave hys assent,
 In tyll assyth off hyr talent. 1300

F. 31. b.

Than he hyr fourmyde in a kowe

Bot that is noucht yhit all to trowe,
And the bul quhylum he sawe that,
This Mynotawre apon hyr gat,
And quhen hyr tyme wes weryd owte
Off this bysyn best, but dowe,
Scho wes delywre: and quhen this
The kyng off Crete, Mynois,
Hade sene, in hart he wes full wa
That he was asschamyd swa; 1310
In tyll a stede he maid in hy
A manere place swa suddely,
And strately closyd all abowte,
That quha wytth-in walde pres hym owte,
Than hym behuwyd to mak entre;
And quha wytth-out wytth-in walde be,
To be thare-owte ay hym behuwyde
Quhatkyn craft sua evyre he pruwde.
The Laberynt thai callyd that place,
The Mynotawre set in it was, 1320
And syne thai oysyd commonaly
To call it Domus Dedaly.
Dedalus quhen he saw this,
He was so rad for Mynois,
That off the land he walde have bene,
Gyff he couth ony way have sene;
Bot hym behuwyd oure a Se,
And schyppyn nane to that hade he.
Than this ilk Dedalus,
And his son Ycarius, 1330
Mad thame hally to the flycht;
Swa Dedalus than, wytth hys slycht,
For hym and his sone, maide twa
Feytheramys fayre thare flycht to ta.

In thai quhen clede wes Dedalus
 And his sone Ycarius,
 He bade his sone in to the flycht
 Hald ewyn in tyll a rawndown rycht:
 Noucht tyll hey, for dowl the ayre
 Sulde melt away his fethrys fayre; 1340
 Na to law, for dowl the flud
 Sulde wesche away his fethrys gude.
 Bot this Ycarius in his flycht
 Made a cowrs so hey on hycht,
 That hym behoŵyde on nede cum doun,
 Swa hapnyd hym in the Se to drown.
 Be that ensawmpyll be thir ilk wers
 Ware maid that I wyll yowe rehers,

(Ycarii fati

F. 32.

Off the werd of Ycary,
 Be ye ay thoughtfull and redy, 1350
 To thole yhoure fadyr byddyng ay,
 Haly men mesoure held all way.

The bul that this Dame Phasifé
 Thus lufyd, wes in propyrté
 Hyr awne stewart that by hyr lay,
 And on hyr gat, in chambure play,
 A barne that wes prywaly
 Haldyn and norysyde tendyrly.
 Gret slycht, as yhe herd, scho leryde
 Hyr lordys ey wytht that scho bleryde. 1360

CHAP. XV.

*How Wersozes off Egipt kyng
In sowth and north made gret steryng.*

TWELFF hundyr and thretty yhere befor
And twa yhere or that God wes born,
Wersozes that off Egipt kyng
Bath sowth and north maid gret steryng,
And set his diligence ay
Batht thai arthys as thai lay,
Be land partyd, or be sé,
To ger thame bowe tyll his pousté,
Or ellys he suld thame fast assayle
Wytht felown were and hard bataylle. 1370
Thare-off message he send in hy
Tyll thame than duelland in Sythy,
And bade that thai sulde tyll hym drawe,
And oys his custome and his lawe,
And becum in-deyde his men.
To this message thai ansuerd then,
And said thame thocht it fawkllys thyng
Tyll hym that wes a mychty kyng
Agayne sa sympyll folk to rys,
Or fande in were thame to supprys; 1380
Sene werde off batayle is dwtows
And tyll all partys peralows.
Off this for tyll mak schort oure tayle,
Thai mellayde sone in tyll batayle,
Quhare the fycht wes fers and felle,
On bath the partys rycht cruelle.

Bot Wersozes at the last
 Dyscumfyt wes and fled rycht fast.
 The Sytykys wencust that bataylle,
 And tuk wp all thare apparaylle, 1390
 That wes left in to that place
 Quhare that batayll strykyne was,
 And chasyde the Egyptys hastyly
 On hors and fute dyspytuysly.
 And thai, for radnes fleand fast,
 Wan fra thare dawngere at the last.

F. 32. b.

The Sytykys than wytth thare poware
 Had wastyd all that land off were.
 Ne ware [the] Egyptys dykys depe
 About thame drewe thare land to kepe. 1400

The Sytykys than wytth playne batayle
 Maid throwcht Asy thare traawayle,
 And wan mekyll off it off were,
 That thai maid to thame tributere.
 Fyftene yhere thare thai abade,
 Bot sum tyme yit war thai hade,
 Quhyll thaire wyffys made thame kende
 Be the message that thai sende,
 Bot gyff thai sped thame hame but let,
 That othire suld thare barnys get, 1410
 [And ly with thame in ful delite,
 That thai mycht stanch thair appetit].

CHAP. XVI.

*How tellis the next Chapitere
What the Amazonas were.*

IN the menetye that this was,
Twa yhung men in tyll Sythy ras,
The tayne callid wes Plynyus,
The tothire Scolopetyus,
That be the lawys off the land
Mycht noucht for thare dedys stand,
Than the lordys wald thame ta,
And, be thare statutys, wald thame sla, 1420
Swa that off nede thame behuwyd
To be banyst and removid
Fra thare gud, thare kyn, thare kyth ;
Off yhung falowys thai gat thame wyth
Ane lychthewyddyd company,
And set thame hale wpone felony,
And maid in strayttys thare reset,
Wytht all the stuff that thai mycht get,
And sum landys nere thame by Thai gert [obey] to thare mastry, 1430
And mony landys thai destroyit,
Thare-off the folk were sare anoyid ;
Swa thai conspyryd pryvaly
Wytht marcherys that lay nere thame by,
The quhilkis maid thame swylk a trayne,
That mony off thame sone had thai slayne.
[And] all the lawe that dowl swa drede,
That thai tyll strayttare heychtys fiede ;

Swa was skallyd all that rowt
 That off the lawe wes had na dowl. 1440
 Thare wyffys that in that cas wes dede
 As wedowis wyll off a gud rede,
 Movyd was in tyll gret ire,
 In felny brynnand as a fyre,
 To thaire cummarys thair main thai made
 F. 33. Menande sayre thaire wedowhade ;
 Than thai gadyryde thame all halle.
 And made amang thame be consalle
 On set purpos for to qwyte,
 Wytth gret revengeans, that dyspyte 1450
 Done tyll thare husbandys that ware slayn,
 Set thai sulde de in to the payn.
 On this thai set haille thare intent,
 Bot thai kest ane impediment
 Dowlows to fall in to swylyk cas,
 Syne faynt off kynd all women was,
 And mekyll scownerand to se blude,
 Quhare-in as thai thair purpos stude
 Thare hart in to the deyde suld faylle
 And swa thai tyne sulde thare trawaylle ; 1460
 And for thare full presumptioun
 Thai sulde fall in confusiowne.
 To this ilkane said thare intent,
 And delyveryd wytth hale assent,
 Bot on that poynt [of] thaire accord
 I dar noucht tyll yhow now record,
 For dowl that wemen wald me blame
 Gyff that it twechys thare defame,
 And call it myne autoryte,
 Set it autentyk story be ; 1470
 And als the sawmpyll is rycht felle,

The propyrté thareoff to telle.
 Bot Oros, in his Fyrst Buke,
 Gyff that yhe wyll the story luke,
 The foure and twentyid chapyttere,
 Can tell yhowe thare-off the manere
 Quhat evyre it wes, it thai begane
 And held wpon it stowtly than,
 And rasyde were and playne batayle;
 And stoutly made thame tyll assayle 1480
 The landys lyand thame about,
 And maid thaime tyll thame wndyrlowt,
 And slewe thare innymys ilkane
 That thare husbandys before had slayne:
 All thus off were thai wan the land:
 And maid it tyll thame obeysand,
 Bot sum men thai gert sauffyd be
 In tyme to cule thare qualyte;
 And in ane yle thai gert thame ga
 Among thaim na repayre to ma, 1490
 Bot qwhat tyme at thaire appetyte,
 Thame movyd in lust and in delyte,
 That yle ay thai walde pas tyll
 Thare fleschly lust for to fullfille;
 And quhat barnys ware gottyn thare
 Quhen thaire modyrys delyver ware
 Off knaw barnys thai walde sla mony,
 F. 32 b. The madynys thai norisyde tendyrlly,
 Bot away thai walde ger bryn
 The rycht pape the fleys wytthin 1500
 Leffand noucht off it a crote
 For dowl it sulde let thame off schot:
 Thai war callyd Amazonas.
 Twa gret ladyis off thame wes

That betwene thame tuk the cure
 Off howshalde and off were al-ure,
 Tyme be tyme per cumpany,
 Wyth thare cowrtys ay syndry,
 As ordanyd wes betwene thame twa :
 The tayne wes callyd Mesepia, 1510
 The tothire Lampete was calde
 Baytht thai ware in batayllis balde.
 In Europe landys ryght mony
 Thai wan, and mekyll off Asy ;
 Thai byggyd a cyté callyd Smyrna,
 Epheson thai maid alsua ;
 Welth at wyll thai wan off were,
 All Asy dowtyde thare powere.
 Syne Lampite wyth hyr cumpany
 Passyde hame agayne in tyll Sythy, 1520
 And lefte behynd hyr Dame Maisepe,
 Wytht hyr cowrt, the land to kepe.
 The Asyanys ras hyr agayne,
 And has hyr in tyll bataylle slayne.
 Hyr douchtyre Synope, eftyr hyre dede,
 Tuke wpe armys in hyr stede
 That wurschype prowyd in mony dede,
 And deyde syn in hyr madynhede.
 Sik name ras off that reall route
 That landys sere off thame had doute, 1530
 And out off Grece be consalle wes
 To werray thaim send Ercules,
 That chesyt wytht hym the wychtest men
 In tyll all Grece that he couth ken,
 And mony schyppys gret gert he
 Wytht men and armys stuffyde be,
 For perylows that were hym thought

And ille to purpos to be brought,
With all thai yhit in playne batayle,
Appertly durst he noucht assayle ; 1540
Bot, on the nycht, all pryvaly
He slewe off thame a gret party
As he come on thaim wnpurwayde,
Wnwarnyst, and all wnarayid.
Twa systyrys had the guvernaylle
That tyme off the land all halle,
F. 34. Antyope and Orythya,
Thir ware the namys off tha twa,
And odyr systyrys twa had thai,
Noucht off swylk state the soyth to say ; 1550
Menalympe callyd wes ane,
Scho wytth Ercules wes tane,
And he delyveryde hyr all fre
Tyll hyr systyr Antiope,
And for hyr rawnsome tuk na mare
Than the armurys that scho bare.
The tothire systyr, Ypolytes,
Weddyde wyth Theseus wes ;
Neyst Ercules in all degre
The gretest off that ost wes he. 1560
Thare Orythya wes dede,
Penthassale ras in hyr stede,
Hyr douchtyr and hyr ayre off ale
That tyll hyr suld off profyt fale.
This lady prowyd gret douchtynes ;
Quhen the Grekys assegeand wes
The town off Troy, wytth thare powere, Thare wyth hyr ost scho come off were,
As in the story weill is kend.
Bot schortly nowe for to mak end ; 1570

Ane hundyr yhere thare powere stud,
 And landys sere thaire mycht oure-yhude,
 Westande hale wytth thaire powere,
 And byggand quhar thare wyllys were.

CHAP. XVII.

The Assegis off Troje here Next folowis in this Chapiters.

A THOWSAND ane hundyr and foure score,
 And twa yher fully gane before
 Crystys Incarnatyoun,
 Off Troy wes the destructyowne,
 That the Grekys [fully] ten yhere
 Assegeand war wytth thare powere. 1580
 How that began and endyt wes
 Homer trettis, and Dares.
 And eftyr Troyis destructyowne
 And the cyté castyn downe,
 Eneas gert twelff schyppys be Wytayllyde and layde to the sé.
 He and hys fadyre, Anchyses,
 Askaneus als, that his sone wes,
 In thai twelf schyppys tuk the sé,
 Wytth all thare gud and thaire menyhe, 1590
 And saylland, happynyt in the ile
 That be name callyde wes Syzile;
 Thare that tyme dede wes Anchyses,
 And in that ile enteride wes.
 And quhen Anchyses hapnyd thus,
 Eneas and Askaneus,

F. 34. b.

On set purpos fermly,
For tyll have bene in Ytaly,
Wp to [the] tope thare sayllys drewe,
And drawe on, as thame blastys blewe 1600
And quhyle on Roume lay coftys owt,
As thai war stad in stormys stout,
And quhyll lay nere for tyll have sene
Quhat land that thai had nerest bene,
And at the last thai saland swa,
Arywyt on fors in Affryca.
Quhar than off Affric Dido, Quene
Fra that scho had Eneas sene,
Resawyd hym wytth gret honoure,
And lufyd hym stratly paramoure, 1610
And gert all hyr rywawte
Tyll hym and his obeysand be.
Thare sojournand a quhille he bade,
Quhare alkyn welth at wylle he hade.
Bot his yharnyng halyly
Stude tyll have bene in Ytaly;
Tharefore he schyppys layd to sé,
And waytyd wynd and made entré,
And tuk wpe sayle and helde thare trade,
In Tybyr quhyll thai strekyn hade; 1620
Quhare, as Eneas slepand lay
Apon a nyght in hys galay,
A woce he herd that bad hym pas
Tyll Ewandire that that tyme was Kyng rygnand in sevyn hyllys by,
Quhare Rome is set now werraly,
And bad he sulde mak suppowale
Tyll this Ewandire, that batayle
Gawe to kyng Latyn ythandly

For the kynryk off Ytaly. 1630

Eftyr all that hys sulde be

Wpon that purpos passyde he
 Tyll this Ewandre wytth his mycht,
 And faucht wytth Latyn in tyll fycht,
 And Turnus in that fycht has slayne
 That kyng wes that tyme off Tuskayne,
 And mawch wes to this kyng Latyn,
 And weddyd hys douchtyr Dame Lavyne;
 And for that caus to this bataylle
 This Turnus come in suppowaylle 1640
 Off Latyn kyng, and slew Pallas,
 That off Ewandre sone than was;
 And throuch Eneas syne was he Slayne off fors in that mellé.

F. 35.

Eneas weddyd syne Lavyne,
 The douchtyr off this kyng Latyne;
 And quhen that Latyne kyng wes dede,
 He succedede in hys stede,
 As kyng rygnand yherys thre;
 And eftyr hym, quhen dede wes he, 1650
 Hys sone Askaneus tuk all hale
 Off Ytaly the governayle,
 And byggyd thare a gret cyté,
 And Albane gert it callyd be;
 And aughtene wyntyr rygnand was Eftyr his fadyre Eneas;
 For owt off Troy wytth hym come he,
 Gottyn and borne in that contré.
 Hys sone callid wes Sylvius,
 The quhilk wes fadyr to Bruttus, 1660
 That this land fra geawndys wan,
 And eftyr hym wes callyd Brytan.

Off Troy quhen that Eneas
Buskyd hym wytth schype to pas,
Anthenor and his menyhe
Wyth thare naȝyn tuk the sé,
And aryȝyde by Pannony
That marchys nere tyll Wngary,
Off Wenes he maid the gret towne
That yhit is realle off renowne, 1670
And a port off the mekyll sé,
Quhare that pylgrymys mais entre
That to Jerusalem walde fayre
The sepulkyr to ȝysyde thare.
Off this Anthenor come syne,
Descendand eȝyn down be lyne,
Francus off sa reale fame
That Frawns off hym yhit haȝys the name.
Thus thai come fyrst, halyly,
All off the gret towne off Troy, 1680
That Ytaly all occupyid,
And Frawns and Brytane inhabyid,
And othir mony landys sere
That I leve nowe to rekyn here.

MOYSES, that in tyll his dayis
Broucht tyll the Jowys thare wryttyn Lawys,
Gave thame in byddyng oppynly
Thus wryttyn in Dewteronomii,
Off the Bybyl the fyfte Buke
Fra the begynnyng, quha wyll thame luke.
“ Memento dierum, that leve yow noucht,
Antiquorum, bot drawe to thought
Ilké generatyowne,
And in thare successyowne :
Ask at thi fadyre, quhat at fell,
And at thine eldrys, quhat thai can telle.”
The sentence off this autoryte
Suld move men to besy be,
Thare statis to kene Orygynalle,
And thame to treyt Memoryalle,
Batht off thare eldrys and thaire dayis,
As in thire wers, thus Moyses sayis ;

F. 35. b.

(Memento dierum antiquorum, cogita generationes singulas:

Interroga patrem tuum, et annuntiabit tibi; maiores tuos, et dicent tibi, etc.)

Oure eldrys we sulde folowe off det,
That thaire tyme in wertu set: 20
Off thame, that lyvyd wytyously,
Carpe we bot lytyll, and that warly.
The dayis sulde be set for terme
A certane purpos for tyll afferme:
Swa stablyst have I my delyte
Consequenter now to dyt
Wytht delytabyll incydens,
And in plesand conveniens,
The tyme that Brutus wan this Ile,
And callyd it Brytane in that quhile; 30
And the dywysiownys off it, that he Made syne to hys sonnys thre.
Swa furth drywand my purpos
Be syndry storyis syne to clos
In it that tyme, as I can se,
That made off Rome wes the cyté.
This in fourme to sped and hast
The wertu off the Haly Gast
Be prayere off the Madyn fre
I call devotly to helpe me. 40

CHAP. I.

Off the Jngis off Israelle
This next Chapitere schall telle.

QWHEN the assege off Troy felle
 Jwgs ras in Israelle,
 And off the pepyll chosyne was
 Duk and chyftane than Judas.
 The lorde off Bezeke than was tane,
 And off hys fyngrys, everilkane,
 And off all his tays wytht
 The utmast endys be the lyth
 Qwyt was strekyn off; than he Sayde, "This, I trowe nowe done to me 10
 Be Goddys wyll, for quhylum I
 Off Kyngys realle had sevynty
 Wndyrneth my burddys set,
 Sekand crummys for tyll ete,
 Mankynd all on lyk manere,
 As now my cas is happynynd here;
 Tharfore off Goddys wyll, I trowe,
 Is all done that I suffyr nowe."
 The kyng off Moab, than Eglon,
 Had wndyr hym in subjection 20
 The folk off Israell aughtene yhere,
 Quhyll Ayot [Ehud] begowth to stere;
 The quhilk swa agyle wes in fycht
 That batht the left hand and the ryght
 He ewynlike oysyde, quhen that he

In were wes stade, or in mellé;
 And for that oys than gert he ma
 A scharpe suerd wytth edgys twa;
 Syne fra the folk off Israelle thare
 He presendys and gret gyftys bare 30
 Tyll this Eglon that tyme kyng,
 That Moab had in governyng;
 All othir off dreyth than gert he drawe
 Hys charge, quhill that he suld schawe
 That ilk suerd, that tyme had he,
 On his rycht syde in prewate
 Wndyr his gown; and syn onone
 He tuke hys rayk to this Eglon,
 And sayd [at] it war his wyll
 A worde he had to say hym tulle. 40
 Off his cheare quharein he sat,
 This kyng Eglon ras wp wytth that.
 Than Ayot tyt owt smertly
 Hys suerd that he bare prewaly,
 And put it in his wame sa fast
 Quhill hylte and plumet bath in past
 And leyffyt it stekand in his belch,
 F. 36. b. The carle was fat as ony selch,
 Bath gore and cres rane tyll his hand
 That wytth hys suerd was hym stykand. 50
 His famyle thare, wytth-owtyn dout,
 That was the chambure than wytth out
 Wende the kyng had syttand bene
 On the priwé, bot syne, but wene,
 Fra thai had bade lang tyme wytth out
 Thai ware in to [the] fellare dout.
 Thare eftyr sone a key thai gat
 And opynynt the chambure dowre with that,

In thai come, and slayne thai fand
 Thare Kyng upon the fiure thare lyand. 60
 All thus fra thai fand hym dede
 Dyspayryd thai ware off gud remede ;
 But mare byddyng than tuk thai
 Tyll Jordane on the nerest way.

In this mene tyme prewaly
 Ayot chapye, and in hy
 Fled fast quhill he passyd wele
 All the placys ilk[a] delle
 That thare ydolys than hade
 And his incummyng fyrst he made. 70
 Off Israell than the pepyll alle
 He gert in hy befor hym calle ;
 And wytth thame passyd till Jordane.
 All the furdys everilkane
 Off that wattyr he kepyde swa,
 That tene thousand full and ma
 Off the Moabytys thare
 Slayne about that wattyr ware.

Sangare, as the Bybyll sayis, 80
 Slw wytth a cultyre in thai dayis
 Off the Phylysteis wycht
 Sex hundyr men throucht fors in fycht.
 Barak als and Delbora
 Than made that chas on Sysara,
 Quhen that Jael hym resaŵyde
 In tyll hyr tent and hym dyssaŵyde ;
 He askyt drynk off wattyr clere
 To gyff hym, gyve hyr wyllis were,
 For he was for runnyne hate,
 And all-owr drawkyde wete in swat. 90
 Swet mylk than scho broucht hym tylle,

And bade [him] thareoff drynk his fylle,
 And cōweryd syne, and gert hym ly
 Wndyr a tapyte prewaly,
 And sayde scho sulde his wache be,
 And nane suld wyt thare ware he.
 Wyttht that to the dure in hy,
 Scho tuk hyr rayk ryght hastyly,
 And fand owth that on the walle
 Ane hamyr and ane nayll wyttht all, 100
 And syne scho waytyd and tuk kepe,
 Quhill he was rowtand fast on slepe,
 The nayle than on his hēwyde scho set,
 F. 37. And strake on fast wyttht that malyhet,
 Dryfand down ryght throucht his hēwyde,
 Swa Sysara the lyff he lewyde.

Off the folk off Israelle than Gedeon agayne Madian
 Chesyd thre hundyre men that were Lapand wattere as hundys here, 110
 And lete all the lave ga by
 That he saw drynkand than kyndly ;
 And wyttht thai thre hundyr quite
 This Madian than wes discumfyte.

Jopté than alsua Galaadyte
 Aʷowyt gyff he discumfyte
 Amon, that he sulde, but let,
 Off his hous quhat evyr he mete
 Nest eftyrhend his wictory
 Devotly to God sacryfy. 120
 Swa hapnyd that hys douchtyr yhyng,
 Wyttht tympanys and wyttht swet syngyng,
 Met hyr fadyr, this Jopté,
 Quhen cumyn fra that fycht wes he ;

Than in hart set he wes wa,
 Yhit syne he wes oblysyd swa
 Hys sacryfice set hym to do,
 And to that assentyd scho ;
 Bot at scho mycht murnand be
 Twa moneth hyr wrygynyte ; 130
 To that leve he gave hyr sone,
 And scho thare eftyre, quhen that wes done,
 Tyll hyr fadyr come agayne,
 And he tyll sacryfice has hyr slayne.

CHAP. II.

*The next Chapitere schall onone
 Tell the wyghtnes off Sampsonsone.*

THAR eftyr wes Sampsonsone off renowne
 And slw the quhelpe off a lyowne,
 As he wytth his faddyr yhed,
 And wytth his modyr in yhouthede,
 Wytth a wyff to maryde be
 All, but thare wyttyng, that dyde he. 140
 Swa [thar]eftyre quhen he was Weddyd wyth that wyff, off cas,
 He hapnyde to cum to that stede,
 Quhare that he [left] the lyowne dede,
 A gret swarme off beys thare
 Wele hyvyd wyth-in the chaftys ware :
 Off that best, than gredyly
 He tuke and ete off that huny :
 Tyll his fadyre syne he yhede,
 And tyll his mudyr full gud spede, 150

F. 87. b.

And gert thame off that huny ete.
 Eftyr that syne at the mete
 Quhare off his wyff the frendys alle
 Assemblyt wes at that bridalle,
 That his fadyr till hym made,
 As in that land thai custum hade,
 And off his wyffys kyn thretty,
 The nobylest in that cumpany,
 Assygnyd till hym wes to be,
 As feris in all honeste ;
 Than to that thretty at the mete,
 As thai ware in thaire greys sete,
 He sayd, gyff thai walde wndo
 A rydyll that he wald schaw thame to,
 Wytth-in sewyn dayis off that brydale
 Wyth kyrtylis thretty garmentys hale
 He suld gyve thame to thare mede,
 And falyhyde that, thai sulde, but drede,
 Swylk thretty garmentys tyll hym pay ;
 To this than assentyde thai,
 And bade that he suld say thaim tyll
 Quhat ewyr war lykand tyll his wylle.
 " Off hym that ete the mete come owt,
 And swetnes off the stark and stoute," Sampson sayid, and syne thai
 Fra this wes sayd held on thare way,
 And studyand on this rydyll were,
 Quhyll thare terme wes cummy nere,
 And [qwhen] they sawe be nakyn slycht
 That [this] rydyll rede thai mycht ;
 All thai thretty come on-one
 Tyll the wyff off this Sampson,
 And bad scho suld, on ony wys,

160

170

108

Fleche hyr lord wytht swylk quentys,
 Quhyll that he sulde all the dout
 Off that rydyll tell hyr owt,
 And to thame scho sulde telle it hale,
 Swa that thai ran noucht in tynsalle,
 Or ellys thai sulde hyr hous bryn,
 And all that ewyre thai fand thare in, 190
 For thai sayde wytht hale assent,
 Gyff thai ware in tyll that intent,
 Tyll fest callyd, that thai sulde be Dyspoylyt, it war wnhoneste.
 This wyff swa on hyr husband yhede,
 That hym behoŵyd apon nede
 Tell hyr all the suthfastnes,
 Set lang tyme that he gruchand wes,
 Hym excusyde be that skylle
 That it come nevr in his wyll 200
 Tyll his fadyr that to say,
 Na tyll his mudyr to that day;
 Tyll his wyff ybit, nevertheles,
 He tauld all how it hapnyde wes.
 Off the lyown, that he lewȳde
 Slayne, and fand syne in his bevyde
 A byk off beys, and gret copy
 In it he fand off suet huny.
 To thai thretty than, but bade,
 Scho tauld quhat wyttyng that scho hade: 210
 Swa apon the seŵynde day,
 As syttand at the mete war thai,
 And wes examynynt throwch Sampson,
 Thai ansueryd all and sayd onone,
 "Quhat than the lyowne is starkare,
 And quhat than huny is suettare?"

F. 88.

Wyttht that Sampson wyst rycht wele
He wes dessayvyde ilk[a] deyll,
He sayd, " Na had yhoure tylch bene wrocht
Wyttht my qwy, yhit had yhe noucht 220
Fundyn my propositiounne."

Fra thine he passyd tyll Askalounne,
And thretty men that he fand thare
Ryche robys on thame bare,
He slw all, and thare robys fyne
He gave to thai thretty syne
That he heycht tyll warysowne
Sen thai assolyeit his questyowne.
Bot tyll his wyff he kest sik leth
That thai departyd all in wreth, 230
And wes dyspytwys and fellowne
Tyll hyr and all hyr natyown,
And on sere wys [he] thame anoyid,
And all thare cornys hale he stroyid.
For in his wayth sone eftyr that
Thre hundyr foxis qwyk he gat,
And knyt tyll all thare taylis schyre
Ane hat cole off brynand fyre,
And set thame in thare flattis gret,
Than growand grene off wyne and quheyt ; 240
And thai wyld bestys than
All wode throucht thai feldys rane,
Wyttht thai blesys, here and thare,
Quhyll brynt wp all thare cornys ware
Than the Phylisteis hale
[That] tholyt that scaytht and that tynsalle
Movid in tyll brynand ire
Sampsonys hous set in tyll fyre ;
His wyff and hyr syre at anys

Thai gert bryn wp in to thai wany. 250

Than Sampson that [na] strenthys had
 In tyll a cove his duellyng mad,
 And the Phylisteis off were Sone assemblyt thare powere,
 And in the land off Juda thai
 Come wyth thare ost, and in it lay
 And tuk gret prayis to thare mete,
 And dyde in tyll it schathis grete,
 And quhen the barnage off Juda
 Arresownyde thame quhy [thai] dide sua, 260

Thai said [at] thai come onone
 To bynd and led away Sampsonsone,
 And to quyt hym lyl for lal.
 Off Juda than the barnage alle
 Thai oblisyd errare [him] to ta,

F. 38. b.

Or thai sulde be anoyid swa.
 Than the Phylisteis all hale
 Removyde off Juda thaire batayle.
 Thre thousand wycht men off Juda
 Than passyd wytht rapys new to ta, 270
 And for tyll bynd this Sampsonsone fast.
 Al thus as thai togyddyr past,
 Sampsonsone met thame on the way
 And askyd quhethir thare gat lay,
 And thare ansuere wes that he Sulde bundyn, and syne yholdyne be Tyll his fays; [for] thai ware
 For his caus than anoyid sare;
 And than that thai sulde noucht hym sla,
 He yhald hym tyll thame off Juda. 280

Thare wes he tayne and bundyn fast,
 And wytht hym on thaire way thai past,

And the Phylisteis, quhen that
 He wes tane full-wyttyng gat,
 Bolenyt all wytth brage and bost,
 Agayne hym come wytth a gret ost ;
 Bot Sampson, quhen he sawe thame nere
 Comand all on that manere,
 Wytth a tyt thare [he] brak alle
 Thai rapys in tyll pecys smalle, 290
 And gat a chek bane off ane ass,
 That in the gat thare lyand wes,
 And fra he gat that in his grype
 He leyt abowt hym, quhype for quhype,
 Quhyll off the Phylisteis wycht
 A thousand men to ded was dycht
 Wytth that cheke bane off ane ass ;
 And Sampsons thare forfowchtyng was,
 Sa hate [and] thyrsty nere that he
 Was in to poynt to peryst be ; 300
 Tyll God his prayer he mad than,
 Syne throucht Hys grace he wychtnes wan,
 Quhare throucht his fays he put to dede,
 As than wes sene in to that stede,
 He walde, gyve His wyllis were,
 Grant hym his fill off wattyr clere
 Quhare wyth he mycht thare slok his thyrst.
 Rycht hastyly than begouth to bryst
 Owt off a [tuythe] off that chek bane
 Wattyr clere in to gret wane, 310
 Thareoff than he drank his fylle ;
 And fra thyne he passyd tyll
 The gret cyté off Gaza,
 Thare in quiet a quhyll to ta.
 Thare tyll a woman-yhung and fare

- He oysyd mekyll his repayre;
 And quhen the Phylisteis, but lete,
 Wyst he had thare his resset,
 Thai enbussyd thame ner by
 F. 39. That womanyis hous, all prewaly, 320
 And set thare wachys for to se
 Quhen wnarayid all was he,
 That swa thai mycht hym best supprys;
 And he, wnwarnyd off thare spyis,
 Wyttht that woman yhed to bede,
 As he noucht off that buschement drede.
 Bot that nycht or it wes day
 Thare was made hym so hard assay,
 Quhyll to the yhattis off fors he past
 That lokyt wer and barryd fast, 330
 And thare he made than rak for rak
 Quhyll conyhe and rabet bath he brak,
 And ruschyde wp thai yhattis thare,
 And on hys schuldrys wp thame bare
 To the hey hyll outtht Ebron;
 All thus eschapyd than Sampson.
 Syne oysyd he repayre to ma
 Tyll a queyne callyd Dalyda,
 And scho amang thare preweteis
 Counsaylyde throwcht the Phylisteis, 340
 In hyr flethyng thraly moowyde
 And askyt oft, as he hyr lufyde,
 Quhar in hys fors stud and hys pyth,
 And quhat that he ware bundyn wyth
 Sa fast mycht [hald] than that he Mycht at his fays lykyng be.
 Quhen that he sawe thare that he wes
 Sa thraly, through hyr wantownes,

Infesteyde than that hym behuwyde
 Mak hyr ansuere he contruwyde 350
 A fenyheyd ansuer, and he sayde,
 " Wytth sewyn corddys newe layde
 Off hert cynownys noucht all dry,
 But a party, fast ware I
 Bundyn, doutles I war than Bot as ane othire comoune man."
 Quhen the Phylisteis herd that,
 In hy thai tha corddys gat,
 And scho thame helde, and tuk gud kepe
 Tyll he was sadly fallyn on slepe, 360
 And wytth ane hank than bath his handys,
 Fast scho festynyde wytth thai bandys,
 And cryit syne lowde, wytth a schowt,
 " Now all thi fays ar thé abowt."
 Sampson off his slepe wytth that
 He stert wp, and [on] solys gat,
 And wytth a rug thai rapys all
 He crakyde in to pecys smalle.
 Quhen this queyne all this had sene,
 Scho mulyd fast, and maid hir tene, 370
 And off hyr werdys wykyd plenyheyde,
 For in tyll falshede luffe he fenyheyde
 Tyll hyr that, for his luffe all hale,
 Had put hyr body to tynsale.

F. 39. b.

Bot in thare flechyng syne agayne,
 Quhen Dalyda made hyr to frayne
 Off the mater off his pyth,
 And off hys wndoyng, wyth
 That hym behuwyd on nede to ma
 Ansuer tyll hyr, he sayd; " Quha 380
 Walde bynd hym wyth twa bandys grene

And new, that nevyr in werk had bene,
 He sulde be na wychtare than Than anothir comoune man."

Than wytth thai rapys scho hym band
 Fast, in his slepe, bath fute and hand,
 And wyth a schout scho cryid on-one
 "Thi fays are on thé nowe, Sampsons."

Thare in his walknyng, wytth a brayde
 [Than thai] twa rapys newe layde
 He brak, and gat wpon his fete.

390

Wytth that scho brystyd out off grete,
 And menyd hyr wykyde werdys sare
 That broucht and band hyr in that care,
 That scho couth nevyre leve Sampson
 To be made lady off Sydon.

It is suet lykyng and na payne
 To luffe and [to] be lufyt agayne;
 But for luff to yheld fenyhyng,
 It is to lele hart a throwyng.

400

Swylk [is the werde] off Dalyda,
 That changyd, scho sayd, welle for wa,
 Off hart and body, kyn and kyth,
 And off all warldys welth thare wyth,
 For Sampsons scho had mad chaynge,
 And he tyll hyr was alway strange,
 And had hyr in tyll myslewyng,
 That for lele luffe he yhald fenyhyng.

Yhit thus murnand, nevertheles,
 Scho fraynyde fast off his wychtnes
 Quhar in it stude, and how that he Mycht lychtlyest our-cummyn be.
 Than he sayde, "Gyff scho wald bynd
 Sevyn harys off his hewyd behynd

410

Wytht a threde tyll a spykyn,
 And in the erde fast styk it syne ;
 Than ware he febyll and off na pyth,
 Na had noucht for tyll helpe hym wyth,"
 That the thryd tyme scho assayid,
 And off his slepe syne hym affrayid, 420
 And he tyt wp that nayle wyth pyth,
 And left bayth hare and threde thare wyth.

Quhen scho saw hyr the thryd tyme swa
 Dyssavyde, than scho mad gret wa,
 That scho lyk wes tyll have bene dede
 All thus dyspayrid off remede.
 Than Sampson, movid in peté,
 Tauld hyr, all in prewaté,
 That gyve sevyn harys off his hewyde
 War schawyn off, nane off thame lewyde, 430

F. 40.

He war off pyth and wychtnes than
 Bot as ane othir commoun man.
 And quhen his hevid was lyand
 Apon hyr skyrt, and he slepand,
 Scho gert slely a barbare
 Off hys hevyd schawe all the hare,
 And the Phylisteis in hy
 Scho gert cum on him suddanly.
 Thai tuk hym and his eyne put owte,
 And thare eftyr, wytht-owtyn dowl, 440
 Thai kyst hym in a presowne.
 Sa lang he lay in that dungeowne
 Quhill on his hevid the hare grewe,
 And his pyth worthyde fresche and newe.

The Philysteis on thare wys
 Tyll Dagone mad thare sacryfice
 Apon a day, wyth gamyn and gle,

Wytth myrtht, and wytth solempnyté,
 And in thare halle, as thai were set,
 That day to-gyddyr at thare mete, 450
 A boy thai gert [gang] onone
 To bryng amang [tham] in Sampson,
 That he mycht thare bowrdoure be,
 In ekyng off thare gamyn and gle.
 And quhen he was amang thame alle
 Led in to that mekyll halle,
 The boy that hym kepyd thare
 He requiryt wyth fayre prayare
 To thole hym, bot a lytill space,
 Syne he for standyn wery was, 460
 Tyll a pyllare leyne hym thare,
 Quhill that he refresched ware ;
 Thare the boy wyth-outyn lete
 Sampson at a pyllare sete,
 And [he] prayid to God off mycht
 That, for the tynsalle off his sycht,
 A rewengeans he mycht wyn
 Off all his fays that war thare in.
 About twa pyllarys than, but let,
 At that hows was hale on sete, 470
 He kest hys armys hastyly,
 And ruggyt at thame dogytly,
 And sayd, " My lyff in perale ga
 Wytth the Phylysteis," and swa
 The post he tyt tyll hym sa fast
 Quhyll downe the hous [come] at the last,
 And sa smoryd all at wes thar in,
 Man and wyff, bath mare and myn.
 Swa slwe he ma in his deyng
 Than all that he slwe in fychtyng. 480

In Israell than wes na kyng
Bot ilkane wroucht [at] thaire lykyng.

CHAP. III.

The next Chapitere folowand
Schall tell qwhen Brutus wan this lande.

F. 40. b.

SERE Dardane Lord wes off Frygy,
That now men callis all Turkey :
He, as the story tellys ws,
Had a sone callid Erictonus,
Off quham Troyus, that Troy made,
And off hym that name it hade :
He gat Ylus, that Ylion
Fwndyt, and gat Leamydon,
That [Priame] gat, and Anchises
That Eneas fadyr wes :
And this [Priame] nemmyde befor,
That fadyr wes to gud Hector,
That was sa wycht and sa worthy,
That nevyr yhit na chevalry
Héar yhed than his persowne,
Tharfor yhit lestys hys renowne.

490

Eneas sone Askaneus
Had a sone callyd Silvius,
That Brut[us] gat, quham off beforne
Wes devynynd, or he wes borne,
That off gret wyschype [he] suld be,
And rys to state and dignyte ;
Bot he suld fadyr and mudyr sla.
And off cas it fell rycht sua :

500

For his mudyr at hys beryng
 Deyd ; [and] quhen that he wes yhing
 Off fyftene yhere eld off case
 Slwe his fadyr at the wanlas ; 510
 And tharefor owt off that cuntré
 Fra kyth and kyne wes flemyd he.
 Quhen that this Brutus flemyd was,
 Furth toward Grece the way he tays,
 Quhar mony off Troy a wele lang quhille
 Had bene in thryldome and exyle :
 Fra thai gat wyttyng thare, that he
 Be leneage was off thare cuntré,
 Thai maid hym thare duk and ledare ;
 And fra he wyst welle howe thai ware 520
 Demaynyd into foule thrildome,
 He movyde wes for thar fredome.
 Swa hapnyde hym to ta the Kyng
 And anyd for hys rawnssownyng
 For to gyff that tyme hym tylle
 Schyppys and wyttayle till his wylle,
 And large ryches tyll his men ;
 And syne his dowchtyr Inogen
 He gave hym als to be hys wywe.
 He buskyt hym thare eft belyve, 530
 And to the Sé has tane his way,
 Quhare that he traŵalyde mony day
 In wayth and were and in bargane
 F. 41. Quhyll that he werownyd haly Spayne.
 Syne, eftyr syndry gret mellé,
 By Poytere in tyll Frans [come] he.
 And in the tyme yhe herde me telle
 Than Sampson ras in Ysraelle.
 In tyll Albyone belywe

He come, quhare nowthire man na wywe 540
To sauff geawntis thare he fand ;
Tyll hym he sesyd all that land,
And realle was, and [of] gud fame,
And callyd that land eftyr his name,
And it inhabytyd wytth his men,
And gat wpon this Inogen
A sone Locryne, and othir twa,
Camber and Albanach war tha.
The eldest Locryne Ingland aucht,
Camber Walys, syne Albanacht 550
Off Scotland had the senyhoury.
Than Yngland callyd wes Locry ;
And Camber, Cambry, that Wallys auch
Gert call it ; and syne Albanach
Gert Albany call that land,
That now callyd is Scotland.
Thus Brute Brettane gert partyd be
Amang thir forsaid barnys thre,
And byggyd in his land a towne,
Yhit realle [and] off gret renowne, 560
And Trynovant than gert he
Call the name off that cyté,
New Troy, that is to say,
Syne quhen this Brute wes dede away,
Wytth othir namys sere, I wys,
Wes callyd, and now Londyn is.
All thus quhen thir brethir thre
Had stedede thame in thare cuntré,
And in tyll quiete and in pes
Ilkane in his regnand wes, 570
Sodanly come oure the se
Off Hennygawys a gret menyhe :

Be nawyne in tyll Albany
 Arrywyde all that cumpany,
 And stoutly mowyd were, and faucht,
 And slwe off Scotland Albanacht,
 And chasyde his men halyly,
 Tyll Locryne Lord than off Locry,
 That Yngland wes callyd syne,
 Hys ost than gadyryt this Locryne, 580
 And Cambere wytth the Welsche hale
 Come to mak hym suppowale

F. 41. b.

And wytth the Henygawys thai faucht,
 That slwe the Kyng Albanacht;
 Thai met the wattyr off Humbere nere;
 Thare, wyth the kyng and his powere,
 Thai mellayd sone, and faucht rycht fast,
 Quhyll thai hym wencust at the last;
 And on that Kyng thai maid sic chas,
 Quhyll in that flude he drownyd was. 590

Hys land callid was Hunia;
 Hunys his men [was] callyd alsua :
 And quhar sa mony drownyd were,
 The wattyr callid was Humbere.

Quhen Albanactus on this wys
 Was slayne, as yhe me herd dewys,
 Scotland was dyssawarra left,
 And wast nere lyand lang thare eft,
 Quhyll Scottis and the Peychtis were
 In tyll it cummyn, as yhe sall here 600
 In tyll this Tretis here eftyre sone,
 Quhen all the lawe tyll it is done.

This Locryne had a sone, but ma,
 Madaine, and he had sonnys twa
 Memprys and Malyne; bot Memprys

Smyttyd wes wytht mony wys ;
 Hys brothyr he slwe, and syn all tha,
 That he couth throw that wald thaim ma
 For tyll succede tyll hym as kyng.
 It happynyde syne at a huntyng 610
 Wytht wolwys hym to weryde be ;
 Swa endyt his iniquité.

His sone Ebrawce in hys stede
 Regnyd, quhen that he wes dede ;
 He fwndyd Yhork that gret cyté,
 And Kayrbroyc it callyd he.
 He byggyd Edynburgh wytht alle,
 And gert thaim Allynclowde it calle
 The Maydyn Castell, in sum plas
 The Sorowfull [Hill] it callyd was. 620

Off Bruttus lyneage quha wyll here
 He luke the Tretis off Barbere
 Mad in tyll a Genealogy
 Rycht wele, and mare perfytylly
 Than I can on ony wys
 Wytht all my wyt to yowe dewys.

Bot now, forthare or I pas,
 I wyll tell how that Eneas
 Fra that he slwe the Kyng Latyne,
 Weddyd hys dowchtyr dam Lawyne, 630
 And gat wpon hyr Postumus,
 That wes callyd alsua Silvius ;
 He was callyd Postume [for] beforne,
 Hys faddyr deyde or he wes borne ;
 Silvius allsua callyd wes he,
 That off the wode has propyrté,
 For in the wode he fostyryde was :
 Hys sone was callyd Eneas ;

He regnyd thretty yhere and ane,
 Quhen all his fadyr tyme wes gane, 640
 And fyfty yhere he regnyd syne.
 Eneas sone was callyd Latyne.

Gad that tyme and Natan
 Prophetis ware contemporan
 Tyll Daŵy Kyng off Israell
 In that tyme Cartage, I herd telle, Dydo fyrst gert formyd be,
 And wallyd welle that gryte cyt ;
 Hyr gudame lufyde Eneas;
 Off Affryk hale scho Lady was. 650

Heyr the Thryd Elde now tayis end,
 That, as the Ebrewy mays ws kende,
 Contenys nyne hundyr yhere
 And twa, gyff all wele rekynynd were;
 Bot the Sevynty clerkis wys
 Sayis twa les, be thaire storys.
 All this tyme Noe his spate
 Thaire oys was for to set thaire date,
 As now oure oys is in lettrys,
 Monumentis, or than chartrys, 660
 To rekyn fra the byrth off God,
 As yheris hapnys, ewyn or od.

CHAP. IV.

Or I forthyr now procede,
 Off the Romangys I will rede.

LATYNE kyng off Ytaly,
 Eftyre the dede off Sanct Daŵy,

Gat Alba Sylvius onone,
In to the tyme off Salamon :
In Rome he regnyd fourty yhere.
All thir that thus rekynye were Discendand fra Postumus,
To surname wes callyd Sylvius. 670
Athis, that callyd wes Egyptus,
And had till surname Silvius,
In Rome foure and twenty yhere
Regnyd, quhen devysyt were Off Israel the kynrykys and Juda ;
Jeroboam had ane off tha :
He kyng wes, and in hys dayis
That scisim fel, as the story sayis ;
Kyng off Israell than wes he Roboam regnyd in Judé. 680
Capis Silvius, but were,
In Rome aucht and twenty yhere
As lord regnyd, quhen Asa Wes kyng rygnand in Juda.
That tyme in Chawmpayne he
Gert fownd and mak a gret cyté.
In Rome Carpent eftyre that Regnyd, quhen that Josaphat
Was off Juda lord and kyng.

F. 42. b.

Syne off Rome the governyng 690
Tiberius take, and wes off it
Nyne yhere lord, as sayis the wryt.
Than Octosias off Judé
The kynryk had in propyrte.
The wattyr of Tybir than alsua
Callid be name wes Albula,
Bot for this Tyberius,

As sayis Tytus Lyvyus,
 Drownyde wes in that ryvere,
 Thai callyd it Tyber syne, but were. 700
 In Rome syne regnyde Agryppa,
 Quhen Acab regnyd in Juda,
 And Homere, as the story sayis,
 Wes in to Grece in to tha dayis.
 Syne regnyd in Rome Armulus
 That had to surname Sylvius, Nyntene wyntyr regnyd he,
 Quhen Joas kyng was off Jude
 Thre and thretty wyntyr syne.
 Eftyre hym regnyd Awentyne. 710
 In his tyme Amasias Kyng in Juda rygnand was.

CHAP. V.

Off Sardanapillus ghe sall her
 En tll this next Chapter.

AWCHT hundyr wyntyr and sextene,
 Or God wes off the Maydyn clene
 Borne, the land off Assyry
 Sardanapillus halyly
 Aucht be lyne off herytage
 Ewyn descendand be lynyage
 Fra Nynus, befor than kyng,
 At that land had in governyng. 720
 His oys wes mare wytth rok to spyne
 Than landys to the crowne to wyne,
 And kunandnes fer mar he had

How mony here the spyndyll made,
Than for to blasowne in to were,
As his knychtis oysid to bere,
Armys off thaire awncestry,
Or ony dedys off cheŵalry.

Off Mede the kynrik than in cheffe,
Wytht alkyne serwice and releffe, 730
Arbatus held off this kyng,
The quhilk had all tyme gret yharnyng
This Sardanapillus tyll have sene,
And off his duellyng tyll have bene,
And tyll haff had off hym reward,
Syn in to cheffe he wes his larde
Off all the kynrik off Medy,
Off kynd his hart gaffe hym, for-thi,
Befor ony othir lard
To mak him serwys for reward. 740

F. 43.

Apon this purpos tyll assay
Hys lord in till gud array,
He buskyt hym rycht honestly,
And welle arayid his cumpany,
And to the towne off Babilone
Wyth his court he come onone
Innys he tuk, and bad rycht thare
And realy mad hym to fare,
Bidand opertunytte,
And tyme, his our-larde for to se. 750

Sa in the castelle on a day
He come in tyll his best aray,
Wytht his court and his menyhe,
Commendyd off gret honeste.
Quhare that he wend for tyll have sene
Lordys cled in red and grene,

Knychtys, ladyis, and squerys,
 Haukys, hwindys and courserys,
 And thare lord in fayr array
 Amang thaim in to joy and play ; 760
 Than he fand that drowy doude
 Amang a pak off karlynys loud
 Flytand redy for to fecht,
 As he wes wandland off his wecht ;
 His yharne sponnyn resaʋand,
 And towe to spynyng delyverand.
 Quhen Arbatus his lord had sene
 Apon this wys, he wes full tene,
 And hym removide than in hy,
 And passyd agayne hame in Medy ; 770
 Thare his ost he gadyryt sone,
 And passyd to Babilone, but hone,
 And wyttht the Sardanapillus fast
 Faucht, and tuk hym at the last,
 And gert be maid on a bale fyre
 Off gret schyddys byrnand schyre,
 And that fyre he gert cast in Sardanapillus, for to bryn,
 And gert thame all hale off Assyry
 Mak tyll hyme homage halyly, 780
 And hald thare land off hym in cheffe
 Fra thine, wyttht serwys and releffe
 And trewage to the Medys pay,
 That held off thame befor that day.

This wes the fyrst confusioune
 That ewyre yhit come to Babyloune,
 That wes the mast pryncipalle
 Off the fyrst foure Kynrikis hale,
 And stud ellewyn hundyr yhere,

And foure and sixty passyde clere, 790
 In wyrschipe growand and in state
 Quhyll the tyme that Arbate
 This ryffille maid, and fra that day
 Babilone wes falyhand ay.

Thus in sege a sot to se,
 Or do a dowde in dignite,
 Sall ger standand statys stavire,

F. 43. b. And wyll bath wyt and wyrschype wavir.

It is langsum for to telle
 How mony changys that tyme felle 800
 Betwene the lordys off Assyry
 And the Medys syndryly,
 Quhill ane, quhill othir, tributere,
 As werd off were maid thaim to stere.

Procas than off Ytaly
 Had the lordschype halyly.

SYNE eftyre that tyme [Arbates]
 Lord and syre off Medys wes,
 And regnyd twa and twenty yhere
 Assayid oft [in] werys sere. 810
 Tyll hym succedyd Diocles,
 That in all dedys douchty wes ;
 Sere landys lyand hym aboute,
 Tyll Medys he maid wndirlowt.
 Astrages syne eftyre that

Off Medys all the lordschipe gat,
 That ayrys male off his body
 Gat nane; off that land, for-thi,
 Hys douchtyr sone hys ayre he maid,
 To propyr name that Cyrus haid,
 And he wytth fycht and hard batayle
 Forbare na thyng for tyll assayle
 Hys eldfadyr Astrages,
 And he than in his reklesnes
 Foryhet the mys that he had done
 Tyll Arpallus, quhen he his sone
 Had slayne, and syne gert hym be set
 Before his fadyre at the met,
 In quartarys lyand on a weschelle,
 Wytth precyous spycys farsyd welle.
 Bot he gert all rawe be lewyde
 The twa handys and the hevide,
 The quhilk he gert the fadyr se,
 Quhen off the body full wes he,
 And luche at hym dispytwysly
 In hethyng off that mangery.

820

830

All the cure off his batayle,
 And off his ost the governaile,
 He lippynynd to this Arpallus
 The quhilk be tresowne tyll Cyrus
 Yhald thaim. Than Astrages,
 That in his hart all angry wes,
 Hys ost assemblyd hastyly,
 And on the Perseis doggydly
 He duschyd on quhyll that in fycht
 Mony dour to ded wes dycht
 Cryand fast that he suld dé
 Quha ewyr hym maid on bak to flé.

840

Thare the Medys war so felle,
And on the Perseys sa cruell, 850
That mony douchty thai gert dé,
The lave on bak begouth to fle,
The Medys nere had hade the felde
Na ware the wywys, that behelde
And sawe the Perseys in batayle,
How fayntly thai begouth to fayle,
To stand thai maid thaim fayre prayere,
And consalyd thaim on fayr manere.
Bot the Perseys war sa rad,
For the pres thai war in stad, 860
That thai dowtyd all to de ;
For-thi, thai maid thame all to fle.
Than all thai wywys wytht a cry
Reprovand thaim dispitwysly,
Tyt wp thare clathis outh thaire scheyre,
And poyntyt to thaire prewa gere
That betwene thaire lymys stude ;
And wytht a schout, as thai war wude,
“ In here, in here, syne yhe ar rade,
And in sa staverand state ar stade, 870
Yhone folk ar felowne for the nany,
(Thai rowpyd wytht a rare at anys,) Sen othir succoure have yhe nane,
Na yhe can sé na bettyr wane,
Gyve yhe wyll yhoure lyvys kepe
In tyll oure cutkane nowe yhe crepe ;
And here in, gyve yhe hyd the hevid,
Thare owt mon all the lave be lewyde.”
The Perseys than aschamyd were,
And turnyd agayne wytht thare powere, 880
And wytht the Medys faucht sa fast

Quhill thai thame wencust at the last
 And off thame slw a gret party
 And wan the feld rycht dowchtily.

Thane thaire wes tane Astrages,
 Tyl Cyrus he delyverid wes,
 The quhilk maid hym halyly
 Lord and syre off Hyrcany,
 Bot Medy and the landys thare
 To Pers fra thine wes tributare ;
 Bot thare wes cyteis syndry,
 That aucht trewage to Medy,
 The quhilkys in to Cyrus dayis
 Payid noucht thare for alwayis.
 This Cyrus wes in gret traſwayle,
 And moſwand were and hard batayle.

 The Agrigentynys halyly
 He wndyde wytth his felowny.
 Agrigent wes a regyowne
 Famows and off gud renowne,
 In to the Se wytth in that yle,
 That is the kynryk off Cyzile.
 This Falarys wes off dedys fell,
 And off intentys rycht cruelle,
 Till hym wes bath indifferent,

900

Culpabile in payne, and innocent ;
For ay in a delyt wes he Men towrmentid in payne to se, 910
And for to se thaire kowntenans
That thai wald mak in thaire pennans.
He ay in to this lykyng stude,
Swa nere hym by a smyth wes gude,
Perillus callid, wythin his land
This smyth ay duelt, hys craft oysande,

 Wndyr a bra be Tybere nere, 1010
 Quhar a hyrd than apon cas, Fawsculus that callyd was,
 Happynynd to cum by that bra
 Quhar that he fand thir twynnys twa,
 And to Laurentia, his wyffe,
 That spendyd in to lust hyr lyff,
 And mekyll wyth hyr body wan, (Quharefor scho Lupa callid wes than,
 And the bordale hous was syne
 Callyd Lupanar in Latyne), 1020
 Thir twynnys twa he broucht in hy,
 And bade hyr kepe thame tendyrly ;
 And wytht hyr war thai nwryst thare
 Till thai to manhed cummyn ware ;
 And for a scho wolffe in Latyne
 Is Lupa callyd, thare-efftyre syne,
 In Rome quhare that thare figure
 Wes sene in ald tyme, in sculpture,
 Or payntynd, thai twa soukand wes
 A wolf, in tyll ane liklynes. 1030
 Thir twa gadyryt off revarys,
 Off thewys, and off mysdoarys,

A gret multitud in hy,
 And ras off were rycht stoutely,
 And slwe Amylius that before
 Banysyd thare eldfadyre, Munitore,
 And restoryd thare gudsyre
 Tyll his land and hys empyre.

CHAP. IX.

When the Kyngis Stane off Spanghe fyrst come in Erlande, and Brettanphe.

IN the mene tyme that this felle,
 That ye herd off thir bredyre telle, 1040
 Thare wes regnand a mychty Kyng,
 That had all Spayne in governyng:
 This kyng mony sonnys had,
 Off ane off tha yhit mast he made,
 That Symon-Brek wes callyde be name,
 Ane honest man and off gud fame.
 A gret Stane this Kyng than had,
 That for this Kyngis sete wes made,
 And haldyne wes a gret jowale
 Wyttht-in the kynryk off Spayne hale. 1050

F. 46. This kyng bad this Symon ta
 That Stane, and in tyll Yrland ga,
 And wyn that land and occupy,
 And halde that Stane perpetually,
 And mak it his sege thare
 As thai off Spayne did off it are.
 This Symon did [than] as the Kyng
 Fullyly gave hym in byddyng,

And wane Yrland, and chesyd his place,
 Quhare honest and mast lykand was. 1060
 Thare he made a gret cyté,
 And in it syne that Stane gert he
 Be set, and haldyn for jowale
 And chartyr off that Kynryke hale.

Fergus-Ercson fra hym syne
 Down discendand ewyn be lyne
 In to the fyve and fyfty gré,
 As ewyne reknand men may se,
 Broucht this Stane wytht-in Scotland,
 Fyrst quhen he come and wane that land : 1070
 And fyrst it set in Ikkolmkil,
 And Skune thare-ef tyre it wes broucht tylie.

And thare it wes syne mony day,
 Quhyll Edward gert have it away
 Kyng off Ingland, and syne he Gert it set in Lundyn be,
 Eftyre that Jhesu Cryst wes borne,
 To sauffe oure lyff that was forlorne,
 A thousand and thre hundyr yhere
 And ten thare tyll, or thare by nere. 1080

Now will I the werd rehers,
 As I fynd off that Stane in wers :

NI FALLAT FATUM, SCOTI, QUOCUNQUE LOCATUM INVENIENT LAPIDEM, REGNARE TENENTUR IBIDEM.

" Bot gyff werdys falyhand be,
 Quhare evyr that stane yhe segyt se,
 Thare sall the Scottis be regnand,
 And lorddys hale oure all that land."

A.D. 1310.

CHAP. I.

Whene Reme and Romule the Cite
Off Rome fyrst gert biggit be.

SEVYN hundyr wyntyr and fyftene
Or God was off the Maydyn clene
Borne, and off Olympias
The sext ordyr rynnand was,
That in to Grece than was thar date
In all the chartrys that thai wrate,
Off Rome the gret cyté was made,
And off it hale the lordschype hade
Romule, that his brothir slwe
Swne fra he to lordschipe drwe, 10
And eftyr hym syne gert he
Rome be callyt that cyté,
And tyll hym that lordschipe hale
In profyt tuk, and governale,
And wallyt it rycht welle wythoute,
Wytht dykis off fale and mwde aboute.
Ane hundyr men he chesyde off eyld,
That wayk ware wapnys for to weyld,
Bot, for wyt and gud consale,
To tha he lypnyd the governale 20
Off the comoune state, and he Tha Senatowrys gert callyt be.
He chesyd syne a thousand hale,
Yhong and lykly to batayle,
And Knychtis he gert call all tha,
Thaire name in Latyne sowndys swa.

Romule off eyldre was twenty yhere
 And twa quhen he begouth to stere
 In Rome, and regnand was auchtene
 Yheris, [ful] in dedis clene

30

F. 48. And syne hapnyd he peryst was Throw hard tempest and swdane cas.

Eftyre that dede was Romulus
 Numa regnyd Pompilius
 Ane and fourty yhere, and he
 Fyrst gert ordane knyghtis fé.
 Before hym Marche wes, but were,
 The fyrst begynnyng off the yhere,
 Bot he gert the monethis twa,
 Janwere the fyrst off tha,
 The secund Fevryryhere, but let,
 Always before Marche [be] set.
 In hys tyme Ezechias fre
 Wes kyng regnand in Jwdé.
 Sybile than Eryttea
 Was in the tyme off this Numa.

40

Eftyre hym regnyd Tullius,
 Be surname cald Hostylyus.
 In tyll his tyme Manassé
 Wes kyng regnand in Jwdé.
 He oysid mykyll for to were
 Purpur, silk, and browdyn gere.
 Before his tyme the Romanys hale
 Lywyd in pes wytht-out batayle
 A welle lang tyme, bot eftyre he Gert tyll his lordschipe bowsum be
 The Albanyis, that in that quhile
 Fra Rome off space wes auchtene myle,
 And othir natyownys mony sere,

50

To Rome he mad than tributere 60
 In tyll his tyme mekyll off prys
 Wes Sybyle Samya the wys.
 The kyng than off Spartany,
 The cyté maid off Bysanty ;
 Now thai oys in landys all
 Constantynopyll that to calle.

Eftyre the dede off Tullius
 In Rome regnyd the kyng Antus.
 In tyll his tyme Josyas
 Kyng in Jude regnand was, 70
 He gert be maid a gret cyté,
 And Osten it callyd he.
 He regnyd thre and twenty yhere
 And dyde off profyte dedys sere.

Till hym succedyde syne Pryscus,
 To surname callid Tarqwynyus,
 He maid a burche rownd in his dayis
 Wytht-in the towne till oys thare playis
 As to dans, pype, or syng,
 Or to wresstyl, and mak justyng. 80
 Cysternys he gert be maid depe,
 Fylth or wattyр for to kepe.

F. 48. b. That all the glwt wyth-in the towne
 In tymys mycht be castyne downe
 Throucht thai cysternys for to ryne
 The gret wattyр off Tibere in
 That the cyté mycht ay be Kepyd fra glwt in honesté.
 The Capytale he [fyrst] gert ma,
 And be name [it] callid swa ; 90
 For as thai ware the grounde ryband,
 Off ane man [the] hevyde thai fand

For owtyn body, quhar-for thai
 The Capytole it callid ay.
 In Rome he regnyd thretty yhere
 And aucht owte-oure tha passid clere ;
 Quhen Joachym off Judé
 Had all the land in propyrté.

Eftyr hym regnyd Servius,
 Callid be surname Tullius. 100

He gert be drawyn dykis depe
 Abowt the wallys, at thai mycht kepe
 Thaire towne, gyff ony wald assayle
 Thame wytth assawt, or wytth batayle.
 He wes the fyrst kyng, as thai say,
 That gert the Romanys custum pay ;
 Befor his tyme thai war sa fre
 That thai wyst noucht quhat toll suld be.
 Syne slayne was this Serwius,
 Throucht ane wes cald Tarquynyus 110
 The Proude, and, quhen that he was dede,
 He kyng regnand wes in hys stede.
 In to this tyme Sedechias
 Kyng in Juda regnand was,
 And Nabugodonosor he
 Kyng than regnand in Caldé,
 Made the gret confusioun
 Off Jowis, and thare destructiowne.

The Ferde Eylde heir endis,
 The quhilk off yherys contenys, 120
 As the Hebrwys reknys clere,
 Foure hundyr wyntere and thre yhere ;
 The Sevynty clerkis sayis oure
 Four hundyr yher four score and foure.

CHAP. II.

When eftir kyngis Consulles
In to Rome first chosyn wes.

EFTYR the dede off Servius
In Rome proude Tarquynyus
Regnyd, and than Cyrus kyng
Off Pers had all the governyng.
He was a man off gret felny
And wmbethought hym increly 130
With quhat tormentis men mycht be Punysyde for thaire inyqwyte,
As fetrys or presonyng,
Stokkys, boyis, or banysyng.
He wes exilyd in his dayis
F. 49. Off Rome, as Frere Martyne sayis,
For his sonys inyquyte,
That had deforsyd a lady fre,
A gentill-woman off gud fame,
Lucretia was callid hir name. 140
Scho plenyheyd tyll hir husbandis sone
Off the defoule wes till hyr done,
Till hir fadyr and hir kyne,
Till all syne that scho mycht to wyn,
And led hyr dayis a quhile in pyne,
And alwe hyr-self for sorowe syne.
Syne this proud Tarquynyus
Saw that he wes exilyd thus,
He knyht hym to the Tuskanyis,
And warrayd wytht thame the Romanis, 150

And wytth his ost, apon a day,
 To Tybyr he come, in gud aray,
 And quhen thai saw his gret powere,
 The Romanys all affrayid were,
 Bot syne it hapnyd thame to be
 Accordyt welle be fayre treté.

Thir seŵyne Kyngis regnand were
 Twa hundyr foure and fourty yhere;
 And fra the kyngis thus can ses,
 In Rome thai chesyd twa Consules, 160
 And tha twa reng sulde bot a yhere,
 For dowl gyff that thai regnand were Langare tyme, that thai suld rys
 In lordschype in swa hawtane wys,
 That the comownys vyleusly
 Greŵyt sulde be throwe thaire maistry.
 And twa was ordanyd for this skyll,
 That gyff ane wald set his wyll
 For lykyng mesoure tyll excede,
 The tothir argwe suld his dede, 170
 And swa chastyid he suld be
 Fra foule lust and inyqwyte.
 Consules than thai maid twa,
 Brute and Lucius cald war tha.

Than in Rome Pictogoras
 Deyde, and Anaxagoras;
 That tyme alsua Socrates
 The wenum drank and poysownyd wes.
 Arystotyll than, but were,
 Wes off eyld bot aughtene yhere, 180
 And wndyr Plato, the wytty, Studyid and herd Philosophy.

CHAP. III.

How how the towne off Babilone
 Was browcht till confusione.

FIVE hundyr yhere and aucht beforne,
 Or God wes off the Maydyn borne,
 The fyrst off the Consules,
 Brute be name callyd wes,
 F. 49. b. The Sabynys in to stout aray
 Made thame the cyté till assay,
 The Romanys a dytoure made,
 That oure the lawe the maystry had, 190
 And the Consules be fere
 He sulde excede in all powere,
 In this tyme that I yhoue rehers
 Cyrus that was kyng off Pers
 Wan a gret part off Sythy
 And mony landis in Asy,
 Syne wytth his ost [he] come onone
 For tyll assege Babylone,
 Bot the rywere off Ewfrate
 Swa reych than rysand wes on spate, 200
 That he mycht noucht the towne cum nere,
 Bot worthyd to byd wytth hys powere,
 Quhille the weltrand wawys kene
 Suld a part have swagyde bene.
 Swa was in tyll his ost a knycht,
 Yhong and joly, bawld and wycht,
 Fayr off fassowne and fetys,
 Off prowes prowyd, and off prys,

Off Capados, Schyre Alaryke,
 In all that ost wes nane hym lyk, 210
 Sa fayre off fasowne and swa fre,
 And gentyll in tyll all wes he ;
 He luwyd perdrewry dame Sabyll,
 That lady then wes off Pamphile,
 He paramowrys so stratly luwyd
 That perelys as playis he pruwyde
 Apon a cowsoure pounle gray
 Adressly he sat that day
 In tyll a gowne ewyn schaply wyde,
 In his revel bot sadyll syde, 220
 Wytth brokyn lettrys on that gowne,
 Byllyde wele wes his resowne,
 Susus geta, that sulde be,
 Ese off consale opyn yhe :
 And browdyn wele was his penowne,
 Off gold rampand a lyowne,
 He bar in tyll asure brycht,
 Hys ger was flamand all at rycht.
 Thus quhill the ost thare howyng maid
 And swagyng off the wattyr bade, 230
 He thoucht prowes for till pruve
 For hyr that he lent on his luve :
 The coursoure he strake wytth the spurs
 And walepand oure floys and furys.
 All befor the ost he rade
 Quhar stend for stend the coursere maid,
 And at the bra quhare nerest was
 The furde, quhar men oysid to pas,
 The hors he hardynyt irwysly,
 The coursere lap delyverly 240
 All oure the bank in to the flude,

F. 50. The stoure fere owre thare heȝydis stude.
The waȝys war wode, the wattyr depe,
Be na way mycht the knycht hym kepe.
Bot for to tell yhoue schortly than Drownyd wes thare bath hors and mau.

Than Cyrus that this sycht has sene,
For angyr off his hart, and tene
That sa hys knycht [he] lesyd hade,
Gret athys swore and ȝowys made 250
Tyll all his goddis, yhong and awlde,
That wynd and wattyr had in waulde,
That he sulde off that wattyr be
Revengyde in to sic degre,
And sa schalde it sulde be made
That, set a woman suld it wade,
Hyr kneys off it suld noucht be wate
For nakyne weddare, spryng, na spate.
Than gert he drawe that revere all
In to foure hundyre and sixty smalle 260
And narow swyrlis, throuch feldis brade ;
That gret reȝere sa schalde he made
That slyke and klay nicht than be sene
Quhare wattyre depe before had bene.

Than the ost, but mare abade,
Thare passyng to the cyté made,
Throuch the depe slyk and the clay,
Haldand on the nerest way ;
And thaire he lay, wytth his powere,
The cyté quhill he wan, but were, 270
And gare cast all the wallys down
Off Babilone, bath toure and towne,
That chymys was off Assyry,
At all poynt byggid propirly,

Set in a lawnd off fresch flewoure
 Off haylsum ayre, and suet sawoure,
 Wytth wode and wattyre all abowte
 Plesand, fayr, wytth-owtyn dowte,
 A hundyre yhattis off irne gret
 Fra before that mekylle yhet, 280
 And ma yhit mycht rekynynd be
 All abowte that gret cyté ;
 And fra that mekylle yhete before
 Four hundyr stadys and foure score
 It had in umgang all abowte,
 And tha to rekyn ar, but dowte,
 Ane and fyfty myle and mare,
 And all abowte the wallys ware
 Fyve and twenty elne brade,
 Wytth sykyre syment sadly made 290
 Wytth ane hundyre elne on hycht,
 At alkyne poynt perfytly dycht,
 And, as the clerk Orosyus
 In tyll hys Cornykyl tellys ws,
 F. 50. b. It war bot fantumlyke and fabylle,
 And noucht till al men yhit trowabille,
 That mannys wertu, or hys wyte,
 Mycht othir do or wndo it.

CHAP. IV.

This Chapitre tellis how Cyrus Wan off were kyng Cressus.

QWHEN thus wes wonnyn Babylon,
 Cyrus wytth his ost onone 300

In Lidys past, wytth playne batayle,
 The kyng Cresus till assayle.
 This Cresus, that I yhoue rehers,
 Held Lydys off the kyng off Pers ;
 Bot ay till hym he wes rebel,
 In were, and in all consale felle :
 Bot for he wes in dedys stout,
 Off hym ay Cyrus had gret dout,
 For rych and mychty ay wes he,
 And in all dedys awysé.
 He prayid till his god Appolyne
 To grawnt hym wyttyng quhat kyne fyne
 Last suld fall off that discorde
 That was betwene hym and his lorde.
 Than wryttyn was tyll hym this wers
 In Latyne that I wyll rehers.

310

(Crescens perdet Alini, transgressus maxima regna;)

“ The Creyhsceand sall gret landys tyne,
 The wattyre oure passand off Alyne.”
 This sentence off this wers wes thare
 For the kyng off Lidis bare,
 Off gowlys in to sylver brycht
 Thre creyhsceandis in his armys dycht.

320

This awnsuere Cresus thought rycht gude
 For othir-wayis he wndyrstude ;
 Than eftyrwarde the gamyn yhede,
 Or werde off were, prowyd in dede,
 And said, “ The landys that I sall tyne
 Ar Cyrus landys, and noucht myn,
 That I sall wytth myn ost oure ryde,
 To fell his ogert and his pryde.”
 Hys ost than sone and hastily

330

He assemblid, and in hy
 Oure that wattyr he passid onone,
 For tyll suppowale Babilone,
 Quhar Cyrus lay, as yhe herd here,
 In tyll assege wytht hys powere,
 And thare he schawid hym, on ane hycht,
 Hys ost arayand to the fycht.
 Bot quhen he saw on quhat kyne wys
 Wencust were the Babilonys, 340
 And the cyté wonnyn nere,
 He changid purpos and manere,
 And turnyd bak, and tuk the flycht,
 The Perseys lyggid on at rycht,
 F. 51. Folowand fast and egyrly,
 Chasand hym dispytwysly,
 And slwe hys men down, here and thare,
 Quhare-evyr that thai ourtakyn were ;
 Hym-self eschapyd narowly,
 And sauff wes fra that jwperdy. 350
 This Cresus eftyre this affray,
 On a nycht in his bed lay,
 And, dremand in his slepe, thought he
 Wes in a crope set off a tre,
 Quhare Jupitere wyth rayne hym wete,
 God Phebus quhyle wytht sone hym het ;
 He thought in tyll his slepying swa
 That he [wes] stade betwene thai twa,
 All the tyme that he thare lay,
 Quhille on the morne day, 360
 Than Fariva, his douchtyr yhing,
 He callid, and tauld [hir] his dremyng ;
 For scho oysid for till telle
 Thyngis sere before thai felle,

As wychys dois, or nycromancerys,
Dissaŵynde men on thare manerys,
And throucht the dewyll dissavyid are thai.
Than neid the certane suth can say.
Bot throuch thame quhen that he is sua
Traŵalyd, that he mon ansure ma 370
The ansuere that he to thame mayis
Offt dowbyll wnderstandyn hayis,
And sa it hapnys that men are
Dyssayvid oft on that manere ;
For the thyngis that is to be
To wyt is Goddys propyrte,
For-thi thar-off the certane
Is nane can telle bot He alane.
Yhit nevyr-the-les this damysel
Tauld hyr fadyr that efftyr fell, 380
That Cyrus suld hym tak in ire,
And swayk hym in a brynnand fyre,
And thare he suld be brynt, but dowl,
Bot gyff the rayne the fyre put owt.
Sa Cyrus wyth his ost onone
Fra he had wonnyn Babylone,
Past in to Lydis tyll assayle
This Cresus kyng wytth playne batayle.
Thare, eftyre mony juperdyis,
And syndry changyd wictoryis, 390
The kyng off Lydis this Cresus
Wes tane and broucht quyk tyll Cyrus,
And he gert cast hym in a fyre,
Off dry fagottis, brynnand schyre,
Thare brynt he noucht bot tholyt payne,
For it layit on sa fast off rayne
On nakyne wys that he mycht bryne

All the tyme he lay thare in.
 Off Pers than the kyng Cyrus
 F. 51. b. Gert qwyte delyver this kyng Cresus. 400 Owt off that fyre, and be treté
 Hym tyll hys restoryt he,
 Apon this wys quhen Cresus
 Wes fre delyveryde fra Cyrus,
 Tyll Phanwa, hys dochtyr dere,
 He tauld the cas, and the manere,
 And in his hert he had gret pryde
 That [he] ethchapyt swa that tyde.
 But scho that saw his hawtane fere,
 Apon this wys maid hym awnsuere : 410
 " Wyth slycht [swa], suppos yhe slyde,
 Yhoure lattyre day yhit mon yhe byde :
 Before that day on nakyn wys
 Yhe suld yhoure fortown happy prysis
 For at the evin, or eftyr, ay
 Men prysis ay the fayr day,
 And quhen the lyffe off man tais end,
 Than is tyme hym to comend."
 And eftyre that scho had tauld hym thus,
 Scho bad hym be ware that Cyrus, 420
 At hym suld noucht sa grewyd be,
 That he suld hang hym on a tre,
 Quhare nevyre rayne wytht mekyll wete,
 Na nakyn swyn mycht sauff with het.

CHAP. V.

How this Chapitere sall tell
How the dede off Cyrus fell.

EFTYR that this kyng Cresus
Wencust wes and wonnyne thus,
Cyrus, lord and kyng off Pers,
Off quham before I maid rehers,
Past wyth his ost, as man off were,
Oure Araxys, that rywere 430
That on hewyd rynnand is Betwene Sytyke and Lydis;
Dame Tarnys that tyme wes lady
And quene regend all Sythy,
And quhen scho hard that the gret ost
Off Cyrus come bolnyd in bost,
Hyr consale gave hyr to ger breke
The bryggys, and alle the fwr dys stek,
And let thame passage till have fre,
Wytht swylk ane ost in hyr cwntré. 440
How evyre hyr lykyd this consale,
Scho gert bath bryg and fwrde be hale,
And lete thame oure Araxis fre
Wytht-in hyr land mak thaire entré,
And in to straytis ner thare by Scho gert hyr sone be prewaly,
Hys awantage for to se,
And byd his opertwnyté,
To dyffend or tyll assayle
For werd is waverand off batayle. 450

And quhen Cyrus wes cumin in
 F. 52. The land off Sytyke it to wyn,
 For mete thaire forreowrys thai send
 And pavillownys thai gert descend,
 And thare tentis swne in hy,
 Be lyklynes to mak herbry,
 Trumpand all the day on hycht ;
 Bot quhen it nere drew to the nycht
 All thaire fyrys thai gert baulde,
 As thai wald styll thaire herbry haulde, 460
 Off wyne thai drwe and rostyd flesche,
 And ete and drank thaim to refresche,
 And syne deŵoydid prewaly
 And lete with[in] thare tentys ly
 All thaire wytalle swa assayid,
 As thai had yschyd all affrayid.
 The Cytykys than that in the hicht
 Had byddyn all the day quhill nycht,
 Thought till haŵe fwndyn wnarayid
 The Perseys hale and wnpurwayde, 470
 And sa thai mycht thame best supprys
 In slepe, or than sum othyr wys,
 To tak or sla all at thare wyllle,
 All thus thaire purpos to fulfille.
 The Sytykys come wyth thaire batayle
 The Perseys derffly till assayle
 Wytght-in thaire tentis, quhare thai thought
 That all sulde at thaire wyll be wroucht.
 Off [the] Perseis nane thai fand
 Wytght-in the tentys than sterand, 480
 For hale the ost removyde were,
 As I yhowe tauld a lytill ere ;
 Than thai Sytykys tuk herbry,

And ete and drank rycht gredyly
 Off the wytayle that was assayid,
 Thai tuk rycht fast and lytill payid ;
 Bot or the gammyn wes all gane
 Thai payid ma than twa for ane.
 Wyne and flesche thai had at wylle,
 Thar-off thai tuk sa gret a fyll, 490
 That qwhene wyst thare-off his awine,
 How mony acris he had sawyne,
 Bot foryhet thame-self all qwyte
 To drynk thai had sik appetyt,
 That wnwachid, suddanly,
 Thai fell on slepe rycht hewyly.
 Off the Perseys than the spyis
 Tauld tyll Cirus on quhat wyis
 He mycht hys purpos welle fulfille,
 And have the Sytykys at hys wylle, 500
 For all tyme thai nere thaim ware,
 And saw thare manere and thare fayre.

Wyth that the Perseys hastily
 Arayid thame, and come suddanly,
 And fand the Sytykys all lyand
 Wyttht-in thare tentis still slepand ;
 F. 52. b. Thar thai thaime stekid in thare slepe,
 And slwe thame downe as thai war schepe,
 That few echapyd fra that place
 To tell all how it hapnyd was ; 510
 The Qwenys swyn in to that stede,
 And in that pres, was slayne to dede,
 That yhong and avinnand was, and fayre,
 And till his Modyre nerest ayre
 Off all the landis off Sithy ;
 For-thi the barnage was sary

Off his ded ; and nevyrtheles
 His Modyre tuk wp sik stoutnes
 And dissymlyd sorow swn,
 And hyr arayid wytth-outyn hwne, 520
 Wyth hyr ost in bataylis sere,
 And waytand quhar the Perseys were,
 And hyr awantage for to se
 How best scho mycht revengyd be.
 Hyr ost scho scalyd here and thaire,
 Lyk as scho affrayid ware,
 And lete the Perseys wytth thare pryde
 Hyr land oure ryot and oure ryde,
 Bot nere scho perswyde ay,
 Quhill at the last [up]on a day 530
 Scho saw thame in tha straytys thare,
 Quhare all hyre ost abowt thame ware,
 And scho than in hyr buschement,
 That thought to cum tyll hyr intent,
 Gert trumpe wp, and suddanly
 Brak on the Perseys hawtaynly,
 Wytth all hyr ost on ilk[a] syde,
 Sa winbeset thai ware that tyde
 Wytth the Sytykys that nane mycht
 Fra the bataile ta the flycht, 540
 Bot on nede behuwyd to byd ;
 Thaire thai layid on ilk syde,
 And sa fell thare was the fycht,
 That mony doure to dede wes dycht,
 Mony a hawberk, mony a scheld,
 Was all to frwschyd left in felde,
 Bot the Sytykys douchtely
 Wan all hale the wyctory.
 Twa hundyr thousand thai fand dede

Off Perseys lyand in that sted ; 550

The kyng Cyrus off Pers that day

Wes slayne, [and] thare amang thame lay,

The Qweyne that thocht this mellé gude,

A fat gert fill full off thare blude,

That slayne in to that feld than lewyde,

And syne gert stryk off Cyrus hewyde,

And that fat gert swayk it in,

“ Drynk thi fill now or thow blyn,

Scho sayd, “ for thretty yhere and mare

F. 58. Ay mannys blud thow thrystyd sare ; 560

Thare thow nowe may fynd thi fill,

Drynk or lewe, quhethyr evyre thow wylle.”

Eftyr that Cyrus slayne wes,

Hys swyn succedyt, Cambises,

He movyd in tyll Egipt were,

And rade it throucht wyth gret powere,

Thare all thare templys he kest downe,

And wндыde thare religiowne,

And at thare awld ceremonyis,

That thai oysid on syndry wyis 570

In to thare devotyown,

He had abhomynatyown.

Twa spaymen syne put hym to dede,

And thai succedyt in his stede.

And maid thame kyngis off [the] land,

At thare lykyn it sterand,

Syne Darius ras thame agayne,

And haue thai bath in batayle slayne.

CHAP. VI.

How Darius throw his secudry Wes discumft in Sithy.

FOUR hundyr wyntyre and thris twenty,
 Or God wes borne off oure Lady, 580
 Consentand all the barnage hale,
 Darius tuk the governale
 Off all Pers in propirté,
 And ryngnyd in gret reawté.
 Quhen he recoveryd had Assyry.
 And Babilone all halily,
 Agayne the kyng Amprityre,
 Off Sythy bath lord and syre,
 He rasyd ost and moŵyd were,
 And come on hym wytth his powere, 590
 For caus Amprityre the kyng
 Off Sythy maid hym playne warnyng
 Off his douchtyr till be his wyff,
 Quhen he hyr askyd for this stryff,
 And this were Schyre Darius
 Movyd wpon Amprityrus.
 The ost off Pers wes namyd then
 Seŵyn hundyre thousand armyd men,
 That for the lust off a body
 Wes set all in tyll jwperdy. 600
 And oft in tyll gret dowl off dede,
 [And] all dyspayrid off remed;
 For as thai through the land past,
 The Sytykys handlyd thame sa fast,

Constayand thame on ilk[a] syde,
 That nane durst fra the batayle byd,
 That the Sytykys mycht oure-ta,
 F. 53. b. Than thai walde thame, but rawnsone, sla.
 And swa, be syndry juperdyis,
 Fourty thousand reknyd twyis 610
 Darius myssid off his men,
 Wytht juperdiis that slayne ware then,
 And hym-self all prewaly
 Fled off the kynrike off Sythy,
 For drede thai suld be[hynd] hym stek
 The furdys, and [the] bryggys brek
 Off Danoy, that gret rywere,
 That marchand is to Sythy nere ;
 And off the skayth that he had tane,
 He maid bot lytill dule or mayne, 620
 And thought that tynsall was bot smalle
 For to rekyn his costys all :
 Yhit wes he noucht off litill mycht,
 That swa mony couth gar dycht,
 Apon a day in till a felde,
 Off wycht men wapnys for to welde,
 As Darius tynt in tyll Sithy
 Throuch his hawtane succuddry.
 Throucht Asy syne he past onone
 Quhen he had dantid Macedone, 630
 Yonas nere by the se,
 Wytht his nawyne warrayde he,
 And the Attenyens hale
 Ras to ma thame suppowalle,
 For-thi this Darius movid his were,
 Agaynis thame wytht hale powere ;
 And thai thame purwayd off diffens,

And mad agayne thame resistens,
 And wytth thare awyne cumpany
 And sowdyowrys off Spertany, 640
 Ellewyn thousand men, but mare,
 In to the feld assemblyd ware
 Agayne sex hundyre thousand hale,
 Off Perseys ordanyd for batale;
 In to that fycht Myltiades
 Off Attenyens [a] chyftane was.
 Bath thai ostys swne onone
 In to the feld off Maratone
 Togyddyr mellayd hastily,
 Bot off thare fychtyng wes ferly; 650
 For quha that nere had by thaim bene,
 Thai mycht the ta part welle haue sene
 In batayle derffly men slaand,
 The tothyr as bestys thare deand;
 Twa hundyre [thowsand] Perseys thare
 Slayne in the feld fundyn ware.
 Darius swa thare discumfyte
 Chasid fled till his schippys tyte,
 And wytth his nawyne in affray
 Wnslayne echapyd as that day 660
 In tyll hys land off Pers, and thare
 Assemblyd swne [a] gret poware
 In tyll intent for tyll have bene
 Revengyd off his fayis kene,
 Bot in hys ost he deyde, off cas,
 And swa his purpos falyhyd was.

F. 54.

CHAP. VII.

This Chapitere tellis how Xerxes, Darius sone, discumft was.

FOURE hundyre yhere sevynty and seſwyn,
Or Mary bare the Kyng off Hewyn,
Quhen Darius, as yhe hard, wes dede,
Hys son Cerces [Xerxes] in his stede 670
In Pers succedyt kyng regnand,
And governyd wytth his lauch the land,
And that were held wpe fyve yhere,
That his fadyr in Grece gert stere.
In tyll his ost off Perseys then
He had sevyn hundyre thousand men,
At all poynt armyd clenly;
Thre hundyre thousand he had by Off wagyouris armyd at all rycht,
In to thare gere all flawmand brycht; 680
Twelff hundyre schyppys gret off toure,
And off les thre thousand oure,
Wyth men and wytaile thare gert he
Be stuffyd welle, and layd to se;
His gret ost swa assemblid thare
Dowtyd gyff ony wattrys ware,
Off sic abowndans, and sic plente,
That to thame all thare drynk mycht be,
Or to thare bataylle for to pas,
Ony erde to large was, 690
Or tyll thare nawyne ony se
Mycht rowme enuch or large be,

Sic ane ost yhe may welle trow
 Is were for to be gaddyrt nowe
 Than it was than, for to supprys
 Be batayle or be juperdyis.

Off Spartany, Leonydes
 Kyng and lord in that tyme wes,
 He wytth aucht thousand men that quhyllle
 Bade in the straytis off Termopylle. 700

Quhen Cerces thare-off hade tythyng
 In tyll dispyt and pure hething,
 That sa few for thare defens

Durst mak agayne hym resistens,
 He gert aray his gret batayle,
 In purpos thaim for tyll assayle ;
 Bot thaim he sped before onone
 That in the feld off Maratone
 In tyll his fadyre tyme had bene,
 And thare thaire frendys slayne had sene, 710

F. 54. b. For tyll assayle thare inymys
 Wyth batayll, or wytth juperdyis.

Off tha schortly for to tell,
 As in the fycht the fortoune felle ;
 The begynnyng thai ware hale,
 And off that fycht the fyrst tynsalle.
 Syne the grete ost wytth Cerces.
 Sone to the baytell cummyn wes,
 And wmbeset on ilk[a] syde
 The Spartanyys and Leonyde. 720

Than ras the fycht bath fers and felle,
 And all the batail rycht cruelle,
 Thare men mycht here bot dusche for dusch,
 Rappys royd wytth mony a rusch,
 Mony a penowne, mony a spere,

To rewyn, and all to fruschyd were.
On basnetys, schynand brycht,
Men mycht se pollaxis lycht,
Thare morel bayard, dun and gray,
Wyth wowndys flyngand ran away. 730
In to sic pres, wytth-owtyn dowl,
The fychtyng thre dayis lestyde owt,
But trewe takyn, or departyng,
Or ony kyn othire ameyssyng,
That nane off bak the flycht mycht ta,
Na nane mycht pas to purches ma.
Thai war in to that fycht so thyke
That nane had nymbilnes to stryke,
And [sa] for-tyryd in to that thrawe,
That quheyne had come his eynde to drawe, 740
Off slayne bodyis fundyn thare,
Hepys hey wpendand ware.
That quha that had thame that tyme sene
Wald noucht have trowid at thai had bene
Twa bataillis off sere natyownys,
As happynys betwene regyownys,
Bot off all kyn natyounes,
Pestilens, or ded felowne.

The ferd day quhen Leonyda
Swa wyth his fayis he [wes] set sa 750
He callyd till hym his wageoures,
His freyndis, and his sowdeoures,
Out off the pres off the bataylle
And sayd, "I gyve yowe for counsaile,
That yhe remove owt off the fycht
And drawis yowe till yhone hill on hicht,
Yowe to refresche and ta the ayre,
And at owre nede syne yhe repayre

Fra that yhe refreschyd be,
For bettyr yhit I thynk to se; 760

And I wyll wyttht my Spartaneys
Prowe sum othir juperdyis;

Suppos I happyn to be slayne,
And for to de in to the payne,

For it is myn honest det

F. 55. For my land my lyff to set,
And off my-self to be rekles,
Quhyll I have gottyn my land in pes;

Na I prys, na payne apere

Myn honowre and my land to were. 770

For-thi, to yhow my falowys hale

Now I gywe for playne consayle,

That in lang home yhe hovyr noucht,

Bot on youre wýrschye set yhoure thought,

And set yhoure lyff in juperdy,

For tyll supprys youre inymy;

Na biddis noucht the dayis lycht,

Na yhoure fays quhill thai be dycht;

Bot on the nycht gywe we can se

That the hape mycht owrys be, 780

Wytht-in thaire tentis quhar thai ly

Cum we on thame [than] suddanly,

For swa slepand best we may

Put tham in sa hard assay

That, but perell, ma sall de

Than sall be boune to fycht or fle,

And oure renowne may nevyre be

Commendyde off mare honesté

Than to be fundyn togyddyr all,

How sa ewyr the fortowne falle, 790

Amang oure fays wytht-in thare tentis,

Thaire pavilyhownys, or thare buschementis ;
 For honowr awis ws till assaille,
 And awenture may offt awaille
 And prowes pynys all perelle,
 And efftyr hope hape hapnys quille.
 Than swa sall gret oppynyownys
 Mak for ws excusatyownys,
 And we sall sawffyd be fra blame,
 And sall welle defend oure fame." 800

To this thai assentyd hale,
 And wrocht all eftyre his consaille,
 And gert thaire spyis tak gud kepe,
 Quhen that the Perseys fell on slepe
 Wytht-in thare tentis quhare thai lay.
 To this shortly for to say
 Leonyde wytht his company
 Come on the Perseys suddanly,
 Quhen thai ware sadly fallyn on slepe,
 And stekyd thame as thai ware schepe, 810

That sum wytht wowndys waknyd ware,
 And sum thare gaspand granyd sare,
 And sum thare stekyd stakarand stud,
 And sum lay bullyrrand in thaire blude,
 All thus in wodnes as thai waveryd
 And stekyd swa wyth stokis staveryd,
 The Perseyis ilkane stekyd othire,
 Sparand nothire fadyre na brodyre ;
 For thai war off sic multitude,

F. 55. b.

And swa thyk togyddyr stude, 820
 That nane mycht mys quhare he wald mynt,
 Tha nane to dede gave doubill dynt,
 And mony smoryd losyde the lyff,
 Wyth-outyn strak off swerde or knyff.

The Spartans wyth-outyn chas
 Thare fays all wencust in that plas,
 For fra the glomyng off the nyght
 Till on the morne, quhill day wes lyght,
 And ane howre wes eftyre none
 Gane fully, or the fyght was done. 830

Quhen that the Kyng off Pers was soucht
 And fundyn in the feld wes noucht.
 Sex hundyr thousand Perseys thare,
 In to that felde dede fundyn ware,
 Discumfyde in that juperdy
 Wytht sex hundyr anyrly
 Off Spartans, that in that tyde
 To batell come wyth Leonyde,
 That slayne in to that batell wes.
 Thus discumfyt wes Cerces, 840
 And as on nede than hym behuwyd,
 Till his schippis he hym remuwyde,
 And wytht his nawyne than thought he
 That all Grece suld dystroyd be.

In to that tyme Temystocles
 Off the Attenyens chyftane wes,
 The Yonys quhen he saw hale
 In tyll Cerces suppowalle,
 And had his flot in governyng,
 Syne, for thare caus, off Pers the kyng, 850
 Darius, the fadyre off this Cerces.
 Agayne Atenys mowid wes,
 Sa thai ware caus pryncipalle
 Off all this were, and this batale,
 For hale the Atteneyns
 Wytht [the] Yonys, in thare defens,
 Agayne Darius ras off were,

Quharefore he moȳd his powere
Agayne the Atteneys,
That mayd sa manly resistens, 860
Quhill in Maratone on a day
Slayne twa hundyr thousand lay.
Thare chyftane this Temystocles,
That saw how all this cummyn wes,
Set hale his slycht and his quentis
For to trete wytth thir Yonyis.
For hym worthy to forbere,
As oys is amang men off were,
Entyrcomunyng in[til a] bille,
He wrate his consale and his wille, 870
And said, " Me thynk yhe ar to blame,
F. 56. That negligent ar off yhoure fame,
Set yhe wyll wyth yhoure conscience,
Ay for yhoure statis ma defence.
Yhit it is gret crualte
Rekles off yhoure fame to be,
For honoure tholys confusyowne,
And revery rewys thare resowne,
And wyt wytth wyle thare yhe supprys
And honesté defowlyt lyis. 880
Off kyndnes tharefor set yhoure thought,
And thynk for yhowe quhat we haȳe wroucht
In Maratone, apon a day,
Quhar slayne twa hundyre thousand lay,
And how oure frendys off Spartany,
For yhoure caus hallyly,
In till oure suppowale ras,
And how thaire kyng Leonidas
Now in to this later fycht,
Sex hundyr thousand on a nycht 890

Till hym said, " I rede that yhe
 Set yhowe for yhoure sauftte,
 For here we thole now sa gret schame,
 That I dowt ware to fynd at hame, 960
 And or it swa suld hapyn thare,
 In till yhoure land I wald yhe ware,
 Levand all yhoure ost wyth me,
 And swa, how-evyr oure fortowne be,
 I sall, apon sik aŵyis,
 Hald off were oure inymyis,
 That we sall welle excus oure name,
 And yhe sall sauftte be fra defame."

To the counsalle off Mardone
 Cerces trowyd sone onone, 970
 And delyveryd hym his men,
 And made hym oure thame all cheften.
 Thare, that kyng that fyrst gert byg,
 Wytth schyppys, oure the flud a brige
 Wyth [fewe than] off his cumpany,
 Away than lurkyd preŵaly,
 In till a litill fysch scowte
 For pres that he wes in, and dowte,
 And wyntyr weddrys felle and grete
 Lowysd all his bryg off threte 980

F. 57.

Off neyde he held hym payid than,
 Quhare befor he gert the se
 For his schyppys loŵrand be,
 For fawte off rowme his mekyll mycht
 Kest down hillys hey on hycht,
 And wyth the ŵaleis evyn thai made
 To schawe his ost quhare that thai raide,
 To scant all rynnand ryverys were

For to be drynk till his powere. 990
 All kynd off thyng than falyhyde hym nere,
 As infortowne maid hym off stere,
 All his futmen and archerys,
 That lypnyd ware to thaire lederys,
 For dowte hungyr and trawaylle,
 Begowth fayntly for to faylle
 And bolne, quhyll at the last, the dede
 Consumyd thame wyth-owt remede.
 All the landys as thai lay
 Mycht na man nere thame pas the way, 1000
 Than for to bryst than wald thai thynke,
 The ayre sa fell was off the stynek;
 The fowlis wyld and bestis fell
 That couth off karyowne fele the smelle,
 That fey court ay folowyd nere,
 Quhill deand at thai fallyn were,
 And off thare fleysch wald fill thame thare,
 Or fullily all dede thai ware.
 Quhen Cerses thus to Mardone gave Off his ost all hale the lawe 1010
 That remanyd hale wnslayne,
 His [emys] sone mad hym sa fayne
 That he hym put in pres sa fast,
 Quhill he defowlyde wes at the last.
 The Grekis mony discumfyte,
 And wan the castell off Olmyte,
 And the Attenyens besyly
 He trefyde wyth his industry,
 And led thame in to hope off pes,
 Quhill that he sawe thare fredowme wes 1020
 Off sic mycht, and sic powere,
 That wonnyn thai mycht be noucht off were.

Off thare cyté than in ire
A gret part he brynt in fyre.

In Boecy wytth his powere
He past syne, as man off were,
Off Grekis ane hundyre thousand hale
All welle arayid for batelle,
Folowyd forsly this Mardone
And gaŵe hym batale swne onone
And wytth hym faucht in fycht sa fast
Qubill thai hym wencust at the last,
And all his ost thare nere was slayne;
Wnese hym-selff wyth mekyll payne,
Etchapyde owt off that mellé

1030

F. 57. b.

All nakyd, wytth a few menyhe,
In swate all drawkyd, as thai were Ane awlde schypbrokyn marynere.
Hys pavilyhowyns and his tentys wes
Stuffyd welle wytth gret ryches
Off the kyngis tresowre hale,
And othir that [dede] wes in the bataylle
Left gold and jowelys in copy,
And als wyth othir industry.
The kyng Cerses tresoure wan
Fra that fyrst the were began
Tyll that day that he fled, for-dowte,
In till a litill fyschare scowte.
All this Mardone had that day,
That fra the fycht [he] fled away.
This tresoure all the Grekis gat
And delt it amang thame eftyre that;
Swa through the partyng off that pray,
And the tresoure delt that day,
The gold off Pers in sic copy

1040

1050

Wes the confusiowne halily
Off all Grece, that before that day
Governyd thame wytth wertu ay.
And that day Mardonyus
In Boecy wes wencust thus,
A gret part off the ost of Pers,
In Asy, as I herd rehers,
Wes discumfyt wpon [the] Se,
And put till hard perplexyté.

1060

Here-efter quhen the kyng Cerses
In till his awyn land cummyn wes,
Sa ille commendyt thare was he,
And lakyde all wytth his menyhe,
That schortly thare, the suth to say,
In tyll hys halle, apon a day,
The burdys wndyr clathis sete,
And wyschyn he had to ga to mete,
Hys stwart maid on hym a schote,
And tyte hym dowrly be the throte,
And wyth a knyff, wp to the hefft,
He steykdyd hym quhyll the lyff he lefft.
This wes the endyng off Cerses,
In all tyme that wnhappy wes.
As Oros quhille, the clerk sa fyne,
Wrat till his mastyre Saynt Awstyn,
Wndyre thire kyngis thre off Pers,
The quhilkis yhe herd me last rehers,
Reknyd wes off dede bodyis
A hundyre thousand nynty syis,
All off Perseis slayne downe,
And off nane othire natyowne.

1070

1080

Quhen Cerses wes endyt thus
His swne succedyt, Daryus,

*Of Brynnynys now schall yhe here
Rede in to this Chapitere.*

FOURE hundyr thretty yhere and sewyn
Or Mary bare the Kyng off Hewyn,
The Vegentys all war wonnyn qwyte,
And throucht the Romainys discumfyte.
Than Brynnynus wytht the men of Sauns,

That is a lordschipe gret in Frauns, 1160
All Rome off were nere wonnyn had,
Na had bene, that a gannyr made
Sa hwge crakyng and sic cry,
That the Romanys suddanly
Waknyd, quhare thai slepand lay :
All the cyté than fand thai
Wytht thare fays nere wptane,
To sauffe the Capitole allane.
And that yhet Brennyus wonnyn had,
Had noucht that gus sic crakyng mad, 1170
That waknyd the wachis suddanly,
And warnyd the Romanys hastily.

This Brennyus and Belyne
Bredyre ware, and knychtis syne :
Off thame quha will the certane haŵe,
How that thai for Bretane straŵe
Ilkane wytht othir, and for it faucht ;
And how thaire modyre made thaim saucht ;
How thai wan Frauns, and Lumbardy,
Tuskane, and Rome nere halily ; 1180
How Brennyus syne left in Tuskane,
And Belyne come hame in Bretane ;
Thai rede the Brwte, and thai sall se
Ferlys gret off thare bownté.
Saynt Awstylene sayis the Romanys ware
To geys dettyd in honowre mare
Than to thare goddis all, that slepyd,
Quhen geys thame wytht thare crakyng kepyd.

CHAP. X.

Off a Pestilens that fell,
And how in Rome men mycht se helle.

F. 59.

THRE hundyr yhere foure score and sevyn
Before that borne wes the Kyng off Hewyn, 1190
In to the stede off Consules
In Rome Tribuny chosyn wes.
The Romanys than wan a cyté
That callyd wes, that tyme, Penestré,
And aucht cyteis than off were
To Rome wes maid tributere.

Grete pestilens in to tha dayis
In Rome fell, as Frere Martyne sayis:
Wyttht-in the myddis off the towne
All the erd than opnyd down, 1200
Sa wgsun thare that opynnyng fell
That, throuch a ryfft, men mycht sé hell,
And off the stynk come off that stede
Mony wyttht-in the towne wes dede.
Wyttht-in the cyté wes a man
That callyd be name wes Martyne than,
He till his goddis mad prayere
To gyff hym wyt, on quhat manere
And how, that exalatyowne,
That made sa gret infectiowne, 1210
Mast hastily mycht closyd be,
And how to succoure that cyté
Mast redy helpe war, or defens,
For that fellowne pestilens.

Hys goddys hym ansuerd, at the last,
 And bad hym gang, and arme hym fast,
 And at that ryfft lepe evyn down,
 Gyff that he thought to sauff the towne.

At that answere he yhed swne,
 And hastyly as thai bad has dwne, 1220
 And fra he downe fell in that gape,
 All that ryfft togyddyre crape;
 And sa was sauffyde the cyté
 Fra stynek than, and mortalité.

Brennyus yhit all tyme then
 Warrayid, wytht the Frankyis men,
 The Romanys in to thai dayis,
 And, as Frer Martyne tharoff sayis,
 A Romane sawe a Frankys man
 Abowt his hals thare haue than, 1230

Off gold thrawyn, all lyk a les;
 This Romane made than sic purches,
 That [al]anyrly bot thai twa
 Togyddyr suld in batalle ga,

And on na wys than suld thai twyn
 Quhill ane mycht the tothir wyn,

Slayne or yhowdyn in batale,

Wytht-owt ony [othir] suppowale

Off ony othir; as it fell than,

This Roman slewe the Frankis man, 1240

And fra his nek in tyll that place

Tyt away that goldyn las,

And pwt it abowt hys awyn hals;

Fra thine he, and his lynage als,

In to Latyne callid were

CHAP. XI.

Quhen Alysandyr, the mychty kyng,
 Begouth to rys and mak sterphng.

THRE hundyr and sex and twenty yhere
 Before the byrth off oure Lord dere,
 Alysandyr Phylippy,
 That gotyn was on Olympy, 1250
 Be herytabill successiowne,
 Begouth [to] regne in Macydowne,
 And wes bot yheris twelf off eelde
 Quhen [he] begouth wapnys to weelde,
 And regnand lyvyd bot twelff yhere
 Quhen all the Oryent he wan nere,
 And hale syne set his intent
 Tyll have wonnyn the Occydent;
 Bot thareoff falyhyd he, off cas,
 In Babylone he poysownyd was. 1260
 Off his douchty dedys sere
 Contenyd in othir bukis eere;
 Tharfore in this Tretis I
 Now wyll our-ga thame mar lychtly.

The Romanys than grewe off mycht,
 And wes in dedys stout and wycht;
 The Sampnytys than, that in mydway
 Betwene Poyle and Chawmpayne lay,
 And in to swylk abowndans wes
 Off sylvyr, gold, and [of] ryches, 1270
 That all the armowris that thai had Wes off gold and sylvyr made;
 Thir Sampnytys than ras all hale

Agayne [the] Romanys in batale,
Bot the Sampnytys, sone and tyte,
Wes wyth the Romanys discumfyte,
And eftyre syne, with thare powere,
The Romanys discumfyt were;
Bot the Romanys, at the last,
Wytht the Sampnytys faucht sa fast, 1280
That foure and twenty thousand lay
Slayne in the feyld apone a day,
Off the Sampnytys, and thare kyng
Was takyn thaire in that fechtynge.
Thare chymys and thare cheffe towne
Than to the grownd wes castyn downe,
Thare was na fa in feyld sa felle
Agayne Rome than, na sa cruelle,
As wes the Sampnytys in tha dayis,
As Oros and Frere Martyne sayis; 1290
And the caus wes pryncipall
Of that were, and off that batalle,
That for [of] Chawmpayne all the land
[Was] in profytis all hawbondand,
And esyly set to the se
Wytht hawynnys gud in gret plente;
Swa that alkyn marchandyis
Come in it apone syndry wyis.
F. 60. Thare cheffe cyté, off gret fame,
Capuva wes callyd be name, 1300
That to Cartage or to Rome wes
Paryfyid in all liklynes.
Thir landys the Romanys thought
Tyll thare oys suld haue bene broucht;
Tharefore fyrst ras all this were
And endyt as yhe herd langere.

How the Tarentinis hale Agayne the Romanys mocht battalle.

THRE hundyre yhere and thrys thre
 Befor the [blissit] Natyvyte,
 The Tarentynys wytht thare powere,
 Agayne the Romanys ras off were : 1310
 Thaire messyngere dyssatwysly
 Thai defoulyde wnhonestly,
 And warnyst thame ryght welle wyth-oute
 Wytht all thare marcharys thame abowte,
 And send for Pyrrus oure the Se,
 For kyng off Grece that tyme wes he.
 He broucht wytht hym off fwt men
 Foure schore off thousand reknyd then,
 And sewyn thousand men on hors,
 Fayre off fassowne and off cors, 1320
 And elephantys full twenty,
 Quhare nevyr nane in Ytaly
 Wes kend, na sene, before that day.
 In batale sone, the suth to say,
 Thai mellayid and faucht ryght fast,
 The Tarentynis wes at the last
 Hale discumfyte in that stede,
 Wytht all thare ost ; than Pyrrus fiede
 Wytht mekyll schame attoure the se,
 In till his land wyth his menyhe. 1330
 Than the Tarentynis hale
 Soucht at Cartage suppowalle,

That wes the cheffe off all Affryke,
 A fayre cyté nane till it lyk,
 And wes before Rome, but were,
 Byggyd twa hundyr and sevynty yhere.
 Swa thocht thai to defend wyth mycht,
 Fra thame off Rome wyth all thare slycht,

 And nyne to rekyn fullyly,
 Hanyball the eldare yhude,
 Wytht a welle gret multitud
 Off welle arayid and armyd men,
 F. 60. b. And elephantis tauld thrys tene ;
 Wytht thai be schype he tuk the Se,
 In Cyzily swa arrywyde he.
 The Romanys sone gaddryd ware,
 And wytht hym faucht in batale thare, 1350
 And handlyd hym in fecht sa fast
 That thai hym wencust at the last.
 Hys elephantis thare thrys ten
 Thai tuk, and slewe nere all [the] men,
 And his naŵyne nere tuk thai
 That scantly wan hym-self away.
 Ane than off the consules,
 Attilius that called wes,

Tuk wyttht hym a gret multitude
 Off men, arayid in armys gude, 1360
 And passyd wyttht that ost the Se;
 In Cartage sone arywyde he,
 And foure and sevynty cyteis sere,
 And all that in thame duelland were,
 Throuch all Affryk, as he rade,
 All subjecte thame to Rome he made.
 And throuch the land as he rad swa
 Toward the wattyр off Bagrada,
 Off sex score off fute he fand
 Ane eddyр, lach on erd crepand, 1370
 That mony off hys men to dede
 Had slayne, and swellyde in that stede.
 Wyttht that eddyр sa he wroucht,
 That to dede [he] sone hyр broucht,
 And the skyn gert fra hyр tyte,
 And to Rome syne he send it.

Thai off Cartage in this quhille
 Have tretыde walde wyttht this Attyle;
 That he refoysyd wtrelы 1380
 For caus that he thought halyly
 For till haуe wonnyn thame wyth were,
 Set all thare willys had bene contrere.
 Than thai off Cartage, wyttht counsalle,
 The Affrycanys tuk to thame hale,
 And faucht wyttht Attyle and his ost,
 And wencust hym for all his bost.
 Thare wyttht thame off Affryk qwyte
 The Romanys wes discumfyt,
 And Attyle Regule thare chyftane
 Wes yholdyn and as presownere tane, 1390
 And to Cartage, in presowne

F. 61.

Wes send, but lypnyng off rawnsoune.

In Rome than Emilyus,
 And his falow Fulvius,
 Than off that towne twa consules,
 Fra thai hard how this hapnyd wes,
 Thre hundyr schyppys thai gert be Stuffyde and layd to the se,
 In Affryk tyll arywe onane,
 For to reveng that thai had tane. 1400
 The Affrykany sone in hy
 Recowntryd thame dispytwysly
 Wytht schyppys thre hundyr ; thare agayne,
 On the Se than wes the Romanys slayne,
 And thaire nawyne takyn qwyte,
 And all thare hale ost discumfyte.

CHAP. XIV.

*This Chapter [tellis] that a fude,
 Here the Cyté omrghude.*

TWA hundyr and foure score off yhere
 Befor the byrth off oure Lord dere,
 A fell subversyowne and suddayne
 Had hale the Cyté nere ouretane ; 1410
 For off Tybere the rywere,
 Sa retht off spate wyth watrys sere
 Ras, that all wytht-in the towne
 The gret byggynys it kest downe
 Sa qwytly than, that men wald wene
 That nevyr byggyne thare had bene.
 The Frankis men in to that tyde

Made thame off newe thare-for to ryde
 Agayne the Romanys, bot thai
 Recowntryd thame in gud aray, 1430
 Sa that the Frankis men qwyte
 Wes wytht Romanys discumfyte.

CHAP. XV.

When Hanybal the Romanys qwyte fyrst in batale discomfite.

TWA hundyr wyntyr and nynteyne
 Or lychtare wes the Madyne cleyne,
 Hanyball wyth his empyre,
 Off Affryk than bath lord and syre,
 Passyd in to Spayne, and thare a towne,
 Famows and off gret renowne,
 Sagount be name, assegyd he,
 And stratly gert it kepyt be 1430
 Fra all profyte and wytale
 Quhill thai wytht-in begouth to fayle,
 Throuch defawte and hungyr sare,
 Sa [that] on nede thai yholdyn ware,
 And delyvyrid wes the towne
 And he till erd gert cast it downe,
 For caus in all tyme that it
 To Rome wes in to frendschepe knyht.
 The Romanys off thare intent
 Tyll Hanyball gert message sent, 1440
 Bot on na-kyn wys wald he
 Thaire messyngerys wytht eyne se,
 Nor off thaire tythyngys walde he here,

F. 61. b.

Na spere quhar-wyth thai chargyde were.
In Rome that tyme Publius,
Scyppon, and Symphronius,
Chosyn ware thre Consules,
And governand thare office wes
Quhen Hanyball wytht his powere
Come wyth his ost, as man off were, 1450
Out oure the hillys off Pyrreny,
The nerrast way in Ytaly.

Wyth gret traawaylle as he past,
In Ytaly, yhit at the last,
He come in wyth gret were and payne,
And wyth his ost thaire tuk the playne,
That wes fully reknyd then
Ane hundyr thousand off fut-men,
And twenty thousand men on hors,
Fayr off fassown and off cors. 1460

Scypio, that tyme wes
Ane chosyne off the Consules,
In to that playne faucht wyth him thare,
And woundyd Hanyball rycht sare;
But to record yhow schortly,
The Romanys ware halily,
Wyth the Affricanys qwyte
In that batayle discumfyte :
Thare-eftyr quhen Symphronius
Had herd that it had hapnyd thus, 1470
Till his falowe Scypion
Wytht his ost he come onone,
Off Sythy wyth his falowis all,
And faucht rycht fast wyth Hanyball,
The Romanys yhit, nevyrtheles,
In that batayle discumfyte wes,

Swa that Symphron wes rycht fayne
 That he wan fra fecht wnslayne
 Hym allane, wyth-outyn ma,
 As he than saw the fortoune ga, 1480
 Quhen all [this] wyctory wes done,
 This Hanyball wyth his ost sone
 In Tuskayne passyd wyth gret fayre,
 Wytht-in the fyrst moneth off wayre,
 And furth wyth his batyll syne
 Toward the hyllys off Appennynne,
 Quhar that sa thyk the snawe felle,
 Wytht haylstanys bath scharpe and snelle,
 That all his elyphantis thare,
 And hors and catalle, peryst ware. 1490
 F. 62. This Hanyball yhit, nevyrtheles,
 Wyst welle that Schir Flamyne wes,
 Quhen all the Romanys ware ourtane,
 Left in the tentis hym allane,
 Hastyly he turnys agayne
 Hym till have [wyncust] and have slayne ;
 Bot Flamyne wytht his cumpany
 Recountryd hym rycht stoutly,
 Bot yhit, throwch frawde off Hanyballe,
 He and his ost wes wencust all, 1500
 Sa that off the Romanys hale
 Dede and slayne in that batale
 Wes fyve and twenty thousand thare,
 And sex thowsand takyne ware.

CHAP. XVI.

Now thre bollis off ryngis were
Till Cartage send, now schall phe here.

TWA hundyr yhere ellewyn and ane
Or God off Mary flesch had tane,
In Rome Lucy Mylyus,
Paule, and alsua Publius
Tarentyne, and Warro wes
In to the towne maid Consules, 1510
And till a cyté callid Canos
Wyth-in the Poyle, on set purpos
The Romanys send thame to fecht
Wyth Hanyball and his gret mecht;
Off Romanys in [to] batale thare
Foure and fourty thousand ware
Reknyd and slayne wpon that grene;
Before that day wes nevyr sene
That thai off Rome, wyth sic dispyte,
Wes sa haly discumfyte; 1520
For thare wes Emylius,
And his falowe callid Paulus,
That for the grettest that tyme wes
Chosyn to be Consules,
And off the Pretore twenty men,
And grettest off the cownsale then,
And off the senatowrys thretty thare,
Slayne in that fecht or takyn ware.
Off gentyll knychtis than off fute,
That owsyd nothyr spure na bute, 1530

Thre hundyr deyð in that batale,
 And fowrti thousand othir hale
 Off knychtis armyd wpon hors,
 Fayre off fassowne and [of] cors,
 Slayne in to that journe wes.

Than ane off the Consules,
 That be name was Warro callyd,
 As in his buk Frer Martyne tallid,
 All prewaly owte off the rowte
 Wyttht fyfty men on hors, for dowte

F. 62. b.

Off hys lyff, to Wēnys flede
 For to be tane or slayne thai drede.
 To [the] Romanys but [ony] wene
 This the lattast day had bene,
 Gyve Hanyball in tyll all hy,
 Quhen done was all the wictory,
 Had past strawcht wyttht his menyhe,
 For tyll have tane wp the cyté.

In takyn off that wictory,
 Quhen endyt wes this juperdy,
 Off gold rengys, fayre and brycht,
 Tane off thare fyngrys slayne in that fycht,
 Thre moys that was thre bollys mete,
 This Hanyball wyttht-owtyn lete
 To Cartage gert in hy be send,
 Quhen that this jornay had tane end.

1550

Than were the Romanys sa wa,
 And for this cas disparityd swa,
 That thai maid thame haly bowne
 For tyll have fled and left the towne,
 Na hade bene Scypio Affrycane,
 That off the knychtis wes chyftane,
 Wyth drawyn swerd than held thame in,

1560

And thought awantage yhit to wyne.
Off cownsaile than, wyth-outyn bade,
Off [the] threllys that thai hade,
Bowcht before off comowne prys,
Wyth-in the towne to mak serwys,
He made knychtis in that nede,
And thaim arayid in honest wede, 1570
And armwrys, that halowyd ware
To goddys in thaire tempyllis thare,
Thai tuk in that necessyte,
And in thai gert thame armyd be
All thai threllys evryilkane,
For that ensawmpyll had thai tane
Be counsaile off ane [Run]yus,
That tauld thame how that Romulus
Off murtheraris he kynchtis made,
And thewys that he in presowne hade, 1580
And mysdoarys mony ma,
All wnpunysyd he lete ga
In fredome, quhill that he had hale
Sex thousand wycht men to batale.
The Romanys be this counsall sone
The lyk manyr has all done,
Sa Rome before disparyd than Respyre in to gud hope began.
Bot yhit, as Orosius
In tyll his cornyklis tellis ws, 1590
Quha that in Rome befor had bene,
And had off it the wurschype sene,
He wald have bene all rede for schame,
Fra he had sene thare reale fame
Chawngyd, [and] thare reawte,
Than turnyd in deformyte,

For nane thare governale than had
 To sauff barnys off yhowthad,
 Threllys, both bownd or carle,
 F. 63. That oysyd before to bere and harle ; 1600
 And suppos thai thai war soucht,
 And all in tyll hale nowmyr broucht,
 Yhit war thai noucht to sight plesand,
 Na in tyll all poynt sufficiand ;
 For that tyme all thaire senatowrys
 That chosyn wes to thare succowrys
 Behuwyd to be in thare serwys
 Informyd and kend, as yhong nowys.

 Layand stanys here and thare,
 Quhare that thai thought mast lykly ware

Thame to defend in tyme off were,
 Eftyr as thai saw thare mystere.
 And Hanyball wyth his ost syne
 Come to the yhet wes callyd Collyue ;
 Thare the consule Fulvyus
 Saw that he wes cummyn thus,
 Gaddryd all the Romanys hale
 For tyll have gyvyn thare batale ; 1630
 And as thai suld have sammyn bene
 Togyddyre runnyn on the grene,
 Sa gret tempest and halestayne wycht
 Fell wyth sik fors and [wyth] sic pyth,
 That bathe the ostis anoyid wes sare,
 Or thai wyttht-in thare tentis ware.
 Thus fyrst quhen that that tempest left,
 For tyll have met thai trystyd eft,
 The neyst tyme that thai mycht se
 A day set in serenyte, 1640
 On the tyme that thai that sete,
 Bathe hayle and tempest were thame wete,
 That wyttht mare dowt etchapyde thai
 Than, na thai dide the fyrst day.
 Hanyball be that welle thocht
 That he be man wes lettyd noucht
 To wast and wndo the cyté,
 Bot throucht Goddys gret powsté,
 Fra Rome than he remowyed hale
 Hys ost, but fandyng off batale. 1650
 Scypio that tyme Affrikane
 Hade sevyne and twenty [wyntyre] gane
 Off his eyld, and than he
 Was prysit a man off gret powsté ;
 He passyde in to Spayne off were

And Cartage newe wyth his powere
 He wan, and gat thaire gret tresowre
 Gaddryde lang tyme thare befoüre,
 Sylvyr [and] golde, and thare-off he Payid till his knyghtys large fe, 1660
 And thaire he tuk Magon wyttht-all,
 That brothire wes till Hanyball,
 And to the Romanys hym send he
 In presowne for till haldyn be.
 Quhen Scypio wpon this wyis
 Had done in Spayne thir wictoryis,
 In till Affryk syne he past
 And fell in fechtynge thare sa fast
 Wyttht the duk off Affryk thare,
 That, off his adversaris, ware 1670
 Fourty thowsand slayne and dede,
 And he, wastand fra sted to sted,
 All throucht the land in ryot rad
 And in tyll it his maystry made,
 Na nane fra hym mycht thame defende.
 Than thai off Cartage sowne gert send Till Hanyball, and bad hym spede
 Hym hame, and help thame in thare nede.
 On gretynge than fell Hanyball
 For Ytaly that he left all, 1680
 And all the knyghtys that thare was Off Ytaly, and wald noucht pas
 Wyth hym in Affryk, but remede,
 He slwe and gert be put to dede.
 Syne to Cartage he come onone,
 And thare, quhen he sawe Scypyon,
 Off pes to trete wes all his thought,
 Bot it fell thai accordyd noucht,

And sa behuwyd thame on nede
 Thane to fecht and batalle spede, 1690
 And eftyre lang fechtyng thare,
 Thai off Cartage wencust ware,
 And Hanyball, bot wyth foure men
 On hors, but ma, wes chapyd then,
 And fra the batale gat away
 Hys lyff [sa] sawffyd he that day.
 Thus Scypyon had the vycory,
 And wytht his ost syne halyly,
 Wan off Cartage the cyté,
 And made in it his entré. 1700

CHAPTER XX.

*How Cartage, off consale,
 Was ordanpt to be wndone all hale.*

ANE hundyr and fyfty yhere beforne
 Or God wes off our Lady borne,
 Off Rome gaddryd the senage
 And ordanyd till wndo all Cartage.
 Seypyo than Affrycane
 Lord off the Romanys and chyftane 1830
 Gert in hy befor hym call
 The cytyzanys off Cartage all,
 And gaŵe thame stratly mawndement,
 But ony kyn impedymment,
 Hastyly for till hym bryng
 Thare wapnys all, and thare armynge,
 And all thaire naŵyn syne bad he Suld tyll hym delyveryde be,
 And efftyr that he bad thame mare,
 Fra the se that thai suld fare 1840
 Ten thowsand pasys syne, but lete ;
 In sorowe sare than war thai sete,
 Sum nevyrtheles yhyt passyd sone,
 And in all as he bad has done,
 Sum chesyd errare thare pyth to proŵe,
 Or thai wald fra the se remoŵe,
 And sum chesid errare to de
 Than thai walde fra thare fredume flé.
 Chyfftanys than thai chesyd twa,
 And gert off gold and silvyr ma 1850

The armwrys, and the wapnys all,
 That to thare nede wes lyk to fall,
 On this wyis thai relevyd welle
 All thare defawte off yrne and stelle.
 Scypio than in his ire
 Gert set the towne than in [a] fyre,
 And in it thare the fyre brynnand
 Seŵyntene dayis wes ay lestand.
 This wes the fyrst destructyounge
 Off Cartage, that nobill towne,
 Quhen sevyn hundyr yhere and ane
 Fra it wes foundyt qwyt wes gane.

1860

The thryd batale Punyk here
 Tays end, and lestis bot foure yhere ;
 The secund batalle bath and it.
 Held twenty yhere, as sayis the wryt,
 Thretty thousand off men thare
 And fyve and twenty thousand ware
 Off women, reknyd off Cartage,
 That come and yhald thame in thrillage,
 Servandys for tyll be alway
 To the Romanys fra that day ;

CHAP. XXI.

How the Romany than Corynt and Achage wan.

ANE hundyr and sex and fourty yhere
 Before that Mary, madyn clere,
 God had borne off hyr body,
 Cartage delete wes halyly,
 And off Coryntus than the towne
 Famows and off gret renowne
 In to Grece, the Romanys than Assegdyd wytht thare ost, and wan.
 Wytht-in the towne sic multitude
 Off symulacrys on pillaris stude, 1890
 Massy, grete, welle polyst syne,
 Made off gold and sylvyr fyne;
 Eftyre that all that towne in fyre
 Wes brynt and fallyn in colys schyre,
 All the metall moltynnyd than
 In tyll a qwerne togydder ran;
 That metalle, mad sa pure and fyne,
 Off Corynt had the tytill syne,
 And all the weschall off it made
 The name thare-efft off Corynt hade. 1900

In to this tym I spak beforne,
 In to Rome a barne wes borne
 That had foure handys and foure fete,
 Foure eyne and foure eyrys yhete,
 And before had pyncillis twa.

The fyre that tyme off Ethna,

That is ane hyll wythin Cyzille,
 Brwstyd owt in to that quhille,
 Sa that it brynt all suddanly
 Sere landys that lay nere [thar] by. 1910

Alsua that tyme in Cyzille
 Thare ras a suddane were serville,
 That breyde the Romanys als wellle
 As thame off Cyzille ilka delle.
 Bot off thai schortly for to say
 Twenty thousand on a day
 Discumfyte wes, and slayne all downe,
 And thare pompe browcht till confusioun.
 Ay serwandys quhen that yhe se rys,
 In yre thare lord[is] for till supprys, 1920
 Quhat the oys is seldynyare,
 It hapnys all the cruellare.

For-thi till Alexandyr the kyng,
 Arystotyll, in his techyng,
 F. 66. Sayd, "Gyff thow thynkys for to be Kyng to regne in reawte,
 Be wyt off lordys thow suld lywe,
 And thé fra lustys to wertu gywe,
 Twyn-tungyd serwandys on all wys,
 And wykyd fals thow sall disprys, 1930
 And thai that off kynd suld be
 Threll serwandys in tyll powerte,
 Thow sall relew thame to na hycht,
 Na put thame to na stat off mycht,
 For dowl that thai, apon sic wys
 As ryweris reche for rayne wyll rys,
 And wavyre mare wytht wawys wude,
 Than wyll a kyndly standand flude,
 Ryse agayne thare lord off were,

Hym to supprys wyth thaire powere ; 1940
 Fra thai be growyn in welth and welle,
 And till wnkyndly slepand seile,
 Till maistry or till mykyll mycht,
 Till honour and till wnhawand hycht,
 Fra reuth thai sall thare erys dyt,
 And na thyng will off mercy wyt,
 Bot sall wyth-draw thame fra peté,
 Mare deffe than ony awsk yhe se.
 The reule off resowne, nevyrtheles,
 Sall ye noucht lede in that straytnes, 1950
 Thou sall hym wytht gud relewe,
 And in till state off honure prewe
 That belyste is in [to] bownté.
 And avynand is off honesté.
 Off fayre affere and thewys gud,
 Wertuws, and myld off mwde ;
 Set that he want faculté,
 Or kyn, and gud in till plente.
 For the soyth, gywe yhe will say,
 Welth and ryches wownt wes ay 1960
 In wantones mare will to drawe
 Than havying fayr in mesure hawe.
 And certys quha that habowndis
 But ryches, in till gud thewys,
 Lawte, wyte, and fayr hawying,
 He may noucht fale off owtward thyng.
 For thai he may well set before
 Sylvyr, gold, and all tresore,
 And he may symply wyth that prys
 Redeme, but mare, his landis wys, 1970
 And fayre lordschip tyl hym wyn,
 And grow in gentill kyth and kyn.

I meyne noucht his necessitye
 That alway lywys in honeste,
 Owtward haʍand sufficians,
 And inward ʍertuws habowndans ;
 He may be callyd a gentill-man
 That ʍertu and fayr haʍyng can
 Off fre men ay the multitude
 Sall set thame for till eyk the gude, 1980
 F. 66. b. Wyth honowre land and lordschype wyn
 And helpe thare-self, thaire kyth, thare kyn ;
 Bot the threllys serʍandys ay
 Sall honesté at wndyr lay
 And, but mercy, sall supprys
 Quhen wantones mays thame to rys.”
 The land off Cyzille in the Se
 Wes that tyme off sic caytyfte,
 Till nane honowre aʍenand,
 Na till na statis sufficyand, 1990
 Till tyrandys quhilum wndyrloute,
 And quhill wytht serʍandis in gret dowte,
 And, wndyre gret exactyown,
 Haldyn in till supprysiowne.

CHAP. XXII.

Quhen thai off Rome gert biggid be Agayne off Cartage the crite.

ANE hundyre and twenty yhere before
 And ane to rekyn or God wes bore,
 The Romanys in to that quhille
 To Cartage send off thare famyle,

For till big wp agayne the towne,
 And mak thare habitatyowne 2000
 Thare, and hald it fra that day
 Trybutare till Rome alway,
 That twenty yhere and twa wes eft
 That it wes brynt in colys left.

The hill off Ethna than off fyre
 Brak out, and brynt in colys schyre,
 [And] all the howsis off Catenes,
 That in till Cyzille lyand wes ;
 And for that caus thai freyde were
 Fra the trewage off ten yhere, 2010
 Sa that thai mycht relewyd be,
 And byg agayne thare brynt cyté.

CHAP. XXIII.

*How many Romanis slayne wes,
 And women rageand in wodnes.*

ANE hundyr wyntyr and ellewyn,
 Or Mary bare the Kyng off Hewyn,
 The Romanys wyth thare Consules
 In were and batayle movyd wes
 Agayne syndry regyownys,
 Bath Duche and Frankys natyownys,
 That set halyly thare intent,
 Bwndyn apon ane assent, 2020
 The Romanys till haŵe wndone ;
 And thare apon thai semlyd sone
 In fecht, quhar off the cytezany,
 Besid othire owte Romanys,

Foure score of thousanddis wes slayne downe,
Besyd tha wytth-owte the towne,
Fourty thousand reknyd hale
Off Romanys slayne wytthin batalle.
Sex score off thousand in that fycht
Slayne to the dede wes dycht. 2030
That batell was off sic felny,
F. 67. That bot ten men anerly
Off the Romanys fra that place
Etchapyd, for to tell the cas.
Than thai off Rome gret murnyng made,
And howrand in gret dowte abade,
Dredand sare that that menyhe
Suld wyn and tak wp thare cyté.
The Duche-men and thai [of] Cymbry
Togyddyr knyht in cumpany 2040
In Ytaly, as thai abade,
Thare sudjowrnynge for till have made,
Thame to refresche in wyntyr tyde,
And frostys fell for till ourbyde.
The Romanys wyth thare consules,
Or thai to fecht arayid wes,
Brak apon thame suddanly.
And slwe [thaim] downe dispytwysly,
Bot thai off Rome, in that dispyte,
Yhit wes nought off all scathys qwyte, 2050
For off thaim mony slayne wes thare :
Thare inmyis yhit reknyd ware
Ane hundyr and sex[ty] thousand dede,
And presownerys tane in to that stede
Wes reknyd sevynty thousand gude,
Wytth-owte a gret multytude
Off wemen, rageand in wodenes,

And fallyn, for dule, in heŵynes ;
 Quhill thai put thaim-self to dede,
 And slwe thare barnys, but remede.

2060

In memor off that victory
 The Romanys gert byg in hy
 A tempill fayr, and that gert thai
 Be Cymbry callid eftyr ay,
 That syne wes haldyn in honore
 Nere Saynct Mary the Majore.

CHAP. XXIV.

The next folowande Chapterre Tellis off fell takynis sere.

FOUR schore off wyntyre and sevyntene
 Or lychtare wes the Madyne clene,
 The state off Rome begouth to be Stade in gret perplexyté,
 Among thame-self dewysyd swa,
 That thai ware lyk gret skath to ta,
 Na ware the hape it sessyd sone,
 Fra that thai to the dede wes done,
 Throuch consalle off the Consules,
 That the fyrst matyr off it wes ;
 Than throwcht fellowne taknys sere
 The Romanys all [a]breyd were.

2070

At Careptyne, as thai ware set,
 Apon a day all at the mete,
 Apon the burde owte off thare breyde,
 Thare brystyd owt the blud all rede ;
 Nere by [in] ane othire plas

2080

- F. 67. b. The erde clave and oppynnyd was,
 And a low out off that ryfft
 Strak wp evyn nere to the lyfft,
 And alkyne best hamly thare
 That amang men lywand ware,
 Left thare stablys and thare fude,
 And yhelland ran, as thai ware wude, 2090
 Tyll woddys and till wyldyrnes,
 Lewand thare auld hamlynys;
 And hundys, that ay kyndly
 Requirys mennys cumpany,
 Ran wud as wolwys to the wode,
 Gowland in gret multytude.
 Fra thir taknys was all done
 Othir casis hapnyd sone,
 For Julyus Cesare, in Sampnyte,
 Wes wytht his hale ost discumfyte, 2100
 That all his men bot he [al]ane
 In to that land wes slayne or tane;
 Pompeyus wencust wes alsua,
 And in till othir landis ma
 All the Romanys wes qwyte
 In tyll thaire werys discumfyte.
 Tharefor the senage a clethyng
 Made thame, in takyn off murnyng;
 And Julyus Cesare in that wede
 Wes wytht thame clede, bot syne, but drede, 2110
 Eftyre syndry juperdyis,
 Quhare wencust wes his inymyis,
 That garment he put fra hym sone,
 And othire [weid] has on hym done.
 Pompeyus alsua, that Pretore
 Discumfyte in tyll fecht before,

Wan and had great victoryis
 In batayle, and in juperdyis :
 Ascalon wytth his powere
 He assegyde and wan off were ; 2120
 Auchtene thousand men wes tane,
 Slayne, and dede, wyth thare cheffane.
 The Were Civile was than sa fele,
 Sa owtrageows, and sa cruel,
 Sa wyolent, and than sa kene,
 That sic befor wes nevyre sene ;
 For off the Romanys sere
 Fechtand agane Silla were,
 And off thame mony faucht alsua
 Agaynis othir wytth Silla. 2130
 Silla thane a Romane wes,
 Ane chosyne off the Consules.
 The Romanys in to tha dayis
 Be thousandys, as Frer Martyn sayis,
 Innowmerabill wytth-in that fycht,
 Wytth dyntys downe to ded wes dycht.
 Quhill thai in were wes wedand thus,
 A Roman than callyd Cantulus,
 Till Silla sayde apon this wyis,
 " In this were, and this juperdyis, 2140
 We sla thaim all anarmyd downe,
 That yhit relewe wald oure renowne,
 And nakyd we slay thame in pes,
 F. 68. That walde ws helpe to wyn prowes."
 Than Silla made for that resowne
 A tabyll off prescryptyowne,
 Sa that fyrst proscrywyd ware
 Foure score off thousand men, and mare,
 And fywe hundyr efftyr thai

Proscrywyd ware throucht this Silla. 2150
 The Romanys swa was fra thare stede
 Nere exylyde or slayne to dede.
 This Were Civile ten yhere owte
 Contynwyde wes wytth-owtyn dowte ;
 And off the Romanys slayne ware
 Ane hundyr and fyfty thousand thare ;
 And endyng it begouth to ta
 Eftyr that dede wes this Silla.
 Pompeyus than the Oryente
 Warrayd throuch fors and hardyment, 2160
 And fawcht wyth twa and twenty sere
 Kyngys off mycht and gret powere.

CHAP. XXV.

In till this next Chapter,
 Off Julius Cesare phe sall here.

FOURE score off yhere, bot ane les,
 Before that God off Mary wes
 Borne, off Frans the regyownys
 Tyll Cesare and sevyn legyownys
 Gyvyn and delyveryd were,
 To wyn off were wytth-in fywe yhere.
 Off Trevyr syne, the gret cyté
 He wan, and it dystroyd he. 2170
 All Frans and Brettayne syne off were
 To Rome he mad bath tributere ;
 And a bryg he gert mak syne
 Atoure the gret rywere off Ryne.
 All Duche-land syne he oure rade

And tributere to Rome it made.

Thire dedys quhen [that] he had done,
Till Rome he tuk his wayage sone.

Wytht mare honour than thought he,

For till have bene in that cyté

2180

For his worschype gret resayvyde

Bot thare-off qwyte he was dyssaywyd

For thai off Rome fra Julius

Inclynyd till Pompeyus,

Quharfore thai wald noucht till hym do

Sik honowre as afferyde hym to,

Na wald noucht mak off thare tresore

Hys costys, as thai dyde before.

Agayne thare wyllys hale, for-thi

In till the towne wytht his maystry

He mad entre, and wp brak

The tresoure hows, and syne cowth tak

Off thare tresowre a gret dele

Bath off mone and jowelle,

And furth in werys syne he past

Till he in Spayne come at the last ;

F. 68. b. Thare for till [telle] yhowe schortly

Ay all hym fell the wyctory.

In Ytaly syne turnyd he

Thare for to fycht wytht this Pompé ;

2200

And Pompeyus wyth stowtnes

To fecht wytht hym arayid wes.

Thare, efftyre lang and hard bataylle,

Pompeyus [ost] begouth to fayle,

And hym-self syne at the last

Turnyd the bak and fled rycht fast,

And past throuch Asy in till Tyre,

In Egypte syne, quhare lord and syre

That tyme wes Schir Tolomé,
That tuk and gert slay this Pompe; 2210
Syne off hys fyngyre he gert ta
Hys ryng, and his hewyd alsua
He gert stryk off, and thai he sent Till Julyus Cesare in present,
That in tyll Alysandyr abade,
Fra he the chas off Pompe made;
Quhen he the hewyd saw and the ryng
Off Pompeyus, in gretying
He fell, and menynd sare that he
On that manere suld endyde be. 2220
Julyus Cesare that tyme thare
Arrywyd in tyll the ile off Fare;
Off that ile all lord than wes
A man off gret mycht, Achilles,
Agayne Cesare he fell in fycht.
Quhare slayne wes mony a douchty knyght
Off Julyus Cesarys cumpany,
And than thai slayne war halyly
That before Pompeyus slwe.
Than Julyus til hys schippis drwe, 2230
And in that passage than he wes
Set in tyll sik thrang and pres,
That in tyll his bate, quhen he
Wes gane and in it made entre,
Throuche the charge at it bare,
In to the se it sank rycht thare;
Bot off that bate than in the se
He lape, and thare swymmand he Held on till his schyppis fast,
Twa hundyre pasys swa he past, 2240
Haldand owthe the wattyre ay

Hys a hand as he swam that day,
 And swa held all his lettrys dry,
 In that hand closyd prewaly,
 Till his galay qwyll that he Come, and in it made entré.
 Off Alysandyr the ost all hale
 Off Se gaŵe hym than [harde] bataylle,
 Thare bath thare naŵyne and thare kyng
 Takyn wes through hard fechtyng, 2250
 Bot thare kyng off curtesy,
 At thare askyng, [than] thraly
 He lete pass, but rawnsone fre,
 And playnly hym consalyd he
 All his diligence to sete
 Off the Romanys for to get
 F. 69. Friendschype, tendyrnes, and luwe,
 And nakyn were agayne them muwe.
 Bot that kyng, fra he wes fre
 And all set in his awyn pousté, 2260
 Left that counsalle, or all foryhette,
 And for the were all halle hym sette,
 But through this Julyus he wes qwyte
 On Se thare-efftyre discumfyte,
 And twenty thousand off his men
 Wes slayne in to that jowrne then,
 And twelf thousand men were thare
 Slayne fra this Julyus [than] Cesare ;
 Thre scor and ten bargis lang
 Was tynt and drownyd in that thrang 2270
 And into this pres that kyng,
 Aŵenand, honest, fayre, and yhing,
 In to that bataylle wes sa mate,
 That prewaly he gat a bate,

And to the land [than] walde haf past,
Bot Julyus oste on hym sa fast
Folowyd thare wyttht sa gret pres
That slayne in to that fechtyn he wes.
And efftyre that apon that sand,
Quhare mony bodyis slayne thai fand 2280
And castyne wp, that kyng wyttht crowne
Thai knewe welle be his habyrjowne
Wyttht gylt mayle, for in that plas
Lyk till it nane fundyn was.
Till Alysandyr Julyus send
That hawbyrjowne, quhare thai it kend.
For dispayre the towne than wes
Yholdyn, and till Cleopatres
This Julyus Cesare gaw all hale
Off Egypt all the governale. 2290

Syne he passyd throuch Surry
And wan gret lordschyppis and syndry;
And efftyre that to Rome come he,
And [was] relewyd tyll heyre gre;
For Dytoure that tyme thai hym made,
And Consule als thare-efft, but bade;
Baythe Spayne and Affryk apon were
He made till Rome trybutere,
And efftyre that in Rome wes he Ressaywyd wyth gret reawte. 2300

Than sevyn moneth and thre yhere, Quhen all thare werys endyt were,
His stat he held as Empryowre,
And lywyd in wurschype and honowre;
Bot wyttht twa traytourys syn, Allas!
He falsly dyssaywyd was;
The tane off thai wes Cassius,

The tothir callyd wes than Brutus,
 And yhit wes sayd that sixty may
 In that consentyd to thai tway, 2310
 Than in the [court] all suddanly
 [Thai] stekyd hym rycht fellownly
 Wytth scharpe pownsownys, and thai thare
 Foure and twenty wowndys sare
 F. 69. b. Gaŵe hym; and thus quhyllle tha
 Wes fellownly hym stekand swa,
 And betwene thame thare bledand,
 Stud ewyn wp wyth his rycht hand
 [And] off hys gowne a lap tuk thare,
 And cuveryd befor hys eyne bare, 2320
 And wytth his left hand he held downe
 The nethir lape thare off his gowne
 Behynd lauch, that nane suld se
 Spot, fylth, or wnhonesté
 Behynd, in till his down fallyng.
 This wes his last endyng
 Eftyre that sax and twenty yhere
 Off his eyld was passyd clere.
 Hys body dede the pepyll syne
 Brynt, and made off merbyll fyne 2330
 A pyllare twenty fwte off hycht,
 And it thai gert be set wp-rycht
 In to the merket, thare gert thai
 The powdyre and the banys lay.
 Or Julyus deid, as I herd tell,
 In Rome wncouth taknys felle;
 Or he wes dede the hundryth day
 Off fyrslaucht fell, brynt all away,
 The fyrst lettyr off his state
 That men apon his ymage wrate, 2340

Quhen that it wes fyrst wp set,
Ewyn in to the myd merkete.
C, that lettyre capytalle,
Is set in nowmerys wsualle
For ane hundyre, and for-thi
The Romanys had a fantasy
Fra C off Cesare wes away,
That abowte the hundyr day
Wouke, moneth, or moment,
Be [the] lest ay thare intent
Be that nowmyre wes hoverand
And suddand casys abydand.

2350

Off the nycht neyst gane beforne
That Julyus slayne wes on the morne,
As he in tyll his chawmyr lay,
In tyll his bed lang forow day.
A suddane thude mad swylk a brus,
That all the wyndowys in a rus
Off his chawmyr quhare he lay
Brak wpe, and he than in affray
Stert owte off his bed wytth that,
And lychtly on his solys gat,
For all the hows that tyme he wend
Off his lyff suld have made end.

2360

Quhen he was dede in till his hand
Thai priwe lettrys closyd fand,
That warnyd off his dede hade bene,
Gyff he before wald thame have sene.

And all this tyme wytth-in Scotland
Ged oure the Peychtyis was regnand.

2370

The state off Rome fyrst goŵernyd wes
Wytth Kyngis before Consules
Twa hundyr yhere, foure scor, and sevyn,

F. 70.

As Frere Martyne reknys ewyn ;
 Foure hundyr wyntyre and twenty,
 And foure to rekyn evynly,
 Off Rome the gret stat governyd wes
 Hale be chosyne Consules,
 Quhill Julyus [Cesare] ras, and hale
 Tuk till hym the governale.

CHAP. XXVI.

Off Octobiane ghe sall here
 Next folowand in this Chapter.

TWA and fourty yhere beforne
 Or Jhesu off Mary wes borne,
 Octovyane, than newew
 Till Julyus that [the] Romanys slwe,
 Ras off Rome bathe lord and syre,
 And governyd stoutly the empyre ;
 Fywe batayllis sere in his youthhede
 He dyde, and prowyd gret manhede.
 The fyrst off tha fywe and the last,
 That I hawe lychtly [thus] owre past,
 He dyd stoutly wytht Marchus,
 Be surname callyd Antonius.
 Quhen fyftene yhere wes bygane
 Fra fyrst begouth Octowyanne,
 For to regne in sic plente,
 Off Rome the tresoure ekyd he,
 The state [the] wurschype and the fame
 That thai than ekyd till his name
 August, that in propyrte

2390

Ay suld ekyng callid be, 2400
And sa the Romanys fra that day
Callyd hym Cesare August ay ;
Fra thine he, and his successowrys
Succedand in till empyowrys,
For the tytill off thare state
All tyme Cesare August wrate,
And the empyre efftyre than
Wes all subjecte till a man,
And he fyrst as lord and syre
Off all the warld aucht the Empyre, 2410
And was callyd in Grew, for-thi,
Fra thine furth the Monarchy.
Syn this Octovyane
The land off Spayne wyth batell wan,
And mony othire landys sere,
Off were he wan wytht his powere.
In thai dayis Pannony,
That marchand nere is Wngary,
Tyberyus, hys stepson,
Wytht fellowne slauchtyr has wndone ; 2420
And Duche-land syne als fast
Tyberyus oure rade and past.
This Duche-land cald Germany
Strekand lysis fra Pannony
To the gret rywere off Ryne,
As sayis Orosius and Solyne.
Thai sayis that rywerys thre
Off Germany suld callid be ;
Alba, that throuch Boem rynnys,
And Adra, that nere it begynnys, 2430
And the Vyssail in Poleyn land
Begynnys, and throucht it is rennand.

F. 70. b.

Tyberyus wes warrayande
 Thre yhere in this Duch-land,
 Wytht legyownys tuelff off knychtys gud.
 The were than als cruell stude
 That nane wes till it off owtrage
 To sauff the gret were of Cartage;
 For off Rome than legyownys thré
 Wes slayne and tane in that cuntré; 2440
 Bot efftyre that till hys empyre
 Octovyane, bathe lord and syre,
 Wan all that land, and halyly
 Off all the world a Monarchy,
 He had in quiete and in pes
 And Empryowre thare-off he wes,
 Regnand in gret reawté,
 Honor, state, and majesté:
 That all the men off his empyre,
 Noucht anerly bathe lord and syre. 2450
 Or empryowre thai wald hym calle,
 Bot for hale counsall thai said alle,
 For his prys and his waloure,
 As God thai wald hym all honoure.
 All hys tyme in to unyté
 The world wes, and in cheryte,
 And ilké man off ane accorde
 Hym anerly kend for thare lorde;
 He passyd noucht wytht-owtyn were Off eyld ane and twenty yhere, 2460
 Quhen he wes maid fyrst empryoure,
 Bot it he led in gret honoure,
 That for [his] prys and his gud fame,
 August wes ekyd till his name.
 Off his name that moneth ay

Wes August callyd to this day,
 Before than Sextile it wes cald :
 Be that ensawmpyll yhit we hald
 The monethys neyst it folowand,
 The fyrst at Marche begynnand, 2470
 Be the nowmyr thame to call,
 As they are set per ordyre all,
 Bot the Sextille turnyd the name
 In August, for the realle fame
 Off Octovyane, for that he
 Wytth Anton mad rycht gret mellé;
 Off that moneth the fyrst day,
 For-thi thai callyd August ay.

In tyll the fywe and twentyd yhere
 Off his empyre, for-owtyn were, 2480
 Virgyle deyd in Brwndyis,
 Bot in Naplis his body lyis :
 And the fywe and threttyd yhere
 Off his empyre, wytth-owtyn were,
 The poet into Rome, Oras,
 Deyd and enteryd was.

Thus in quiete quhill he wes
 And stablyst all the warld in pes,
 Regnand in tyll his majesté,
 Honoure, state, and reawté, 2490
 Commendyt off gret douchtynes,
 Off worschype, wyt, and worthynes,
 Honest, habyll, and avenand,
 At all poynt propyre and plesand,
 Fayre off fassowne and off fas,
 And large off lym and lyth he was,
 Cunnand, curtas, and cumly,
 Noucht lycht off latis bot luffly.

F. 71.

Thus he regnand lord and syre
 Oure all the Warld in ane Empyre, 2500
 He set hym haly for to wyt,
 And to put in autentyk wryte
 All kynrykys and all regyownys,
 Cyteys, castellys, and all townys,
 And quha that time wes lywand,
 Tha landys than inhabytand ;
 And hale off all thai regyownys,
 Kynrykys, cyteis, men and townys
 He thoucht trewage for to tak,
 And ger thame homage till hym mak. 2510
 Apon that in hy he sent
 Hys byddyng and his mawndement,
 All kynrykys, and all regyownys,
 All cyteis, and all othire townys,
 And all the men that duelt thare-in,
 Yhong and auld, batht mare and myn,
 To wryt wp ilkane in tyll roll,
 And regystere thaim be name and poll,
 And efftyre that, but mare abade
 Fra sowmownys had bene to thaim made, 2520
 Ilké man to that cyté,
 Quharoff beforne that borne wes he,
 Or ellys to that ilké towne
 That cheffe ware off that regyown,
 Suld cum, and thare, for his polle
 [To] pay his trewage or his tolle
 Off qwhyte sylver, a denere,
 In nowmyre ten that sowndys here,
 A denere comwnaly
 Is in oure langage a penny, 2530
 Bot that denere that thai suld pay

Suld have bene intyll walu ay
 Ten pennys usualis than
 That in to Rome for moné ran,
 Havand the empyowrys crown,
 Hys ymage, and his scriptyown ;
 That [thai] suld have bene in knowlage,
 And taknyng hale off thare homage.
 That thai suld aw to Rome, off det,
 Sen thai ware made till it subyet, 2540
 And that sum callyd professyowne,
 And sum it callid discriptyoun :
 Professiowne in propyrté
 Mouth grawntyng suld callyd be;
 For quhen thai payid thare trewage,
 Wyth mowth thai grawntyt thare homage,
 And outh ilk[a] mannys polle
 Hys name wes wryttyn and his toll :
 Discriptyowne is wrytyng
 In tyll owre propyr wndoyng, 2550
 For all thare namys wryttyn ware
 That payid toll, bayth les and mare,
 F. 71. b. And yhit ilke kynryk, land, and towne,
 By tha layid thaire trewage downe ;
 In cyteys, mayre or aldyrman,
 At thai bodyis fyrst began,
 And ilké man could be hys crowne,
 And gert hym lay his trewage downe ;
 Syne in the cyteis off the land
 Wes certayne deputys resaywand 2560
 Off all the landys syne ilkane,
 Wytth-in Rome wes the trewage tane.
 On this wyis batht land and towne
 Tyll Rome made contributyoun,
 And Cesare August, lord and syre,

Aucht all the warld in ane empyre :
 Sa excellent off bewté
 Till ilke mannys sycht wes he,
 That to [be]hald hym increly
 Men had gret lykyn comownaly ; 2570
 Sa happy als he wes in deyde
 That all thyng at his lykyng yheid,
 And till his purpos and his thought
 At ese hys wyll in all wes wroucht.
 The senatowrys all hale, for-thi,
 Gaue hym for counsall fermly,
 Oure all the warld in hy that he
 A God suld ger hym callyd be.
 Bot he kest welle in tyll hys thought
 A dedly man sen he was wroucht, 2580
 Off hym he had a Creatoure
 That aucht off resoune that honowre ;
 And till wsurpe till hym that name
 It ware bot wane glore and deffame.

Swa fra he herd thare intende
 And efftyr thare awysment
 Sybyll Tyburtyne in hy
 He cald, and tald hyr halyly
 Off the senatowrys the intent
 And quhat was thare awysment. 2590
 The space off thre days than in hy
 Scho askyd to byd in hyr study,
 And thai thre dayis in hard fastyng
 Scho bade [and] in tyll thra praying,
 And syne in tyll hyr prophecy
 Scho made efftyre that study
Judicii Signum in to wers,
 Bot thai ar lang now to rehers.

The Empryoure syne till the hycht,

Scho.gert behald, and swylk a lycht 2600

Hym wmbelappyd in that place

That gretly affrayid [than] he wes ;

Syne he sawe a madyn fayre

Apone ane awtere in the ayre,

And a lytill barne allsua

Haldyn in hyr harmys twa.

And quhill he ferlyde off that sycht,

He herd a woice that sayd [hym] rycht,

“ Yhone thow wyt wyth-owtyne hune,

The awtere is off Goddis swne ;” 2610

And to the erd rycht suddanly

F. 72. He fell, and prayid devoutly.

And syne the senatowrys gert he call,

And this sycht he tauld thaim all,

Quhar-off thai ferlyd gretly :

That chawmbyre syne he gert devoutly,

In honowre off that madyn fre,

And off that barne als halowyd be ;

For thare he saw that wysyowne

That raysid his dewotyowne ; 2620

Thare, in a kyrk off oure Lady,

Frere Mynowris now devoutly

Wyttht-in the Capytolle alway

Serwys God, bathe nycht and day,

And that kyrk fowndyt in that place

Syne Ara Coeli callyd was.

Bot quhen the contributyowne

Wes payid, bathe off land and towne,

Off Nazareth and Galelé

Joseph, that tyme in Jwdé, 2630

Past to the cyté off Dawy,

Wyttht hys spowsyd myld Mary,

Bethleem callyd in that quhille,

For off that hous and that famyлле
 He wes off kyn and off renowne;
 For-thi thare his professyowne
 For tyll have made he sped hym yharne,
 Wyth hys spows gret wame wytht barne;
 Bot all the innys evryilkane,
 Or thai come to the towne wes tane; 2640
 And thare than wes sic a multitude,
 Wytht-in the town off men and gud,
 That tyll pure men it wes ill
 For tyll get herbry to thare wyll;
 Tharefor Joseph and Mary
 Gat wyth-in hows na herbry.
 Bot betwene howsis twa,
 Quhare men gert a pentys ma,
 Tyll hald confabilyatounne,
 And have thaire recreatyowne 2650
 In mete and drynk, and thare repayre,
 As thare delyte wes till haŵe [thare];
 Or for chapmen as buthys [makis]
 Till oppyn and [to] schaw thare pakkys;
 Joseph, wyth Mary his spous,
 Hys innys tuk in swyk a hous;
 And thare-in his bestys twa,
 Ane ox and ane ass war thai,
 Till a cryb that thare he made,
 Or made perchawns he fwndyn hade, 2660
 He band wp, and gaŵe thame hay,
 And that ilk[a] nycht, or day,
 That madyn Mary bare that byrth,
 That caus wes off all oure myrth.

CHAP. I.

Here next folowande ghe sall rede
Off Cristis byrth and his barnhede.

1.

CESARE August Octovyane,
Quhen that fourty yhere and ane
Off his empyre wes passyde clere,
Wytht-in the twa and fourtyd yhere
Apon the Sonondays nycht
Mary myld, the madyn brycht,
But [threttyng], thrawyng, or dises,
Or ony smyt, delyveryd wes
Off hyr a Sown, [bath] God and Man ;
That chyld wes tane and swelyd than,
And in a cryb syne layde he was Quhar that ane ox stud and ane as,
And thai twa bestys devoutly
On kneys, as wytnes the story,
Kend thare wes thaire creatoure,
Quhare-for thai dyd hym that honowre
That on kneys ay ware thai
Syttand, qwhill that he thare lay.

10

The modyr held bed in gysyne,
But dowt yhit wes scho pure wyrgyne.
He name and circumsysown,
And scho purifycatyown,
Tuk, the tyme that ordanyd wes
Be the lauch statute off Moyses,
And the barne wes Jhesu cauld,
As the Angelle befor tauld ;

20

Swa thai held and kepyd welle
 All the lawys ilk[a] dele.
 Oure Lord [Jhesu] thus wes borne
 To sauff oure lyff that wes forlorne. 30

Beyhond Tybere, as I herd telle,
 Owte off the erd thare sprang a well
 Off clere oylle, fayr and gud,
 Quhare quhylum a famous taŵerne stude;
 And all that day in gret copy
 That well ran owre habowndanly.
 A cyrkyl abowte the Sone that day
 Wes sene als, as I herd say,
 That tyll ane arche off heŵyn wes
 Apperand lyk on lyklynes. 40

That ilk nycht, as I herd telle,
 In Rome that gret Tempyll fell,
 That quhen the Romanys twelff yhere
 In pes and quyete lyŵand were,
 In the honowre off Romule fre,
 Off fyne entaylle gert fowndyd be,
 And off this Romule a fygowre
 Off hewys fyne and fayre payntoure,

F. 74.

And othir symulacrys sere
 Off ydolys that than honoryd were, 50
 Thai set in to that Tempyll fayre,
 Quhare thai mad access and repayre,
 For to mak thare sacrificyis
 To thai mawmentys on thare wyis,
 Wyth dewote solempnyte
 And wsuale festyvyte.
 This Tempyle tytlyde wes off Pes,
 For quhen fyrst it fowndyt wes,
 Tyll Appollo, thair orysown

Thai made wyth gud dewotyown, 60
 Certane knowlage for to get
 How lang tyme that that Tempyll set
 And fowndyd, in till [the] honowre
 Off all thai mawmentys, suld endowre
 And fermly stand in to that plas.
 Off Appollyne the answeire was,
 That that Tempyll [sulde] endure
 Ay quhill that a wýrgyne pure
 Suld bere a barne off hyr body,
 Thare-off the Romanys had ferly. 70
 Noucht for-thi thai gert full tyte
 Wytth gret lettrys brokyn wryte
 Outh the dure at the entré,
 Quhare thai mycht clerly red and se,
 TEMPLUM PACIS ETERNUM ; ay
 Thir thre wordys ar to say,
 The Tempill off Pes wyth-owtyn end.
 Bot quhen Goddis Sone wes send
 In tyll oure kyth, as yhe hard telle,
 That Tempyll and thare fals goddys fell, 80
 And thai symulacrys all
 Ware fruschyd and brokyn in pecis small.
 Off the Oryent Kyngys thre,
 Ilkane sere in thaire cuntré,
 Be ane starne apperand newe,
 Than borne the Kyng off Jowys knewe ;
 For that resowne thare wayage
 Thai tuk in dewote pylgrimage,
 Qwhill thai come till Jerusalem :
 Fra thine thai passyd till Bethleem ; 90
 Thare, to the Sone off the wýrgyne,
 Myr, and sens, and gold sa fyne,

In gret devotyounne offeryd thai,
 Be-efft hys byrth the thretten day;
 And quhen thai mad had thaire offerande
 Hame agayne in to thare land,
 By Jerusalem, passyd thai,
 As thai war warnyd, ane othir way.
 And how than Herrode had consaywyde
 Throuch thaim that he wes dyssaywyde, 100
 Quharfore the Innocentys he gert be
 All slayne throuch his iniqwyté;
 Haly Kyrk prechys clere
 In to the wangyll ilk[a] yhere;
 For that resowne now will I
 Oure pas it here the mar lychtly.

F. 74. b. In Scotland that yhere Taram ras,
 And oure [the] Peychtis regnand was
 A hundyr yhere as crownyd kyng.
 And quhen his lyff had tane endyng, 110
 Duchyl ras as kyng with crowne,
 And regnand be successyowne.
 Bot off thaire douchty dedis sere
 I fynd noucht for to wryt in here.

Kymbelyne of Tenwant
 The sone and ayre was than regnant
 As kyng wytht crowne off all Brettane.
 Before that wytht Octoviane
 He nwrysyd wes, till hys barnehede
 Was passyd, and entryde in manhede, 120
 And dyde gret prowes and bownté
 In all kyn were or jowrné,
 And tuk syne off that Empyrowre
 The ordyr off knyghthed wytht honowre:
 To thame off Rome, for that resowne,

He stud in swylk effectyowne,
 That in the tyme, quhen he wes kyng,
 And Brettane had in governyng,
 His barnage hale sayd, that he mycht
 Wythhald the trewage wytht all rycht, 130
 That Julyus Cesare before wan,
 And payid was till Octovyan.
 Agayne the wyll off his barnage
 Till Rome he payid that trewage :
 For that wyth his the were wes he Comendyt in to all degre.

And that ilké yhere alsua
 Joseph passyd and Maria
 In till Egypt; and sewyn yhere
 Thare wytht the Barne thai duelland were. 140
 Off his dedys in that quhylle
 Fewe I find in the wangylle :
 Bot quha that lykys for to rede
 In tyll a Buk off his barnhede,
 He sall fynd how be the way,
 As wndyrneth a palme thai lay
 At ese to slepe, or rest thaim thare
 As pilgrymys that for-tyryd ware,
 The mudyre makles off that chylde,
 Mary brycht, the madyn myld, 150
 Was in till scharpe hungyr set,
 And had gret appetyt till ete
 The crope thare off that palme tre,
 That datys bare in gret plente ;
 Quhill scho was in [to] that thrawe
 Wyth-all the buwys bowyd lawe,
 Ewyn till hyr hand, swa at hyr wyll
 Datys scho pullyd and ete hyr fyll ;

Syne as wytth lewe, but brayd or bend,
Ewyn as before stud wp on end. 160
That tyme alsua Joseph thare
In tyll hard thyrst was noyit sare,
Bot off [the] erd sone sprang a welle
Quhare-[of] Joseph, as I herd tell,
Drank his fyll off wattyr clere.

F. 75. Thare-efftyr, as thai herbryd were
In tyll a gret cove and a depe,
Or thai begouth to fall on slepe,
Off that cove, all suddanly,
Twa gret dragownys and wgly 170
Ruschyd owte; thare Mary wes
And Joseph bathe in gret radness;
Bot thai twa wyld bestys kene,
Fra that thai the child had sene,
As thai had chastyid bene wyth awe,
Kest downe amang thare lymmys lawe
Thare hedys, and syne wyth gud speyd
Till wyldyrnes away thai yheyd.
Fra thine till Egipte in tyll hy,
As Joseph passyd and Mary, 180
A lyowne thaim keypd be the way,
That serwysiabyll wes to thaim ay.
In tyll the land quhill thai ware fre,
And in it as thai mad entré,
Off Egypte hale the templis all
Fell and brak in pecis small,
[And] all the ydolys evryilkane,
That hale in to that land wes nane
Tempill standand off walu,
Na off nane ydole a statu. 190
Thir myrakyllis wryttyn yhe ma red

In till a buk off his barnehed.

Fra thine Joseph and Mary

In Egypt duelt contynualy

Sevyn yhere, quhill the Angell brycht

Apperyd till Joseph on a nycht

In till his slepe, and bad hym ta

The Modyr, and the Barne alsua,

And pas in Israelle agayne,

“ For thai,” he sayd, “ that wald have slayne 200

The chyld, ar dede.” Than he, but hone,

All as the Angell bad has done ;

Bot for caus, as the story sayis,

That Archelaus in thai dayis,

The quhilk brodyre that tyme wes

Till Herrode, full off wykytnes,

Off Jerusalem, as kyng

And lord, had all the governyng,

And dwelt in it contynualy ;

For-thi, Joseph and Mary 210

Past wyttht the barne by that cyté

Till Nazareth in Galelé ;

In that cyté than fywe yhere

Wyttht the Chyld thai duelland were,

That grew off wyt and wertu than,

And plesyd batht till God and man.

Swa twelf yhere quhen he wes auld,

As Saynt Luke in his ewangyll tauld,

In Jerusalem, among the gret

Mastrys off lawe, that held thare set 220

In to the Tempyll, for to schawe

The casys as thai stud in the lawe,

He sat, and wes rycht diligent

Till here, and mad sic argument

That all that herd and stude hym by Off hys wyt had gret ferly.

And efftyr hys natyvvté,
Quhen fourtene yhere wes passyd fre,
Octovyane the empyowre
Deyd in Rome wytth gret honoure, 230
Quhen that sex and fyfty yhere
Off his empyre were passyd clere ;
Ale the warld, as I sayd ere,
He mayd to Rome tributere ;
In hys begynnyng the cité
All abowte off Rome fand he
Wytth dykys made off fayle or mude,
Bot, or he deyde, off marbyr gude,
Wytth syment, lyme, or wytth hewyn stane,
He made the wallis evryilkane ; 240
Off citesanys and burges fre,
He left duelland in that cyté
Fowr hundyr thousand nynty sys,
And fourty thousand reknyd twys,
As sayis Frere Martyne in his buke,
Quha wyll his Cornyklys rede and luke :
Yhit set he wes off this bownté,
He wes noucht off all vycys fre,
For he hade in usage off
Amang twelff maydynnys, yhong, and sofft 250
Off hyd, and fayre off hew, to ly
In lykyng, lust, and lychory.

THE fyftende yhere efftyre that byrth,
 That causyd all oure mekyll myrth,
 Off Rome Tyberius empyoure,
 Nest till Octovyane successoure,
 His wyffis sone off lauchfull bede,
 And had till wyff hys douchtyr lede;
 For caus off that and hys bownté
 Octovyane yharnyd hym to be
 Hys ayre and his neyst successoure;
 Swa fell that he wes emperyowre,
 And ras off Rome bath lord and syre,
 And stoutly governyd the empyre;
 In deyde he doure wes and douchty,
 And in till armys welle happy,
 Kunnand, and off lettr[at]owre fyne,
 Bot sle and dows off engyne.
 Quhen men wald do be lyklynes
 Hys wyll, or quhat his bydding wes,
 In frawde and swylyk off walde he say
 That that hym lykyd be na way,
 And ger the doarys punysyd be
 Throuch wykytnes and crualte;
 He wes ryght pert and eloquent,
 And full austere in jugement,
 Curtais he wes in tyll his deyde;
 In cornyklys sere off hym we reid

He wald offt gere pyne and sla
Thewys, and sakles men alsua ;
He tuk the trewage off Brettane
That Julyus Cesare before wane ;
He regnyd twenty yhere and thre ;
In Chawmpayne syne quhen deide wes he
Fele folk glad ware and [richt] joly,
And few for that cas wes sary. 290
Off Crystys dedis in that quhille
Few I fynd in the Ewangylle,
Tyll that tyme that he howyn wes,
Bot as Josephus berys wytnes ;
He in tyll hys story sayis
Thare wes a wysman in thai dayis,
Gyff men mycht wyth resowne all
In propyrté a man hym call,
Off marwelus and gret dedys sere,
He wes bathe doare and kennere, 300
And mony off Jowys and Gentyl
Till hym he drewe in till that quhille ;
Cryste that was, as Josephus
Signyfyis in tyll hys buk till ws.
The poete Ovyde in hys dayis
Deyd exilyd, as the story sayis.
Off hys empyre the fyftende yhere,
And fra the byrth off oure Lorde dere
The threttyd yhere, in wyldyrnes,
Saynt Jhon the Baptyst prechand wes. 310

 Off Powns he lord wes beforne,
 Bot men sayd at he wes borne
 Off Lyownys, in to Frans, sur Rone.
 That yhere als off Baptyst Jhon
 Jhesu Cryst, as sayde the Buke,
 The baptysme in till Jordane tuke,
 And the neyst yhere efftyr syne
 He turnyd the wattyre clere in wyne. 320

Saynct Jhon the Baptyst als wes tane,
 And efftyre that a yhere owre gane,
 Throuch foly gret and crualté,
 Herrode gert hym hevydyd be.
 Than off Tyberius empyrowre
 Pylate wes made procuratoure
 And specyall depute in Jwdé,

 The empyroure Tyber efftyr that,
 Quhen that he full wyttyng gat
 That Jhesu Cryst to dede wes done,
 He gert send efftyr [Pilate] sone, 340
 And in hys presens hym gert he Off jugement fals accusyde be,
 Bot efftyre thai accusatyownys,
 Ande his fals excusationis,

Tyll Vyen in tyll Burgoyne he Hym send, and gert hym presownyt be ;
Quhare lang he bad in pyne and care,
And slwe hym-self for sorow thare.
Herrode als that slwe that Jhone
Exylide he gert be onone 350
Tyll Vyen in till Burgoyne als,
Wytht his wyff, bayth fell and fals,
Herodyade, and thai twa
Wrachtyly thare deyde alsua.

Efttyr the Resurrectyowne
Off Cryst, and [his] Ascensyowne,
Saynt Petyr the appostylle fra,
Borne off the land off Galelé
In tyll the rew Bethsayda, 360
(He wes the sone off Jhon alsua,
And tyll Saynt Androw brodyr hale,)
Past in the landys Oryentale,
And in thai landys than held he
Foure yhere full the prestis sé,
And thare he sang the fyrst Mes
That in the warld evyre sungyn wes ;
And in that Mes wes said na mare,
Bot the PATER NOSTER thare.

Tyberius in that tyme wes dede,
And Gayus ras in till his stede, 370
This ilké Gayus wes alsua
Be surname callyd Gallicula.
Off the empyr lord wes he Bot monethys ten, and yherys thre,
And awcht days, bot he wes
Ill wycyous, full off wykytnes,
Off gret lust and off lychory :

Hys awyn twa systyrys he lay by.
 A dochtyr on ane off thai he gat,
 And that he lay by efftyre that; 380
 He nurré [was] and newew nere
 Tyll the lord off Rome Tybere;
 In crualte and avaryce
 And mony odyr syndry wyce,
 Sa lang he wedyde, quhill he was Slayne wytth his men in his palas.
 All thus quhen dede wes Gayus,
 Till hym succedyd Claudyus,
 That the empyre fourtene yhere
 Governyd, and sevyn moneth clere, 390
 And aughtene dayis fullyly.

Saynt Petyr that tyme [coym] in hy
 In Antyoche off the Oryent,
 Thare sevyn yhere in gud entent
 He bade, and helde the prestys sé;
 F. 77. Syne fra thine to Rome past he
 As byschope thare and prest his lywe
 Twenty yhere he led, and fywe,
 And dayis awcht, till halde the date.
 Twa pystyllys off canowne thare he wrate; 400
 In Septembyre than ordanyd he Ordryrs ilké yhere to be,
 Thare byschypys sex, and prestys ten,
 And deknys sevyn, he ordanyt then.

 Hys wangellys Mark begouth to ma, 410

And Saynt Petyr wrat thaim thare
 For he before was his scolare.
 In hungyr gret that ilk[a] yhere
 The Romanys all anoyid were.
 Appollynare Saynt Petyr then
 Send to preche in tyll Raŵen,
 That wes a cyté gret and fayre,
 Comowne, and off gret repayre,
 In Ytaly pere till it wes nane,
 To sawff off Rome the towne allane.

CHAP. III.

Off the Empryoure Claudys Next successor till Schyr Gayus.

CLAWDYUS the empyoure,
 That wes tyll Gayws successoure,
 Off hys empyre the ferd yhere
 In Brettayne come wytht hys powere,
 Kymbolynys [son] than Widen kyng,
 That Brettayne had in governyng,
 Sone assemblyd ane ost in hy,
 And wytht the Romanys stoutly
 Faucht, and put thame to the flycht,
 Quhare mony dowre to deyd wes dycht :
 And quhill thai ware in to that cas,
 A Romane, that amang thaim was Hamo callyd, gat on that senyhé,
 That Bretownys bare ; syn can he fenyhe
 Hym a Brettowne for to be,
 For all thare langage welle kend he :

430

Quhen in tyll Rome ostagis sere
 Of all landis duelland were,
 And thai off Brettane ostage had,
 He gret repayre amang thaim mad ; 440
 Be sic access he kend welle,
 And leryd thare langage ilk[a] dele.
 Sa in the thrang off that battaylle
 He bare hym as a Brettane hale,
 Quhyll that he come rycht till the kyng,
 That off hym had na myslywyng :
 That kyng off Brettayne thare he slwe,
 And to the Romanys syne he drwe.

F. 77. b.

Arvyragus, that wes then
 Brodyr to the kyng Wyden, 450
 And saw this cas, and all this deyd,
 Gat wpon hym ful gud spede
 All hys brodyr armoure hale,
 And held that ward in the batalle,
 That [the] kyng hys brodyr had :
 Thare fechtynge stowt and hard he made,
 And lete hys p̄st wyt nakyn thyng
 Off that cas fell to the kyng,
 Quhill mony doure to dede wes dycht,
 And all the Romanys tuk the flycht, 460
 And Hamo slayne. In till that chas
 The empyowre discumfyt was.

Sa, to tell yhow schortly
 The endyng off this juperdy,
 Quhen Claudius the manhed kend
 Off the Brettownys, he message send Tyll Arwyragus, than the kyng
 That Brettayne had in governyng,
 For till amese all were and stryffe,

And tak hys dochtyr till hys wyffe,
And to Rowme that tribwte pay
Wytht-owtyn drychyng or delay,
That the Romanys before wan
Fra hys eldrys off Brettan. 470

Till this assented wes the kyng,
And sesyd were, and mad anyng:
For he thought, syne that generaly
All othir landys halyly
Bade wndyr the subjectyowne
Off Rome, he mycht wyth-owt chesowne 480
That trewage to the Romanys pay,
That thai had tane before his day.
Swa, now schortly to mak end,
Schyre Claudys for his dochtyre send,
And Arwyragus off Brettane
Weddyd that fayr lady than.
Betwene the Romanys and that kyng
All thus than fell the fyrst anyng.

That ilke empyrowre off were Past fra thine wytth hys powere 490
The Owte Ylys till assaylle,
And wyth hym in hys suppowaylle
That kyng passyd off Brettan,
And off fors the Owte Ylis wan,
And maid [thaim] to Rome subyet ay,
And gert thaim fra thine trybute pay.

How that empyrowr thare-efft
That Kyng hys lutenand lefft
Off all the landys, that marchyd than Nere wyth the kynryk off Brettan, 500
Hame tyll Rome quhen that he
Agayne passyd wytth hys reawte;

F. 78. And how that kyng syne mad delay,
 And hale denyit for to pay
 Till Rome the trewage off Brettane,
 Quhyll Claudyus send Wespasyane
 Wytht that kyng to fecht or trete,
 Swa that for luwe, or than for threte,
 Off fors he suld pay at he awcht ;
 And how the qweyne thare made thame saucht, 510
 The Brute tellys it sa oppynly,
 That I wyll lat it now ga by.

This empyowre in all tyme wes
 In all his dedys full rekles,
 Na he couth hald in na memore
 The thyngys that he dyd before.
 It hapnyt in tyll suddane stryffe
 That apon cas he slwe hys wyff ;
 At ewyn to bed syne quhen he past
 Quhy sho come noucht, he askyt fast. 520
 He thought till ordane and till ma,
 Be statute, quhen men suld lat ga
 Owte off thare bodyis ryfftyis off wynd,
 At mowth before, or than behynd ;
 For in to Rome off cas it fell
 For schame a man, as he herd tell,
 Forbare for tyll [lat] owt the wynd,
 Wyth ryfft before, or blyst behynd,
 Swa that he peryst in that thrawe ;
 Tharfor he thought, quhen men suld blawe, 530
 Tyll ordane tyme be statute swa
 That for that cas [men] suld dey na ma.
 He wes the mast sobyr man
 Off mete or drynk that lywyd than.
 Massalyne wes callyd hys wyff,

Scho spendyt in swylk lust hyr lyff
 That hyr oys was comownaly
 In bordale nycht and day to ly,
 Off that play [nevyr] yrk na sad
 For all the copy at scho had, 540
 And ladyis sere scho tetryd ay
 In cumpany to pruve that play.
 Yhit, be counsalle off this wyff,
 That thus in lust led all hyr lyff,
 Hys sone and hys ayre gert he Off the empyre desheryd be,
 And Nero, that had hys dochtyr weddyt,
 And lauchfully wyttht hyr had beddyt,
 He ordanyd off the empyre
 Bathe hys ayre, [and] lord and syre ; 550
 And that wes done agane the lawe
 For luwe off woman, or for awe.

Saynt Petyr, as the story says,
 Fyrst come to Rome in till his dayis,
 Thare ordanyt he befor Pas day
 F. 78. b. The Lentryne to be fastyt ay
 Off fourty dayis, syne wox thre,
 And the ferd part ordanyd he
 All Crystyne man in fastyng hald,
 That war full fourtene yhere alde, 560
 Before the Natyvvyté ; [That] the Adwent now call we.

CHAP. IV.

Off Perops tyme and Petryis dede,
 Ande quha next [ras] in to thare stede.

NERO neyst wes successoure
 Till Claudyus, and empyowre
 [He wes] off gret Rome threttene yhere, Aucht moneth, and a day, but were.
 He prowyd welle off his manhede
 Quhill he wes knyght in till yhouthede,
 Bot fra he kend hym empyowre,
 He excedyt all mesoure, 570
 And worschype chawngyd in tyrandry,
 Honowr in falshede and felny;
 He gert slay off the senatowrys,
 That off det ware his counsalowrys,
 A gret part, and alsua
 His awyn brodyr he gert sla.
 All Rome he set in tyll a fyre,
 A low off that for to se schyre.
 Hys modyr oysyd for to repruwe
 And argwe hym wnkynd off luwe; 580
 Till hir that sufferyd thurstys sare,
 And paynys hard quhen scho hym bare,
 And wes in dowl off hyr lyff ay
 Betwene hyr sydys quhill he lay,
 But pety tharefor, or mercy,
 He slwe hyr in hys tyrandry.
 Syne he gert oppyn hyr and owte ta
 Hyr bowellys, and sek in tha

And rype [thaim] all oure, theyk and thyne,
 To sé the place that he lay in. 590
 Off Rome syne the maystrys all
 In till hys presence he gert call,
 And bade wytth barne thai suld hym ma,
 Or than thai suld thaire lyff for-ga.
 Than efftyre thaire awysment
 Thai gert [hym] apon ane assent
 In tyll a drawcht off drynk swelly
 A paddog yhong, lyand in fry ;
 Thai gert hym syne in mete and drynk
 Sic mesoure oys as thai couth thynk, 600
 Or [be] thare crafftys wndyrstude
 Mycht have bene to that paddok fude.
 Wytth that the tad begouth to wax,
 And wyth-in hym rerde and rax,
 F. 79. Syne in hys body gnyp and gnaw,
 And gert hym oft in thrichis thraw,
 And in tyll perylle wes off dede ;
 Than off that dowt to get remede
 He gert thai[m the] gret clerkys all
 Agayne in tyll his presens call, 610
 And bade that thai suld, apon payne
 Off all thare eyne, or to be slayne,
 Ger hym off hys barne be,
 Bwt lang delay, delyveryd fre.
 Than thai behuwyd for to fynd
 All excusatyownys put behynd,
 Sum crafft to lous hym off his payne,
 Or all, but mercy, to be slayne ;
 Wytth a drynk than, at the last,
 Owt at his mouth thai gert hym cast 620
 That paddog wyth a blob off blude,

Wan made all but fassown gud.
He askyd than be quhat resown
Hys barne sa foule was off fassown,
And thare ansuere was that tyde,
For he couth noucht his [tyme] byde,
Na lang it mycht noucht lest in lywe,
For [cousse] that it fell abortywe ;
The paddoge dede thare-efft gert he Wythin a towre enteryd be, 630
The quhilk wes made off lyme and stane
In to that rew callyd Laterane.

He wes in deid all fellowne,
And mad gret persecutyowne
Off Crystyn men, for thare fay
Abhomynabill he had alway.
Off Jacob rychtwys in his dayis,
The brothyr off God, as the Buk sayis,
Wyth a walkarys perk, but dowt,
The harnys all war strykyn owte. 640
He gert in tyll his felny sla
Hys awyn maystyr, Seneca,
That till Saynt Paule wrat letteris sere,
And wes tyll hym famwlere.
He leissit the trewage off Brettane,
That hys eldrys befor wan,
And othir allswa kynrykys sere,
That he fand till Rome tributere,
Ran in till prescriptyown
Off thare contributyown. 650

For hys ecces [sa] owtragews
And his condytyown wycwys,
Saynt Petyr he gert crucify.
And off Saynt Paule, in his felowny,

F. 79. b.

He gert stryk off the hewyd, and swa
To dede he put thai postyllis twa.
Quhen all the yherys ware cummyn and gane
Off his empyre [for] to, sauff ane,
The Grekys than set thame thraly
Away till have tane prewaly 660
The bodys off thai postyllis twa ;
That purpos qwhill thai ware on swa,
The dewylls that in the ydolys ware
Off Goddys wyll and hys poware,
Cryit " Yhe Romanys succoure nowe,
For yhoure goddys are tane fra yhowe."
The Crystyn men, that than ware gud,
That off thai postyllis wndyrstude ;
Bot the pagaynys thocht allway
That off thare goddys that sayd thai. 670
Wyth that the Romanys halyly
Chasyd the Grekys dispytwosly ;
Swa the Grekis at the last
Behuwyd on nede thai bodyis cast
In tyll a cysterne depe, quhare thai
Lay hyd, but wyttyng, mony day,
Quhill that the Pape Cornelius,
As the Cornykyll tellis ws,
Drew thame off that cysterne depe,
And honorably gert men thame kepe, 680
Quhill he had made his orysown
Till God, wyth gud devotyoun,
For tyll ken hym werraly
Quhilk wes off Petyr the body,
And quhilk off Saynt Paule mycht be
The body cald in propyrte.
Devotly sua quhill that he sat,

Inspyryd off God, ansuere he gat,
 That the largyare body wes
 Off the fyschare, and the les 690
 Off the prechoure; syn wes sayde
 Pape Silvestyr gert thame be layd
 In till weyis; swa kend wes thare
 Quhilk prechoure wes, and quhilk fyschare,
 And off ilkane a kirk gert he Honorably syne fowndyt be;
 And off Saynt Petyr, wyth honoure,
 The banys he put in sepultoure
 In to that kyrk wes for hym made;
 The banys off Saynt Paule he hade 700
 In tyll hys kyrk, and thare gert he Entyre thame wyth solempnyte.

Off Nero yhit the empyoure,
 That turnyd in till foule lust his honoure,
 For na part off a man thought he Mycht clene or luwely callyd be,
 All his men he luwyd for-thi
 In all tyme till oys rybaldry,
 And all kyn wycys at thare wyll
 He gaue consent and lewe thare-tille. 710

F. 80.

A robe he wald be nakyn wys
 Put wpone his body twys,
 Bot [in] a newe robe ilk[a] day
 Hys usage wes hym till aray,
 And till the hors that he on rade,
 Off sylvyr schone he gert be made.
 The byggyng mad off his palas
 Large and welle anowrnid was,
 In all [the] pesys evryilkane
 Wytht sylvyr, gold, and precyows stane, 720

Evore syne, that na man mycht
Prys the cost, wyth all his slycht.
For the byrnyng off the towne,
And dedys that he dyde felowne,
Hys barnage set thaim hym to ta
And pyne in presowne, or to sla.
For that caus, owt off his palas
He fled, and slwe hym-self off cas,
And outhe the erde, but sepulture,
As a dog, lay that empyoure, 730
Quhill all the flesche off his body
Wes ettyng wyth wolvys halyly.
Off Nero this wes the endyng,
That is ensawmpill and taknyng
Till thame that drawys thare delyte,
[Tyl] lust, and thare foule appetyte,
Throuch worldys welth and wantowne wylle.
Fra wertuose dede in vycys ille ;
But resowne, rageand in revery,
Confowndand peté wyth felny, 740
And wyll [noucht] thare hawtane hawying haw
Off God or man, but luvé or lawe.

Galba off Rome the empyoure
Till Nero neyst wes successoure.
Off that state yhit, nevyrtheles,
Bot sevyng moneth lord he wes.
Quhen Nero herd off Surry tell
Agayne hym ras and wes rebelle,
Vespasyane he send off were
In Surry wyth a gret powere, 750
And in the kynryk off Judé
Lyand apon were wes he,
Fyrst quhen he herd Nero wes dede,

And Galba ras syne in till his stede,
 Wytellus than in tyll Yrland,
 And Oto in till Ducheland,
 Held a yhere state as empyoure,
 In Rome oysyd wyth honoure;
 Syne ilkane slwe othir off cas,
 Off thai twa swylk the endyng was.

Off Tytus ande Despasiane, Saynt Clement and Bonitiane.

A.D.
 71.

EFTERE that borne wes God off Hewyn
 Thre score off yherys and ellewyn
 Vespasyane wan halyly
 All the landys off Surry
 To the empyre ; and that day
 Abowte Jerusalem he lay,
 Wyth hys ost off gret powere
 In tyll assege, as man off were,
 Quhen be lettrys till hym send
 He saw, and be thare tenore kend 810
 That he wes chosyn empyowre.
 That state tharfore wyth honowre

- He ressaȳd in Palestyne;
 Titus his sone he callyd syne,
 And till hym comendyt hale
 Off his gret ost the governale.
 Till Rome syne he passyd in hy,
 Quhare he resayȳd wes honorably,
 And commendyt mekyll wes,
 F. 81. For hys gret worschype and prowes. 820
 Syne in the flux hym hapnyd to de,
 For thare is nane that cas may fle,
 Bot in tyll his lattyre thrawe,
 To dede quhen [he] begouth to drawe,
 Evyn wp on his fete he stud,
 And sayd, wyth hale ȳoice and gud,
 " Ane Empryowre suld ay per-de
 Than the erde fere hyere be."
 In tyll that thrawe he tuk the dede,
 Titus hys sone ras in his stede 830
 Off Rome lord and empryoure,
 And lede thre yhere wytth honoure.
 He tuk and gert dystroyid be Off Jerusalem the cyté,
 And off the Tempill he tuk hale
 Ornamentys, vestymentys, and ȳeschalle,
 And till Rome all thai send he,
 Syne brynt gert all the Tempill be,
 And all the cytezanys slayne downe;
 Thare was the mast confusiounne 840
 In ony tyme that yhe herd telle,
 That evyr to the Jowys fell;
 For off the Jowys slayne, the blude
 Throuch all the towne in till a flude
 On heȳd wyth weltrand waȳys than,

As rywerys raysid wyth rayne ran :
Wyth suerd thare mony Jowys ware
Slayne, and [mony] deyde [war] thare
In hungyr, for the Romanys hale
Consumyt and held fra thame all wytalle, 850
And off the Jowys at thame yhald
Till the Romanys, ay thai sauld
Thretty for a penny thare,
Yhit sellarys may than byarys ware ;
For the Romanys alway thought
That the Jowys na thing dought
To be haldyn in serwyce,
That gert thame sel thame off sic prys.
In tyll Wespasyanys days,
And Titus, as the story says, 860
To Jerusalem this fell.

But off Tytus mare to telle,
He wes off sa gret curtasy,
Pyté, gud wyll, and mercy,
That quhen agaynys his persowne
Men ware off conspiratyowne
Accusyd, and convic be the lawe,
Fra jugement he wald thame drawe,
And kys thame, and forgyff thame all
The danger that thai suld in fall, 870
And als hamelyly [withe] thame thare
Tak thame as befor thai ware.
He excedyt off largeas
All thai that before hym was,
Or in hys tyme, off ony gre ;
For tyll hym tynt that day thought he
That na man come til ask hym oucht,
F. 81. b. And quha that evyr tyll hym soucht,

He denyit nevyr that thyng
 That wes resowne [of] hys askyng ; 880
 For it wes his oys to say
 That nane suld sary pas away
 Fra ony prynce, or lord, or kyng,
 Quhen he schawyt his yharnyng.
 He wes off wyrschype sa wërtuus,
 And off dedys sa mervalus,
 That wyth all mankynd off his eyld,
 He wes the joy callyd, and the beyld.
 And efftyre that quhen ded wes he,
 All thai that duelt in that cyté, 890
 Gretand in tyll sobbyng sare,
 Noucht les in all anoyit ware.
 Na thocht all thare kyn ilkane
 War wndone, or wytht dede ourtane :
 For his gret benygnyté,
 Worschype, wërtu, and bownte,
 He past his fadyre in to fame
 And callyd before hym is be name,
 As in till all story ay
 Rede and wrytyn fynd ye may. 900
 Quhen Petyr, Lyne, and Clete ware dede,
 Saynt Clement sat in to thare stede
 Nyne yhere Pape, and monethys twa,
 And ten days full ekyd to tha.
 Efftyr the baptysme ordanyt he Crystyne-men to confermyt be,
 But that, he sayd, na man mycht
 Full Crystyn man be callyd rycht ;
 And syne to dede dispytwysly
 He wes done throuch hard martyry, 910
 And in the sé his body lay

Castyn thare efftyr mony day,
 Quhille the Pape Cyryllus ras,
 In tyll hys tyme it fundyn was ;
 And that the sé quhar lang he lay
 Oysyd ilk yher tyll esche away
 Fra that kyrk a gret space,
 That off Saynt Clement fundyt was.
 Fra are none off [the] evyn beforne
 That hys fest fell on the morne,
 Quhill the day [fere] efftyre nowne,
 That Mes and offerand ware all downe.

920

Than Domityane, the tothir
 Wespasyanys sone and Titus brodyr,
 Threttene yhere off the empyre,
 And fywe moneth, wes lord and syre ;
 He wes in tyll his begynnyng
 Off gret mesoure in all thyng,
 Bot syne in tyll his state wes he
 Sa vycyows in all degre,
 That off [his] fadyre the gud name,
 And off his brothyr the fayr fame,
 Wes delete all halyly,
 Throuch hys wyce and hys felny.

930

F. 82. The nobylest off the senatowrys,
 That wes the mast wys consalowrys,
 He gert to fellowne dede be done.
 Syne him-self he gert call sone,
 Bothe lord and god off mekyll mycht,
 Thare wes na fygure he gert dycht,
 Or mak off hym-self to be,
 Than it off sylvyr fyne made he,
 Or than off gud gold and pure,
 Welle fasownyt, off fayr portrature.

940

Fyrst to lordschype quhen he drewe
 Hys systyr sonnys all he slwe,
 Neyst efftyre Nero the fellowne,
 He made fyrst persecutyown
 Off Crystyn men, and thare fay
 Supprysyd he held at wndyre ay ; 950
 And set that this Domityane
 Wes sone to gude Wespasiane,
 Yhit he wes off condytyowne
 Mare lyk tyll Nero the fellowne,
 Than till fadyr or brodyre he
 Lyk wes [in] till ony gre.

The ewangelyst Saynt Jhon,
 That duelt than in till Epheson,
 Hys ewangyle apertly
 Prechand, passyd throuche Asy ; 960
 Therefore this Domityane
 Gert hym arestyd be and tane,
 And send to presowne in the yle
 Off Pathmos, swa, wyth-in that quhille,
 Apocalipsis all he wrate ;
 Sa presownyd he bad in that state,
 Quhyll that this Domityane
 Throuch wnhape hys dede had tane.

And in till this tyme Saynt Dynys
 And hys falowys, in Parys, 970
 Off dede tholyd [the] passyown.
 The tempill than als off Panteown
 Quhare syne was Mary the Rotound,
 Agrippa Marcus than gert fownd,
 And than that tempyll, as men sayis,
 All thus was fowndyt in thai dayis.

Quhen the senatowrys herd tell

That the Perseys ras rebell,
 Agayne [the] state off Rome, than hale
 Thai ordanyt, apon set counsalle, 980
 To send furtht Marcus Agrippa,
 On the Perseys were to ma,
 For he wes prowest off the towne,
 Commendyt welle off gret renowne ;
 To this thai thought hym for to threte,
 Bot, or thai hys will mycht gette,
 To delyvere hys entent,
 He askyt thre dayis awysment.

Swa in hys slepe, apon a nycht,
 A yhong lady, fayre [and] brycht, 990
 F. 82. b. Aperytt tyll hym quhare he lay
 In tyll hys bed, lang forow day,
 And callyt hyr nam Dame Cibeles,
 That modyr off all goddys wes ;
 Scho sayd, Gyff [he] thare, Agrippa,
 Lelyly wald hecht to ma,
 In honowre off hyr, as scho
 Couthe and walde kene hym to do,
 A tempyll fayre, the Perseys qwytt
 He suld in batell discumfyte. 1000
 To that sone he gaue assent,
 And avowyd, wytht lele intent,
 For to fulfyll, in tyll all thyng,
 Off that fayre lady the yharnyng.
 And one the morne, qwhen day wes lycht,
 All, as he saw this on the nycht,
 To the senage he tald hale ;
 And syne gert ordane his batele
 Wyth a gret navyn apon sé,
 And knyghtys wycht off gret bownté 1010

In legyownys fywe ; and wyth tha quyte
 The Perseys hale he discumfyte,
 And agayne that tribwte wan,
 That thai payid till Octovyan.
 Syne for that caus he mad onone
 The tempyll that thai callyd Pantheon,
 In honowre off Dame Cybeles,
 That modyre off all thare goddys wes.

And in that tyme Domytyane
 Throuche wnhape hys dede has tane, 1020
 And thare him fell a foule endyng
 For hys fals and ywylly lyvyng,
 Wyth hys awyne men slayne he was,
 Off suddane chawns in his palas.
 And Nerva, quhen that he wes dede,
 Ras Empryowre in tyll his stede.
 Hys empyre stude bot a yhere,
 And foure moneth to reknyn clere ;
 He wndyde and dampnyd hale,
 As [wes] gevyn hym be counsale, 1030
 All the dedys evryilkane
 Before done throucht Domytyane :
 For thai ware fundyn all off ylle
 Done by the lauche for-owtyn skylle.
 Swa by that ordynans Saynt Jhone
 The ewangelyst till Epheson
 Passyt agayne, off presown fre
 Lowsyd ; thare welle resaWyde wes he.

Fra God off Mary flesche had tane, 1040
Anaclete, off natyowne

A Grek, borne off the regyowne
Off Athenys, nyne yhere,
Twa moneth, and ten dayis clere,

F. 83.

Wes Pape off Rome, and held that sé,
And off Saynt Petyr than made he
A memore, and till othir ma
Byschapys in hys tyme allswa
Steddys fayr, off gret honowre,
He ordanyd for thare sepulture. 1050

Tyll all Crystynmen he prechyd,
And thraly wytht hys lettrys techyd,
That befor all othir thai

Suld prestys hald in honour ay;
For he sayd, syne thai specialy
Oysyd till God to sacrify,
Thai suld nevyr supprysid be,
Bot relevyt in all degre,

And honoryd wyth ilka man.

This Anaclete gert ordan than 1060
That quhen thai yhed to sacrify,
Or do thare serwyce devoutely
To God, thai suld wyth thame tak
Wytnes, that suld knowlage mak

That thai sacrificid welle,
 And dyd thare devore ilka dele.
 He ordanyd clerkys, wytth honowre,
 To schawe thare berde and were tonsoure.

And efttyre hym, quhen he wes dede,
 Evaryst sat in hys stede 1070
 Ten yhere and monethys sevyne,
 And twa dayis to rekyn evyn.

TO thir twa Papys Schyr Trajane
 Wes Empryoure contemporane,
 And nyntene yhere off the empyre
 Stude lord, empryoure, and syre :
 All Asy, Babylon, and Pers,
 And hale Ynde, as I herd rehers,
 He throwche rade and wan off were,
 And made thame till Rome tributere. 1080
 He gert wythin the Rede Se
 A gret navyne gaddryde be Off Ynde the marchys till distroy,
 And hale that land for till anoy.
 Off the empyre the bowndys brade,
 Swa, in hys tyme, he gert be made,
 That all the Oryent mad homage
 Till Rome, and payid thare trewage.
 Men oysyd for his wyrschype ay

Be thra counsale and felown
He made gret persecutyown.
Off Crystyn-men, bot yhit he wes
Comendyt off gret rychtwysnes.
The story sayis, evyn in that tyde
That till hys werys for tyl ryde
Hys fute he hade in sterape set
On hors to lepe, but ony lete ;
Be the fute a wyff hym gat
And benely carpyt efftyre that, 1110
“ Now,” scho sayd, “ Schyr empyrowre,
Thow lywys in ryches and honoure,
Weldand warldys welth at wyll,
And I, anoyit in angris yl,
My lyff ledys, but help off thé,
That dettyde is to succoure me.
The comfort off my care, my sone,
Agayne the lauche to dede is done :
For the beld off thine honowre.
Thow do me lauch, Schir empyoure, 1120
Off thaim that that innocent
Has done to dede but jugement.”
To that he ansuerd and sayd, “ Dame,
Alssone agayne as I cum hame,
For thi sone I sall ger do
That laucht wald war done thare-to.”
“ Schyr empyoure,” than sayd the wyff,
“ Off thi gayne-come wytth thi lyff

Art thow sekyre, or quhilk is he
 That thi bowrche wyll thare-off be." 1130
 " Dame," than sayd the empyoure,
 " Sek than till my successoure
 For thi sone, I trowe he wyll
 Off hys dett the laucht fullfill."
 " Off thi successoure the deyde
 May nothire payre na mend thi meyd,"
 The wyff sayd, " Schyre empyoure,
 Thow art off laucht to me dettoure,
 And, gyff thi successoure wyll
 His awyn det, in his tyme, fulfill, 1140
 On na wys can thowe sykyre be Quhy thow suld set hym than to me,
 And his awyn det to qwyt
 May noucht mend thi mede a myt."
 Owt off his sterape he wyth that
 Drw his fute, and down he sat,
 And dyd full lauche and jugement
 Off thame that slwe that innocent.
 Quhen that wytht the lauch his sone,
 For a trespas that he had done, 1150
 Suld have lesyd [his] eyn twa,
 Ane he gert be tane off tha

 That callyd wes effytr Saynt Eustas, 1160
 Off hys knyghtys evryilkane,

F. 84.

For worschype prynce wes, and chyftane.
 The clerk Plynyus in his dais,
 Wrote tyll hym, as the story sayis,
 That Crystyn-men, one nakyn wys,
 He suld dysses, or yhit supprys,
 For in thame, sayd he, wes nane yll,
 Bot, nevyr that he cowth fynd, thare wyll
 Wes nevyr for to mak sacrifys,
 Na do thare honowre, na thare serwys, 1170
 Till mawmentys; bot thare oys wes ay
 Lang to rys wp befor day,
 And than thare Cryst devotly
 Honowre, and till hym sacrify.
 Fra thine he cessyd for to wede
 Agayne the Crystyne-men in dede;
 Bot, throuch his persecutyown,
 Mony sufferyd the passyowne
 And payne off ded, throuch martyry,
 Off fell counsale and tyrandry, 1180
 Before that Plynyus till hym wrate, Commendand Crystynmenis state.

This emprioure Schyr Trajane
 Tuk the trewage off Brettane.
 And in hys tyme Duchill ras,
 And atoure the Peychtis was
 Wyth-in the kynryk off Scotland
 Twenty yhere kyng regnand.

 Schyre Adriane ras in his stede, 1190
 Bot Trajane sa douchty wes,
 And be way off his rychtwysnes,
 Saynt Gregore, with devotyown,
 Made specyall and thra orysown

That God wald grawnt his saule to be
 Owt off hel delyverit fre ;
 And full wyttyng tharoff he gat
 Off the angell efftyre that
 That God had herd his orysown,
 And at his petityowne
 Trajanys saule wes owte off hell,
 Quhare it condemnyd wes to duell.

 For hys wantown thra askyng.
 [For quhy, the Angell bad hym cheis
 Owthire Trajanys saule to leys,
 Or ellis to tak hym a seiknes,
 Sen his askyn unskylfull wes ;
 And the feveris tyll hym tuk he,
 And sa he broucht the saule to gle ;
 And this was eftyre fyve hundyre yeire
 That Schir Trajane was broucht on beire.
 And the cause of this peté was
 For he hard of his rychtuusnes,
 And of hys lyf, and his gude deid,
 And for he thret was, as we reid,
 Be cruel consaill and fellone,
 To mak sic persecutioun
 Off Crystyn men, and noucht of will,
 This gart Sanct Gregor tak hym tyll
 That seiknes, and broucht hys saule to blys, Quhare now baith he and he ay is.]

Fywe moneth and aucht yhere
And twa dayis full to rekyn clere,
In tyll the Papys sege sat ;
Bot syne it wakyt efftyre that Fully fywe [yere] and thretty dayis.

1230

He ordanyd, as Frere Martyne sayis,
Watyre and salt tyll halowyt be ;
Haly watyr swa fyrst made he,
Wytht effectuous orysownys,
Agayne all yl temptatyownys.
Syne he bad that men suld fast
That watyr in thare howsys cast,
And that Haly Wattyr ay
Suld be made on the Sownday.
In to the Mes he ordanyd syne
The watyre to be put in wyne ;
The bred als that the oyst suld be Rownd, [and] off lytill qwantyté,
Bot off floure and watyre clere,
And, but ony othyr matere,
He ordanyd, and efftyr his day
The Kyrk has oysyd that manere ay.

That he off Rome wes lord and syre,
He lywyt in qwyete and [in] pes,
And a welle lettryd man he wes,
Bathe off Latyne and off Grew,
He wes welle facund in Hebrewe, 1300
He mony rychtwys lawys made,
And in Athenys he ordanyd hade
Off fayre werk a gret Lybrare ;
And bade that nane sa hardy ware
Crystyn men, on ony wys,
For ony cryme for to supprys,
Bot gyff lele pruff agayne thame made,
And the lauch conwyct thame hade.
The Kyrk, in hys tyme, Oryentale
The oys off service changyt hale 1310
In to langage all off Grewe,
Owt off the langage off Hebrewe :
He ekyd gretly the tresoure,
And held his knychtys in honoure :
Off Jerusalem, quhen he Had all up byggyt the cyté,

He gert wall in all that stede
 Quhare Cryste the passyowne tholyd off dede;
 And Crystyn-men ay lewyt he
 Wyth-in the towne to mak entre ; 1320
 Bot he wald grawnt off nakyn wys.
 To the Jowys that franchyse.

Quhen that his barnage come hym tille
 And sayd hym, at it ware thaire wylle,
 And full counsale, thai gave alle,
 Cesare August his sone to calle ;
 He said, it suld suffice that he
 Agayne hys wyll stud in that gre,
 And, but dyssert, regnyt empyowre,
 Thought that stat and that honowre 1330
 War noucht spylt in swylk ane-othyr,
 Quhethir ewyre he ware sone or brodyre,
 Thare sulde na state succede be blude,
 Bot thare ware un lyre wertu gude ;
 A lorde borne wyth-owte meryte
 Is noucht worth, he sayd, a myte ;
 A kyng off byrthe and wnworthy
 Regnys, he sayd, unhappyly ;

F. 58. b. The fadyr, he sayd, he couth welle prove Dysspoylehyt the sone off fadyr love 1340
 Mare chargis on hys bak to lay,
 Than he mycht lychtly bere away ;
 For swa he settys hys besynes
 Till smore hys sone be lyklynes,
 And wyndyr byrthe hym to supprys
 But helpe off hym wytth it to rys ;
 For-thi, suld men in thare yhowthede
 Be techyd well, swa prove in dede,
 And the effect oys off thare lare

Quharin before thai oysyd ware, 1350
 Gyff that thai grewe swa off walu
 Throuch wyt, wurschype, and wertu,
 That thai ware lyk thame till excede
 That thai in honoure walde procede,
 Than thai suld clyme as thai ware calde,
 And stedfastly thare steppys hald
 In to that hycht quhill thai ware set
 That thai thame pressyt before to get,
 Than regne and reule thaire reawté,
 Wytht luffe, and lauche, and leawté. 1360

Quhen Schyre Adriane regnyde thus,
 The phylosophyre Secundus
 Wes in hys flourys and his state,
 Bot hys sentens all he wrate,
 For strayte sylence he held ay,
 The cas thare-off I wyll noucht say,
 For yhe may find it in his buke,
 Gywe yhe wyll all hys tretys luke.

F. 86. b.

In tyll hys tyme, as I herd tell,
 Oure the Peychtis Wordegell 1370
 Rase, and kyng was in Scotland
 Twenty wyntyr hale regnand.

IN till this Adryanys dayis,
 Syxt, as the Cornykyll sayis,
 Wes Pape off Rome, and ordanyt ay
Sanctus [thryse] at the Mess to say,
 Neyst efftyre the prefatyown,
 Befor the levatyown.
 He ordanyt als the Corporalle
 Off clene lynt to be made hale, 1380

Fayre and quhyt, but ony lyt ;
 And als that nane suld handyll it,
 Na nakyn thyng that halowyit ware,
 Chalyce, towale, or awtare,
 Bot thai that mynystryd in thare gré,
 And ordanyt ware, and had powsté.

AND eftyre hym quhen he was dede
 Thelefore sat in his stede
 Thre monethis, and ellewyn yhere,
 And twa and twenty dayis clere. 1390
 He ordanyt men for to fast ay
 Sevyn owkys hale befor Pays day,
 F. 86. And Gloria in Excelsis he Ordanyt at the Mes to be Sayd, and on the Yhule day
 He bad thre Messys be sayd ay :
 At the cokcraue the fyrst Mes,
 For Cryst that in that tyme borne wes ;
 The tothire syne ordanyt he
 In the dawying to swngyn be, 1400
 For that tyme Cryst in clathis clene
 Wes swelyt, and wytht the hyrdys sene,
 And anowrnyt devoutly,
 As Luk berys wytnes werraly ;
 Syne the thryd Mes off that day
 Eftyre Ters he ordanyt ay
 To be sayd, quhen that the lycht
 Offe oure redemptyowne [schynyt] brycht.

AND efftyre that Schyre Adriane

Fayr deyt in tyll Champane, 1410
 Antone the mylde off the empire
 Stud Empryoure, bathe lord and sire,
 Thretty yhere and monethis thre,
 In to Rome that state held he.
 Mawche he was tyll Adriane,
 And till all Crystyn men, ilkane,
 He wes rycht meyke and off gude wyll ;
 For-thi, that name wes gevyn hym tille
 That myld Antone thai oysyd alle,
 And thare fadyre hym to calle. 1420
 And als in hys tyme landys sere,
 That oblyst tyll gret dettys were,
 Off thare dett he made thaim fre,
 Bot yhit thaire homage ay held he.
 The medycynare, Galyene off name,
 Wes in hys tyme off gret fame,
 And Tholomé, in astronomy,
 Wes than commendyt grettumly.
 And that tyme als Pompeyus,
 That callyd be name wes Trogus, 1430
 A Spaynaye kynd off natyowne,
 Commendyt wes off grete renowne,
 Off all the warlde the storys
 Fra Nynus kyng begouth to rys
 Till that tyme that Octovyane
 The world all to the Empyre wan,
 This Pompeyus in Latyne
 Cornykyld and dyvysyt syne
 Tha in fourty bukys and foure,
 Thare-eft Justyne that red thaim oure 1440
 Abbregyde all tha gret storys
 In smallere and in les tretys.

F. 86. b.

This myld Antone oysyd to say
 That fere leware he had alway
 A man off his to sauff wnslayne
 Than off hys fays to sla agayne,
 For [that] a man a thowsand hale,
 How evyre the werd yhed off batalle.

Antone the Myld this Empryoure
 Alway to gud men dyd honoure, 1450
 He hade a dochtyr callyd Fawstynne,
 Off face fayre, and off fassown fyne,
 In tyll hyr solace, as scho past,
 Scho saw quhare men ware fechtande fast,
 On ane off thai scho set hyr luwe,
 For manhed that scho saw hym pruwe,
 And brynt in lust sa stratly,
 That bathe scho sek was and sary,
 And all lyk for to be dede,
 Bot gyff scho sonnare gat remede. 1460
 Hyr husband, thare-fore, off Caldé
 Gert medicynarys sone fetchyde be,
 To se and ken quhat malady
 Trauwyld hys wyff sa grettumly.
 Quhen thai come and had sene hyr welle,
 And scho had tauld thame ilk[a] delle
 The matere off hyr malady,
 Thai [gaf] for counsale halyly
 The man that swa hys manhed pruwyde,
 And at scho sa stratly luwyde, 1470
 To be slayne, and syne his blude
 In tyll a weschall tycht and gude
 Sulde be put ; syne hastyly
 Thai suld wesche oure hyr body
 Wyth that blud quhill it war hate.

All thus thai dyd wyth-owt debate,
 And [qwhen] this counsall wes all done
 Hyr temptatyown cessyt sone,
 And coveryt welle off hyr malady,
 And lefft hyr folys fantasy. 1480

All this tyme in tyll Scotland
 The Peychtis duelt, and ware regnand,
 And Dekothet than off thame kyng
 Had fourty yhere thaire governyng.

In till this tyme Thelesforus
 The Pape deyt, and Ignius
 Foure yhere and monethis thre,
 Quhen he wes dede, that state held he.
 He made and ordanyt the clergy
 Dystynct be greis propyry. 1490

The god-fadyre he bad alsua,
 Or the god-mudyre, the barnys ta
 Off the fownt quhen howyn thai ware.

He ordanyt alsua that manare
 Quhen barnys suld confermyt be.
 Syne in a generalle lettyre he Off God and Mannys unyown,

F. 87. And Crystys Incarnatyown,
 He wrate to be haldyn ay,
 But ony dowte, off Crystyn fay. 1500

TYLL the Pape Ignyus
 Neyst succedyt Schyre Pius,
 Ellewyn yhere and monethis foure,
 And ane and twenty days oure,
 Pape off Rome he werray was,
 In hys lettrys he said Hermes,

A doctor gret off Crystyne fay,
 That wellc was lettryd in hys day,
 Sayd, that ane angell, brycht and quhyte,
 In tyll ane hyrdys pure habyt, 1510
 Apperyt, and gawe bydding ay.
 Pasce to mak apon Sownday ;
 For-thi, off oure autoryté,
 We appruwe that solempnyte
 Ilka yhere to be done ay,
 As cours rynnyys on the Sownday.

MARCUS than Antonius,
 And hys brodyr Aurelius,
 Off the empyre nyntene yeire
 Empryowrys and lordys were ; 1520
 And off Rome the empyre swa
 Than wes dyvysyt betwene thame twa,
 Bot quhen Aurelius the dede had tane,
 Mark Antonius hym allane
 Held and governyd the empyre.
 All Asy throuch fra Tars to Tyre,
 Ynde, and all the Oryent,
 And gret part off the Occident,
 He gert pay contributyowne.
 Bot mony tholyde the passyown 1530
 Off martyry for Crystyne fay
 Wndyr hym ; yhit wes he ay
 Off gret wyt and off stabylnes,
 For nane mycht ken that evyr he wes,
 For ony word, off cas hapnand,
 Changyt in hys assemblend.
 Wyth mesure and benygnyté

All his landys tetryde he,
 And all tyme [he] commendyt wes
 Off worschype, honoure, and larges. 1540

Hys tresoure quhen he dispendyt hade,
 Hys weschale, that off fyne gold wes made,
 And all hys wywys hed-gere hale,
 Wyth mony othire fayre jowale,
 He gave his knychtis in thare fé,
 For he defawte had off mone ;

Na he his comownys on na wys
 Wyth impositiownys wald supprys
 But mare hys wyll stude to relewe
 Than wndyr hym ony man till aggrewe. 1550

Bot off landys syne syndry
 Quhare that he wan the wyctory,
 He recoveryt wondyr welle
 Hys distres all ilk[a] delle ;

F. 87. b. And mony landys that than ware
 Subject to Rome and tributare,
 He releschyde thare trewage,
 Reserwand tyll hym thare homage.

Combust, as oure story sayis,
 Oure the Peychtis in hys dayis 1560
 Wes twenty wyntyr kyng regnand
 Wyth-in the kynryk off Scotland.

In hys tyme Pius the Pape wes dede,
 And Anyclet rase in hys sted,
 Nyne yhere and monethys thre
 And foure dayis full he held that se.

Sothere syne hys successoure
 Nyne yhere and thre moneth oure
 And ane and twenty dayis fre
 Sat in to the Papys se. 1570

He bade the nunnys on na wys
 Suld cens the kyrk in thare serwys,
 Nowthir chalice na corporalle,
 Awtare halowyt, na towale,
 Thai suld handyll be na way,
 And he gave byddyng to thaim ay,
 That thare wale ware na tyme lewyde,
 Than than suld were it on thare hewyde.

ANE hundyr and fourscore off yhere
 And fyve full, or thare by nere
 Quhen that Sothere the Pape wes dede,
 Elewtherius tuk hys stede,
 And sat in till it fyftene yhere
 Sex moneth and fywe dayis clere.

1580

The Kyng off Brettane Lucyus
 Wratt to this Elewtherius,
 And made hym instans specyally
 In till Brettane to send in hy
 Off hys clerkis, for to preche
 The Crystyne trewth, and syne to teche
 The Brettownys baptysme for to ta;
 And he to be the fyrst off tha
 He made full professiowne,
 And hecht wyth gud devotyown.

1590

This Pape than Elewtherius
 At the instans off Schyr Lucyus

Send twa religious men,
 Fugane callyt and Damyen,
 In tyll Brettane for to preche
 The Crystyne trewth, and men to teche 1600
 Baptysme to tak; for na man may
 But it be sauff on ony way.

Than at the fyrst off that cas
 The Kyng off Brettane howyn was;
 And all the barnage off his land
 Than baptyst wes, and welle trowand,
 And stedfast stud in to that fay
 Till Dioclityanys day :

F. 88. That is, gyff the soume be sene,
 Ane hundyr wyntyr and sextene, 1610
 Or nere thare-by, as sum men wrate,
 And variis as thai set thare date.

 Bot for he wes noucht off swylk thyng
 Wytth the lauch accusyd off tholyng,
 He wes noucht put off his offyce,
 Bot bade and dyde furth his service.
 Amange the Appostylls, and quhat that he Dyde wyth thame for thare dignyte
 Ferme and stabyll it wes lefft
 And approwyd welle thare-efft.

IN till Rome Schyre Comodus,
 The sone off Mark Antonyus, 1640
 That tyme wes made empyoure,
 And threttene yhere in that honoure
 He stude, and wes in dedys fell,
 Owtrageows, and rycht cruelle ;
 Off Duche-land yhit halyly
 He wan and had the wyctory,
 And held it subject all his days.

In Egypt syne, the story sayis,
 He send off Rome a douchty man,
 That callyt be name wes Phylpe than, 1650
 Chefftane wndyr hym to be,
 Off Alysandyr, the gret cyté.
 This Philipe had a douchtyr fayre,
 That suld off lauch have bene hys ayre,
 Bot, for [luf] off [the] Crystyne fay,
 Scho fra hyr fadyr stall away
 In mannys wede, all prewaly,
 And tuk wyth hyr in cumpany
 Twa geldyt men and off gud fame,
 That Prot and Jacmit had to name. 1660

Scho baptisme tuk in prewaté,
And held hyr madynhed ay secré
And Ewgenyus callyt be name,
F. 88. b. Comendyt off rycht honeste fame,
And lete ay that scho wes a man.
Scho, and hyr twa geldyngys than,
That conversyt togyddyr ay,
Had acces gret tyll ane Abbay,
And thaire, off thare devotyowne,
Tuk habyte off relygiowne, 1670
And lyvyt thare religyowsly,
And dyde thare office perfyteley.
Sa sone the abbot of the plas
Deyt, and entèryd was,
And this Ewgenyus, in his stede,
Wes chosyn quhen that he wes dede.
A woman than off pollute fame,
That callyt Melancia wes be name,
Wes nere duelland that abbay,
And [gret] repayre had tyll it ay ; 1680
Off that repayre swa that scho hade,
And sawe this Abbot [was] new maid,
For luve scho yharnyt inkrely
Till have hade off hym copy.
Quhen scho mycht nought get assent
Off that Abbot till hyr intent,
Scho defamyt that abbot hale,
And till the mwnkys tald a tale,
That he wald have lyin hyr by
And [had] supprysid hyr vyleusly, 1690
Na ware the pyth scho put agayne.
And helpyt hyr wyth mycht and mayne.
Quhen this qwene had carpyt thus,

This abbot syne Ewgenyus,
 That hard this accusatyowne,
 Before the prowest off the towne
 Wes tyt and tane be howe and hare,
 Quhill all hyr clathys ryvyn ware;
 Swa in that toyle quhill scho wes tyt,
 It wes persayvyt, throuch a slyt,
 That scho wes woman propyrlly.
 Than the prowest werraly
 That beheld and saw this cas,
 And kend at scho his douchtyre was,
 Lowyt God, syne howyn wes he,
 Wyth all hys court and his menyhe,
 And the wykkyt quene Melans,
 Throuch subitane and fell wengeans,
 Off fyrflaucht fers in to that stede
 Peryst, but ony kyn remede.

1710

QWHEN Elewtherius the pape wes dede,
 Victor sat in tyll hys stede
 Twa moneth and ten yhere,
 And twelff dayis passyd clere.
 A gret Consalle he gert be
 Haldyn wyth solemnyte;
 Thare stablyst wes that Pasce suld ay
 Be done apone [the] Sownday;
 For mony byschapys off Asy,
 And all the Oryent halyly,
 Oysyd ilke yhere to do thare Pasce,
 As than the Jowys maner was.
 Gyff ony man in dowte ware stade,
 And nede off helpe or mystyr had,

1720

F. 89.

And yharnyt in that poynt to be Crystyne man; than ordanyde he
That man to be howyn thare,
In quhat kyn [ply] that ewyre he ware.

Quhen that Victor pape was thus,
The empyoure ras, Elyus, 1730
Till ilke man in his degré
Myld and cumpynabill wes he.
Bot wyth-in the fyrst yhere
Off hys empyre, for-owtyn were,
He wes slayne off cas, and dede.

Than ras Severus in hys stede,
And sevyn yhere off the empyre
He empyoure, bath lord and syre,
Stude, and prowynt gret douchtynes,
And a welle lettryd man he wes : 1740
He wes cruelle, and fellowne,
And made gret persecutyowne
Off Crystyn men, that mony were Dede throuch hym in paynys sere.

He faucht wyth syndry natyownys,
And wan, and made thare regyownys
Till Rome subject; and Brettane
Off thai the last wes that he wan.
And thare he mad wyth-in that Ile
A wall lang off a hundyr myle 1750
Wytht thretty myle thare-till and thre,
Strekand ewyn fra se to se,
In the takyn that he wan
Off were the kynrike off Brettane.

In till Yhork syne he wes dede.
Caracalla in tyll hys stede
Sewyn yhere wes empyoure;

Bot lust supprisynt hys honoure :
 Severyus sone he wes but dowte,
 Bot he wes were than he all owte. 1760
 In all poynt off lychery
 He lywyt at lykyn fullyly.
 Hys awyn step-modyr tyll wyffe
 He tuk, and led wyth hyr hys lyffe.

SYNE Zepheryne the Pape off Rome,
 And kepare off all Crystyndome,
 Neyst succedynt till Wycor,
 Qwham off yhe herd me rede before,
 And that sege held monethys sewyn,
 Wyth twa dayis full and yheris ellewyn. 1770
 He ordanyd than that ilke yhere
 Thai that off eyld passyd were Twelff yhere suld [be] clenly
 Schrewyn, and tak syne devoutly
 The Ewcaryst on the Pasche day,
 That Goddys body is werray.

F. 89. b.

Qwhen this Zepheryne wes dede,
 Calixt the Pape sat in his stede
 Fyve yhere, and monethis twa,
 And ten dayis wyth-outyn ma. 1780
 The Pape Calixt in thai dayis
 Ordanyt, as the story sayis,
 The Catyrtens in dere fastyng.

Syne quhen his lyffe had tane endyng,
 His successoure wes callyt Urbane,
 That was off natyoune a Romane.
 Thretten wyntere, and ellewyne
 Monethys, and twelff dayis ewyn,

In Rome he held the Papys sé ;
Waleriane convertyde he, 1790
That spowsyd wes wytht Saynct Cecyle ;
And wndyr hym, in to that quhille,
The kyrk ras till possessiownys
Off rentys, and gret regyownys,
That befor hys tyme alway
Lywyd off tendys or monay
That wes gywyn in offerande,
Be oys or statute off the lande.

Till the Pape Calixt and Wrbane
Thre Empryowrys contemporane, 1800
Ware in thare tyme successywe,
And ilkane fellowne in thare lywe.
Off thai the fyrst wes callyt Martyne,
He lywyd bot a yhere ; neyst hyme syne
Antonyws wes empryoure,
And thre yhere stud in that honoure ;
Hys body brynt swa in delyte,
And off foule lust in appetyte,
That alkyn kynd off lychory
He oysyd als commownaly, 1810
As he a best, but wyt, had bene.

Neyst efftyre hym, wyth-outyn wene,
Alysandyr his successoure
Was threttene wynter empryoure :
And that tyme Orygenes
The Doctor in hys flowris wes :
And Caramacert in Scotland
Twenty wyntyr Kyng regnand
Wes oure the Peychtis in thai dayis,
As owre Scottis storys sayis. 1820

THIS tyme alway till Urbane
 The Pape succedyt Pontayne,
 That twa moneth, and fywe yhere,
 And twa [dayis] full for-owtyn were
 In Rome held the Papys se.
 In Sardyny syne dede wes he,
 And Cyryak, hys successoure,
 Held bot a yhere that honowre.
 Bot cesyd off devotyown,
 Ancheses than, off natyown

1830

F. 90.

A Grek, he ordanyd in his se :
 In cumpany syne past he
 Wytth the ellewyn thousand madynnys clene
 That before than howyn had bene,
 Tyll Coloyne fra the court off Rome,
 And wyth thame tholyd martyrdome.
 Bot, for caus that his clergy,
 Wend for lust off his body,
 He had wyth thai madynnys gane,
 Reknyt he wes noucht as ane
 Off the Papys, quhare thai ar set.
 Ancheses efftyre him, but lete,
 Ordanyd byschapys for to be
 Transferyd, for caus, fra se to se.

1840

To thire Papys, contemporane
 Thre yhere fyrst Maximiane
 Stud Empryoure ; quhen he wes dede,
 Gordyane ras in tyll his stede
 And sex yhere in the empyre
 Stud off Rome bathe lord and syre.
 Quhen Fabyane wes Pape off Rome,
 And kepare of all Crystyndome,

1850

Neyst till Anchases successoure,
 And thretten yher in that honoure
 He sat, and ordanyt the Creme ay
 To be made on the Skyre Thurisday.
 Quhen the congregatyowne
 Sat in thaire electyowne,
 And Fabyane amang thame thare,
 A quhyte dow on hys hewyde bare
 Lychtyde, and said he sulde be Pape
 And off the warld the mast byschape;
 Throuch that electiowne in that plas,
 Pape off Rome he chosyn was.

F. 92. Passyd in hy till Pontyane,

That werray Pape off Rome wes than ;

There wes he baptyst, and, that done

In hy, wytht Pontyus his sone,

This Marchus in thare tempyll past,

And brak downe off thare mawmentys fast,

And kennyd Cryst for thare Creatoure,

And dyd hym serwyce and honowre.

Sa fell, efftyr mony day,

Quhen this Marcus wes dede away,

2060

This chyld wes takyn apon threte,

For honoure off his lynage grete,

And present to the Empryoure,

That held hym in till gret honoure

Off gre, and state, and senyhowry,

As till hym fell off awncestry.

Sa quhen the empryoure herd telle

That Frans agayne Rome wese rebelle,

Owt off hys cowrt he send a knycht,

That Decyus to name had rycht,

2070

Wytht a gret ost, as man off were,

Frans to dawnte wyth that powere.

And quhen this Decyus past in Frans,

For till amese thare this distans,
 Rynnand wes the thousand yhere,
 As reknyt wes and countyt clere,
 Fra Romulus gert wallyt be Off Rome, as yhe herd, the cyté;
 And, for that caus, the Romanys hale
 All that yhere held festywalle, 2080
 In turnamentys and justyng,
 Menstralcyis, and gret dansyng;
 And ilk[a] day apon thare wys,
 Dyd till thare goddys thaire serwys,
 And held thare solace and thare play.

The Empryoure swa, on a day,
 Ordanyd hym, on hys best wys,
 To pas and mak hys sacrifice
 Till his god Jovys, devoutly;
 Swa tuk [he] in hys cumpany 2090
 This chyld Pontyus, that was Gruchand in that way to pas;
 Bot, in the way, swa quhen he Saw his oportunité,
 He sayd, "Me thynk, Schyr Empryoure,
 This serwyce till yhoure Creatoure,
 Wyth gud wyll yhe sulde dispend
 That has till yhowe that honowre send."

"Sone," he sayd, "tharefore I ga

EFFTYRE the dede off Pape Stevyn,
 Saynt Sixt that sé held thre yhere ewyn
 Ellewyn moneth and sex dayis.
 Befor that, as the story sayis,
 He in Spayne as Legat past,
 Thare Crystyne throwth he prechyd fast,
 And twa fayre yhong men thare he fand,
 Honest, habyll, and awenand,
 The tane be name was callyd Lawrens,
 And the tothire wes callyd Vyncens ;
 Thir twa luwt Sixt specyaly,

2330

And wyth hym wes contenualy
 Quhill he wes in Spayne prechand.
 Syne, quhen he turnyd off the land,
 For luwe, tha twa folowyd fast,
 And furth to Rome ewyn wyttht hym past,
 And wyth hym in thare serwyce bade,
 Pape off Rome quhile he wes made, 2340
 And efftyre that tyme als[sa] fast
 In Spayne Saynct Vincent agayne past.
 Bot in till Rome Saynct Laurens bade,
 And wyth that Pape hys duellyng made ;
 And he than made hym hale kepare,
 And, at hys lykyng, delyverare
 Off all the gud and the tresoure
 That Phylip the Empryoure before
 Had delyveryd hym quhen he past
 Owt off the land, and fled rycht fast 2350
 Fra Decius, that wes [sa] fell
 Till Crystyn men, as yhe herd tell.
 Quhen this Sext wes [Pape] off Rome
 And kepare off the Crystyndome,
 [He] ordanyd prestys for to say
 Thare Mes on halowyd awterys ay,
 That ware perfytylly mad off stane,
 Quhar befor hys tym wes nane
 That swa oysyd to say the Mes.
 Throuch martyry syne slayne he wes 2360
 Wndyr Decius yhong, that syre

Swa anyrly behynd thé here,
For the tresore now, but dowl,
All hale I have dyspendyt owte."

Quhen Cesare yhong, this Decius,
Herd hym spek off tresore thus,
He bad that he suld tyll hym bryng
That tresoure all, but delaying,
And Laurens than off dayis thre
Askyd delay, swa that he 2390
Mycht it all in a sowme get ;
That grawntyd wes till hym, but let,
For Decyus yhong, the empyoure,
Thought till have gottyn that tresoure ;
The delay thare-fore wes
Grawntyd wytht the mare blythnes.
And in this mene tyme Saynct Laurens
Gadryd, wytht rycht gret diligens,
Off pure folk a gret menyhé,

Off eyld, and off debilyté, 2400
 That in tyll gret ned war stad,
 And mystyr off thare fyndyng had,
 And closyd thame all prewaly
 In tyll ane hous, and syne in hy
 He yheyd to the empyoure,
 And bad hym cum, and hys tresoure
 Se and ressawe, gyff hym thought
 That it war worth, or gaynande oucht.
 Wyth that Decyus past in hy,
 Wyth Saynct Laurens rycht blythly, 2410
 For till haue gottyn than, thought he,
 Off gold and sylvyr gret plenté.
 Saynct Laurens than wndyde the dure,
 And sayd, "Lo here, Schyre Empryowre,
 Off the kyrk the gret tresore,
 Quhare-off I mad the hecht before ;
 That mekyll may to thi saule awayle,
 And newyre mare is lyk to fayle,
 Gyff that thow may ware welle this
 The growyng sall be hewynnys blys." 2420
 Thare than quhen Schyre Decyus

 Gert in Chawmpayne gadryde be,
 Ane hundyr byschopys and four score,
 Welle rewestyd hym before ; 2550
 Wyth opyn and playne confessyowne,
 And wyth werray contrityowne,
 He jugyd hym-self for to be
 Deprywyd off his dignyté,
 And curssyd all thai that wyth honowre
 Suld put hys cors to sepulture ;
 For he sayd, at cōwatys
 Off gold gert hym mak sacrifyis

Till fals mawmentys, and for-thi
 He wes till presthad wnworthy. 2560
 Till Dyoclytyane syne he past,
 And confessyd before hym fast
 That he wes lele Crystyn-man;
 The emprioure gert sla hym than,
 And efftyr that mony [a] day
 Wngrawyn outht the erde he lay,
 Quhill Marcellus the byschape,
 That efftyr hym wes chosyn Pape.
 Saynct Petyr, the appostill brycht,
 Apperyd till hym apon a nycht, 2570
 In wysyowne, lang before day,
 Quhare slepand in hys bed he lay,
 And cald hym be hys name, " Marcell, Gyff thow be slepand, now me tell."
 " Lord," he ansuered, " quhat ar yhe
 In till this tyme [that] callys on me?"
 " Off the appostillis prynce am I,
 Petyr," he sayd, " and askis quhy
 " My cors thow thoyls wngrawyn be Lyand outht the erd?" Than he 2580
 Ansuerd and sayd, that he herd tell,
 [His] predecessor, the Pape Cornell,
 At the request off Saynct Lucyne,
 In tyll a towmbe off marbyr fyne,
 Gert hys body beryd be,
 Wytth festywalles solempnyte.
 " Nay," sayd Saynct Petyr, " Marcellyne,
 That has myne successoure bene syne,
 And my falow in all degré,
 Wngrawyn lyis, as thow may se : 2590
 Gywe thow likys," he sayd, " till luke,

F. 97.

Thow sall fynd wryttyn in the Buke,
 Quha that wyll draw hym on hycht,
 -Lawch downe behowys hym for to lycht;
 And quha that haldys hym in the lawe,
 Till hycht hys meiknes will hym drawe.
 He has denyd, and saw dide I,
 In that oure partys fell ewynly,
 And syne, efftyr [his] contrityowne,
 Off gud wyll tuk the passyowne 2600
 Off dede, for Jhesu Cryst, hys lard,
 That hewyn has gyvyn hym for rewarde.
 He hym meikyd in mekyll thyng
 That hym forjugyd fra graŵyng;
 Tharefore," he sayd, "I byd thé
 And nere me ger hym dolwyn be;
 For honoure suld noucht be denyd
 Tyll hym that grace has justyfyd."
 Marcellus than, his successoure,
 Apon the morne, wytht gret honoure, 2610
 Enteryd hym nere by that place
 Quhare that Saynct Petyr lyand was.

QWHEN Marcellyne all thus was dede,
 The Pape Marcellus in his stede
 Sat fywe yhere and twenty days.
 Maximiane, as the story sayis,
 For caus he wald noucht sacrifice
 Till fals mawmentys dewotely,
 Gaŵe hym byddyng for to kepe,
 As herdys dois, nowyt and schepe; 2620
 Syne in thare stabill gert hym be Closyt, quhill thare-in dede wes he.

Waleryus, Constans, and Lacyne
Governyd all the empyre syne.

This Constans wes a dowchty knycht,
And in all werys wys and wycht :
Quhen he to Rome had wonnyn Spayne,
He past off counsalle in Brettane,
For to wyn till hym that land,
And till hald it in hys hand

2630

He come to Brettayne. Bot Coel,
That herd weill off hys commyng tell,
Send messyngerys till hym to say,
That he off Rome wald [al] his day
Hald ; wyth thi he payid na mare,
Than hys eldaris [had] payid are.
Constantyus grantyd thare-till,
And tuk hostage it to fulfill.

F. 97. b.

Coel deyde in a moneth syne ;
And left a dochtyr a wyrgyne,
That excedyt off bewté
All the ladys off that cuntré,
That nane in Brettayne wes sa fare :
And, for he saw scho wes hys ayre,
He leryd hyr off mynystralsy,
And off all clerenes off clergy :
Scho hat Elane, that syne fand
The Cors in to the Haly Land.

2640

Constans tuk hyr till hys wywe,
And mad hym kyng eftyr belyve ;
And apon hyr gat Constantyne,
That Empryowre off Rome wes syne.
Thare-efft, or past wes nyne yhere,
This Constans wes broucht on bere ;
And till hys sone the land left he,

2650

That worthy off sa gret bownté,
 And off sa stowt and sturdy dede,
 That he come man in his yhowthede.

TYLL Marcell Pape than successoure
 Ewsebyus wes, and that honoure
 He held twa moneth and twa yhere
 And fywe and twenty dayis clere.
 Hys successoure Mylchiades
 Syne Pape off Rome twa wyntyr wes :
 He bad that men be na way
 Sulde fast apon the Sonownday.

2660

Than Canatulmel sex yhere wes ;
 Neyst hym Devortenauch-Notales
 Wes bot a yhere in Scotland
 Oure the Peychtys kyng regnand.
 Feredauch-Fyngell neyst to tha
 Wes kyng regnand yheris twa.

CHAP. X.

Off Silvester the Pope syne,
 And off the Emprioure Constantyne.

A.D.
 312.

EFFTYR the byrth off oure Lord dere
 Thre hundyr wyntyr and twelff yhere
 Gud Constantyn, that Elane
 The kyngis dowchtyr off Brettayne
 Borne off hyr body, wes Empriowre ;
 And thretty yhere in that honoure
 He stude, and Haly Kyrkis fay

F. 98.

He supprysyd mony [a] day. 2680
 In hys tyme till Melchiades
 Silvestyr succedand wes
 Pape off Rome, and twenty yhere
 And thre to thai to rekyn clere,
 Ten moneth, as oure story sayis,
 He sat, and ellewyn days.
 In Nycia, that cyté,
 A solempne Senyhe held he ;
 Thre hundyr byschopys and aughtene
 Thare revestyt well ware sene, 2690
 And clerly expowndyt thai
 In that Senyhe Haly Kyrkys fay.
 This Sylvestyr thare-efftyr fiede
 Fra Constantyne, for he hym drede,
 For he was austere and cruelle
 Ay till he in lypyre felle,
 Brokyn owt in foule myselry,
 Quhare-for till medicynarys in hy
 For to recoŵyre hys hele he soucht,
 Bot all thare craft awaylyhit noucht, 2700
 Quhill the bischapys off the land,
 That in the templys wer serwānd
 Till the mawmentys, sayd that he Behuwyd off nede bathyd be
 In till innocentys blud all hat,
 Gyŵe he recoŵyr suld hys stat.
 Of this counsall als[sa] fast
 The sarjandys apon byddyng past
 And tuk wp barnys here and thare,
 Quhare-evyr that thai waverand ware, 2710
 In hous, or gat, as thai thaim fand,
 To the sowme off thre thousand,

And put thame in gret sykyrnes
 Till the tyme that ordanyt wes
 And set, quhen he suld bathyd be.
 And that ilk[a] day as he
 In tyll hys chare fra hys palas
 In hys way past to the plas
 That ordanyd wes for his bathyng,
 Wyth dulefull chere and sare murnyng, 2720
 The modrys off the barnys thare
 Gretand, fra thare hewyd the hare
 Tyte and rawe as thai war wude,
 And in that rage on thai yhud
 Till thai met wyth the emprioure ;
 Befor hym than, in that doloure,
 They fell on kneys and cryid sa fast
 That thai hym devyd at the last.
 And quhen he herd that stedfastly
 The caus that made thame sa sary, 2730
 He stud ewyn wpe in till his chare,
 And, till al that abowt hym ware,
 He sayd, " Ilkane in yhoure degre,
 I praye [yow], gyff yhoure wyllys be,
 Nere togyddyre nowe yhe drawe,
 And gyffys audyence to my sawe.
 Off the empyre, the reawté
 The state, the worschype, and the gre,
 As all [your] phylosophyrys syngys,
 Owte off the well off pyté spryngys ; 2740
 Na thare sall na state endure,
 In caysere, kyng, na empriowre,
 Quhare that mercy tays na stede,
 Bot all wyth awe and grew is lede.
 For-thi, gud empriowrys beforne,

F. 98. b.

That had this state or I wes borne,
As Tytus and Wespasiane,
Alysawndyr and Adryane,
Trajane," he sayd, " and othir sere,
That in thare dedys dowchty were, 2750
Quhen in bataille thai displayt
Thare banerys, and thare fays assait,
Thai gave in byddyng rycht stratly,
And gert all oure thare ostys cry,
That nane suld barne or women sla,
Na clathys off thare bodiis ta,
On payne off all that thai mycht tyne,
And to be hangyt and drawyn syne :
Now sen sa gud before oure dayis
Thus led thame, as oure story says, 2760
Bettyr me ware wnborne to be,
Na now fall in that cruawé
All yhone innocentys to sla,
For ony helpe at thai mycht ma
To the hele of my body,
That to recoŵyr fullyly
Be na way can I certane be ;
And set thai mycht recoŵyr me,
Yhit it ware oure cruelle thyng,
Off sa mony barnys yhyng 2770
Off oure awyne natyowne
For to mak sic distructyowne.
Quhy suld we slay," he said, " our awyne,
And thai forber that are wnknawyne,
It is no speyd for to supprys
Wyth fecht or were oure innymys,
Gyffe we wyth mare cruawté

 Bot wyce, or syne, for to supprys
 It is off wertu a qwyntys ;
 In swylk pres it hapnys ay
 That we ar starkare fere than thai,
 Bot in to this, but dowt, we ar
 Starkare than oure-selff befare.
 Quha-evyr may happyn for to be
 In to that fecht discumfyte, he Wynnys hale the wictory,
 And the victor certainly 2790
 Eftyre hend his gré is qwyte
 In till hys jurnay discumfyt,
 Quhare that mercy and pyté
 Discumfyt lyis through cruawté.
 For-thi," he sayd, "in to this fycht
 Pety owre wyll sall have the mycht,
 For bettyr," he sayd, "oure innymys
 In all kyn pres we may supprys,
 Gyff it may happnyn gywe we be
 Wyttht mercy wencust and pyté. 2800
 He may be cald," he sayd, "a larde
 That mercy haldys in to warde ;
 Bettyr it is me to be dede
 Than to recovyr," he sayde, "remede
 Off my langwre, wyth the blude
 And slauchtyr off sic a multitude
 Off barnys, yhong and awenand,
 Off oure awyne natyowne now growand."
 Wyth that till thaire modrys he
 Gert delyvyr the barnys fre, 2810
 And gawe thaim gyfftyts gret allsua,

And hame syne frely lete thame ga.

That ilk[a] nycht, lang befor day,
As slepand in hys bed he lay,
The honorabyll appostylis twa,
Saynct Petyre and Saynct Paule alsua,
Apperyd to this empriowre
That gretly menynd hys languore,
And sayd, "Jhesu Cryst, our lard,
That has all gud [thyng] in hys warde,
Has send ws for to comfort thé,
And byddys at thow sykyre be
Thi hele for till recoŵyre welle
Off all thi seiknes ilk[a] delle ;
For thow lefft to spylle sakles blud
Off swa gret a multitwde

2820

Off innocentys for thi body ;
It is oure counsalle hale, for-thi,
To the byschope Sylvestyr,
That preŵaly is bydand nere,
Thow send, and he sall informe thé
Quhare-in that thow may bathyde be,
And off thi lepyr swa thow sall
The hele rycht wele recovyr all ;
And syne to Cryst, thi werray lard,
Thow sall mak sa gud rewarde,
That off fals ydolys thow sall gere cast
Downe the templys als[sa] fast,
And haly kyrk thow sall restore
In bettyre state than it before
Thow fand, and syne honoure ay
God, and hald wele Crystyne fay."

2830

2840

Quhen thus our-dryŵyn wes the nycht,
And on the morne the day wes lycht,

F. 99. b.

The Empryowre gert knychtis pas
 To sek quhare Saynct Sylvestyr was ;
 And quhen he saw thai knychtys nere,
 He wend that thai cummyn were
 Hym to draw in thare felny
 For till have tholyt martyry. 2850
 Bot fra thai had melyd sammyn
 All togyddyr off thare gammyn,
 Thai past to the Empryowre,
 And he resaywyd wyth honoure
 Saynct Sylvestyr, and syne onone
 Per ordyr al hys wysione
 He tauld, and askyd hym alsua
 Gywe Petyre and Paule war goddys twa.
 The byschop Silvestyr maid answer
 And [said] thai Goddys Apostylis were ; 2860
 Syne schawyd he to the Empriowre
 Off Saynct Petyr the fygure,
 And ane ymage off [Sanct] Paule alsua ;
 And quhen the Empryowre saw thai twa,
 He affirmyt that thai war thai
 That apperyd quhare he lay
 Till hym in his wysione.
 The Pape Sylvestyr syne onone
 Baptyst this Constantyne,
 And injwnyd till hym syne 2870
 In fastyng all a w[ou]ke to be,
 And all in presowne to be fre
 Lowsyd qwyte off thare pennans.
 This Constantyne syne ordynans
 In fredome mad off Crystyne fay,
 That he devoutly tuk that day.
 For statute lawch fyrst ordanyd he

F. 100.

That Cryst a god suld honoryd be ;
 Neyst that wes hys ordynans
 That he suld tholle and bare pennans,
 Quha-ewyr wyth heresy wald blame
 Cryst, or set on hym defame :
 Gyff ony syne wyth-in the land,
 Agayne the lauch, wald tak on hand
 A Crystyne man for to supprys,
 Or for to wrang hym ony wys,
 The tane half off hys gudis all
 Till the empyoure suld fall
 In till eschete, wyth-owt remede,
 Or ony instans in till plede.
 He ordanyd alsua that the Pape,
 That off the warld is mast byschape,
 Suld be owre byschapys in honoure,
 As is owre kyngys the emprioure.
 Alsua quha that to the kyrk wald fle,
 Thare gyrth he suld have and sauffté.
 Als that nane ware sa hardy
 Wyth-in ony parochy
 Kyrk to byg, or oratore,
 Wyth-owtyn lewe gottyn before
 Off byschape, or off [the] patrowne
 Off that parochy, or off the towne
 Quhare that byggyng mad suld be.
 And efftyre that neyst ordanyd he
 That the teyndys off all feys,
 Landys, and regalyteis,
 And off alkyn possessyown,
 Suld, to the sustentatyown
 Off Haly Kyrk, be payit ay.
 And efftyre than, the auchtand day

2880

2890

2900

2910

Till Saynct Petrys kyrk in hy
 He come bare fute devoutly,
 And mad hys confessiown,
 Wyth gret and sare contrityown,
 Off all the synnys that he had done.
 A mattok syne he tuk, but hone,
 And wyth that rypyd to the grownd
 Quhare that he thocht a kyrk to fownde,
 And on hys schuldrys thare, but dowl,
 Off erd twelff bakkatys he bare owt. 2920

Quhen Constantyn wpon this wys
 Was howyn, as I yhow dewys,
 And off the Romanys a gret delle
 Baptysyd ware, and trowyt welle,
 Be the ensawmpill off Constantyne,
 And off Saynct Sylvestyr the prechyne,
 A gret part off the cytezany,
 And mony off [the] suburbanys,
 Senatowrys, and othir [ma] sere,
 That noucht baptysyd na trowand were, 2930
 Assemblyd befor the Emprioure

F. 100. b.

And sayd at thai wald thaire murmwre
 Rewelle till hym, gyff that he Wald noucht at thame displesyd be.
 And quhen he gaue thame lewe to say
 All that in thaire gule lay,
 Ane for all than spak in hy,
 And sayd that, " Throwch the novelry
 That is oysyd in till Rome
 Syne that yhe tuk the Crystyndome, 2940
 And oure falowys has lefft the fay
 That oure eldrys held alway,
 Ilké day is oure cyté

Stade in hard perplexyte ;
 For, as yhe wate, and has hard telle,
 Nere here by a dragowne fell
 Wndyr erd in a cōwe lyis,
 And to the towne reparys offtsys,
 And as he rewmys and he berys,
 All the towne in stynk he sterys, 2950
 Quhill sex thousand on a day
 Throwch pestilens qwyte dede away
 Now comownaly may fundyn be Off yhowng and auld in oure cyté.
 The madynnys," thai said, " off oure land,
 Yhounng damysellys and aʷenand,
 Bath ryche and pure in thare degré,
 Off the land and the cyté,
 Ilké yhere on thare best wys
 Oysyd to mak thare sacrificys 2960
 Till Dame Wēsta dewōtly,
 That wes bath goddes and lady,
 Thaire hope, thaire heille, and [thar] aʷowé
 Off thaire myrth and thare jolyte ;
 Than thare almws halyly
 And the releyff off thare mawngery,
 Thai oysyd to cast to that dragowne
 That now is on ws rycht fellowne.
 Swa throwch mycht off that lady,
 And releyff off that mawngery, 2970
 Ay still in till hys den lay hé,
 And noucht anoyid the cyté ;
 Bot syne yhe and thai off Rome
 Off newe now has tayne Crystyndome,
 And has leftt oure eldrys fay,
 We are anoyid ilk[a] day

Throwe owtrage and throw wyolens
 Off yhon best in this pestilens.
 For-thi, Lord, we ask yhowe, hale,
 Off this," thai said, "now yhoure consalle 2980
 And yhowre helpe, at oure cyté
 And we may sauff wnperyst be."

Wyth that Sylvestyr that wes by
 The Empriowre, and mast redy
 F. 101. Off answeare, bad that thai suld tell
 Hym quhare that dragown lay sa fell.
 And quhen thai sayd hym that thai walde
 Ken hym to that bestys halde,
 Till his orator he past,
 And hym revestyd als[sa] fast, 2990
 And wyth hys clerkys syne in hy,
 And thai Romanys in cumpany,
 Till the cove off that dragowne
 He yheid in till processyowne,
 And the cros on his body
 He mad offtsys devoutly,
 And in the cove syne he
 Wnabasydly mad entre,
 A hwn dyr greys ewyn dippand down
 Wndyr [the] erd to that dragown; 3000
 And throwch hys devote prayare
 That felowne beste sone brystyd thare;
 And wpe agayne syne as he past
 Wytth yhettys off bras he closyt fast
 Off that dei pe den the entré,
 That nevyr mare sall opnyd be
 Befor the mekill day off dome.
 Than als[sa] fast [al] thai off Rome
 That befor that had noucht tane

Crystyndome, than trowyd ilkane 3010
 In Jhesu Cryst, and baptisme tuk,
 And fals mawmentys qwyte forsuke.

Thus Constantyne wes off Rome
 The fyrst, that tuk Crystyndome
 Neyst Philipe, that Decyus fell
 Slwe, as yhe before herd tell,
 And to the Kyrk gaue all the land,
 That Papys sene syne had in thare hand;
 And fette the Kyrk on mony wys
 Wytth gret and fayre and fre franchys. 3020
 On hys modyr halff, a Brettowne
 He wes be kynd off natyowne,
 For he wes son off Saynet Elane;
 And off hys fadyr half, a Romane;
 And wes in hys begynnyng
 Bot anerly off Brettane kyng.

IN Rome that tyme a tyrande
 Cruell and austere wes regnand,
 That had to name Maxentius:
 He had all tyme a comowne ws 3030
 Till dysheryd the nobill-men,
 That in Rome war duelland then,
 And demanyd the empyre
 Wytth tyrandyis, and werth, and ire.
 He put to ded Saynet Katerine,
 That gloryws and that pure virgyne;
 And thai that chast war off thaire land,
 Come till Constantyn till warand,
 And tauld hym off hys tyrandyis,
 F. 101. b. And maid hym prayere mony wys 3040

To cum wytth thaim, and wyn thare land,
 And hald the empyr in his hand.
 He went with ane oste gret and stowte
 Till Rome, and maid it wndyr-lowte,
 And syne he had the Monarchy
 Off all the gret Warld halily.

Constantyne apon this wys
 Tyll Rome come, as I yhow dewys,
 And thare in to the lepyr felle,
 And helyd wes, as yhe herd me telle. 3050
 Dame Elane and hyr emys thre
 Wytth hym till Rome that tyme had he :
 And deputys behynd hym he left
 To keipe Brettayne tyll hym thare-efft.

Bot Octaveus a gret man syne,
 That cummyn wes off kyngys lyne,
 Ras, and thai deputys has slayne,
 And held the kynrik in demayne.
 He maid hym kyng, and off the land
 He chasyd hys fays wyth stalwart hand. 3060

Quhen this tyll Constantyne was tauld,
 Thre legyownys gret off knyghtis bauld
 Wyth Dame Elanys eme Traen
 In tyll Brettayne send he then,
 That aryvyd wytth mekyll mawcht,
 And Octaveus thare he fawcht,
 And wencust hym and all hys mycht.
 Bot he etchapyt fra the fycht,
 And went till mychty men thare-by Te sek helpe : bot specyaly 3070
 He prayid his men, thai suld thame ma
 Wytth sum slycht Traen to sla :
 And an erle off hys cumpany

Watyde Traen sa bysily,
 That wytth ane buschement he had slayne
 Traen. Octaveus than agayne
 Come in to Brettayne, and tuk the lande
 All hale agayne in till his hand.
 He chasyd the Romainys al away,
 And wes kyng till hys enday. 3080

All this tyme off the empyre
 Constantyne wes lord and syre,
 And Sylvestyr Pape off Rome,
 And kepare off all Crystyndome.
 He maid wyth gret dewotyowne
 Solempne dedicatiowne
 Off the kyrk in till hys dayis ;
 To that ensawmpyll yhit alwayis
 That [is] oysyd ilk[a] yhere,
 As the tyme fallys [annywersere]. 3090
 And quhen that he awterys off stane

F. 102. In ilké kyrke gert fyrst ordane,
 In till Saynct Savioris kyrk he
 The fyrst awtere, made off tre,
 He gert hald wp, for Petyr ay
 On it oysyd hys Mes to say ;
 And all othir in thare lywe
 Efftyr hym Papys successywe, Quhill this Sylvestyr rysyn was,
 On it oysyd to say thare Mes. 3100
 For the persecutyowne,
 That ay wes dwtows and fellowne,
 There wes na place off stedfastnes
 Quhar-in prestys mycht syng thare Mes ;
 Bot in tyll honest howsys sere,
 Quhare men off gud fame duelland were,

Or wndyr erd in cawys depe,
 That men oysyd fra fylthe to kepe,
 Or betwene howsys and pentys
 That ordanyd were off sere qwentys, 3110
 Prestys foure oysyde to bere
 To swylk stedys that awtere,
 That wytht four nwkys holl wes mad,
 In ilké nwke a ryng it had,
 And prestys foure oysyde to bere
 Wyth thai foure ryngys that awtere.

The Comete, as the story sayis,
 Fyrst apperyd in thai dayis ;
 That is a starne wyth blesys schyre,
 Brycht as is the lowe off fyre, 3120
 And ay betakynnys pestilens ;
 Quhen that it makys apperens.
 Dede off lordys, or hungyr sare,
 And ay the beme it strekys thare
 Quhare that infortune sall rys ;
 That the Comete signyfyis.

Constantyne the Empriowre
 Hys lyff than endyt wyth honoure.
 In Rome than ras dyssentyowne
 Abowte the successyowne 3130
 To the empyre ; for Maximiane
 And the fell Dyoclytyane,
 Off quham before yhe herd me tell,
 Fra thare state of the empyre fell :
 Off cownsalle and [of] ane assent,
 And wndelyveryde awysement,
 To thaire state thai ranownsyde hale
 For thai sustene wald na trawale,
 And thocht tyll lywe off thare tresore

That thai had gadryd lang before 3140

In ese and qwyete, but trawale,
And thole thaim [to] tak the governale
That suld succede be lynage
To the empyre off herytage.

F. 102. b. This consent wes done in-dede
And let the ayrys be laucht succede.

Efttyr all this Maximiane
Agayne the Empyre wald have tane ;
And for that caus in tyll gret stryffe
He [lede] a lange tyme off hys lyffe 3150
Wyth Constantynys sonnys thre,
That anelyd to that rywawté.

Octaveus in to thai dayis,
As off the Brute the story sayis,
Off [al] Brettayne hale wes kyng,
And had that land in governyng.

He had a douchtyr yhong and fayre,
That off laucht than wes hys ayre ;
Hys counsale mast part thowcht, that he Suld ger that douchtyr maryd be 3160

Wyth sum ryche man for hys ryches :
And Conane-Meryaduk, that wes
Hys nevew, neyst [hym] suld be kyng,
For he wes neyst off thare offspryng.
Bot Baradok Duke off Cornwayle
Thowcht, it suld welle mayr awayle .

To feche at Rome Maximiane,
That off the empriowrys wes ane.
Swa it fell hym syne, that he
In Brettayne come wyth gret menyhe, 3170
And that lady to wyff has tane.
Sa wrathe at that than wes Conane,

That he assemblyd all hys mycht,
 And mellayd welle offt into fycht,
 And owrcome quhyll [he, qwhile] he,
 Qwhyll at the last the hale barné
 Off Brettayne knyht thame in sawchtnyng,
 Bot Maximiane be lefft kyng.

QWHEN that fywe yhere ware efftyre gane,
 Swa prydyt hym Maximiane 3180
 For hys gret sylvyr and ryches,
 That hym thowcht Brettayne lytyll wes
 For to mayntene hys rywawté
 Bot he wald ga wyn Frawns all fre.
 Tharfore all the chewälry,
 That wes in Brettayne, halyly
 He wyttht hym to the Se has tane,
 And alsua Myreadok-Conane.
 And Armaryk fyrst conqwest he,
 That Lytill Brettayne now cal we; 3190
 And all that gave he to Conane:
 And syne off Brettayne gert be tane
 Off hwsbandys a hundyre thowsand,
 Till inhabyt and hald that land;
 And fyftene thowsand armyt men
 Wyth hym als he lewyt then;
 And Lytill Brettayne gert it call.
 F. 108. This Conane and hys ofspryng all
 Governyd it sa wyttyly ay,
 That it hate Brettayne to this day. 3200
 Quhen Maximiane wonnyn had
 All Frawns, and till him subjecte mad
 Treverys, [he] to Rome went syne,

Quhare he slayne wes be cuvyne
 Off the Empriowre Gratyane.
 All thus endyt Maximiane,
 And [the] Brettownys, that wyth hym ware,
 Ware slayne, and chasyd here and thare :
 And the Quhene, that etchapyd than,
 In Brettayne passyd till Conan. 3210

QWHEN thai off Dacy and Sythy
 Saw, quhow Brettayne wes wtraly
 Lewyd all woyd off armyt men,
 In Brettane thai arywyd then,
 And townys and castellys wp has tane :
 For wyth hym had Maximiane
 All the gud fechtarys off the land ;
 Nane lefft, that evyr wytht strenthe off hand
 Mycht warand the small folk fra the fycht,
 Na for [to] stynt thare fayis mycht. 3220

Bot fra Rome come twa legyownys
 Till help and succoure the Brettownys ;
 Munyceps Gratyane than was
 Thare chyftane, that the sé can pass.
 Wytht thare fayis he met in fycht,
 And wencust thame wyth mekyll mycht,
 And chasyd thame till Yrland.

Syne off Gret Brettane all the land
 He tuk till hym, and mad hym kyng.
 Bot he wes in sum kyn thyng 3230
 Tyrand, that [the] comownys halyly
 Ras, and slw hym dyspytwsly.

Quhen he was dede, thai that fled ware
 Tyll Yrland, agayn cummyn are

In Brettayne, and it wastyd more,
Than evyr thai had done before.

The Brettownys than that wüst na rede
Till help thame-selwyn fra the dede,
Send word [to Rome] thare help to craŵe,
And sayd, thai wald thaim al tyme haŵe 3240
To thaire lordys, gyff that thai
Wald put thare fays wytth fecht away.
Than thai off Rome a legyowne sent,
That hastyly to Brettan went,
And put tha alyenis away.

A Wall thare-efftyr ordanyt thai
For to be made betwene Scotland
And thame, swa that it mycht wythstand
Thare fays, that thame swa skayth[it] hade;
F. 103. b. And it off comon cost thai maid; 3250
And yhit men callys it Th[r]yl Wal.

Quhen this was done that I say all,
The Romanys to Rome has tane thare way.
Bot, or thai went, thai can thaim say,
That thai wald cum na mare agayne:
For, or thai suffere wald swylk a payne,
And for thame oft be traŵalit swa,
Thaire tribwte leŵyre thai wald forga.

QWHEN that the Romanys passyt ware,
The alienis, that [war] chasyd are, 3260
Repayryd, and nere all the land
Dystroyit wyth fyre and fellown hand.
The Walle bot litill helpe thame made;
For thai, that it in kepyng hade,
Ware drawyn wytth crukys oure the wall,

Quhill thai fled, and lewyt [it] all.
 Than thaire fayis, that laysere had,
 Sloppys in syndry placis mad.

The Bretownys wust na counsell than ;
 Bot a byschope, a worthy man, 3270
 In Litill Brettayne till Audroen
 Thai send, that thare wes regnand then,
 To byd hym cum, and be thare kyng ;
 For he wes off the ofspryng
 Off Brwtus, that all Brettane wan,
 And in the ferd gre fra Conane.

He wald nawys thare-till assent ;
 Bot [his] brudyre wytth hym [he] sent,
 Constantyus, and twa thowsand
 Off men armyt bathe fute and hand. 3280

Thai arrywyt, and syne fawcht,
 And thare fayis wyth mekyll mawcht
 Wencust, and chasyd off the land.
 Than the barnage tuk on hand
 To mak thare kyng this Constantyne,
 That the land welle governyd syne.

Now I suspend here off Brettayne
 The storys, quhill I have ouretane
 Off the Romanys the storys
 A part, as yhe herd me dywys. 3290

EFFTYRE the dede off Sylvestyr
 Mark succedyt, [and] twa yhere
 Aucht moneth and twenty dayis
 He Pape was, and the story sayis,
 At solempne Mess[is] he Ordanyd that the Creyd suld be

Sayd or songyn, as the Mes
Done wyth note or prywe wes.

- Quhen this Mark [the] dede had tane
Julyus succedyt, a Romane, 3300
- F. 104. And Pape off Rome wes ellewyn yhere
Twa moneth and aucht dayis clere.
A gret Senyhe gaderyt he
In tyll Nyce[a] that cyté,
Thre hundyre byschopys and aughtene
In to that Senyhe solempne ware sene.
Saynct Hylare and Saynct Nicholas
That tyme in thare statys was,
And mony odyr byschopys ma.
Anastas that tyme allsua 3310
Mad Quicunque wult in dede,
Quhare all the artyclys off the Crede
Ar dystynyt halyly;
Quha trowys noucht in thame stedfastly,
Lyppyn he nevyr sauff to be
Fra the pyne off hell all fre.
That Senyhe condamnyt halyly
Off Arryus the heresy :
He [helde] that Goddys Sone wes les
In Godheide than the Fadyr wes ; 3320
Off the Fadyr and the Son sua he Denyid the equalityté.
The Senyhe made condemnatyowne
Off that fals oppynnyowne.

THRE hundyr fywe and fourty yhere
Eftyr the byrth off oure Lord dere,
Off Constantyne the sonnys thre

That wyth [his] body gottyn had he,
In [t]hys tyme to the empyre ras ;
Constantyne the eldast was, 3330
Neyst Constans, syne Constantyus,
Thir thre bredyre callyd war thus.
Amang thame-selff gret were thai mad,
And thai off Rome gret scathys had
Throwch thare were and thare fechtynge,
That enduryt and had lestyng
Fully foure and twenty yhere,
The Romanys all anoyit were.
Bot the eldest Constantyne
Wan fra hys twa bredyre syne 3340
Hale the empyre, and was than Empriowre and gud Crystyn man.
The yhongest off the bredyre thre,
That Constantyus ere callyd we,
Had wyth hym men off cownsaill fell
That ware in dedys rycht cruell ;
Tha the eldare bruthir slwe.
F. 104. b. Constantyus to the empyre drwe,
And governyd it wyth gret stowtnes,
Bot a foule herytyk he wea, 3350
And lywyt all in to that fay
That Arryus held in tyll hys day ;
For hym [and his] oppynnyown
He made ay gret defensyown.
Off Constantynopill quhare than he had
Hys duellyng and hys prechyng mad,
For hys oppynnyown the clergy
Gert hym be sowmownd rycht stratly,
To here the condemnatyowne
Off his fals oppynnyowne. 3360

Swa on that certane set day,
 That for that caus assygnyd thai,
 As this Arryws hym sped
 Till that assignyd certane sted,
 Off nede, swa he oure-takyn wes
 That hym behoŵyd to do hys es :
 Wyth hast thare-fore he tuk hys sete
 [Opyn and] playne in the markete,
 Thare thrawand thurstys hard hym thurstyt
 Quhill hys bowalys wyth-in hym brystyt, 3370
 Hys guttys raŵe, bath gret and small,
 And [his] kwnditys opynnyd all ;
 For the stynk off his foule gare
 Mony that abowte hym ware
 To ded brystyd ; and all thus
 The end fell off foule Arryus.

Donate than wes in his state,
 And in that tyme hys libell wrate,
 That now barnys oysys to lere
 At thaire begynnyng off gramere : 3380
 And Saynet Jerome in thai yheris
 The best wes callyd off his scoleris.

Off Saynet Andrew the body was
 That tyme translatyd fra Patras
 Till Constantynopill : and [of] Saynet Luke
 The body als, as sayis the buke,
 Translatyd wes that tyme alsua.

Julyane the Apostata
 In ane Abay mwnk hym made,
 For off Constantyus dowte he had 3390
 That he wald hym to dede haŵe done,
 Bot yhit he changyd purpos sone,
 For all tyme fra land to land

In habit off mwnk he wes vagand.
 For he wes to gud Constantyne
 Brodyre sone and nere cusyne,
 F. 105. He yharnyt tyll have bene emprioure,
 And ay anelyd to that honowre,
 And for-thi quhare[evyr] he past,
 At wychys and at spaymen fast 3400
 He thraly speryt gyve that he
 Mycht ewyre opteyne and wyn that gre.
 In lyklyness off a spayman,
 Off cas the dewyll spak wyth hym than,
 And sayd he suld be empriowre;
 Swa fell he sone in swilk erreure,
 That he away kest fra hym qwyte
 The mwnkys rewle and the habyte,
 And throch that dewillys suggestyowne
 He made renuncyatyowne 3410
 Off baptysme and off Crystyne fay,
 And lywyd furth in paganys lay.

THAN ras he Empryowre in the sted
 Off Constantyus quhen he wes dede.
 For leth and felny that he had Till Crystyne men, gret lawys he mad
 Agayne thare Crystyndome; sa mony
 Wndyr hym deyd throwch martyry;
 Paule and Jhone thare passyowne
 Tholyt wndyr hys persecutyowne. 3420

Off Mede the kynryk, and off Pers,
 And Asy, as I herd rehers,
 He wan till hys subjectiowne,
 And tuk thare contributyowne.

Throwch Capades syne as he past
 Saynct Basyle he anoyit fast,
 That byschope wes off that cyté than,
 And wes off lyff a haly man :

This Julyane made in to that qwhille
 Gret manans tyll [this] Saynct Basille

3430

And till othir Crystyne men
 That wndyr hys powsté lywyd then.
 Than this Saynct Basyle specyaly
 Hys prayer mad till oure Lady,
 Wyth thra and gret devotyowne,
 In fastyng and in urystowne,
 That scho wald sum wengeance ta
 Off Julyane that Apostata.

Swa slepand on a nycht hym thought

All sudanly that he wes browcht

3440

In till a kyrk off oure Lady,
 Quhare men and woman war mony ;

Sum on kneysis in urystown,
 And sum in contemplatyown,
 That thought off halynes suld be Callyd and haldyn in propyrte ;

F. 105. b.

For wys men suld on na kyn wys

Oys ony othir merchandys,

In chapel, kyrk, or orator,

Bot that that thai ar ordandyd for ;

3450

That is contemplatyown

Or prayer wyth devotyow.

This haly byschope Saynct Basyle

Slepand saw, in to that quhille,

The ymage off oure Lady brycht

Downe [out] off ane tabernakyll lycht,

That outhe [the] autere standand was,

And tuk hyr rayk wyth mov[and] pas
 But in the kyrk, wyth-owtyn bade,
 Quhare that a grauwe off new wes made, 3460
 And layd in till it a dede knyght,
 That Mercurius callyd wes ryght.
 Than Basyle herd that ymage say
 To the body that thare lay,
 "Rys, Mercurius, rys and sla
 Julyane the Apostata,
 And wyth wengeans sa thow qwyte
 The defoule and the dyspyte
 That that herytyk has done
 To me," scho sayd, "and to my Sone." 3470
 Wyth that the ymage als[sa] fast
 Off oure Ladye agayne past,
 And in the tabernakyll yhede;
 The dede body ras, gud spede,
 And tuk a spere in till hys hand,
 That in the kyrk he saw lyand,
 And raykyt off the kyrk hys way.
 The byschape Basyle quhare he lay
 Than waknyt and oure-drauwe that nyght
 Quhill on the morne that day wes lyght; 3480
 Than herd he tell that Julyane
 Ourtakyn wes wyth dede subytane;
 Then past he to the kyrk in hy,
 And thare the spere he fand bludy.
 Than wes Saynct Martyne in hys flowris,
 And othir syndry confessowris
 Till hym ware contemporane.
 In Scotland than Saynct Nynyane
 In tyll the tyme that Martyne wes,
 Led hys lyff in halynes. 3490

And be oure Cornykyll off Scotland
 Garnat-Rych was than regnand
 Kyng oure [the] Pechtis fourty yhere.
 Syne quhen hys dayis endyt were,
 [Talarge] wes kyng, and led hys lyve
 In Scotland twenty yhere and fywe,
 Till all the yheris war oure-gayne
 Off Constantyne and Julyane,
 And all the empyowrys be dene,
 That betwene thame twa had bene.

3500

F. 106.

LIBER, Felix and Damasus,
 Efftyre the dede off Julyus,
 Off Rome ware papys in thare lywe
 Ilkane till othir successywe.
 This Damasus I herd rehers
 Couth mak rycht well in metyre wers,
 Saynct Jerome wrate till hym, but were,
 Amang othire haly wryttys sere,
Gloria Patri in [till] twa wers;
 And bade that he suld ay rehers
 Efftyre ilk Psalme tha twa;
 All haly kyrk yhit oysys swa.

3510

Quhen Damasus wes pape off Rome,
 The gloryus doctor Saynct Jerome
 Wes hys luwyd famyliare,
 And translatyd the psaltare
 At hys request and his instans.
 This Damasus made ordynans
 That prestys and clerkys in to the qwere
 Suld stand, as now is the manere,
 On ilk[a] syd ordenaly,

3520

And off the Psalmys dystynctly
 The ta part suld the fyrst wers say,
 The tothir syd the neyst wers ay
 Suld begyn, and ilk[a] syd
 Suld wayte thare tymys and abyde,
 And wers sa efftyr wers suld say
 Quhill endyt all the Psalme had thai,
 And Gloria Patri at the fyne,
 Wyth Sicut erat efftyre syne : 3530
 All Haly kyrk efftyre thai dayis
 Syn syne has haldyn this oys always.

Efftyr the dede off Julyane
 Jovyne and Valentynyane
 Empreowris war successywe;
 Bot Valentyne in to the lywe
 Off the Apostata Julyane
 Off all hys knyghtys wes chyfftane,
 And than, as hym behoŵyd on nede
 Tyll lewe Crystyndome, or knycthede, 3540
 He lefft hys knyghtys off gud wyll,
 And Crystyne trowth he chesyd hym till :
 Bot syne efftyr that Julyane
 Wes endyt wyth dede subytane,
 To that fell persecutoure
 He hapnyt to be successoure.

The Saxonys that ware wycht,
 And agayné Rome mekyll off mycht;
 Wyth hys naŵyne apon the sé
 And wytth hys ost abawndonde he. 3550

F. 106. b. Fayre off fassowne and off face,
 And sutyle off ingyne he was;
 Pert off wult, and eloquent,
 And ewynlyk in till jugement;

Off wordis few, and myld off mwde,
And in all thyng off hawýng gude.

Hys brodyre Wálenis held that fay,
That Arryus held in till hys day :
All Crystyne men he thought for-thi
Tyll have dysesytt grettumly ;
Bot Wálentyne this empreowre
Resystyd ay till hys errooure.

3560

Durst-Hyrbstone in Scotland
Wes oure the Pechtis kyng regnand,
And held that state a hundyre yhere,
And dyd a hundyr batalys sere.

EFFTYRE the dede off Damasus,
The Pape off Rome, Syrycius,
Ellewyn moneth, and xv yhere,
And fywe and twenty dayis clere,
The Se he held as pape off Rome.
The clerk in hys tyme Saynet Jerome
Translated the Bybill off Hebrwe,
The Testymentys bath Auld and Newe
He translatyd in Latyne.

3570

In tyll his tyme Saynt Austyne
Ressaýd off newe Crystyndome
Quhill this Syryce wes pape off Rome,
Saynt Ambros in the Anfenere
Antemys mad, and Respondys sere,
And in it wersyklys als can wryte,
Syne ymnys he made in till fayre dyte,
And [the] antemys ordanyd he Amang the Psalmys sayd to be At Matynys and at Ewýnsang.

3580

At Prime and Howris thare-amang :
 Fyrst on this wys and in this manere
 Begouthoure serwyce in the qwere.

And in this tyme yhe herd me telle

In Emaws quhar wes a castell, 3590

A barne thar wes that tyme borne,
 That few off swylk wes sene beforne,
 For at the nawyll it was a mas,
 And outhe and neuthe dyvysyd it was,
 Wytth foure eyne and hewydys twa,
 Foure eyrys, and foure browys alsua,
 Twa mowthys dowbill-tuthyd wyth-in,
 Neyssys twa, wyth doubill chyn,
 And foure handys it hade yhete,

With twenty fyngrys and foure fete, 3600

Twenty tays it had rycht swa,
 Betwene the theys yherdys twa ;

F. 107.

And dowbyll wyt be lyklynes,
 In to that barne apperand wes,
 For quhen the ta hewyd oysyd to slepe
 The tothir than wald waik or wepe,
 And quhen the tane wald tak the mete
 Than wald the tothir nevyr etc.

The barne wes lywand twa yhere

On this wys and this manere, 3610

And quhen the ta parte wes dede away
 The tothir lywyd quhill the thryd day.

Than wes Orosius in his state,
 And hys buk till Saynct Austyne wrate.

GALYEUS syne, and Gratyane,
 And yhong Valentyne,

Off the Empyre the reawté
 Foure yhere held amang thame thre.
 Syne ras the secund Gratyane,
 And hys brodyr Valentynyane, 3620
 And Theodosius, all thre,
 Sex yhere held that ryawté.
 This Gratyane thare-efftyre syne
 Come off were till Argentyne,
 And thretty thowsand in [till] fycht
 Thare off his fayis to dede he dycht,
 Throw werty off the Crystyne fay
 That stedfastly he held alway;
 For in hys tyme all Ytaly
 Off Arrius held the heresy, 3630
 Bot in till hys dayis he
 Gert it all conwertyd be.
 He wes off gret literature,
 In mete and drynk off gret mesure,
 All lust off body he ourcome,
 And endyd syne in Crystyndome.

CHAP. XI.

Off the emperoure Theodose
 And the byschope Saguct Ambrose.

THRE hundyre yhere, foure score and seŵyn
 Efftyre the byrth off God off Heŵyn, Teodosius past in were
 In to Grece, wytht gret powere, 3640
 And wan the towne off Tessaly,
 Ane gret [cyté] and a mychty,

That had conspyryde in gret ire
Agayne the state off the empyre.
Hys lutenandys thai slwe thare,
And offycerys that off hym bare
Cure or state, thai slw all downe
In to that wpset rycht fellowne;
This Teodosius, for-thi,
Gert sla all downe wyth-owt mercy, 3650
F. 107. b. Wyth thai mysdoarys saclas blude,
That sowmyt wes in multitude
Fywe thowsand men, bathe barne and wyffe,
And wele ma thare left the lyff;
And efftyre that destructyowne
Owt off that land he mad hym bowne,
And come in Lumbardy agayne
Ewyne to the cyté off Mylayne.
Saynct Ambroys the haly man,
That byschape off that towne wes than, 3660
And herd how that saclas blude
Wes spylt in tyll sic multitude.
As Teodosius on a day
Fra hys palace tuk hys way
Towarte the kyrk : in to that quhille
This Saynt Ambros wyth-owte the style
Hym met, and sayd, " Quhare art thou bowne ?
I mak thé inhybytyowne
In Goddys kyrk to mak entre,
Quhill thi trespass amendyd be. 3670
Thow kennys thé as empyrowre,
And noucht thi dedys off horroure,
Can thou noucht ken the fellown
Charge off thi presumptyowne,
Becaus off thi gret wodnes

Quhare slayne mony ware sacles,
 Bot the welth that thow art in
 Gerris thé perchans mys knawe thi syne ;
 Tharefore it worthys that resowne
 Wnrewlyd statys inbawdowne. 3680
 Oure nature, certys, ay suld be

 And off quhat thyng that we ar wrocht ;
 And till quhat end we mon be browcht.
 Nowthir in pyth off oure yhowthed,
 Na in fresch coloure off oure fayrhed, 3690
 Na in [to] robys off purpure,
 Is off oure stays the honowre,
 That felys the infyrmyté
 Off brukyll fleysch, bot yhit ar we Ay lyk till men in oure nature
 For all the hycht off oure honure.
 Thow art bot serwand yhit, I wys,
 Off swylk serwandys as thow is ;
 A lord is God, at we [on] call,
 Kyng and makare off ws all, 3700
 How dare thow wyth thi eyne se
 The tempil off the Trynyté,
 How may it cum in thine intent
 To stampe on halowyd pathement
 Wyth thai fete that sa fast yhude
 For till spyll the sacles blude ;
 How may thow hewe thai handys in hycht
 Tyll Hewyn, or till God off mycht,

F. 108.

Quhare-off sacles blud dreband
Yhit wanhewys bath slew and hand ; 3710
How may it fall in thine intent
Tyll ask the haly sacrament ?
Pas hame agayne, and pres thé noucht
To that fyrst syn that thow has wroucht,
For till eyke ma quhill thow that mend,
And that quhat God will on thé send.
Perchans it may be medycyne
The cumbyre that thow art fallyn in.”
Thir wordys all the empyowre,
As cunnand man off literatoure, 3720
Herd, and consayvyd welle
Quhat fell to presthad ilké dele,
[And] past hame agayne wyth sare sychyng,
Menand hys state in gret murnyng,
Till aucht moneth nere ware past,
And Yhule thareefft wes cumand fast,
The tyme that Jhesu Cryst wes borne,
To sauffe oure lyff that wes forlorne,
Than Rwyffyne hys famylyere
That in all tyme wes till hym dere, 3730
Speryt the caus off his langure ;
Than sayd till hym the empyowre,
Menand gretly hys trespas, “ Allace ! allas ! that I borne was Matere, or any caus to ma,
The kyrk to be remownde fra,
That comowne is to knawe and knyght,
And all that Crystyne man is ryght,
Tyll fre-man, gentyll, and to thrall,
The kyrk is oppyn, and kepys all 3740
That cunmys wyth dewotyowne

Till God to mak thare orysowne ;
 Is stekyd for my mysdede me fra,
 And hewyn is closyt fra me alsua."
 Than sayd Ruffyne, " I will ga trete,
 But ony worde off awe or threte,
 Wyth the byschope, to chawng or thrawe
 Hys decrete in myldare lawe."

Till that than answeyrd Teodos,

" Pas on, bot I trow that Ambros

3750

Sall newyre decerne bot that is rycht,

And that decrete, be nakyn mycht

Off knyght, or kyng, or empyowre,

Or clergy, may be made erroure,

Na nevyr sall rewokyd be

F. 108. b.

For all thaire mycht or thare powsté ;

For I ken hym sa ewyn a man,

That all thare wyt hym mend na kan."

Eftyr that thus spak Teodos,

Ruffyne past on tyll Ambros,

3760

And as he pwt furth hys treté,

Ambros sayd, " Ruffyne, me thynk yhe,

Lyk a kene dog that ay bayis,

As thow me in this thyng assayis,

Berkand agayne the majesté.

Off mychty God, be thi tretté,

Set, as thow sayis, the empyowre

Mak hym to cum, for his terroure

I sall wyth-stand, and let that he

Wyth-in the kyrk sall mak entre.

3770

Suppos the state off hys empyre

In tyrandry he change and ire,

The dede I sall thole wylfully,

Or he me wyn wyth hys maystry."

Rwffyne than, hys medyatowre,
Agayne past to the Empryowre,
And all the wordis of Ambrose,
He referryt till Teodos,
That answeyrd and sayd mekly,
“ To the byschope bodyly,
I wyll pas, and here quhat he Off my defawte wyll say to me.”
All thus he dyd, bot noucht for-thi,
For all hys gret senyhowry,
Wyth-in the kyrk he durst noucht ga,
Bot wyth-oute hys bad to ma

3780

He set hym, and for to se
The byschopys oportwnyte.
Syne quhen the byschope bodyly
He saw, and haylyssyd hym mekly
That he wald lows hym off hys syne
And bandys that he was cumbryd in,
He made hym stedfast prayere.
The byschope than on this manere
Sayd, “ Thi presens certainly
Is all lyk till tyrandry :
Thow mays thé agayne God to wede,
And to supprys hys law in dede.”

3790

“ Nay,” he sayis, “ on na kyn wys
Thynk I agayne that law to rys,
Na I thynk nevyr for to wyrk
Agayne the state off Haly Kyrk ;
Na yhit in it to mak entré,
Quhill yhe Fadyr assolyhe me,
And lows me off this band off syne,
And cumbyr that I am fallyn in,
And let noucht stek agayne me

 F. 109. And mercys askys wyth gud intent ; 3810
 For God hym-self is tyll mercy
 Than till wengeans mare redy.
 This is the sowme off my prayere,
 As I am mekly cummyn here."
 The byschape sayd, " Than quhat pennans
 Has thow yhit done, or repentans,
 For thi gret fell inyqwyté ;
 Quhat medycyne can thow lat se
 Till hele or till ras thame agayne,
 That in [thi] brethe thow gert be slayne ?" 3820
 Mekly than the Empryowre
 Sayd, wytht rewerence and honowre,
 " Yhoure part is, Fadyre, till injwne
 The pennans that yhe wald war dwne,
 And teche the rycht way to ga :
 Tempyre yhoure medycyne rycht swa,
 I oblys me for to fullfill
 All yhoure byddyng wyth gud wyll."
 The byschopys hart in mare meknes
 At thir wordys turnyd wes, 3830
 And sayd, " Syn resowne thine entent
 Rewlyd nought in all jugement,
 Bot rageand reche in [till] wodnes
 Held nought ordyr off rychtwysnes,
 For lauch I will now thow ger dyte
 And wyth hast in lettrys wryte
